

The Cycle Of Female Inclusivity (Courtesy Of MGTOW Reddit)

May 14, 2016 | 776 upvotes | by Darth_Sin

Step One: We demand you include us in your space.

Step Two: We demand you change your space to accommodate us.

Step Three: We demand you stop harassing us because you don't like our demands.

Step Four: We demand new laws or rules be enacted to remove "you" from the space "we've" created as you don't fall in line with our vision of what the space should be.

Step Five: Why don't you go off and create your own space if you don't like it? :)

Step Six: We demand you not create your own space after we have kicked you out of "our" space as men having their own space is inherently misogynistic.

Replace "your space" with your time and availability, and you have a woman's plan of attack in a relationship as well. Stay vigilant.

Bielzabutt • 136 points • 14 May, 2016 06:57 PM

Agreed, that cycle is "I want more things, make more money" >> "You're always working and never around">> "You don't put enough time in our relationship""I'm leaving you/cheating on you because of your unavailability""You owe me half your stuff"

crimsonpowder • 61 points • 14 May, 2016 08:29 PM

I've noticed what you're talking about. Women have parasitic behavior. A woman will try to infiltrate a man's life and suck as much as she can out of him. This is an instinct deep within her because she is the weaker sex and needs resources. If the guy's frame is weak and he caves to her ever-growing list of demands, the cycle you laid out is exactly what happens.

This behavior is fundamentally no different than what a ringworm does to the eye. It's stupid parasitic behavior where eventually the host dies.

A man's job, should he choose to undertake it, is to understand this reality and keep a solid frame to ensure this doesn't happen. A woman is weaker in each regard; she can only cause problems if he lets her.

Also symbolically, a vagina squeezes the life out of a penis.

Tom_The_Human • 31 points • 14 May, 2016 07:25 PM

That's only a cycle if you let it be.

[deleted] • 10 points • 15 May, 2016 05:39 AM

Yeah, but most guys are unprepared for the 'arc'. The thing that attracts women to you (high status job with stellar pay) is the same thing that drives them away (time demanding high status job)

vengefully_yours • 8 points • 15 May, 2016 04:34 AM

You get those, you say "buh bye..."

yomo86 • 4 points • 15 May, 2016 05:46 PM

TRP preaches to cut her off her legs. "I want more things, make more money" - "If you are not happy leave - IDGAF" suddenly a change of tune in her persona.

[deleted] • 6 points • 15 May, 2016 06:15 PM

"I'm not happy!"

"There's the door."

Best dread game ever.

[deleted] • 1 point • 14 June, 2016 05:44 AM

As I told my ex very early in our marriage "you don't like it, you can go." I initiated the divorce. Always demonstrate higher value.

[deleted] • 91 points • 14 May, 2016 07:46 PM

Just dropped a new plate over this. She was fucking me outside of a two year relationship because her guy was "emotionally abusive." Well, after fucking her for a couple weeks she tells me she dropped her guy and I'd been promoted from "side nigga" to "main nigga." I told her I was "all time side nigga" and to pump the brakes. After that she would leave one or more items at my place every time she came by. Hair ties, hair pins, panties, etc. Bitch even bought me new pillows without asking. I drew the line when she asked to stay over and I told her no because I was getting up early to hit the water and she demanded I spend the day with her instead because she was off work. I had all her shit in a box the next time she came over after that and said we were going to start meeting at her place instead (which I think I'm going to make SOP after this). She wasn't down with that (maybe because main nigga wasn't made aware he was no longer main nigga?) and I told her that was her only option because I wasn't going to have her in my home. Showed her the door and that was that. Fuck branch swinging, this girl tried to slither her way into my life. They know what they want and they know how to get it. Vigilance is absolutely vital.

"Never Take A bitch where you stay" - Young Dolph

I got a question tho. Any other chicks try that shit? I'm not sure if in the future during pick ups I'm gonna take chicks to my place or not.

[deleted] • 31 points • 14 May, 2016 08:29 PM

This is the first one to try to edge in like that. I've had girls try to push for LTR's but most catch on pretty quick that I'm not that guy. I drop how much I hate kids and how stupid I think marriage is at every opportunity and all incentive to try and lock me down vanishes. I bring girls back to my place pretty regularly, it's easier than trying to get a girl who is unaware of the existence of cardinal directions to explain how to get to her place. This girl didn't even push for an LTR. She just started dropping shit at my place and ordering shit for my apartment. I think it's easier to get past ASD in your own space than hers (never had a girl change her mind at my door vice hers, for example) but this new invasion tactic has me rethinking it.

