

Australian children to be brainwashed with radical feminism starting in primary school

794 upvotes | 15 October, 2016 | by G_Petronius

---

BBC: Australian students to be taught about 'male privilege'

The "respectful relationship" curriculum will be mandatory in all schools in Victoria from next year.

Notice the doublespeak (which is ubiquitous in feminist propaganda): not "feminist indoctrination", but "respectful relationships curriculum". Nobody could be against "respect relationships" right?

Students will explore issues around social inequality, gender-based violence and male privilege.

Primary school students will be exposed to images of both boys and girls doing household chores, playing sport and working as firefighters and receptionists.

The material includes statements including "girls can play football, can be doctors and can be strong" and "boys can cry when they are hurt, can be gentle, can be nurses and can mind babies".

One thing to which to pay attention regarding feminist propaganda: don't fall for their rhetorical trick of saying the intend to "dismantle gender roles". They do not. They intend to dismantle only those gender roles that are penalizing to women. You won't see this program teaching girls that they too can be waste collectors, roofers or coal miners, because those professions are neither personally nor socially desirable. And just to make sure that, again, people don't get the idea this is just run-of-the-mill gender equality stuff that might have been taught decades ago, here's the radical feminism curriculum in all its might:

In high school, students will be taught the meaning of terms including pansexual, cisgender and transsexual and the concept of male privilege.

A guide for the Year 7 and 8 curriculum states: "Being born a male, you have advantages - such as being overly represented in the public sphere - and this will be true whether you personally approve or think you are entitled to this privilege."

It describes privilege as "automatic, unearned benefits bestowed upon dominant groups" based on "gender, sexuality, race or socio-economic class".

Year 11 and 12 students are introduced to the concept of "hegemonic masculinity" which "requires boys and men to be heterosexual, tough, athletic and emotionless, and encourages the control and dominance of men over women".

Everything remarks, as it must, on two supreme principles: that women must be given maximum sexual and personal freedom, and that men must be inoculated with shame for their own existence and a continued fear of their violent, despicable nature.

---

Archived from theredarchive.com

---

Comments

---

wisty • 119 points • 15 October, 2016 03:41 PM [recovered]

It sounds like the kind of program that creates backlash - <https://hbr.org/2016/07/why-diversity-programs-fail>

Do people who undergo training usually shed their biases? Researchers have been examining that question since before World War II, in nearly a thousand studies. It turns out that while people are easily taught to respond correctly to a questionnaire about bias, they soon forget the right answers. The positive effects of diversity training rarely last beyond a day or two, and a number of studies suggest that it can activate bias or spark a backlash. Nonetheless, nearly half of midsize companies use it, as do nearly all the Fortune 500.

...

Trainers tell us that people often respond to compulsory courses with anger and resistance—and many participants actually report more animosity toward other groups afterward.

Senorbubbz • 53 points • 15 October, 2016 05:07 PM

Not very surprising about the anger and resentment of trainees, the essence of the program is "you're doing it wrong" and that'll alienate most people.

TheRedThrowAwayPill • -4 points • 16 October, 2016 06:38 AM

Alllahh<sup>hmmmmmm</sup> Akbaarrrrrrr!!!errr. ..er .. I mean, I mean ..

.. what I meant to say was, I welcome Australia's willingness for me to Ghenghis Khan that entire continent!

afkb39sdfb • 47 points • 15 October, 2016 10:42 PM*

It's almost as if humans are tribal and have an innate related-group bias... Hence the existence of racism and classism since the beginning of human existence... Maybe that's why people of different races, cultures, and socioeconomic classes seem to naturally cluster together in neighborhoods and in different parts of cities...

Naw, those are social constructs....

EDIT: (sigh) Apparently I need this for the last sentence:

/s

grubek • 18 points • 15 October, 2016 11:17 PM

The funny part is that when you let it be and do not make it a political issue, people end up much more mixed than otherwise.

People initial reaction to difference is caution. A mix of fear and curiosity. And it is completely justifiable. Unknown things can be dangerous. They might not, but you still do not know. And as time goes and nothing bad happens, we start seeing the difference as more and more normal and our own until we do not really see the difference.

But when you keep telling people again and again how different they are, you stop the natural integration. It is sad what politics can do to societies.

HELPCAPSLOCKSTUCK • 11 points • 16 October, 2016 04:07 AM

Diversity + proximity = war

JohnnyRaz • 13 points • 16 October, 2016 09:40 AM

Diversity is code for white genocide. Anyone with half a brain can see whats going on.

[deleted] • 7 points • 16 October, 2016 06:52 PM

Amen. Can't be said enough: DIVERSITY IS CODEWORD FOR ANTI-WHITE!

StotheGG • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 04:55 AM

People cluster together on the basis of class, culture, and race. But people rarely cluster together exclusively or even 'consciously' on the basis of these topics. In a school of majority white children, lets say, you pick a friend on the basis of shared interest. The problem today is that we've shifted our focus from the view of the majority of people to ne of the odd, alienated, pervert. So, the question what marriage means to most people is unimportant, because it means something different for transsexuals. Transsexuals are statistically a incredibly small portion of the population. Hell, homosexuals are no more than 1.5 percent of the US population.

I think you are really actually captured by the narrative of the social justice warriors, since you actually share their world view. YOu think that people are really tribal and segregated and you just say, 'that's natural.'

I don't think that people are that tribal. The US is a very open place and people of other races readily become friends, provided they have similar interest and similar educations.

The SJWs are actually making race far more visible than it ever was. And now, a majority population in the US that did not use to think of itself as 'WHITE' is now going to develop a racial complex on the lines of 'black people.'

FriskyRacoon • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 08:21 AM

You are very correct. I never used to hate gays, if I had to interact with a homosexual person I would simply accept them like I would accept anyone else.

But they politicized homosexuality and push it in their blatant media propaganda, and they are creating a divide and putting one against the other. (((They))) do this with everything.

I always have to remind myself that I don't hate gay people but I hate the political climate around them.

[deleted] • 19 points • 16 October, 2016 02:31 AM

The problem though is that children are far more susceptible to brainwashing. They haven't yet developed their opinions... So force feed them early enough and you may have lifelong converts... That's how religions do it. "Suffer the little children unto me"

[deleted] • 13 points • 16 October, 2016 02:50 AM

Get em before 8 or it's too late is a motto of the ruling elite that has more sinister meanings than just one.

Fort-Wahnee • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 07:56 AM

I chuckled but my fuck that's dark.

PUA_Wanna_be • 6 points • 16 October, 2016 06:10 AM

I'm afraid it won't. Your quote talks about people who had their worldviews, and then someone tried to forcefully replace those.

Here, we are talking about impressionable children. Just look how successful religions are since they start the brainwashing at an early age. Raise a child as Muslim or Catholic, and they will probably stay in that religion for their entire life. Try to convert them later on, and they would rather die a martyr than betray their original programming.

JohnnyRaz • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 09:46 AM

Hell you neednt look any further than Liberals today. Theyre like a religion without a god. Its digusting what has happened to the west.

[deleted] • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 12:09 PM

And in the context of this article, male privilege = original sin

LarParWar • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 08:28 PM

White privilege is the original sin, though male privilege isn't far behind.

