

Reddit Admin give /r/TheRedPill a Stay of Execution

October 1, 2019 | 879 upvotes | by redpillschool

In a surprising twist, we received a new notice today from the same reddit admin as yesterday informing us that we have been spared from our immediate closure. We have been granted a stay of execution.

Proof is Here

This is a very strange twist indeed but we are grateful to have more time on this platform. Since yesterday's closure seemed imminent to us, we let a few cats out of the bag- namely that we were finishing our redesign of Forums.Red and had originally aimed to have it ready by December 2019.

Our original plan was not to move /r/theredpill but to open ancillary forums on the new platform.

I can't say exactly how the next few months will play out, but here's what we do plan to do:

- According to the notice from the admin, we have some compliance issues. We want to find out what those issues are from the admin and rectify them.
- We will finish our Forums.Red Platform independent of what happens on Reddit.
- As soon as it is ready, a red pill forum will be opened on forums.red.
- However we will not be closing reddit.com//r/theredpill.

Some people have suggested we made this up to push traffic to our other site. We didn't. Why would we push people to forums.red when it wasn't ready (and was slow as death because it wasn't ready?!) Take a look at <https://www.forums.red> and then look at our redesign we're working on:

<http://a.trp.red/files/screenshot-2.jpg>. It doesn't check out.

I'll ask /u/acuddlybabytapir to weight in and verify that we got these messages and have not altered them.

In the mean time, let's continue doing what we're here for: Rule Zero

TRP's mission is to discuss men's identity, sexual strategy, and options in the context of our current global culture for the benefit of men. Anyone who does not share that goal will be banned the instant we detect them. We are not interested in debating or defending our experiences to those who disagree with the red pill, nor do we want to clog up our threads defending the morality of our choices.

While we intend to fully cooperate with Reddit's rules and Admin, they have shown us today that they are not above making mistakes. Make sure you subscribe to <https://trp.red> for a safe meeting place if anything were to happen to us here.

How can a quarantined sub bully or harass?! Utter nonsense.

Reddit is failing hard at what they set out to do, sold out, left responsibility to lesser men because they could afford to, not defending free speech AT ALL and reacting to every female complaint because they want some ass.

"Makes me f**king sick how far we done fell" - Bunk.

They just banned like 10+ subs I was in that were private for bullying and harassment lol

The SJWs Favorite Tool: Ambiguous Rules That Result in Ambiguous Infractions.

In good ol' Internet Forums, when you act like a douchebag, a mod helpfully comes and tells you why you are being warned/kicked/banned.

In Social Media, you get banned because of ambiguous-as-hell-rules or saying words they don't like but was never warned about.

sadomasochrist • 36 points • 2 October, 2019 01:41 PM

This is a tactic out of a woman's playbook, I wrote about this in "boiling the frog."

You're never home! To which said male stops working late. You're smothering me! etc etc. They're all just placeholder excuses.

The fact of the matter is reddit wants a liberal platform that is friendly to young 25-35 men and women with disposable income. And conservative attitudes make the platform unappealing to liberal users, especially liberal men who think that liberal women need dissenting content removed.

In my honest opinion, it's been my experience that women are much more tolerant to opposing opinions. It's liberal men who are actually afraid of stuff like this.

Honestly this would all just be a lot easier if they cut the shit and just said the truth, that this is going to be a progressive platform for young men and women and that conservative content isn't advertiser\userbase friendly.

The fact of the matter is reddit wants a liberal platform that is friendly to young 25-35 men and women with disposable income. And conservative attitudes make the platform unappealing to liberal users, especially liberal men who think that liberal women need dissenting content removed.

Which is bizarre, I feel. There are far worse things in the platform than conservative attitudes, like the tons of porn and general perversion here.

Honestly this would all just be a lot easier if they cut the shit and just said the truth, that this is going to be a progressive platform for young men and women and that conservative content isn't advertiser\userbase friendly.

Same for all the others.

I suspect they don't want to do that, because they know doing that will drive millions of users to alternatives.

Its why they don't ban The_Donald, for example: Its a containment forum, where millions of pro-Trump reddit users conglomerate and, thanks to the fact T_D is practically invisible on Reddit, means they can only use it for inter-personnal communication.

Some people are waiting for Thinkspot, but Gab shows that Silicon Valley is ready to murder any pro-Free Speech platform the moment it tries to appear. I don't believe a truly Free Speech social network is going to happen, I think Social Networks are a dead end as far as Free Speech goes. Maybe Federated Social Networks could work.

I think we have to somehow resurrect the Forum. Forums are good, they are moderated and controlled by their Administrators and not by Silicon Valley. The problem is that the modern internet is heavily-reliant on Social Media, which by itself is design to be the end-all of content and undercut anything that's not itself or an associated site.

Nicolas0631 • 1 point • 4 October, 2019 07:29 PM

I think the main threat for reddit is some extremist complaining and wanting to go on court because they allow us there. That and all the associated bad press.

I don't think they have a specific agenda against us.

NarrowBath7 • 1 point • 7 October, 2019 09:37 AM strange times where conservative content is not advertiser friendly. Culture sure has become a lot more degenerate in the last 50 years...

[deleted] • 1 point • 1 November, 2019 09:05 AM

I highly doubt Reddit knows what they want. They are letting an immoral creature push them and harass them on their morals of doing.

Trying to control the free speech engine. Makes me sick!

Coming soon to a legal system near you!

For a sneak preview, look up the UK's proposed new legal definition for Islamophobia

Brazilian_Slaughter • 1 point • 3 October, 2019 10:41 PM

Soon? Its coming right now, thank you Dias Toffoli.

Recently the Supreme Court of my country equated Homosexuals to a race, creating bizarre "Legislation" that punishes "Homophobia".

Kingern • 1 point • 4 October, 2019 09:20 AM

If you think that is bad, the United Kingdom is currently doing this with Islam.

A system of beliefs. An idea.

In the UK, there could soon legally be a "race" that you can convert into and out of Criticising a particular idea will be punishable as racism

Brazilian_Slaughter • 1 point • 4 October, 2019 06:33 PM

Shit, I have to bow to the masters in this one.

Yeah, seems like at that point, if you are anti-PC, you have to convert to Islam and criticize PC ideology. That sounds like a death kneel to me.

Kingern • 1 point • 4 October, 2019 07:14 PM

Wait, it gets **even better**.

The proposed definition actually accounts for "Muslimness or \*perceived Muslimness***", meaning that you can actually actually stand legally accused of racism for doing something that **someone believes you think is anti-Islamic**.

It's one of the most Orwellian things I've ever seen, which is sickeningly something I find myself saying a lot these days.