[deleted] • 11 points • 14 May, 2016 08:38 PM [recovered]

I do the same shit. I mention how I never want to get married, staying with the same chick forever seems boring as shit, I could never be satisfied with the same pussy forever etc etc. Girls say "omg that's terrible" or "really?" But they give me that devilish lustful smirk girls get on their face when you turn them on.

Do you leave music on in your crib? Something my bro does whenever he brings bitches to his apartment is leave on the weeknd or partynextdoors music playing on the surround sound. He told me it gets chicks wet and really sets the mood.

[deleted] • 19 points • 14 May, 2016 08:57 PM

I find it hilarious that Weeknd turns girls on given that he only sings about being a womanizing drug addict, but it is what it is. No, I don't leave music on out of consideration for my neighbors and because I listen to music girls don't like. I don't hunt clubs anymore for this reason. EDM/club sluts are fun for a short while but they're all cookie cutter clones and really fucking annoying. I hit up bars instead. I meet much more interesting and diverse ass this way and it's more challenging (and rewarding) to talk a woman into bed than to rub up on a girl gorked out on molly and fireball. I really got burned out on party girls last year. They are the epitome of AWALT.

Thenextprince-12 points 14 May, 2016 09:06 PM [recovered]

Haha right? He's one of my role models, I like his shit because of his mystery, his philosophy on women, & his voice because I sing just like him/Michael Jackson and I practice their songs often. I've gotten like two girls singing weeknd lyrics to them and looking at them seductively. "Girl take pride in what you wanna do, even If that means a new man every night inside of you"

Drives em nuts ☐☐. I love whores so I have a feeling I'm gonna love clubs when I'm older. The sluttier and easier, the better. I love sharing bitches with my bros too. When it comes to women, I literally have no use for them but sex or kids. When I get my own place and I have a plate over, if one of my buddies comes by he can fuck her too. Idgaf. Women = Squad pussy. Me and my boys used to have a little joke in our text group chat where If a girl hit us up, wed screenshot It and send it to the group chat with the caption "Fresh Meat for the squad". Weve shared a few girls so far. I don't really care as long as I don't catch anything.

Rambo1stBlood • 10 points • 14 May, 2016 10:06 PM

I sing just like him/Michael Jackson

Kind of a big statement here. :O

Thenextprince-11 points 14 May, 2016 10:09 PM [recovered]

I'm aware. Most people who hear me sing tell me I sing like a young Michael Jackson or the weeknd. I'll be making music for the first time this summer, can't wait. I wanna be the next MJ.

You sound pretty cocky but honesty man I think it's awesome that you believe in yourself like that. Just don't ever rest on your laurels. If you're that talented you still need to outwork everyone else. So many wasted talents out there that didn't put in the work.

Believe in yourself, let the people that hate fuel you to worker harder than everyone else.

[deleted] • 16 points • 14 May, 2016 09:30 PM

I'm not really a "sharer." There's nothing in it for me to tread ground my friends have.

It falls under my "no wives or girlfriends of friends or Marines" rule. You sound pretty young. You can still get laid off a slice of pizza and a dirty joke by the sound of it. Girls your age will always be that way and as you age you'll get bored of it. Once that happens you'll spend your time developing yourself instead of fishing for "squad meat" and the quality of woman you bed will improve accordingly. Enjoy it while you can, but recognize you're playing short-game vice long-game, which is definitely where the money is if you want kids.

vengefully_yours • 1 point • 15 May, 2016 04:41 AM

I don't care who a bitch is fucking as long as I don't catch anything and she isn't fucking some other guy right before me.

[deleted] • 5 points • 15 May, 2016 05:44 AM

I don't catch anything

To much out there can be passes with condoms. Oral STDs are a thing. I don't wear a condom when I get blown, but the more chicks I sleep with the more I worry that the odds are getting worse.