Funny how both are caused by genetics.

xx69bootyhunter69xx • 10 points • 16 October, 2016 04:47 AM

Honestly, I've stopped giving fucks about what happens to humanity any more. I've said this before, civilization's collapse was written in stone the moment civilization started and men abandoned hunting and started farming, the moment their testosterone levels started decreasing, and the moment the unfit and the dumb weren't being eliminated by evolutionary forces any more and they too started contributing to the next generation's gene pool. Some evolutionary biologists estimate that the Cro-Magnons were on average at least as intelligent as the most intelligent geniuses alive among us today, while physically even the best of our athletes would pale out in comparison to the Cro-Magnons. The most superior race of humans died out thousands of years ago, what remains of them is just a bleak shadow of the glorious past-us modern humans. It's one of the theories put forward to explain why our brain sizes are shrinking so rapidly. Not only our genetics is getting inferior by the minute, but also our testosterone levels are going down at an alarmingly rapid rate, and these dumb radical feminists are taking over.

I just hope that one day we'll be either able to create a perfect eugenics system (aka perfectly designed IQ tests and perfectly designed fitness tests that objectively measure intelligence as well as physical fitness based on which people are allowed to breed or are sterilized) or genetically engineer an extremely superior version of ourselves, the post-human race. We by ourselves are completely incapable of creating a lasting civilization.

mummersfarce_is_done • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 12:06 PM

Can you cite sources?

I think the average gene quality declines, but quality genes can still pass on. They do not diminish, just becoming more and more minority. They are not wasted, they are hidden there until another harsh set of conditions cull the population; so they can emerge as the sole victors.

xx69bootyhunter69xx • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 06:39 AM

If Modern Humans Are So Smart, Why Are Our Brains Shrinking?

I strongly believe it's the first possible reason these evolutionary biologists are stating for brain size shrinkage that's true, which is what I've stated in my comment.

LarParWar • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 08:42 PM

You are so full of shit it's bubbling out of your mouth, ears, and eyes and has infected your brain.

The Cro-Magnons were not more intelligent than us, we are significantly superior intellectually, and the white gene pool today is indistinguishable from the the white gene pool of the past several hundred years, and strikingly similar as the white gene pool of the past 6,000 years.

The shrinking of "the human brain" is because nonwhite populations are exploding, namely Africa and the Middle East, populations with smaller brains powering mid-70 IQs, not because the intelligence and brain size of the smart populations, namely Europeans and Northeast Asians, are declining.

The testosterone thing is because men have been emasculated, living in a female-centric matriarchy. Girl power, wooh! is sucking all the testosterone out of the atmosphere. If we put the women back in line and re-establish patriarchy, rule by men, we won't have any troubles of that any longer.

xx69bootyhunter69xx • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 06:36 AM

Read the first explanation put forward to explain why our brain sizes are shrinking:

If Modern Humans Are So Smart, Why Are Our Brains Shrinking?

Your theory about the proportion of low IQ races outbreeding the high IQ ones cannot explain why brain sizes are shrinking, as this outbreeding has only been a recent phenomenon. Whites comprised a good proportion of the baby-boomer generation, and before the world wars, whites as well as Orientals comprised a good proportion of the world's population; it's been only recently that whites and Orientals have stopped giving birth to more than 2 children per couple on average, but the brain shrinking has been happening for several millenia. Also, your theory is not mentioned anywhere among the 3 theories put forward to explain the shrinkage of brain size.

LarParWar • 2 points • 17 October, 2016 01:07 PM

Humans being killer apes, killer apes made killer by mastery of technology, killer apes ordered in hierarchy as more or less killer, killer apes ordered in hierarchy by mastery of technology, mastery of technology is thus the prime measurement of killer ability, so as humans have more or less mastery of technology, humans are more or less killer, and humans being more or less killer, are more or less human.

Which iPhone did Cro-Magnon man prefer?

With slightly less levity: the answer is obvious. As humans live in larger and larger groups, humans become more social, and as humans become more social, humans become more tightly integrated in the "group consciousness" (commonly known as "culture"), and humans becoming more tightly integrated in the "group consciousness", human "group intelligence" becomes greater, effectively distributing human intelligence from fewer, larger, more independent "nodes" (brains), to more, smaller, less independent "nodes".

So human groups and organizations have become much, much smarter in ways important to the Darwinian fitness of human groups and organizations, and humans draw more heavily on the "collective wisdom" of the group in the process of decision-making, not becoming less intelligent, but more coordinated with and integrated into the greater whole.

It is the difference between each generation independently inventing the wheel, and a teacher teaching a class of students what the wheel looks like, how to make it, and that class going on to invent the axle.

So if "male privilege" is behind domestic violence, how do you explain the higher rates amongst lesbian couples?

Brewjo • 85 points • 15 October, 2016 06:09 PM

My guess, it's mans fault- straight men jerking to lezzy porn emits a specific frequency of radiation that causes mascilation of lesbian behavior.

coffee_34 • 23 points • 16 October, 2016 01:47 AM

Then let's all watch more lesbian porn and maybe they'll all kill each other.

Jesus Christ, that was dark even for me.

[deleted] • 8 points • 16 October, 2016 02:10 AM

Not gonna lie I laughed at that one

BrodyKraut • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 04:38 AM lesbian porno is boring though

throw17453 • 23 points • 15 October, 2016 11:56 PM [recovered]

Just for the sake of fun, I'll try to argue this from a feminist perspective:

Patriarchal society imposes expectations and norms on relationships. Lesbian women are expected and pressured to fulfil a stereotypical role where one is the "man" and one the "woman".

Coupled with this, most women have experienced sexual violence at the hands of men by the time they reach adulthood. In lesbian relationships, obviously the likelihood of one partner being the victim of male violence vastly increases. Victims of violence are far more likely to cause violence, as a means to cope with their own trauma.

Mens sexual violence of women, and their patriarchal impositions of how lesbians should be expected to conduct their relationships, puts extreme pressure on their relationships, and causes damage.

Lesbian couples do exhibit violence, and this is a direct result of the patriarchal and discriminatory pressures and expectations of society, and lack of acceptance, in addition to their experiences of male sexual violence in life.

To clarify, I do not actually believe this nonsense. A more succinct explanation for why lesbians exhibit violence in relationships would be "bitches be crazy...."

StotheGG • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 04:58 AM

True lesbians are actually more like men, with higher testosterone levels, so at some level they are more prone to aggression and violence than other women. They are also not sanctioned and believe that violence within their own gender is not the same issue as a 'man striking a woman.'

OneInAZillion • 15 points • 15 October, 2016 09:59 PM

Because domestic violence is just a macabre coping mechanism they use to deal with the shitty fathers they had when they were younger you misogynist!

[deleted] • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 02:51 AM

Or the fact that women are more likely than men to provoke a domestic violence attack.

PantsonFire1234 • 1 point • 19 October, 2016 01:50 PM

Women are the cause of most of the worlds problem. It's natural law. It's in their programming to be annoying cunts when given the chance.

TheRedThrowAwayPill • -3 points • 16 October, 2016 06:58 AM

HOLY FUCK ... VOTE TRUMP GOD DAMMIT!!

NeoreactionSafe • 44 points • 15 October, 2016 06:05 PM

The more insane the Blue Pill mythology gets the easier it will be to wake people up and Red Pill them because extreme myths expose too many glitches.

These things operate in cycles.

Once the Blue Pill goes too deeply into mythological thinking the shock of being presented the truth will be much more intense.