WasteApplication9 • 1 point • 4 October, 2019 06:57 AM

There are two rules to society now:

1. If something you do is good for someone higher in the hierarchy than you, it is mandated.
2. If something you do is bad for someone higher in the hierarchy than you, it is forbidden.

You're allowed to do anything you want to someone lower in the hierarchy than you. However, if they later rise above you in terms of status, then you can be retroactively punished for what you did at the time. Vice versa for if they fall lower in the hierarchy than you. Your actions will be considered completely OK in hindsight.

Look at Bill Cosby. He's a rapist. Not in the SJW "oh he raped me because I regretted it later" way, but in the actual "drug women and have sex with their unconscious bodies" way. Yet when these accusations were made Bill Cosby was at the height of his career. Much higher up in the hierarchy.

Fast forward to today and Bill Cosby's career is over. Suddenly, all of the rape he committed is now terrible. He must be publicly vilified and sent to jail. All because he fell so low that he went below the level in the social hierarchy of the people accusing him.

The rule of law used to counteract this by actually mandating prosecutions of anyone who committed a crime. In fact, if the state wasn't bothering to prosecute someone for a crime they did you could prosecute them yourself and send them to jail. While the above rules may have been socially mandated, they at least weren't legally mandated. Your conviction of murder could be criticized as unjust because you were the best cello player in all of royal Europe but you were still going to go to the gallows regardless of being number one.

Now the rule of law has been changed to enable selective prosecutions and so much "discretion" has been added that everyone has committed a crime at some point and the only thing determining whether you actually get convicted or not is your place in the social hierarchy.

The ultimate goal of SJWs is to enshrine the two rules I've stated in the legal system but in reverse. All crime is contingent on the feelings of the person you committed them against and whether the person you committed a crime against is "less privileged" than you. You are judged not by your actions but how they affected others in ways you'd have no way of knowing they would. Punching up is encouraged while punching down is horrific.

The SJWs Favorite Tool: Ambiguous Rules That Result in Ambiguous Infractions.

It's not just SJWs. That's standard for authoritarians. A related method is selective enforcement. For example, just about everyone jailed in the ghulags was convicted of an actual crime they had actually committed. That crime was typically black market trafficking. Of course everyone was guilty of that, because you had to or you starved. Obviously, it was selectively enforced.

This is the new tech giant strategy. They ban you and don't tell you why. Then when you ask they say they can't tell you. Chinese censorship

WasteApplication9 • 3 points • 4 October, 2019 06:59 AM

Honestly Chinese censorship is better because it has clear goals that actually make sense. China wants to strengthen the state into a pure 1984-style authoritarian regime that can never be challenged. This is an actual objective that is possible.

With tech giant censorship there are no real end-goals. Only "feelings" that go wishy washy from one post or comment to the next. There's no rhyme or reason to censorship and they'll take contradictory positions depending on how someone is feeling in the morning.

Your_Coke_Dealer • 1 point • 17 October, 2019 05:19 PM

The original statement of "materially incompatible" is telling. Any subreddit that hurts the feelings of the "average redditor" is living on borrowed time, regardless of efforts to comply with the rules. It's the left's "but that's different" model of justifying double standards: just say the immaterially different circumstances are significant.

They'll all be dropped one by one with varying pretexts, be it an association with some violent act (see: T_D quarantine, Incels' ban), vague "advertisers don't like it" (the original ban notice as I stated), or "hate speech" (probably made and screenshotted by the same posters from AgainstHateSubreddits).

RightHandWolf • 21 points • 1 October, 2019 09:49 PM

Trp.red has a tribe for The Donald. I don't know if everything from here has been archived, but on the other hand, there might be a completely blank canvas to play with.

Condescending-Guy • 32 points • 1 October, 2019 10:32 PM trp.red could be huge if all conservatives and freethinkers move to that platform. Leaving reddit to be an echo chamber with just a bunch of leftist shills and betas regurgitating the same information over and over again, it will die a slow and horrible death. This is capitalism ;)

glumbum2 • 41 points • 1 October, 2019 11:24 PM

I'm more concerned that that community is so loud that it will clog up what people actually come to TRP for, though. This sub has already started to have more and more of that kind of random political shtick, and I don't really care, but I think it's a distraction from the mission.

redpillschool[S] • 8 points • 2 October, 2019 01:15 PM

That's why we have tribes to separate topics.

glumbum2 • 3 points • 2 October, 2019 01:38 PM

I dig it. One piece of quick feedback: on mobile if you are coming to the base site, the conversation threads that you see at a base level don't seem to embed into threads. So you're seeing top-level comments and in-thread replies at the same level.

Is that intentional? I'm on Android, using a chrome browser. Thanks again for the good work.

redpillschool[S] • 5 points • 2 October, 2019 01:44 PM

It is- something people on Twitter are more used to. Individual tribes have the option to only show top-level posts and hide replies until a thread is clicked. And of course, forums.red will have threaded browsing much like reddit.

glumbum2 • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 01:45 PM

KrustyKrabReject • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 03:05 PM

Condescending-Guy • 27 points • 2 October, 2019 12:26 AM

Don't be silly. You can't isolate your pickup artistry and self improvement philosophy. We don't live in a vacuum. Of course politics affect us.

For example, in many college gyms, they've made it against the rules for men to add more than 4 plates on each side of a barbell because it triggers people. I'm not making this up. This is a political move to weaken men, essentially making them easier to control like all the other simpletons of society.

My idea was to have separate forum sections related to political discourse and other topics, but keep the focus on trp.red to self improvement, and overall, seeing the world through the "red pill" ;)

glumbum2 • 24 points • 2 October, 2019 12:58 AM

I agree that it affects us, and I don't care whether the politics "chat" exists or not, I simply meant that when someone first discovers the red pill, I wouldn't want their first experience to be a bunch of political memes. That's what allows hard left sympathizers to paint us all a certain way. We're NOT homogenous.

I suppose that I personally am very attached to the fight club rule because it forces TRP to be an individual journey of discovery, something that is guaranteed to improve any man's personal life no matter where they are coming from.

Condescending-Guy • -2 points • 2 October, 2019 01:04 AM

For sure, that was not my attention. I agree with you. I would just like it to be like a male focused version of reddit but with just a few focused subs. Political should be one of them for sure because it's something that affects us all.

Don't forget that in fight club they do a lot of other things outside of fight ;)

Stay red

redpillschool[S] • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 01:16 PM

do u have a link for the college gyms thing ?

frykidse • 1 point • 3 October, 2019 03:34 AM

[citation needed]

my gym has weight restrictions on some of the 40lb 1" bars because they're not the right equipment to handle 4 plates. they bend quite a bit with 3 plates.