[deleted] • 1 point • 15 May, 2016 04:39 PM

I mean sharing in the sense of passing her around my friends. I fuck taken girls all the time. I've been the guy she fucked after kissing her date good night and telling him what a great time she had plenty of times. I expect no fidelity and I offer none. Doesn't mean I wanna be eskimo bros with all my friends.

Just watched my cousin get married 5 hours ago. When they exchanged vows I just cringed and thought, "how the fuck could I ever promise someone to spend my life with only them? There's so many women." It's crazy how disgusting marriage sounds post-RP.

[deleted] • 8 points • 15 May, 2016 02:10 AM

how the fuck could I ever promise someone to spend my life with only them

Two ways:

1. Believe it and be in denial.
2. Lie through your teeth.

[deleted] • 5 points • 14 May, 2016 09:59 PM

Always try their place if possible. You can leave whenever, they don't know where you live if they're crazy, etc.

[deleted] • 1 point • 26 May, 2016 05:10 AM

The way you described this just screams of her being a white or Hispanic female trying to sound more down by dropping egregious N bombs.

1) Being a side nigga transcends race and 2) while it is said ironically as both of us are white, "nigga" is hardly an "N bomb."

Obligatory reminder that the 1600's version of feminazis in England tried to ban coffee houses because men were congregating there too often.

<https://www.gopetition.com/famous-petitions-in-history/232/the-women-s-petition-against-coffee-1674.html>

Women's natural enemy is anything that men can enjoy that is not women. There's a reason video games, porn, movies, sports, etc are always getting the "why isn't this thing inclusive to women?" and "this thing men like needs to be stigmatized or forbidden" treatment.

In a feminist utopia, positive female attention would be the ONLY thing men are allowed to enjoy. If women hold a monopoly on our happiness, the stock price of femaleness rises. That means they can trade their bodies and their positive attention for more stuff - bux and fux alike.

DiscerningDuck • 21 points • 14 May, 2016 10:59 PM*

Conversely, if men are able to find happiness elsewhere in camaraderie, drawing attention away from women, their stock price decreases. Which then requires them to put effort into regaining attention from men, causing men's stock price to go up, which enables hypergamy.

gekkozorz • 6 points • 14 May, 2016 11:57 PM

Yep. It's like the mafia breaking the kneecaps of rivals who tries to sell drugs on their turf. You ruin their monopoly, you force them to price more competitively.

I feel like there should be another step at the end. Feminists constantly take over things that used to be safe haven for males, and are now poisoning them. Look at video games. We just wanna kill some shit, not be lectured on why that bikini on a pixilated avatar is a hate crime.

[deleted] • 75 points • 14 May, 2016 07:33 PM

It's not just video games.

The female imperative also includes the replacement of men by more masculine men of possible foreign origin if the men of their own ingroup become feminine. This is the female imperative: Weaken an alpha and replace him if he does submit.

lord-denning • 33 points • 15 May, 2016 02:34 AM

Bingo. Now everything Merkel has done and all the women holding "welcome refugees" signs make sense.

WhitePhillip • 23 points • 14 May, 2016 07:06 PM

There was a new release just a few months ago in Japan but it did not make it to the US market. However PS4 is not region locked so you can order it online and partake in all the big jiggly boobies you like.

DailyManliness • 18 points • 14 May, 2016 08:28 PM

Just looked it up and it's funny how they couldn't include "volleyball" in the title even in Asia. Just some fun quotes from the Wikipedia page

Shuhei Yoshida "It's due to cultural differences. The West has its own thinking about how to depict women in games media which is different from Japan [...] Speaking personally, if it is a representation acceptable to the general people in Japan, I wouldn't be concerned about it in Japan. It's a difficult problem"

Hayashi said a version of the game "adjusted for North America" might come to the West if the demand is high enough

Unreal, the game just came out too. Apparently there's also an English option so I might need to order it just to put it on a "fuck you" mantle

Rikvidr • 28 points • 14 May, 2016 06:52 PM

I do remember it. But feminists get offended by incredibly innocuous things like Tomb Raider. I mean I'm not a big fan of the TR games, but I'm assuming some of settings in those games might warrant for the main character to be wearing something you know, that doesn't make them hot (as in temperature). Oh no, a spaghetti strap shirt in a video game, call the fbiciansapolice.

LikeViolence • 39 points • 14 May, 2016 07:58 PM

People were upset by cortana in the halo series. They were mad at a hologram in a video game.