So in a funny way this extreme insanity brings forth the Red Pill faster than if the Blue Pill remained more subtle.

afkb39sdfb • 3 points • 15 October, 2016 10:51 PM

Why wake people up though. These people will be our competition in the real world. You could strive to slightly above mediocre in life and still steamroll most of them in nearly all of lifes pursuits.

NeoreactionSafe • 12 points • 15 October, 2016 10:59 PM

The Globalist Tyanny no longer needs most of the useless eaters that exist on the planet because robotics is making us all truly useless to the rulers.

So we are going to see depopulation attempts through war.

Biological warfare has already begun as GMO's are changing our gut bacteria.

Terrorism is largely created by the Globalist Tyranny as a mechanism to destroy nation states.

War between US and Russia is being inflamed with a nuclear World War Three now very much in the range of "quite possible" after being "essentially not possible" during the period 1990-2010.

So those are reasons to wake up.

Pussy?

Yeah whatever... not much use if you are in a war zone.

Selfishaltruist181 • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 05:56 AM

I don't know about you, but once i get enough resources under me I'll find somewhere isolated have 60 children and live out my days teaching my kids how to be Machiavellian altruists.

NeoreactionSafe • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:11 PM

Oh no... why not continue to "Enjoy the Decline" and wallow in materialist spender?

Why take a Enjoy the Destruction of the Blue Pill mythology philosophy and "Kill the Beta" when there are football games to watch?

Selfishaltruist181 • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 04:00 AM

Why? Because I want my genes to continue and be successful. I want my children and my children's children to have the best chance of survival. This environment here is no place to raise children to be successful.

NeoreactionSafe • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 03:13 PM

Well that's why we "Enjoy the Destruction" of the Blue Pill mythology because then when people wake up we can take power back and start living the way we really should by following the Natural Laws that define masculine polarity and healthy populations.

The Blue Pill is a poison pill... we all need to destroy it, both internally and as we speak to others.

[deleted] • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 04:13 AM

But population is already dropping naturally, it will peak at 11 bil or so before dropping to 5-6 billion as the current low birthrates work their way through the demographics.

NeoreactionSafe • 4 points • 16 October, 2016 02:36 PM

It's dropping in the West.

But my understanding of "the plan" is that a World War Three is in the cards.

So yeah... it would be great if we could have "Happy Globalist Rulers" who gave us respect as human beings, but that's not actually what is happening.

Look at the wars manipulated to exist in the Middle East... the horror and suffering of the innocent is extreme. How long until that same Globalist Tyranny turns on America itself?

Not long I suspect.

Hillary will be "the one".

awmace5 • 1 points • 16 October, 2016 11:44 AM [recovered]

The public is very much unaware of the true effects of nuclear winter. In the event of even a limited nuclear war, the world would be subjected to climate changes not seen since the Year Without Summer that would destroy agriculture and create mass famine. Currently writing an entertaining book about it.

NeoreactionSafe • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:04 PM

Well that's the goal actually.

All it will take is one year and they predict 90% of the US population would die out from simple starvation.

If you have food stored away and are in a defensible position (ideally away from the cities) then you survive.

The cities house most of the population so you don't need to carpet bomb to achieve large casualties, just destroy the major cities and leave the country alone.

HomeMadeWhiskey • 1 point • 18 October, 2016 06:49 AM

Let me know when you're done, I'd love to read it!

iamneptuno • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 01:47 PM

The more insane the Blue Pill mythology gets the easier it will be to wake people up and Red Pill them because extreme myths expose too many glitches.

Wrong. The more insane the mythology, the easier the masses will follow it. For one thing, the more it is insane, the more entertaining it is; for another, no-one gives a fuck about illogicalities, because masses are driven by emotion, not reason.

NeoreactionSafe • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 01:54 PM

If this were true then why the increase in the Alt Media / Alt Right / Manosphere / Red Pill ?

No, the more deeply mythological the Blue Pill gets it is more probable that someone wakes up because the insanity no longer functions.

The best lies are subtle.

The massive lies like the Blue Pill are more fragile.

These things have a cycle to them.

iamneptuno • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:28 PM

If this were true then why the increase in the Alt Media / Alt Right / Manosphere / Red Pill ?

Increase from figuratively speaking 0.1% to 0.2% is solely explained by the technology advancements. Many marginalized groups see increase, because the communication is easier than ever; will you argue that Red Pill is not a marginalized group?

The best lies are subtle.

The massive lies like the Blue Pill are more fragile.

No, the best lies are black and white, and as insane as possible. Subtle lies, aside from being boring, also must balance between fact and fiction; one wrong move, and the public opinion falls to the wrong side.

On the other hand, dead simple lunacy is both entertaining and so far from the truth that you don't fear those small fluctuations in the public opinion -- it's still very far from where you don't want it to be.

If you don't want to take my word, take Goebbels', no problem.

NeoreactionSafe • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 02:54 PM

No it's waaaaaaay bigger than this.

The Red Pill / Manosphere / Alt Media / Alt Right is now getting more internet traffic than the paid for media outlets.

That's why there is panic within the Globalist Tyranny because they know the truth is spreading rapidly.

Think of about 30 million people in the US as being awakened.

That number could be higher if you count "partially awake" since it takes time to go from the Blue Pill to the Red Pill and in a sense the waking up process goes on forever once it gets started.

Self improvement (Red Pill) acts like a seed that just grows and grows.

This is why they want to shut all of it down with censorship.

iamneptuno • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 04:37 PM

Think of about 30 million people in the US as being awakened.

I'm seeing mere 170 474 unplugged to my right now. Serious question -- where did you get those 30 millions from?

That's why there is panic within the Globalist Tyranny because they know the truth is spreading rapidly.

This is why they want to shut all of it down with censorship.

If they wanted to censor you, they would have, at once. And they would have killed and/or rape jailed all the prominent of you to give the rest some hints.

The occasional censorship is just a part of their narrative. You can't talk all day about witches without burning some of them.

And don't be so dramatic, there's no "Globalist Tyranny". The West is and has always been divided and feuding. The ongoing competition is both the source of its prosperity and weakness. Some of its governments employ similar propaganda simply because it's what proven to work right at this moment.

NeoreactionSafe • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 07:07 PM*

No, there are about 30 million who are aware of the Alt Media.

The Red Pill is a small (but influential) subset of the overall Manosphere.

The Globalist Tyranny began here:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jekyll\_Island

Full story:

<https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=U1Qt6a-vaNM>

Artistic rendering:

https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=Id6nCa\_OTEM

MagicBuddha • 66 points • 15 October, 2016 04:43 PM

This is disturbing. They're going to raise a bunch of pussies.

MuhTriggersGuise • 43 points • 15 October, 2016 04:57 PM

Can you imagine a whiney white knight male SJW with that ridiculous accent?

Baeward • 31 points • 15 October, 2016 05:22 PM

Considering "cunt" is a casual aussie word, gawd knows wtf will happen when feminism attacks that

[deleted] • 34 points • 15 October, 2016 07:34 PM*

Oh they hate it man. It triggers them hard, the fucking cunts

Edit: just to add some insight into feminism vs reality here in Australia. The feminists cry about the word cunt. People respond with "it is of equal offensive value to dick, dickhead, etc" since it is also a foul word for a part of sexual anatomy. Feminists invoke "but women are oppressed so it is more offensive than those. It is a form of rape". Which opens another can of worms. That's the line of argument here. Critical Theory in action, cunts

rebuildingMyself • 4 points • 15 October, 2016 11:41 PM

Women are so oppressed that's why you have to ignore all double standards and pussy privileges, shitlord!