The 45lb 2" bars and rogue fitness 45lb 1" bars do not have this restriction.

Is my gym making up rules to stop triggering the special snowflakes? Are they keeping the men weak?

Perhaps a better question to ask yourself is why and/or how you think pushing your political views onto others relates to male sexual strategy?

0087621 • 10 points • 2 October, 2019 06:22 AM

If only conservatives weren't retarded fucks

Condescending-Guy • 0 points • 2 October, 2019 01:50 PM

What a childish response. I'm not sure how you're getting upvoted in this subreddit.

There is nothing wrong with moderate conservatives and liberals. That's actually healthy for society. The extreme left and extreme right of the spectrum are of course problematic though and should be called out.

The problem right now is that the extreme left are incredibly loud and have massive numbers, and are controlled by the elite through our fake media and fake education system. Completely insane times we are living in.

Balderdash79 • 1 point • 5 October, 2019 04:34 PM

THIS!

If a conservative doesn't like what you say, he/she will ignore it.

If a liberal doesn't like what you say, they try to remove your ability to speak, using legislation.

0087621 • -4 points • 2 October, 2019 02:15 PM

I wrote that because pretty much every conservative I've met so far has been a pain to discuss with, they're extremely close-minded. Associating red pill with conservatism is wrong, just like associating leftists to beta males. The thing is, rightists are hypocrites. They have no idea what the consequences of their actions actually are.

Average conservative: "Abortion is evil! It's homicide!" Then his 13 years old daughter gets raped and gets pregnant. Don't you think his opinion about abortion would change?

I do not recognize myself in either the right or the left, because both of them can have good points of view. Leftists are no better than rightists, but at least they are more open-minded.

Condescending-Guy • 2 points • 8 October, 2019 04:11 AM

Average conservatives don't have extremist views like that. What you're describing might be like a religious far-right conservative but not your average right leaning person. Your point is valid because all it takes is a little life experience to realize how insane you'd have to be not to allow women to have abortions. But you shouldn't encourage women to be stupid and have constant abortions because they like to fuck around lmao. That just destroys society.

frykidse • 2 points • 3 October, 2019 03:32 AM

In favor of a right-wing echo chamber where you can only hear the things you want to hear?

After the quarantine, the echo chamber intensified exponentially in here. Right wing idiots are just as stupid as left wing idiots.

Viewpoints are data points, nothing more and nothing less. I (and by that extension, you don't either) don't have to agree with anyone else, yet it is enlightening to at least hear their perspective. It may be entirely wrong, yet there is a possibility of gaining value and knowledge from it. I may be entirely wrong and need the alternative viewpoint to adjust myself.

boundarychimps • 1 point • 3 October, 2019 02:22 AM

Does that sound abusive or menacing enough to meet the conditions in the new content policy?

Reddit is a place for conversation, and in that context, we define this behavior as anything that works to shut someone out of the conversation through intimidation or abuse, online or off. Depending on the context, this can take on a range of forms, from directing unwanted invective at someone to following them from subreddit to subreddit, just to name a few. Behavior can be harassing or abusive regardless of whether it occurs in public content (e.g. a post, comment, username, subreddit name, subreddit styling, sidebar materials, etc.) or private messages/chat.

Being annoying, downvoting, or disagreeing with someone, even strongly, is not harassment.

However, menacing someone, directing abuse at a person or group, following them around the site, encouraging others to do any of these actions, or otherwise behaving in a way that would discourage a reasonable person from participating on Reddit crosses the line.

Thomas never seen this kind of bullshit before.

"a bit" is HUUUUGE understatement, they are literally inclusive, many would call them transphobic, and definitely they are discriminatory. If they want to keep it, keep it, but than let's be fair, even lego Yoda memes weren't up to their level.

u-r-silly • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 11:31 AM

Woah, that sub is extremely transphobic!

womans_algorithm • 5 points • 2 October, 2019 07:58 AM

I went there, filtered by "top" of all time. Top 10 posts or so are all "feel good" screenshots of some "i am strong independent woman" tweets. Quality through the roof.

Obediah_Stane • 12 points • 2 October, 2019 12:49 AM

Exactly right. Fitting that this is coming from a username of Libertarian Party. Government does this same thing all the time in the US. Stomp some rights, then renege a bit and the masses are all "oh thank you so much!" Even though the rights are still being trampled on.

kcchiefs0927 • 32 points • 1 October, 2019 11:45 PM

Because it left out all of the people that purposefully post harmful shit in an attempt to quarantine/ban the sub. It's a very common tactic from people on AgainstHateSubreddits who have way too much free time

moltenw • 4 points • 1 October, 2019 08:13 PM

I can't imagine anyone who actually browses TRP frequently to think along those lines.

lugrulo • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 03:11 AM

Good point. Also I'm curious if the rule changes affects what we can talk about.

If they do, it's better they ban us then water us down.

ShinyRedKetoPill • 152 points • 1 October, 2019 08:35 PM

The issue is that some people coming here for help need a little tough love.

A bitchslap.

This is not snowflake compatible. Calling someone a pussy and telling him to lift is enough to trigger outsiders into calling it bullying or harassment.

Yet that's exactly what some guys need to hear from other guys.

We have no future here under the current regime. There is simply no way to help guys save themselves in a "politically correct according to reddit's shareholders" fashion.

I'm looking forward to speaking freely on the new platform.

TheRedPillMonkey • 64 points • 1 October, 2019 11:26 PM

TRP is like a rehab clinic. We're filled with drug addicts and alcoholics, but they are here to get better.

Closing trp is like closing a rehab clinic because "it's filled with addicts and criminals!"

Unconfidence 1 points 8 October, 2019 04:26 AM [recovered]

More like closing a gay conversion therapy clinic because it's peddling harmful ideologies which will only lead people to worsen their own lives and the lives of others.

They just accidentally, innocently sent out an outright ban message to an entire subreddit?

Something tells me that the admins had far different motives than what they're willing to tell us about right now.

zontargs 1 points 1 October, 2019 11:08 PM* [\[recovered\]](#)

This happened to GunDeals after one of the big shootings last year. Reddit threatened to ban anything involved in gun sales. GunDeals went all-in on building their own site. Suddenly, Reddit didn't want to ban them anymore.

I'm guessing that, in both cases, having somewhere else to go meant that users would actually leave, and decrease Reddit's traffic and market value.

IrtahkEnt • 25 points • 2 October, 2019 08:36 AM

Communities having their own forums, website is the biggest threat to Reddit, because if everyone realized that it's an option then they'd rather be there than put up with Reddit's increasingly stupid rules and censorship.