DailyManliness • 13 points • 14 May, 2016 08:29 PM

I'm not a fan of the games either, I wrote an entire thing about this and "Quiet" in Metal Gear Solid. The absurd complaining about outfits of women in video games is insane.

Anytime feminism becomes a part of any space, the conversation shifts away from whatever the thing was and becomes about the feminism.

Can confirm, have been a part of a naturally-occurring male zone (electronics lab) and as we talk more about women inevitably working in the lab due to our success we've shifted from our normal behavior to talking about how we have to be more PC. Shit sucks.

throwawayno7565 points 14 May, 2016 10:50 PM [recovered]

Step 8: we are getting raped by these new men for real. Fix the problem.

[deleted] • 23 points • 15 May, 2016 04:55 AM

That won't happen until after step 7.5:

Step 7.5: foreign men are raping us, so we'll blame local cucked betas for being misogynist rape-apologists.

We are not yet seeing feminists demanding action against rapefugees, if anything they're clamping down even harder on the local male population.

Madison • 6 points • 15 May, 2016 01:26 PM

Women in the west are sheltered especially in Europe. They have no idea what men brainwashed by religion are actually capable of. They are so naive i don't think they realise they can get beaten half to death without a guy breaking a sweat.

[deleted] • 4 points • 15 May, 2016 08:48 PM*

You mean like this afghan bitch gettin stoned because of adultery, eloping or whatever have you. This type of punishment is also in the bible, death by stoning. I wonder what these hypergamy loving women would do if they lived in an islamic state.

No, really though, an average man is stronger than 99% of women.

LarParWar • 1 point • 25 May, 2016 06:03 PM

The power of the State is greater than 99% of men.

(White) women toed the line because the State didn't intervene in the male->female relationship dynamic and call it "family court" and "domestic abuse" and whatever other hysterical feminist phrases.

Moslem men haven't broken because the State treats them with kid gloves. They in practice take Sharia law with them wherever they go.

[deleted] • 11 points • 15 May, 2016 06:18 AM

"Bitch, shut up."

There is more to it than that. Humans are social creatures and context is anything.

Imagine saying this phrase today in front of any audience and watch how quickly your enemies gather in every direction.

vandaalen • 8 points • 15 May, 2016 07:44 AM

Imagine saying this phrase today in front of any audience and watch how quickly your enemies gather in every direction.

I have told people of any sex multiple times to shut their face and spare me from what they consider to be important. Where is the problem? It's all a matter of who says it and how.

Besides that, I also do not necessarily to take it literally. You need to learn to stand your ground against women inducing drama though. Especially in relationships you will get heavy shit-tests if you exclude her from certain activities.

Also what are those "enemies" planning to do?

Spiral-knight • 8 points • 15 May, 2016 08:22 AM

Destroy your reputation, end any hope you have of seeing gainful employment, through another or alone. Make you a literal outcast harassed and attacked from every direction- either as the direct result of malice or by those wishing to direct the hate away from themselves. Like it or not we're not in an age where "bitch, shut up" and/or "standing your ground" will work regularly enough to bank on.

Dear God yes, so many men try and argue and convince women they're wrong. You don't: you tell them to shut the fuck up and throw them out on their ass when they don't. Women depend on US, every thing they have, every job they hold: the company is there because of men working. She wants a piece? You decide how much she gets or doesn't get based on how much value she presents. She got nothing but a mouth? You tell her to shut the fuck up, you don't argue with children: do you?

Fine observation. The cycle is akin to the awkward situation where someone interjects/interrupts a conversation and don't contribute anything of substance while assuming the conversation should align with their obscure comment.

The difference being that the majority of men permit the intrusion (into their space) because they are thirsty for the female interaction.

gekkozorz • 38 points • 14 May, 2016 07:29 PM

The difference being that the majority of men permit the intrusion (into their space) because they are thirsty for the female interaction.

This often gets overlooked in mainstream in discussions on female inclusion. Men have always, at all points in history, with no exceptions, preferred to have more women around then less. When was the last time you were out with your boys and one of you said "man, this party is so lame, there's too many girls here. Let's go over to Dave's, I hear that place is a total sausage fest!"