5t3fan0 • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 05:24 PM

i still remember that minister who called the leader opposition "cunt" at his face during parliament, ahah

Geleemann • 8 points • 15 October, 2016 08:58 PM

No worse than a yank accent.

"Hey guise, Oim awff to waawlk my daawgg now"

IDefyAxioms • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 08:00 AM

The over-exaggeration of vowels is more British than American.

KarmaEnthusiast • 1 point • 15 October, 2016 08:15 PM

Don't worry this generation of men about to become fathers will make damn sure this type of schooling doesn't turn the next generation of boys into pussies.

Limekill • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 10:48 PM

Bullshit.

How many betas providers are out there who are raising children?

TheReformist94 • 2 points • 15 October, 2016 09:38 PM

Its fine.the girls will be left with a lovely selection of faggots to chose from. This is what they want,so give it to them

MattyAnon • 170 points • 15 October, 2016 02:42 PM

designed to smash gender stereotypes and tackle the root causes of domestic ## violence

Excellent, so they'll be taught how women are physically and emotionally abusive in most relationships... oh wait, that's not gonna happen.

And presumably they'll be told about female privilege in all its forms too. Oh wait ...

The material includes statements including "girls can play football, can be doctors and can be strong" and "boys can cry when they are hurt, can be gentle, can be nurses and can mind babies"

So as usual.... women can do everything (even though in reality they can't/won't) and men should be weak little betas.

It describes privilege as "automatic, unearned benefits bestowed upon dominant groups" based on "gender, sexuality, race or socio-economic class".

It's absolutely staggering that this is stated, but not applied to women and all their privilege too.

Now that men have been removed from education, this shit starts. Women actually believe this shit is good and right, it's amazing. I feel for the boys of today, I really fucking do. If I had a male child, I'd be doing man-stuff with him every weekend in the hope that it helps inoculate his masculinity against this shit.

G_Petronius • 70 points • 15 October, 2016 02:46 PM [recovered]

Women actually believe this shit is good and right, it's amazing.

To be fair the average woman probably doesn't 'believe' it so much as goes along with what the majority of powerful women have set as the expectation. I don't see many regular women being enthusiastic feminists, and most will tell you in private that they can't stand feminist activists[1], but they'll all tow the party line because the female social matrix is all about consensus.

[1] which shouldn't be taken at face value either, since it involves a good dose of "I'm not like those girls" too

MattyAnon • 29 points • 15 October, 2016 03:53 PM

which shouldn't be taken at face value

It shouldn't be taken at face value because it is being said to YOU, a man who she presumably wants to like her. It's easy to say "I don't believe in feminism", and I could say to a girl "I don't believe in TRP" - doesn't make the statement true or meaningful in anyway, it's just an attempt to curry favour.

All female communication is power talk.

awalt_cupcake • 18 points • 15 October, 2016 04:21 PM

It shouldn't be taken at face value because it is being said to YOU, a man who she presumably wants to like her.

And this is where we see the underlying quantum mechanics of females. Women are state dependent on the man she's talking to. You cannot measure her honesty because she is being observed and so the truth must break down into a lie. Remove yourself and there's no observer and she goes back to being her actual self.

liveyourselfhappy • 5 points • 15 October, 2016 09:42 PM

To reiterate your point

My LTR hated that I hate feminism. She saw it as an attack on herself, her kind if you will. For if you hate feminism you hate women.

She's a very rational person most days so I thought what the hell and explained it to her. In the space of 20 minutes she completely understood the other side to the spectrum and now when the topic comes up. She doesn't mention it all.

Selfishaltruist181 • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 05:49 AM

My LTR had no opinion on it at first (either way), explained some of my views and now she shares me anti-feminist videos.

VasiliyZaitzev • 30 points • 15 October, 2016 06:34 PM

I'd be doing man-stuff with him every weekend in the hope that it helps inoculate his masculinity against this shit.

Upvoting the fuck out of this.

wanderer779 • 26 points • 15 October, 2016 05:42 PM

Just send them to private school. Alternatively you can talk to them each day about what they went over and explain why it's bullshit. Eventually reality intrudes and bullshit becomes obvious. Look at young men today - they tried to indoctrinate them and they turned around and joined the alt-right movement.

That's not to say that there's not a war going on or that we can't lose, but it is not hopeless yet.

[deleted] • 20 points • 15 October, 2016 07:30 PM

Look at young men today - they tried to indoctrinate them and they turned around and joined the alt-right movement.

Pretty much this - and up to this point in AU the brainwash has been far milder. I don't think they've taken into account that teenagers love to rebel and love mocking this kind of formal propaganda. If something starts looking more and more like an ad it's going to trigger the same "advertising fatigue". It's only going to backfire.

coffee_34 • 12 points • 16 October, 2016 01:41 AM

This. Here's what will happen:

The girls will see that this is good for them and jump on board.

The weak men will accept it as truth.

The strong men will shit all over it and make fun of it.

Ironically, this will only make the gap between alphas and betas even greater.

In a way, this is a good thing. In ten years, there will be way more pussy guys running around. No competition for me.

[deleted] • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 02:55 AM

Interesting point of view. So this is basically "applied feminism"

MattyAnon • 13 points • 15 October, 2016 06:05 PM

and explain why it's bullshit.

But all their friends and teachers believe it. If they stand up to it, they'll be publicly shamed as an example to others. The father is just that old sexist guy that noone listens to, with his outmoded ideas of gender inequality.

What I'm saying is that you can't fight this hydra individually, and you can't pretend it doesn't exist.

That's not to say that there's not a war going on or that we can't lose, but it is not hopeless yet.

I fight too.... but it's hard to make headway when your own gender wants to believe so fervently in The One True Love. Ironically the ones furthest away from this are the ones that cherish it most deeply.

Stythe • 6 points • 15 October, 2016 11:08 PM

This is true, but there comes a point where a lot of guys who follow the "rules" get burned somehow. At that point, if they're strong, they wake up. I mean that's how many people end up here. Its a small number right now, but sooner or later as this propaganda explodes more and more guys will get burned and we'll see some of them embrace reality. It's like a trickle effect but I see it happening.

throw17453 • 8 points • 15 October, 2016 11:32 PM [recovered]

The trouble is, at the same time that trickle effect is taking place, society - and masculinity - is being held in a vice that is slowly being tightened.

People who speak out openly against it risk their careers or social standing. The goal posts are constantly being moved and shifted, language itself takes on new meanings.

Words like "Violence" "Rape" these have power, so they are redefined as a means of control - violence is redefined to any include speaking, looking, touching, texting..... rape is redefined and widened to include things no sane person would actually consider rape. Then when people speak out against it they can have "So you are condoning rape?" thrown at them. Or "You are advocating violence against women".

wanderer779 • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 02:32 AM

This isn't the first time powerful people have tried selling some BS worldview. And there is a tendency for people to believe and submit. But I think some of us need to step back and think more deeply about exactly what people are made of. On one hand, people can be brainwashed, made to follow demagogues, convinced to buy into false belief systems and work against their own self interest. On the other hand, it's not quite so neat in practice. People aren't robots you can program to believe  $2+2=5$  with no risk of a few of them standing up and saying, "wait a minute". Some of them think for themselves and form counter movements. Information gets out and others hear about it and it starts to make sense, especially to the youth who haven't bought in and don't have so much invested in the old ways.