There is a reason why a huge amount of drug, piracy, communities are based outside Reddit, YouTube, etc. Shroomery, Psychonaut Wiki, etc all have their own forums and actively discourage posting things on mainstream sites like YouTube (they even report YouTube videos for mushroom growing content, DMT extraction TEK, etc because they don't want that content to flow into mainstream notice.)

Mainstream sites are never good for anything controversial and I believe shroomery's approach (for keeping content outside mainstream places) is the correct one here for protecting community as a whole. Secluded forums and communities are something we should all work on irregardless of the ban or not. Let's bring 90s/early 2000s back and let's take power back from these scumbag for-profit advertizer friendly sites.

TheDopestPope • 1 point • 3 October, 2019 07:18 PM

Thing is, without youtube progressively nudging me towards the manosphere through the use of suggested videos; I probably wont have discovered TRP and i suspect lots of guys wouldn't have either

IrtahkEnt 1 points 6 October, 2019 06:21 AM [\[recovered\]](#)

That's just the algorithm driving you towards the videos that it considers profitable, i.e. the ones you are most likely to spend time on and hence more time to push ads, etc. There's no human intervention here. It uses Machine learning which teaches itself based on it's profiling of you.

Same thing happened to me with Weed videos. Hundreds and hundreds of recommendations over the year and then one day, YouTube suddenly decided that the content is unfit for advertisers and started nuking well established channels left and right. A tonne of quality educational as well as entertainment content was lost this way.

Which is why you cannot trust these corps. They are literally bitches of advertisers. Who knows what they are going to nuke next?

LordFa9 • 1 point • 6 October, 2019 09:19 AM

Yea but without those gateway videos existing and their content creators making more hardline stuff TRP will likely just be something mentioned in passing

I don't think they're that great at their jobs. Some intern probably got tasked with "Can you go and delete all the subs that don't fit our new policy." Then somebody higher on the food chain said, wait, they have 1 million active users? Maybe this could backfire, don't do anything yet.

kenpachitz • 5 points • 2 October, 2019 07:58 AM

1 million active users

Oh, while 400k is nothing to sneeze at, did they alter the sub count after the quarantine or something?

redpillschool[S] • 16 points • 2 October, 2019 01:25 PM

There was a brief moment that real user counts were leaked on their advertising page (showing potential advertisers how many users they would reach advertising to each sub).

TheRedPillMonkey • 1 point • 1 October, 2019 11:31 PM

I think they targeted braincels due to their history of users actually killing people and the theory that someone was going to do it again during the Joker movie. They wanted to nip that shit in the bud and I don't blame them.

I think they came after us so the braincel crowd wouldn't just come here as a safe haven, like they tried after incels got closed, assuming we'd welcome them with open arms.

kcchiefs0927 • 6 points • 1 October, 2019 11:48 PM

Which is hilarious because if you had a conversation with anyone outside of TRP or conservative subs and they saw you posted in TRP, they immediately call you an incel.

TheRedPillMonkey • 8 points • 2 October, 2019 12:12 AM

Yeah, that's the point. Many think trp is an incels circle jerk. But per another comment I made, incels to trp is like addicts to rehab. They are likely here but hopefully trying to improve. We're not exactly a safe haven of open incel spergal jerk.

This makes perfect sense from a due process perspective. When a new rule is announced you can't in good faith penalize people based on their behavior prior to the rule coming into existence. It's too blatant.

Now that Reddit admin have announced these policy changes, they will wait and see if TRP mods ensure that posts comply with the new rules. If they believe that mods can't or won't control the discourse in a satisfactory manner, then the subreddit will be banned.

it makes sense to distance themselves from anything and everything related to incels.

Which is why I'm saying for a third time on this thread, incels and incel content should be banned on site. Mods should encourage us to remove.

Incel content is a Rule Zero violation and should be treated as such.

MattMan970 • 12 points • 1 October, 2019 10:38 PM

Ok, taking it one step further. What does incel content look like, and how do we help them (besides directing them to the sidebar of course)?

Don't get me wrong, when I was not "attractive" in the female sense, the red pill was hard and painful to swallow, but I didn't whine - it was quite liberating to know how far off the mark I was, and HOW to improve myself.

1. Lift
2. Learn game (don't be unattractive)

If Reddit doesn't like the vernacular, than it may be time to move on. If, however, they realize it is a movement for men by men to become better men and more attractive to women (because women like men) well fuck, is TRP feminist?

/s

But seriously, aren't we giving women what they want, attractive men and a good lay?

[deleted] • 8 points • 1 October, 2019 11:17 PM

but I didn't whine

That's about all there is to it!

But seriously, aren't we giving women what they want, attractive men and a good lay?

YES. Women are holding their own in the workplace. They don't need plow horses, they need studs.

Be the stud.

And if you can't even try, TRP's not for you.

And if you tried and failed, try again. We all know the best FR's have some fail element in them.....while the worse FR's are based on it all being fail.

But if you quit trying, fuck off to Pluto.

commander_zoidberg • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 03:57 AM

I'd honestly prefer to fuck off to Mars if it's all the same to you chief. I'd gladly take the Incels with me. I might be able to make men out of them in such harsh conditions. Plow cooldadnerddad • 14 points • 1 October, 2019 09:06 PM*

The entire concept of involuntary celibacy is fundamentally based on hatred of women and men they perceive as more successful with women. I don't have an opinion as to whether or not they should be banned but I think it's fair to say that it's not possible to have an incel sub without harassing or bullying behavior because that's the whole point... men avoiding personal responsibility for their own outcomes by blaming other groups of people for their lack of sexual success.

TRP, on the other hand, is not inherently misogynistic. Sometimes the conversation veers in that direction but it's not a fundamental part of the concept.

TheRedPike • 15 points • 1 October, 2019 09:16 PM*

When people feel like that have nothing to lose, they will engage in all sorts of mischief. We try to get them to understand that things can be done and not to give up. Most people just want to ridicule them and drive them away for ever. So while I agree the incel subs have all been inherently angry and destructive places. Likewise inceltears should be wiped away too. They are only making things worse for everyone.

EDIT: wow that was some special typing I had there.

red_philosopher • 5 points • 2 October, 2019 01:07 AM

If anything, having nothing to lose is the perfect starting point for TRP. That's when you realize that nothing you have been told is working and nothing you've done has meant anything to the women you desperately want. It's a 50/50 shot of whether they try to do something about it or spiral into oblivion.

Incel subs are just graveyards for washouts. Plain and simple.

RightHandWolf • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 01:58 AM

If anything, having nothing to lose is the perfect starting point for TRP.