This is definitive proof that men are not trying to keep women out of anything, whether it's tech, video games, nerd culture, etc. Men, especially beta men, have absolutely no qualms with women entering their spaces. Quite the contrary, they wish there were more of them.

This doesn't stop thinkpiece bloggers from saying "X doesn't have enough women in it! This must be because men are trying to force women out of X! Shame on you men!" and meanwhile the blogger herself has absolutely no interest in X to begin with.

[deleted] • 22 points • 14 May, 2016 11:44 PM

That's my definition of GamerGate: "the completely sane idea that the top priority of men supposedly starved of female attention is to remove women from their favorite pastime."

gekkozorz • 14 points • 14 May, 2016 11:58 PM

Exactly how I knew the mainstream press' description of GamerGate was lies. Implying beta males want less women around? Bullshit.

[deleted] • 17 points • 15 May, 2016 04:57 AM

Men have always, at all points in history, with no exceptions, preferred to have more women around then less.

With a caveat: men of power and wisdom have always recognized the negative influence of women on male spaces and excluded them appropriately. The Greek assembly, the Roman Curia, the British gentlemen's club are all manifestations of men wanting to be able to discuss important issues without estrogenic influence.

[deleted] • 2 points • 25 May, 2016 04:49 AM

When was the last time you were out with your boys and one of you said "man, this party is so lame, there's too many girls here. Let's go over to Dave's, I hear that place is a total sausage fest!"

Sure, it's like this when you are relaxing and trying to have fun.

Now, lets imagine a different scenario, where you and your boys are on a mission, and you need to get shit done. Here women become a distraction and a nuisance.

[deleted] • 5 points • 14 May, 2016 11:14 PM

Thats me - I always feel like I make random awkward observations into conversations. Its like I drop lead balloons into the conversation whenever I speak.

I need to work on it somehow :)

[deleted] • 8 points • 14 May, 2016 11:21 PM

A key to this. Listen. You'll make less of a fool out of yourself if you know what's "really" happening. After a certain point ask a valid question about the topic which relates to the conversation. It engages the group, includes you in the conversation, and it's open ended enough to allow a more diverse dialogue.

[deleted] • 2 points • 14 May, 2016 11:26 PM

You're completely right. But even when I listen, I don't seem to have much intelligent to contribute. Maybe I need to concentrate harder

No one gives a shit about you, everyone only cares about themselves. You don't need to contribute, you need to get them to contribute so they feel smart. People project their emotional states onto other people so if you make someone feel smart they'll attribute that to you.

Shit, I've recently been having fun playing Minecraft with my six years old niece and nephew, and even there I could already see these differences emerging.

My six year old niece likes to play in creative mode, make things pretty, likes to build small pretty trinkets, and enjoys spending a huge part of time outside of the game, picking out different cute skins to put on her character.

Six year old nephew likes to play survival mode, builds well-defended but messy structures with good lighting to protect himself his in-game wealth, and his female cousin from monsters.

I just can't believe all of this was socialized into them.

steps 1 - 5 are the same steps with people from california moving to arizona and then try to change arizona to the shithole of california that they came from

[deleted] • 10 points • 15 May, 2016 03:28 AM

Fucking this dude. I just moved back to Arizona. This place is the shit and I'm not telling anyone. Fucking California is the shittiest state in the union.

Those of us in Texas are shaking our heads right now.

Entropy-7 • 11 points • 15 May, 2016 01:55 AM

It reminds me of that saying that any organization that is not explicitly conservative will, over time, become liberal. In this case, however, if the space is explicitly male then they double down and make out like it is a hate crime until it is not explicitly male-only.

AmlanceJockey • 12 points • 15 May, 2016 03:08 AM

The Harvard men only clubs doubled down in a big way. When given the ultimatum of include women or lose official status as a Harvard club, they chose to hit the road.

Entropy-7 • 8 points • 15 May, 2016 05:28 AM

Good for them, but it speaks to a rank hypocrisy when the same people issuing the ultimatum are the same ones creating and endorsing female-only groups. . .but we knew that already.

[deleted] • 2 points • 25 May, 2016 05:06 AM

This just makes the clubs look better and Harvard look worse.

[deleted] • 9 points • 14 May, 2016 08:22 PM

How much longer until we can't gather in groups unless there's at least one female present?