I think we are seeing this with the alt-right now - these guys were fed drugs and propaganda to make them docile and subsevient. They turned right around and said, "fuck you".

Stythe • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 12:04 PM

This is true but the more you try to contain an element the bigger the explosion when the container breaks.

There have always been revolutionaries and people who fight the status quo. Many of them do make tangible changes. Not everyone cares about what happens when they are accused of being rapists or something because they can disarm that accusation with logic and assertiveness. For example, People who accuse me of any kind of discrimination and met with complete indifference and generally a joke at their expense that flips the situation. It's not fool proof but if that's all it takes in most cases than the issue isn't as strong as it seems.

Don't forget, while TRP has a ton of good info, it's small community and one of the issues that occurred as a result is that it looks like a bulletin board of terror.

Many kids don't give a shit about school curriculum. Most kids see through propaganda because propaganda is there to influence people who already lean towards it. Yes, it may cause trouble at first, but itll likely change.

[deleted] • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 07:34 AM

This! You play long enough you or someone close to you will get burned, which hits even harder because you realize the truth and now have motivation to fight back.

MattyAnon • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:39 PM

It's like a trickle effect but I see it happening.

So long as they don't create a white knight tipping point that gets this place labelled a hate group and made illegal.

Stythe • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 09:44 PM

This place isn't the only place to get the information we share. Many people come to understand it without any help. If this place gets shot down there will still be other ways to get the information. TRP is just a matter of convenience, really. It'd suck if that happened, but it wouldn't be the end.

NaughtyFred • 0 points • 16 October, 2016 01:30 PM

What I'm saying is that you can't fight this hydra individually, and you can't pretend it doesn't exist.

I fight too.... but it's hard to make headway when your own gender wants to believe so fervently in The One True Love.

If this is your opinion then why does TRP shit on MRA? Surely the concept is valid if not the execution, sounds like you have something in common with them...

Archterus • 5 points • 15 October, 2016 11:36 PM

No protection afforded by the private system here. Especially the primary system which is overwhelmingly dominated by females. This is a cancer. Very often I hear female teachers commenting on how wonderful the girls are and how difficult the boys are. Couple that with absent/weak father role models and these kids have NO idea of what it is to male. One avenue is to encourage participation in male dominated sport (football/cricket here) with a male coach. I almost threw up last year when our local paper featured a photo of three women running the local junior football.

This war is real and the problem is the overlapping set. Its not just women, its them AND brainwashed young men that do not know there is a different way of being that resonates much more authentically with their biological birthright.

• points • 1 January, 1970 12:00 AM

[permanently deleted]

Archterus • 5 points • 16 October, 2016 04:02 AM

Agree. I too was one of those. I was a blue pill SJW. One day, out of desperation that I knew something was wrong but could not articulate it, I stumbled across TRP. I think it may have been via Rollo, then the scales fell from eyes. Not easy, but very, very liberating.

[deleted] • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:56 PM

Its like a splinter in your brain

Demonizerwarden • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 07:47 AM

Yeah that was my first thought, private schools are generally smarter about this but don't get your hopes up. <http://youreteachingourchildrenwhat.org/has-your-school-signed-up-to-the-safe-schools-program/> Here is a list of the schools participating in the "safe schools" program(an LGBT initiative which teaches 7 year olds that gender is fluid and instructs 12 year olds how to bind their breasts as transgenders). As you can see several prominent private and independent schools are a part of it.

wanderer779 • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 03:44 PM

1 easy thing to do is to follow your children's teachers and administrators on facebook. A lot of times if they have crazy views they end up leaking out on social media.

Husssy • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 12:55 PM

thanks for that! the 2 schools I am contemplating are not on that list

Utterberetacht • 11 points • 15 October, 2016 11:47 PM*

designed to smash gender stereotypes and tackle the root causes of domestic violence

Translation: Genderise violence and blame it all on men because men are oh-so-bad, demonise and paint all men and boys with the same brush, teaching them to feel guilty for being male.

MattyAnon • 5 points • 16 October, 2016 02:42 PM

And critically: to hide how violent and abusive women are in both straight and lesbian relationships.

Stythe • 8 points • 15 October, 2016 11:02 PM

This scares me too. Between the potential social and financial risks if things go wrong with the mother and the fact that the kids (especially the sons) are being forcibly spoon fed beliefs that are inaccurate and hurtful, I can't justify wanting to have kids.

Maybe with any luck it'll get to the point where men just start banding together in various forms. Clubs or groups of friendships where they push each other forward positively.

ioncehadsexinapool • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 01:29 AM

There's a serious lack of comraderie, especially for boys that don't play sports

Stythe • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 11:48 AM

This is true, but how long can a group of people be ostracized until they start banding together? It's like racism, eventually people start fighting back.

chadee • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 12:11 AM [recovered]

This is why it's important not to give away the responsibility of educating your children to the state.

Homeschool is a great solution because not only will they have a good male influence, but they might actually learn something as well.

MattyAnon • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:43 PM

Homeschooling loses the important social and competitive aspects of the real world.

[deleted] • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:00 AM

Almost makes you wanna take up teaching so you can do your part to fix it, right?

MattyAnon • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:45 PM

hahaha fuck no.

As a male teacher, your hands are tied from the start. While your 99% female colleagues get gender reassignment classes such as this pushed forward, you will be labelled a child rapist for suggesting the boys should man up.

Brewjo • 31 points • 15 October, 2016 06:02 PM

As a 31 yo Australian man, I knew what gay and tranny meant by 1995/ 10 yo (in a basic, matter-of-fact, non-graphic sense).

girls can play football

Yes, even with boys, up until puberty kicks in, then we play footy separately and girls break off into non-contact sports like Hockey or Cricket and girls who are on the path to being 5'10"+ end up in Netball.

H42 • 103 points • 15 October, 2016 02:38 PM [recovered]

Lets see..... a whole lot of boys are raised by single mums.

Please explain why the boys are the problem and not the mums who raise them.

Nothing_Gazes_Back • 83 points • 15 October, 2016 03:07 PM

SLUT SHAMER! VICTIM BLAMER! MISOGYNIST!

Because women are incapable of handling responsibility and personal agency.

Brewjo • 40 points • 15 October, 2016 06:38 PM

Saw a boy thrashed with a bag full of frozen food today over his head and neck.

That mother has about 2 years before he'll be able to throw her through a wall, where he'll be promptly arrested as a delinquent and she'll be crying wondering who made her boy become such a beast!

Brave_Horatius • 35 points • 15 October, 2016 07:58 PM

She won't wonder. She already knows everything wrong in her life is the fathers fault.

trudatness • 23 points • 15 October, 2016 11:17 PM [recovered]

Yep divorced women always blame every single uncomfortable thing in their lives on their ex-husbands.

Source: My life.

Stythe • 4 points • 15 October, 2016 11:11 PM

Bro, that logic is flawed. I mean a gun is at fault if someone uses it to kill someone and drugs are to blame when people abuse them. I mean shit, God is at fault if your life sucks and the Easter Bunny makes people fat so women are innocent and men are privileged. It's so simple.

[deleted] • 2 points • 15 October, 2016 11:39 PM

[permanently deleted]

Stythe • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 11:54 AM

Come on man, we all know the chicken came first. Men had to have something to kill to satisfy their hungry selfish bitches who kept complaining about not being able to cook anything and being bored while their man was out killing bears.