Exactly. This might sound weird, but bear with me. Sports psychologists talk about the technique of visualization, where the mental practice of a movement can help with the actual physical movement itself. Picture yourself throwing a sinker or a curve ball, or launching a perfect "Hail Mary" touchdown pass, and the odds of making it happen go up. To quote from the movie this sub takes its name from:

You have to let it all go, Neo. Fear. Disbelief. Self-doubt. Free your mind.

adool666 • 8 points • 1 October, 2019 09:56 PM

I sympathize with them. We complain about the bottom 80% of men getting little, but think of the bottom 20% or 10% of men. They get nothing. If they tried everything I don't blame them.

mortalcoil1 • 9 points • 1 October, 2019 11:01 PM

They didn't try everything. They are mostly a bunch of whiny kids who think that everybody but them is having all of this sex in high school when in fact, less than half of highschoolers are having sex by 12th grade. They are guaranteed to be addicted to porn. They have poor social skills and they have decided instead of just trying to fit in, blame all of their non fucking existent problems on women. They have tried everything... except trying to be normal and not hateful little shits whose parents didn't give them enough attention or too much attention.

Dont' hotlink any sub including our own. There is no way to white list our subs in automoderator.

commander_zoidberg • 5 points • 2 October, 2019 04:19 AM

Incels are a natural consequence of changes in the sexual marketplace from monogamy to polygamy. This trend has been going on since the 60's thanks to oral contraceptives and the degradation of our traditional christian culture but it jumped into overdrive since the late 2000's with the continued collapse of the western economy and giving women smartphones, social media and tinder.

I suppose incels are made somewhat dangerous by the fact they have too much time on their hands and have informational warfare waged upon them by a degenerate mass media. It's literally driving them insane, much like social media has driven women and leftists insane. Many of them still cling to double think blue pill beliefs and hopes. It's a toxic mix.

Ideally i'd like to black pill every last one of them and then dump all those twats in some wilderness somewhere and make them work like dogs 12 hours every day far away from mass media and our degenerate society. I was once in their position to some extent. My mental health was extremely poor due to double think and blue pill thinking. I basically just walked away from mainstream society, i live in a rural farm house, work night shifts. In winter i often don't see the sun for weeks. I don't really consume any current mass media. I have my books and my dog and my cars and my firearms. I don't watch TV anymore. I just go to a few sane corners of the internet like redpilled subs or 4chan maybe watch the odd bit of YouTube.

I have tried to help the Incels over the years but i find it difficult to converse with them because they are very emotional. Emotion and women tend to short circuit the brains logical reasoning ability. Until they get past this thinking they will never be able to improve.

lala_xyz • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 09:46 AM to make things clear: top men plowing through many women is not polygamy. If they were actually impregnating them and/or having them as their wives, it would be. Each woman individually dreams of alpha bucks committing to them alone. Personally I think what would indeed push society over the edge is actually legalizing polygamous marriage in order to have women "settling for a piece of alpha" in full display. In other words, accelerationism of the development in order to minimize cross-generational damage, because now we have lots of men not getting any pussy, and lots of women not getting married at all because they are too damaged or old.

[deleted] • 0 points • 1 October, 2019 09:20 PM

And they'll be in their way here. I really, really think you guys should start banning incels and incel content on the spot.

TheRedPike • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 12:41 AM

Incel content has always been bannable as a rule zero offense. We'll give some latitude if they are trying to improve or figure this shit out. We don't really look at post histories much unless we think someone is an outright troll, because we think that's lazy, stupid and lame.

Bloops are super easy to spot.

[deleted] • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 12:49 AM

I appreciate your response.

I keep an eye on anti-manosphere and mainstream stuff, and the attempt to tie TRP to incels is something you guys haven't missed and I find insidious.

I'll shut up about it now.

TheRedPike • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 01:01 AM

Reasonable questions. I think it's better to be clear about it. We are having a similar discussion on trp.red. We want people to be able to discuss difficult issues, such as culture and race, within their delineated areas (tribes). Likewise we want people to be able to avoid these topics, which is why the TRP sub and tribe are very restricted on those topics. We absolutely don't want vocal racism or the basement fuhrers shitting the place up with nazi trash and screeching about jews.

[deleted] • 3 points • 2 October, 2019 01:41 AM

I've literally heard, at the Shabbat table, that a Jew is more likely to own a basketball team than play for one.

I get how dicey this is. My maternal grandfather was the most impressive in my line, having graduated with a degree in physics and helped the war effort in the early 40's involving the wiring of ships to demagnetize to avoid mines....supposedly, of course, but the stories are coherent. He was Greek.

I have a few other really smart cousins in his line, and it adds up with other variables to a genetic advantage that I did nothing to deserve.

I honestly think that's about it. The only thing that matters is what you do with what you have. A "race realist" who is nonetheless underperforming has no place at the table.

TheRedPike • 3 points • 2 October, 2019 03:04 AM

Shabbat table

My great, great grandfather on my father's mother's side is jewish. So it doesn't count; I know the rules, but I have some genetic cred. And he'd probably be pretty upset about what his fellow austrians did in the 1940s. Trust me. I have a lot to say that doesn't flatter my race(s).

The point what I think your point is the same as my point: we should be able to discuss this stuff, even if logically contentious without the screeching idiots on pretty much all sides of the political spectrum.

The only thing that matters is what you do with what you have.

Pretty much the money shot. Yes.

Yep.

I went into Best Buy to buy a printer. I took my choice up to the front, and clerk asked, "Did anyone help you find this?" The guy happened to be walking by, so I said "Oh yeah, I got the Brother from the brother!"

The dude cracked up, came over and shook my hand. Made his day.

A little humor about this absurd fucking world wouldn't hurt.

If they were going to ban us, they wouldn't have gave us a heads up, they would've just banned us. I bet some random admin decided to give us a scare in order to get us to shut up, but they had no authority to actually shut this sub down.

It's a repeat of what they did to cringeandarchy, they're just gonna put a few trannies on the mod team who "change hateful subs to PC ones" by changing everything the subs about and filling it up with BS.

This is a listing of tribes currently established over at trp.red in order of appearance on the page . . .

The Rational Male Created By Rollo-Tomassi This tribe is the official TRP discussion community of The Rational Male book series authored by Rollo Tomassi.

SJW / Politics Created By redpillschool Discussion about SJW culture.

Wordsmiths Created By itiswrltten A closed community dedicated to quality contributions on subjects beyond the sidebar. Only approved posters can contribute.

Development Updates Created By redpillschool Discussion about development of TRP.RED

Red Pill Parenting Created By redpillschool Discussion of parenting or starting a family with a red pill lens.

subtle asian RP Created By Genghis_Kuan For those blessed with life on hard mode. Dedicated to the discussion and advancement of sexual strategies for the Asian man (particularly in the West). Strategy, not sympathy. All are welcome.