SH1TROCK7 points 14 May, 2016 11:36 PM [recovered]

Step seven: men build something else and the cycle repeats.

yarow12 • 5 points • 15 May, 2016 04:50 AM

Steps two, four, and six sum up what I'm noticing on American college campuses. If hypergamy is to be taken as the norm, females in general are going to be miserable and confused while searching for Mr. Perfect. Never to realize that he simply cannot exist anymore.

AzzyMcGee • 4 points • 15 May, 2016 09:56 AM

That's the saddest part. They're too stupid to ever realize that they're the ones who are causing all of their blights.

yarow12 • 1 point • 15 May, 2016 06:32 PM

"Women are children." -grandpa, Diana Davison, etc.

The saddest part for me is the fact that I'm not a child molester.

Step Six: We demand you include us in your space.

TomRoberts2016[] • 4 points • 14 May, 2016 11:17 PM

Irony that men are supposed to chase women, but when women become undesirable (late 20's) then they start chasing men, try to bully them when they're still not wanted, pretend they didn't want them in the first place.

By being persistent and annoying? That's what children do.

women are different than men, yes.

Please don't happen to the NFL

SgtBrutalisk • 13 points • 14 May, 2016 09:40 PM

NFL has female referees and the players wear pink ribbons for breast cancer awareness.

[deleted] • 5 points • 14 May, 2016 10:30 PM

You think I didn't notice or something? lol

That's why I made the comment. It's the first step to the NFL's slippery demise.

SgtBrutalisk • 5 points • 14 May, 2016 11:06 PM

Others might not know about it.

lucifersaveus • 3 points • 15 May, 2016 03:47 AM

I didn't because I don't watch sports.

I heard Bill Burr talk about it but I thought he was talking about women wanting to go to the game with their bf/husband or something.

Female refs...that's hilarious

[deleted] • 5 points • 14 May, 2016 11:11 PM

I'm actually praying for the day they integrate the NFL. It will last exactly one week and I expect at least one medically brain-dead female player to be the end of it. Then we can finally have televised, honest, open, visual, irrefutable proof laid out before the eyes of millions that even the best women are no match for men. Then we can start rolling back all this inclusive bullshit.

[deleted] • 12 points • 14 May, 2016 11:34 PM

Whenever the topic comes up about integration and equality in sports, I proclaim "I am totally on board. We should make the olympics co-ed." I then conclude with "Of course that would end shortly after women stopped winning medals".

lucifersaveus • 3 points • 15 May, 2016 03:48 AM

Shit. I forgot what video it was but some guy was talking about how women are kept out of the NBA, NFL, Men's Soccer.

lol like it's us who are keeping them out

They'll decide that the only way for it to not be misogynistic is for it to become flag football...

I read that as Michael Scott.

[deleted] • 3 points • 15 May, 2016 03:04 AM

Step 6 is usually when Men create another space without women. Then the process repeats.

[deleted] • 3 points • 15 May, 2016 03:10 PM

That bitchy little smiley face on step 5 is so fucking on point. Plausible deniability on the instinctual level. To the plugged in: 'What? I smiled I was being nice?' To the unplugged: 'I know this will piss you off, go on, get angry and shift public opinion my way.'

Noctis_Cloud • 2 points • 15 May, 2016 12:18 PM

Step 8: It appears you gave up fighting for your space and walked away, now we are disinterested too. On to the next space!

[deleted] • 2 points • 15 May, 2016 01:47 PM

If women demand to join a club, why fight it? If that's what they want, let them in, but give them responsibilities and tie their continued involvement into being productive members of the group. If they don't meet a standard, you give them another chance to shape up or ship out.

TheRedStoic • 2 points • 15 May, 2016 04:22 PM*

Tldr (of my response) women will invade anything male based and immediately try to make it female based. I agree entirely OP. I would as that the above is cyclical in nature. At least until enough men have been betafied that new male groups simply don't exist.

I hold a testing and exposure session for one of our brands every week. Most of the buyers are male for this brand, as it is a rather brutal rule set which requires an appreciation of complex systems to be enjoyed.

We've always invited everyone, never turn anyone away either, most of the women coming in end up bitching because it's too hard, and want me to rewrite an 8 year built, profitable design, to make it easier for them. (Or give exceptions because it's too hard without Mulligan's)

Maybe it's because they're finger fucking their phones while they should be paying attention?