Gearski • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 12:31 AM

Does this sub hate single mums or what? I was raised by a single mum mostly and she's about as traditional and anti-feminism as you could get.

redartist • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 02:13 PM

You probably don't realize how lucky you were if your mum was like that.

Think "lottery ticket winner" lucky.

And as to why they are disliked: There are numerous studies showing correlation between being raised without a father and becoming a criminal, violent, unemployed, addicted, etc.

RedMoonAscendant • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 04:50 AM

Like H42 says, it's uncommon for single mothers to be good people. Obviously it happens. It's just uncommon. And when single mothers fuck it up, they fuck it up so dramatically it stands out. Sometimes to the point where there's an entire societal breakdown. Like now.

spectrum_92 • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 11:28 AM

It's funny you should mention that because in other news in Australia it was revealed today that, surprise surprise, Australian children of single "parents" (mothers) are three times more likely to be in poverty, in addition to a range of other undesirable social outcomes.

ioncehadsexinapool • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 01:32 AM

It's the moms problem. She doesn't know any better. It's that the boy is raised without a proper male role model

fangh39 • 23 points • 15 October, 2016 09:17 PM

Students in China are being taught chemistry, math and engineering.

Students in Australia are being taught about pansexuals, transvestites and masculine self-hatred.

Over/Under on the year Kangarooland gets conquered by the red Chinese stands at 2035.

Selfishaltruist181 • 6 points • 16 October, 2016 06:03 AM

Well don't compare us to china to much. A third of the what a Chinese solider learns is Marxist theory or in other words Chinese propaganda.

Archterus • 3 points • 15 October, 2016 11:43 PM

No longer the 'land down under where men plunder'

Betterthanuatlife • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 07:36 AM

And people are wondering why western children are performing worse in school.

[deleted] • 63 points • 15 October, 2016 04:02 PM*

Raise your boys red and they will absolutely crush it.

More than 80 percent of their peers will be Chubby Low T Approval Seekers with zero game.

PlanB_pedofile • 26 points • 15 October, 2016 05:29 PM

Going from 80/20 to 90/10 then eventually 95/5.

The top 5 percent of men will get 95 percent of the sex. Even the low ugly land whales will withhold sex waiting for their turn for the alpha then to toss any other guy a bone.

I can see prom in 2030, a group of 10 men with a harem of 40 women all bumping and grinding on their cocks while every other guy is dateless along the walls in the dark.

[deleted] • 43 points • 15 October, 2016 05:51 PM*

My kid will be the Jerkboy in the parking lot outside 2025 Prom getting his dick sucked by some cheerleader whose date is neo-masculine enough to be unthreatened by her friendship with other men.

My kids date won't mind that he disappeared for 20 minutes with the slutty cheerleader, she will just be glad she didn't bring one of the effete pussies that surround and sicken her.

I'm not kidding about any of this. I am sitting with the little man now and watching him do all his homework which is a requirement before he plays in his late day soccer game. The kid also joins me in the gym and does pullups, planks, sit-ups etc. He rolls his eyes at girls in his class and teases them. They love him for it

HumanSockPuppet • 14 points • 15 October, 2016 09:24 PM

I'm already training my nephew in the ways of the Dark Side, which is hilarious because his mum is terrified of "what I'm doing to her boy".

Bitches can't even get their heads right for the sake of their own offspring.

In that (idiosyncratic) sense, women are unfit to raise children.

[deleted] • 10 points • 15 October, 2016 11:25 PM

What does your nephews dad think?

Personally, I seek out good coaches and encourage friendships with kids who have strong fathers. It takes a village to raise a boy and he should have many examples to follow.

coffee_34 • 6 points • 16 October, 2016 01:45 AM

See, I really miss this type of mentality.

I'm 22. By the time I have kids, things will be even worse.

I will be a strong role model for my kid, but I'm worried about his faggy friends and their beta fathers ruining my work.

Children want what is easy. I will make him work for what he wants. I'm just worried some beta dad is going to fucking convince him that it's okay to be mediocre.

[deleted] • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 12:51 PM

I don't worry that some beta dad can undo my examples. A bigger and much more serious issue is that marriage with children places a man at threat point where she can leave, take your wealth and children and then some other D bag raises them while you pay the bills

ioncehadsexinapool • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 01:36 AM

I'd say they're unfit to raise alphas.

blackhawks93 • 9 points • 15 October, 2016 06:37 PM

You sound like a great dad. Keep it up.

GayLubeOil • 21 points • 15 October, 2016 07:55 PM

Public education has always been about indoctrination since day one. The middle class was getting too big, too powerful and too independent so elites like Rockefeller and Rothschild brought the Prussian education system to the US, and payed big money to have it instituted.

The goal of the Prussian Education System is to make you a worker, a bureaucrat, a cog in the system that obeys. Independent thought is discouraged. Obedience is encouraged. Groupthink is encouraged at the cost if creativity. Feminist Curriculum desighned to destroy Masculinity is a logical progression of Public Education.

grubek • 7 points • 15 October, 2016 11:23 PM

Glad someone mentions the Prussian system. They really though it was a good idea as it would bring "order" to society.

The elites always become ego-maniac, they prefer to think society progresses because of their great plans, and not because of the work people do day after day.

throw17453 • 36 points • 15 October, 2016 03:42 PM [recovered]

I decided to read the learning material on this, located here:

<http://fusecontent.education.vic.gov.au/b74ae78a-995a-4a73-8361-3a200d448bd7/RRRR%205%20and%206.pdf>

At the start there is a lot of emotional intelligence stuff. A bit wishy washy, watered down and leans very much on the "lets all help and understand each other". However can't say it is explicately bad, and there is useful things on recognising and dealing with your own emotions and those of others.

Where it enters into the realm of indoctrination is from section 7 onwards.

There is so much here that is corrosive, to give you a brief taste:

<https://i.gyazo.com/f6b1d9e175f7df0e310601b1686c67c4.png>

One example of many, feminist talking points are dripping from every page, this is the tip of the iceberg and

<https://i.gyazo.com/23a7c0915b25fd01a491a9eb5f747952.png>

Here you have it violence can be saying hurtful things, threatening facial expressions or, or unwanted contact. Not to mention that gender is completely a social construct. The oppression and subjugation of women. The list goes on, but it is quite shocking the level of manipulation in this....

awalt_cupcake • 17 points • 15 October, 2016 04:23 PM

holy shit. It's finally happening.

afkb39sdfb • 2 points • 15 October, 2016 10:47 PM

Maybe it's time to learn Russian. It is not that great of a country but at least it is a country of real men.

awalt_cupcake • 1 point • 15 October, 2016 11:33 PM

that's what I've been telling myself. But I hardly know the language. And most companies over there want you to be capable of the language and culture before they'll hire you. Just started a small software company so my clients are US based. I know I need to be planning for Russia.

iamneptuno • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:11 PM

I don't mean to spoil your fantasies about real men, but 95% of Russians are moral degenerates. So, you better apply that 5% rule, sport.

[deleted] • 18 points • 15 October, 2016 05:12 PM

Gender pay gap. I just knew they'll include that too.

TheSn00pster • -19 points • 15 October, 2016 08:40 PM

And for a good reason. Inequality is real.

[deleted] • 11 points • 15 October, 2016 09:32 PM

Not even real. If it were real, then most businesses would be employing women.