Thot patrol Created By Lilrobinzz We are the true red pill thot patrol.

FereallyRed Created By FereallyRed

The Man-Hood Created By CainPrice An open discussion of masculinity, by men, for men, and about men. And not about women. Discuss the role of men in the world, and masculine pursuits, without whining about women.

The 30 Day Challenge Created By bsutansalt This tribe is to create 30 day challenges to facilitate consistent progress.

DebateAltRight Created By pcpmasterrace An open forum for serious discussion/debate of the alt-right and its ideas.

/b/ Created By Omnidempotent /b/ - random

Awakening Created By Yuugen

Books Created By Makingusernamehard Every man should read to grow and learn. Share good books, and your thoughts.

MensRights Created By MenAreFine At the most basic level, men's rights are the legal rights that are granted to men. However, any issue that pertains to men's relationship to society is also a topic suitable for this tribe.

MGTOW Created By Bigs MGTOW stands for Men Going Their Own Way. It's a celebration of bachelorhood, of avoiding the financial and social burdens of marriage, including "common law marriage" or cohabitation.

Sorry about the lack of links, but I did a copy pasta of the feeds page to generate the list, the only editing I did was to remove some of the listing and/or status text showing membership numbers and subscription status, and I did this on my phone. But hey, you could wander over and do a little browsing, right? Register if you like what you see, and post a quick "thank you" to the crew that busted their asses to get the ball rolling. They did a hell of a job building this hot-rod, and they haven't even finished wiring the stereo speakers and buffing out the paint.

TheRedPike • 5 points • 2 October, 2019 03:19 AM

Tribes are not the same as reddit subs. They are meant to be localized topics for people that want to engage in those specific topics. There will be plenty of tribes people wont want anything to do with. And that's ok.

Meanwhile, we have no intention of decamping from here, as long as we aren't forced.

RightHandWolf • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 02:58 PM

No, but I see the tribes acting as a kind of surrogate for the "flair" system over here. To paraphrase Billy Joel:

Thank goodness that this blessed subreddit has a little more time left.

But be prepared to migrate, gents. Reddit is hardcore bluepill, so the banning of this subreddit is only a matter of time.

The powers that be WILL cleanse all of the big platforms of all wrongthink, slowly but surely. Narrative control is key and this is how they will hang on to their power for a while longer.

majani • 11 points • 1 October, 2019 09:36 PM

It's simpler than that: anger phase guys just aren't a good look to outsiders, but they are a necessary evil for this sub.

I_Dont_Type • 4 points • 2 October, 2019 01:40 AM

A problem I see is that incels, mgtow and the like are in permanent anger phase. None of it looks good to outsiders at all, especially considering there isn't a hint of the self-improvement aspect. Also now that the incel communities are being banned at least a small percentage of them will flock here because we speak their language so to speak. I think the mods of this subreddit could do with banning those that aren't looking to improve themselves or others and are instead just looking to rant about women.

red_philosopher • 3 points • 2 October, 2019 01:16 AM

The sub could mitigate a lot of that problem if there was a kind of mentor system. Chowning down TRP is incredibly difficult, and the one thing that I wanted more than anything was someone to help streamline some of the knowledge.

Trial by fire I guess.

I got banned from (ironically) r/ Enough Commie Spam for doing nothing more than mentioning this sub and defending its right to exist (said nothing about the content). The reason cited was "no alt-right" and I got no response from the mods when I questioned what they considered I said that was "alt-right".

mojavelover • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 03:58 AM thismightnotbetaken • 6 points • 2 October, 2019 03:58 PM*

In light of possible threat of the main reddit sub getting nuked from reddit here are a few backup options —

Official backup maintained by mods —

<https://www.forums.red/i/TheRedPill/>

Unofficial backups —

askTRP sidebar in a pdf —

<http://archive.is/HOA1B>

TRP sidebar in a pdf —

<http://archive.is/kElNQ>

TRP in a website —

<http://archive.is/3Iuga>

TRP offline backup —

<http://archive.is/ub0rf>

I urge everyone to backup their saved post history using the old.reddit url using archive.is bookmark button no matter how painstaking a task it is.

Furthermore I would request you to download the TRP offline backup, and askTRP and TRP sidebar PDFs for they contain invaluable material for those that need unplugging from the matrix in the future. Keep an offline (saved on hard disk or physical memory system) and online (cloud) copy saved.

While archive.is links may stay up download links in all probability will be dead in the future. At which point the copies present with the red pillers will act as sources for the newly introduced.

ConspiracyPill • 6 points • 2 October, 2019 04:15 AM

As much as I'd like this sub to exist for as long as it can because of how convenient it is to access RP content, like many other users have pointed out this is still them asking us to censor ourselves and be more family friendly.

A subreddit ban is probably still imminent. With the incel subs gone, the feminazi subs are gonna focus on TRP again and start bringing more attention here.

We're better off completing the migration to a platform under our own control where we won't be told to watch our words i.e. TRP.red, albeit that will take some time and getting used to. But fuck being at the mercy of Reddit and its bipolar admins.

KonradCurze • 6 points • 1 October, 2019 11:40 PM

There was no mistake in the ban, it was just them testing out to see what would happen. YouTube does the same thing. They'll delete a channel, go "oops!" and bring it back up and pretend it was an accident. Odd how it only happens to right wing channels though...

I'm sure this subreddit hasn't done anything to violate Policy, or at least not more than the rest of reddit, but rest assured that you'll be found to be in violation of that Policy anyway, and you'll never get an exact reason why, just a vague statement with no evidence.

Best just to leave this garbage website. It's full of leftist lobbying groups pushing the most insane nonsense to the front page with the admins being complicit.

skuttt • 8 points • 2 October, 2019 02:11 AM

It's disingenuous to say RP is right wing. It leads to trad thoughts, sure. But it's a truth philosophy. It leads to understandings of life. I think most of us are classic liberals, centrists or libertarians. And RP leads to tolerance of all those. We just have little sympathy for both extremes. But we are not Reddit's hive mind leftist bullshit.

KonradCurze • 5 points • 2 October, 2019 02:16 AM

I never said RP was right wing. Just that it's being treated the same way.

throwlaca • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 04:25 PM

I don't see any core Right Wing ideas here, like love for religion and marriage. In fact, its like the opposite.