Maybe because it's a neutral, merit based reward system?

Maybe because of the above, there is no preferential treatment for a low cut or booty shorts?

Maybe because rewards are not affected by who you know, but what you know?

Maybe because the system is based on punishment for failure, and others on your team will point it out because you're visibly dragging everyone down?

Maybe because 80 percent of the people who didn't go through the twenty minute prep to join (learn basic rules and mechanics) are female?

Fuck maybe it's because they can't concentrate? Idunnolol.

I dunno. My answer is always the same. If we made it easier, it wouldn't be rewarding, it would also be blatantly unfair to everyone else looking for this kind of challenge. Maybe this isn't the product for you. Why not try (kiddy supplement) instead.

It's funny. Our core repeat testers are split pretty evenly, 13/7 male lean. Our subscribers are 40%female. It's obvious women can do this fine, if motivated properly. Hell one of our best engine designers is female.

I will not bow to any one person because they feel excluded. Change yourself or move on, no one is keeping you here. (Of course you must be diplomatic in telling people to fuck off)

If there's one thing this has taught me over the last few years, it's that men relax with complex merit rewarding systems, women bitch about simple systems being too complex and not having enough support. It's also taught me generalizations are too general.

Customers are weird.

[deleted] • 1 point • 25 May, 2016 05:11 AM

Engines? Supplements?

I'm curious what type of product you're actually pushing.

Maybe because rewards are not affected by who you know, but what you know?

I agree with all in your post except for that, you yourself have to realize it's a lie. It's WAY more about who you know than what you know, ESPECIALLY for women.

[deleted] • 3 points • 15 May, 2016 01:17 AM basically islam except step three is them killing you and enslaving your women

aazav • 1 point • 14 May, 2016 11:19 PM

It's insidious, but that's the way that female reasoning (and gay male) reasoning works.

Forcetobereckonedwit • 1 point • 15 May, 2016 04:47 AM

I'd say you have nailed it perfectly.

lv1crown • 1 point • 16 May, 2016 02:54 PM

Have you seen how many female only colleges there are compared to male colleges in US? There are 3 male only colleges, and about 70-80 women colleges (based on wikipedia). In fact, there was one military college that tried changing to all male college and got sued for discrimination.

And people wonder why the current trend is more women are attending college than men.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Women%27s_colleges_in_the_United_States

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Men%27s_colleges_in_the_United_States

"The most notable men's college to begin admitting women in recent years is the Virginia Military Institute (VMI), which had been sued by the U.S. Department of Justice in 1990 for discrimination. The Department of Justice argued that since VMI was a public institution, it could not prevent women from attending based on gender alone. Due to United States v. Virginia, VMI admitted its first female cadets in 1997."

i_got_the_clearance • 1 point • 17 May, 2016 03:54 AM

There will always be "women-firsts", first woman-president etc, because men need to first create the institution and then the conditions for women to succeed there. Here is the NYT story of the start of the WNBA. Includes an unintentionally hilarious account of the first women's pro game (shooting 35% on both sides and a million TO). An advance for women? Well they don't mention that men started the league 20 years ago, and have lost $1M to $2M each year per team (12 of them) over that time. Only in the last few years have even half the teams made money.

odileLee • 0 points • 16 May, 2016 04:24 AM

Stupid witches dont understand- men need their space , always have! Look at Freemasonry(making good men, better. And they do!) It is downright hypocrisy, as per their norm. Good women know, not only do men need their " mancave" but also, have secret mens business (whatever that is, none of my business!) They are narcissistic to a fault.

rosso007 • -11 points • 14 May, 2016 09:40 PM

While agree with alot of the mgtow and redpill ideas. This post is just negstive and complaining. This will not help you live a good life. Instead try a constructive approach and go plate spin :D

[deleted] • 13 points • 14 May, 2016 11:15 PM

Education is a core part of disillusioning BP's. Pattern recognition is a key part of that. They read it here and suddenly they see it everywhere. Then they enthusiastically come back to read more. This is not a "positive space." That shit is for liberals and hippies.

alvlear • -18 points • 14 May, 2016 09:04 PM

I am not a mod, but women are not welcome on TRP.

I dislike hate you. You disgust me. All of you.

Take your soft, too-much-feeling selves away from here.

Stay away.