Brewjo • 3 points • 15 October, 2016 06:22 PM

Hmm, pretty sure violence would be making the author take those words back from every printed copy... millions of letters clipped out and shoved back into the fingers they emerged from.

8n0n • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 08:45 AM

I wonder if this course is presented before or after sex ed. Smart people like me were quick to put 2 and 2 together (spoiler: some women take time off to produce children).

NaughtyFred • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:09 PM

Fuck. Where does it mention the electrodes attached to the testicles of the students during class that zaps them when they give a "problematic" answer?

play_time_is_over • 17 points • 16 October, 2016 02:04 AM

As an Australian this pisses me off so much for several reasons.

1. Australian boys have already been fucked by Feminism.

Australian men are some of the weakest in the world and it is entirely the fault of our schooling system. I didn't have a real male role model until I was 21. My male role models are south african, japanese and italian. Australia simply doesn't produce men anymore.

2. School is already run by the women.

So you're going to teach boys about "male privilege" in an industry where 90% of the teachers are females? Yea great idea, because it's really fucking fair. We need a lot more male teachers in our schools and this bullshit isn't helping.

3. There is no such thing as male privilege.

Women have it so much better than men in our day and age it so unfair to teach little boys that they have it better than women when it's the other way around. Men don't have privilege, we just work harder and take bigger risks.

Archterus • 8 points • 16 October, 2016 02:23 AM

And you probably have seen in the last few days the call for more women in academia down here, as they are still ' under represented ' From one pissed off Aussie to another.

Utterberetacht • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 03:01 AM

I'm just glad I finished Year 12 four years ago, way before this Respectful Relationships shit started.

Betterthanuatlife • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 07:37 AM

What about Zyzz? He broke his beta programming and became a man. An insecure hedonist degenerate, but a man nonetheless.

play_time_is_over • 2 points • 22 October, 2016 01:35 AM

Zyzz is a wog, Wogs seems totally immune to the PC bullshit, I've seen a fair few wogs punch women even back in high school - they're just opposite on the scale.

awalt_cupcake • 30 points • 15 October, 2016 04:12 PM

It describes privilege as "automatic, unearned benefits bestowed upon dominant groups" based on "gender, sexuality, race or socio-economic class".

Ok what did women do to earn all this fancy respect?

Brewjo • 15 points • 15 October, 2016 06:18 PM

Smell pretty, catch light at appealing angles, jiggle bits and have a warm wet hopefully tight sleeve for willys....

Wait, that stuff just happens to them.... unearned from sexual maturation... no matter where they are from or how much wealth they have or race... for 10-15 years they'll just be wanted by men...

No clue actually.

[deleted] • 14 points • 15 October, 2016 04:53 PM

God.. These self-hating bitches and their power trips

• points • 1 January, 1970 12:00 AM

[permanently deleted]

Archterus • 8 points • 15 October, 2016 11:41 PM

Good luck. A group of men tried to get a course started at a Uni in South Australia that addressed men's issues, as a balance to the feminist driven gender studies program. Years of development, just about to start enrolments, one femcunt complained. GONE!

[deleted] • 7 points • 15 October, 2016 11:57 PM

[permanently deleted]

trippinallday • 13 points • 15 October, 2016 06:09 PM

This is one of the incredible drawbacks of the world being so incredibly interconnected these days. If this were, say, 300 years ago and some country pulled this bullshit, it would inevitably deteriorate and eventually decline and fall to another, stronger country.

But now, basically the whole (Western world, at least) is following and perpetuating this bullshit, just because we've had like 50 years of relative peace. Obviously things are not going to remain like this forever, as they never do, so eventually we are going to need strong, intelligent, manly men to defend us and save our countries. Which isn't going to happen.

I generally hate sensationalist, doomsday-like shit, but I've honestly come to believe we're on the tail end of Western civilization. This shit just keeps snowballing and exponentially getting worse.

Selfishaltruist181 • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 06:01 AM

Oh yeah dude, western world is fucked, we are probably the last generation to have such riches. So start building your resources, move away from the western world and be self-sufficient.

akrebsie • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 07:39 AM

<http://people.uncw.edu/kozloffm/glubb.pdf>

Civilizations seem to have an arc like trajectory to them. It is my opinion that when things are too good for too long people lose their values and their(rational) fear. How else can you explain the population allowing a Muslim invasion in those European countries without significant outcry?

Selfishaltruist181 • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 09:50 AM

If it wasn't for the fact that Muslims culture so directly opposes western values then it would be great. Muslims aren't bad, the problem is that they are so radically different in their beliefs to western society. This situation now, can only cause conflict between the two values and by extension the people who believe in them. There was a period in time where Muslims were the pinnacle of scholarly knowledge and teachings, but war and exploitation has left them a people with only a culture and no anchorage through a great civilisation or leader of there own. Now in the decay of Western society they have come to make their new roots.

OmniscientOCE • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 11:13 AM

All the while China rapidly overtakes us technologically with an absolute advantage (in the economical sense) in labour, not to mention the lack of bullshit like this, further steering people (men and women) away from STEM subjects.

Archterus • 12 points • 15 October, 2016 10:39 PM

Victorian here. This shit is becoming pandemic in Australia, our national broadcaster, the ABC, hardly lets a day slip by without some attack on masculinity. Everytime I see a child (male) who has been referred by teachers for the possibility of ADD/ODD etc I have a LONG hard talk with the parents about the problems boys face in an increasingly femcentric education system. Sometimes I get lucky and they remove the child from the school rather than have him on meds. Very often though, especially with single mothers or couples with a weak, emasculated father they buy the agenda and the kid ends up on meds. Tragic.

the99percent1 • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 02:04 AM

The pharma business must be booming. Cheap oil and brainwashed SJWs keeping them cashed up.

TB3o3 • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 07:36 AM

Can you give an example of their attacks on masculinity mate? Don't watch ABC much

Archterus • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 08:58 AM

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/2016-10-15/ladies-and-longevity:-the-week-in-news/7932538> Look at the last paragraph, regarding the recent appointment of a man to a top UN post. This from within the last 24 to 48 hours

Archterus • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 09:04 AM

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/2016-10-14/michelle-grattan-sometimes-sexism-gets-the-reward-it-deserves/7932068> The ex PM continues her diatribe, also very recent

Utterberetacht • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 08:29 AM

This is why I seldom watch channels like the ABC or CNN. I sometimes watch BBC but when some gynocentric male-demonising material comes up, I change the channel immediately. I don't want to get radiation poisoning from the toxic radioactive land spill aka femin(az)ism.

1991Kira • 23 points • 15 October, 2016 05:16 PM

A guide for the Year 7 and 8 curriculum states: "Being born a male, you have advantages - such as being overly represented in the public sphere - and this will be true whether you personally approve or think you are entitled to this privilege."

How the hell can anyone think that printing shit like this in a textbook for kids is a good idea? This should be fucking illegal!

Starbucks_ • -32 points • 15 October, 2016 05:59 PM

That's a fact. Whether or not you like it.

joseph_fuzzco_Jr • 8 points • 15 October, 2016 10:03 PM

"That which can be asserted without evidence, can be dismissed without evidence."