RightHandWolf • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 09:23 PM*

If TRP is a political ideology, the closest approximation would be a hybrid of libertarianism and Ayn Rand's philosophy of Objectivism. Self-improvement, self-actualization and true self-awareness can only come from self-mastery, and self-mastery can only be obtained by having self-knowledge. The answers out there on the internet should be prompting people to ask themselves the hard questions about who they are, where do they want to go, what do they really want, how are they going to make it happen, and why does it matter to them. The same 5 basic questions that used to be a real journalist's credo for getting to the bottom of a good story. You are the author of your story, you are your mental point of origin.

L3T • 3 points • 2 October, 2019 03:19 AM

As a long time subscriber to this subreddit, I have also watched it break itself not from others doing, but from within to be honest. You have a lot to offer the wider community in the path to truth. You should stick to that being very careful not to seem to indoctrinate any visitors. The smarter, more open-minded and balanced visitors the ones you want to appeal to will quickly unsubscribe at any inkling you are cultish.

In my meanderings through this sub, I have unsubscribed and re-sub subscribed a few times. Always unsubscribing by treatment of mods and those from those within, rather than any other influence.

Just my 2c. Open up dialogue, try not to control, indoctrinate and harass/force out enquirers. I have had many of my harmless and fleeting contributions ruled inadmissible due overly zealous rulings by mods or those enjoying flexing their pill-powers just for it sake be.

Let things be when it doesn't really matter, cos it doesn't always matter tbh. Try (occasionally) to see things from others point of view just for shits and giggles. This is a skill always useful, but you will never find preached from anyone in power. This is truth. Challenge it, for sure. You will never achieve change unless you can come to the table. To do this you have to understand the others point of view. And to do this you have to put yourself in their shoe, at least for a second. It will make you better at your game, because at the end of it, I still believe life is a game. Lets play :-)

These companies have no idea how strong this subreddit is. They had it on quarantine cause they know there was 500k following and it was trending. If it wasn't quarantined this would blow up. All the girls who pushed for feminism would be all depressed to find out what men really think.

SouloftheVoid • 3 points • 2 October, 2019 03:25 PM

I don't trust the cucked reddit admins not to shutter the sub and when it happens it will be immediate. We should follow the example of the last great subreddit that this happened too, DarknetMarkets, and get a d/TheRedPill set up on dread where no cucked corporate interests or social justice nazis can touch it. TRP.red isn't a bad idea but what happens when company that hosts it shuts it down for "promoting hate speech"?

Ultimately the internet will split in two halves:

The clearnet being all the gynocentric websites like Facebook, reddit, youtube, and other usual sites that are sanitized for normies and females so that any offending content such as anything Red Pill, 4chan, 8chan, or gun-related content is immediately removed.

The darknet sites accessible via TOR that are very difficult for governments and corporations to shut down with will include things that will have been banned from the clearnet such this sub (now on dread), trp.red (now trp.onion), sites about guns, onion chans, and probably a youtube alternative that Donovan Sharpe, Rollo Tomassi, and others will have had to move to because they got deplatformed or just outright banned. This will be alongside what's already on the darknet such as the markets that sell drugs, gear, guns, and stolen credit card numbers.

I know which half I will be on.

I'm going to be honest with you here, while noting that I know nothing about you personally, so this is obviously not about you. I get why they nuked that sub. It constantly posted stuff about people outside of reddit that weren't public figures.

For comparison, we nuked a GLO post because he used an offsite picture of a non public figure in a post just to add some humor. Funny yes, but appropriate for reddit: no. (It was fixed and reposted. Men can handle difficulties like this without losing their shit.)

We are pretty much the poster children for anti-bullying. And we have ZERO tolerance for stuff spilling out of this sub.

Vermillion_Rx • 5 points • 1 October, 2019 09:40 PM

Of course it's political, which honestly just seems like it violates their own terms of service that they give out the Reddit community. It's bad business red_philosopher • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 01:48 AM

It's not hopeless. Even if they banned TRP, TRP has influenced millions of men, and that's not a small feat. TRP ideals will continue to spread because it's the only thing out there that truly empowers men and makes critical thinkers.

youcantdenythat • 3 points • 2 October, 2019 12:41 PM

While the "war" is happening and the major corporations have already done everything to suppress masculinity and common sense, it really doesn't matter whether you are red pillled or are a SJW.

The process still happens, and at best we can slow it down. SJW's basically speed it up.

For those who haven't understood yet, "The process" i'm referring to is to accept all the crazy stuff like crimes for veganism / animal rights, and "there is more than 2 genders". Tolerance of the craziest. Without any sort of "bullying" that would normally lead to people to improve themselves(isn't that the ultimate purpose of friendly bullying anyway?)

People shall degenerate into mass-produced unknown-gender furry fags that watch chinese cartoon porn remakes all day and jack off 54 times a day trying to "beat" the record(get it? beat it like beat the meat) and they will have absolutely none common sense and attention scope/span.

Moreover, with technology they will be half robotic too. Like an exoskeleton, because they will be so weak they wouldn't be able to even walk. Like zombies, but significantly more disgusting.

My mind already couldn't predict any further developments(regression?) of the society, but that's what I am referring to as "The process". And in the near future it's going to be way worse than soy boy SJW cucks...

And like Thanos, "The Process" is inevitable. All we can do is slow it down.

How we do it? By building communities for men. For men looking for happines, purpose, identity and abundance.

(That should have been a TRP post of it's own, but consider it here)

red_philosopher • 4 points • 2 October, 2019 01:33 AM

Technology is the great enemy of our time. It shapes our world and makes people more and more uniform in thought and action through forced conformity. With every step that technology takes forward, humanity becomes more and more stagnant.

[deleted] • 5 points • 1 October, 2019 08:33 PM

I would strongly suggest banning incels and incel content on sight.

edit:

Anyone who does not share that goal will be banned the instant we detect them.

No need for a rule change. Ban fucking incels on sight.

Footnote220 • 2 points • 3 October, 2019 04:11 PM

I wish the reddit administrators would have just left those Incel assholes alone before banning them and letting them spill over and ruin other communities. At least before they were contained. Now they're like a spreading cancer.

[deleted] • 1 point • 3 October, 2019 04:19 PM

I was around when they flooded in.....it makes no sense to me. Why would a vegan go to a steakhouse?

Footnote220 • 1 point • 3 October, 2019 04:50 PM

When you take the pill it falls on a spectrum

BukakiTsunami • 3 points • 2 October, 2019 01:26 AM

My guess is the compliance issues stem from the fact that we don't agree to be emasculated and get on our knees to let the SJW faggot leftists Jew globalists shoot their load of jizm all over our faces.

Rifleshoot • 1 point • 1 October, 2019 08:50 PM

This is fine, as long as RP content itself isn't censored or tailored to fit Reddit's BP ideology. I suspect they would rather keep TRP around, and just cut out the things they find unsavory.

toomim • 1 point • 1 October, 2019 09:03 PM

Wow.

muff_marauder • 1 point • 1 October, 2019 10:53 PM

This sub will get banned eventually, unfortunately.

Don't think for one second that it never will.

MeansToABenz • 1 point • 1 October, 2019 11:23 PM

thank you Mod, would link you but this ban is the worst

DevilDoc44 • 1 point • 1 October, 2019 11:52 PM

Reddit needs to diversify its thinking. They need some alpha men and women to balance them out. I wonder if they realize the flaw in their thinking!

RightHandWolf • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 03:08 PM

jedicreed • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 02:05 AM

Glad to hear that. I was about to delete Reddit if they were to remove this sub.

vtmsgtow • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 04:38 AM they can't kill an ideology.

Luffysstrawhat • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 07:48 AM

I feel like its literally the movie 300 and we are the spartans. Todays world is so soft.

DevilishRogue • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 08:00 AM

Considering the supposed "compliance issues" (of which there aren't any) this seems more a move to enable closing the subreddit without notice rather than a stay of execution per se. Anyone not yet registered at <https://trp.red> should do so now.

iVah1d • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 10:22 AM

Use this time to shift more people and content to trp.red

Itscommonsensebro • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 11:36 AM

This can't be serious. Pink pill feminism sub still toxic as fuck and still exists.

Fukboi1399 • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 12:02 PM

Hahaha looks like we held frame boys

asdjkljj • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 12:20 PM

I don't get it anyway. I keep getting a notice about highly offensive content. I have been in this subreddit for a month now and I have not seen anything highly offensive.

Where is that offensive content?

ucfgavin • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 01:50 PM

Good. Comparing this sub to some of the others is stupid. To be honest...none of those should be shut down either...but lumping TRP in with subs that deliberately attack others doesn't make any sense.

j-mac-rock • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 01:59 PM

Thank god. i needed this self improvement forum. it would be a shame to lose it

olimpicus • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 02:36 PM

Next week: bpd forum is hatespeech. Mark my words

TroglodyneSystems • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 02:48 PM

Seems deliberate just to troll.

[deleted] • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 04:17 PM

I say we back up everything and move. We must keep TRP Alive.

1962Throwaway1962 • 1 point • 4 October, 2019 07:42 PM

Maybe I am new and do not understand the entire red pill thing,,,isn't the red pill about men standing up for men? Every other group has forums for that so why is it so bad for men to do it? I did not THINK it was about slamming anyone especially women...I do not know about anyone else but I love my mom and my sisters and my wife and my daughters. What am I missing here?

hazaraMoghul • 1 point • 5 October, 2019 07:01 AM

Brothers, lets go ahead with TRP.RED, this bictzhez giving us some disrespectful shit-test. women will be women.

Balderdash79 • 1 point • 5 October, 2019 04:31 PM

Does forums.red plan to use a scraper to dupe reddit TheRedPill content?

Honestly just move over and leave reddit. This is embarrassing, stop bending over to these fuckers. TRP will be way better once its fully off the main platforms

redpillschool[S] • 4 points • 2 October, 2019 02:24 PM

Nothing is stopping you from making a new account on <https://www.trp.red>

BukakiTsunami 1 points 2 October, 2019 01:18 AM [recovered]

So you're basically saying, you're willing to suck off redit and do what they say, as thanks for not closing us down. If we dance a jig do you think massuh will give us the choicest part of the hog balls foe hour suppah?

Gee what a deal.

Thanks but reddit can shove it up their ass for all I care.

redpillschool[S] • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 01:41 PM

Or, check out <https://trp.red>

[deleted] • -37 points • 1 October, 2019 07:58 PM

Lol how convenient for you! How strange the admins haven't said a word about this!

I think you're full of shit.

redpillschool[S,M] • 23 points • 1 October, 2019 08:06 PM

We have told you everything they have told us. That is it.

max_peenor • 4 points • 1 October, 2019 08:44 PM

They said a lot about it.

[deleted] • 1 point • 1 October, 2019 08:58 PM

Yeah they didn't mention TRP at all though.

max_peenor • 5 points • 1 October, 2019 09:04 PM

They didn't mention any sub. They just did it.

[deleted] • -1 points • 2 October, 2019 01:10 AM

Yet TRP was the only one that got a "warning".

I'm glad RPS got to funnel some traffic to his new message board, would be nice if he was able to do it honestly.

max_peenor • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 03:34 AM

What warning? They told us they were pointing a gun at our heads and then later said they weren't going to pull the trigger.

/u/TheRedPike this isn't in good faith.

[deleted] • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 03:37 AM*

No, I'm saying it's odd that TRP was the only sub to get this "we're about to ban you" message.

Everyone else swept up in this was just outright banned.

Go ahead and censor me though if you don't like what I'm saying. Wouldn't that be ironic!

max_peenor • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 03:52 AM

"we're about to ban you"

I love blooper quotes. Because they aren't quotes. hah

The actual quote is "and therefore will be closed."

No warning. Summary judgment. But yeah, keep making shit up.

_anothergunnut_ 1 points 2 October, 2019 04:11 AM [recovered]

Not blue. Don't know where you got that from.

Call it a warning, call it a "summary judgement", my point is that it is odd that TRP was the only sub to receive one. Dozens of subs were banned in this wave, and none of them got a message from the admins saying the ban was incoming.

I'm asking in good faith - why do you think this is the case?

redpillschool[S] • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 01:42 PM

I'm asking in good faith - why do you think this is the case?

No idea. Wish they'd tell us.

RStonePT • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 03:03 PM

what would an honest reaction to administration messages look like?

[deleted] • 0 points • 2 October, 2019 03:35 PM

I thought I was clear.

I think the screenshots here are fake. I think RPS jumped on the bandwagon and made the whole thing up in an effort to drive subscribers to his website.

RStonePT • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 03:56 PM

So there is no way to meet your standard.

k.

Redpiller77 • -6 points • 2 October, 2019 02:54 AM

I haven't thought about the possibility of this being something made up to push traffic, but it does make sense. You guys make reddit look like bad guys and portray yourselves as heroes defending free speech and men's rights. That image means shit, I can do something like that in minutes and I'm not even well versed in coding or image editing.

Not saying you did, just that it's possible. I prefer if the subreddit stays because I'm lazy and I don't want to lose or move my saved posts.

redpillschool[S] • 2 points • 2 October, 2019 01:43 PM

I'm certain the admin would step in and correct us if we were impersonating them.

Redpiller77 • 1 point • 2 October, 2019 06:28 PM

You're right about that. I doubt they'd like that. As I said, I didn't believe it, just thought it was possible.