Starbucks_ • -13 points • 15 October, 2016 10:54 PM

Common sense is the only evidence there needs to be. Insecure men in here can't handle the truth.

teeelo • 7 points • 16 October, 2016 01:41 AM

Hi, I am a secure man. Please provide proof for your claims, thank you.

joseph_fuzzco_Jr • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 03:45 AM

Truth requires evidence, none of which you have displayed. So please, provide proof for your claims.

whatisthishownow • 2 points • 20 October, 2016 03:02 PM

Hi, I'm a secure woman. Could you please cite some evidence for your claims?

thelandofdreams • 10 points • 15 October, 2016 08:17 PM

Oh my. You don't understand what the word "fact" means. You poor thing.

[deleted] • 9 points • 15 October, 2016 09:37 PM*

Where is the male privilege in the western world? I fail to see it. I am poor as crap, obtain zero benefits from government. Women can spread their legs, have a kid, and receive benefits from government. On top of that, a woman can easily destroy a man's reputation by just stating a guy raped her. This is the privilege of females, and those are facts. Your notion that there must be sexism does not point to specific laws or social constructs that support your claim.

thelandofdreams • 4 points • 15 October, 2016 10:32 PM

I agree with you. Was messing with the troll.

[deleted] • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 02:29 AM

I did not see who I was replying to. It was supposed to be for Starbucks_

Starbucks_ • -7 points • 15 October, 2016 11:11 PM

I used to think this way, but honestly you need to direct your hatred away from women and towards the government. None of your shortcoming are because of women, it's all your dumb fault. Do something about it, but don't blame women for your shitty life.

thelandofdreams • 6 points • 16 October, 2016 02:06 AM

He isn't blaming women. He is saying they are more privileged than men. Which is an actual fact.)

[deleted] • 7 points • 16 October, 2016 02:27 AM

Your ad hominem's don't negate the fact you did not provide any examples to back up your claim. I gave you examples that specifically contradicted your claims. Moreover, your red herring tactic did nothing for you.

dwarfarchist9001 • 9 points • 15 October, 2016 07:33 PM

It is a blatant lie with no basis in reality.

afkb39sdfb • 3 points • 15 October, 2016 10:53 PM

Human society rewards merit, not entitlement. You get what you work for, not what you expect to be given to you.

Mckallidon • 11 points • 15 October, 2016 06:48 PM

I'm still waiting for my male privilege check in the mail.

8n0n • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 10:29 AM

I'm still waiting for my male privilege check in the mail.

Closest thing I ever got to that was a tax return, that wage gap you know. /sarcasm

Mckallidon • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 04:07 PM

Tax returns, lol. Here's your money back that we stole from you before you ever saw it. Your welcome.

Wage gap, lol. Hilarious. Every woman I've ever met that bitches about that works part time cutting hair or cashiering at a pet shop.

WhiskeyAndCondoms • 10 points • 15 October, 2016 06:21 PM

50 bucks the suicide rates for boys will rise next year in Australia.

I'm in 12th grade and go to school in one of Germany's most liberal cities, the city also has a university.

The amount of PC bullshit, social justice retardation, and emotional whining I witness on a daily basis are fucking ridiculous.

I had people argue with me that the government makes the laws, not the people, I had people completely deny any sort of wrongdoing on the part of refugees. Fuck, after the Charlie Hebdo massacre one of my teachers, who is German and even served in the military, told the entire class that he didn't sympathize with the people killed because they apparently offended the terrorists religion.

Keats852 • 10 points • 15 October, 2016 07:06 PM

Germany is undoing itself. In 50 years, there will be no more German culture to speak of. It's all because of perceived guilt for WW2.

I don't know, maybe it's a good thing? It seems that the current generation of Germans has no backbone at all.

I sat on a bench in Prospect Park in Brooklyn once, next to an old guy from one the Caribbean islands, he told me about how proud he was that his son was in Germany impregnating as many women as he could. He would court them, fuck them and then dump them on purpose once they got pregnant.

[deleted] • 6 points • 15 October, 2016 09:55 PM

This is the trend in many Western countries. White males are bowing out, by and large. They've given up.

Archterus • 7 points • 15 October, 2016 11:44 PM

Suicide rates for young males already climbing. However what makes the news is a recent up spike in young female suicide rates.

akrebsie • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 07:20 AM

It is already a huge problem, and it has entered public conversation in a sort of apathetic way. The solution often touted by the media is, men just need to express themselves and talk about it. which is bullshit men don't want to talk about their feelings, men want to get out and rough and tumble and perhaps more importantly they need a grand vision a mission, we have become to domestically focused and it is not good for us (the west) domestically or otherwise.

Edit boys want to rough and tumble men want to not wonder if they will be divorced for no reason etc.

[deleted] • 17 points • 15 October, 2016 05:59 PM

[permanently deleted]

akrebsie • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 07:41 AM

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZOXh5repOWI>

8n0n • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 08:51 AM

I have an inkling it would be that video behind the link, was not disappointed.

mummersfarce_is_done • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 03:12 PM

https://doctorlinda.files.wordpress.com/2013/07/1\_photo.jpg

RedMoonAscendant • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 05:00 AM

God. So good. But the man in that video never got womansplained that women cannot engage in sexism. Literally they can't. It's been removed from the definition of sexism. Women can't do it.

quelques_heures • 9 points • 15 October, 2016 09:37 PM

Male privilege: the privilege of being shunned by society unless you're super attractive and have a great personality.

Women will literally run away from some guys if they just ask them for directions.

Or a nightclub/bar, sorry too many guys in there already! lol falcon10474 • 17 points • 15 October, 2016 06:19 PM

You know, I love this sub cause it helped me become a better man, but reading shit like this, this type of shit, I can't deal with any more, this shit makes me so angry and annoyed it pretty much starts to ruin my day. I'm 42 and no kids and will never get married, so fuck it. Let these cunts feminize and fuck over the world, I'm just going to continue lifting, fucking and enjoying the shit out of my life while the world burns around me.

[deleted] • 7 points • 15 October, 2016 06:39 PM

Getting pussy in the future will be 10x easier for my son.

dr_warlock • 10 points • 15 October, 2016 10:56 PM

In the long run, no it won't. They're fucking men on both ends of the spectrum. Making new betas or current betas stay beta or more beta. Then legally fucking restraining already existent alphas.

[deleted] • 8 points • 16 October, 2016 04:03 AM

I'm a year 11 student in Melbourne and I can confirm that we are already having this type of stuff jammed down our throats. The last assement for English class was a language analysis for a speech titled "it's not enough to call ourselves good men because we don't hit women". The speech was absolutely ridiculous. Not a single statistic or figure was used in the entirety of the text and the closest thing to evidence was an anecdote about a rape case where the accused had yet to be prosecuted. Throughout the piece, the person delivering the speech blatantly said multiple times that men we to blame for all of society's violence. Men are to blame for what children are being taught. It was difficult to analyse the piece as zero to none actual evidence was used but rather a bombardment of emotions. I kind of wrote my analysis using satire at points to point out how ridiculous some parts of the speech were. Of course because my teacher was a feminist I received a sub-par mark on this assessment compared to all my other ones.

If anyone is interested I can post the speech on here for you to look at.

Archterus • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 08:20 PM

Welcome aboard. Hang in there, cultivate hobbies, get off to the gym, don't put pussy on the pedestal and stay in touch with this community. Best wishes.

[deleted] • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 10:11 AM

You just summarised this sub reddit's advice in 27 words, nice. I will make sure to follow every word of it.

Hussssy • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 01:04 PM

Did anyone's parents contact the school and call BS on that? I graduated 8 years ago, I can't believe how much it has changed

[deleted] • 2 points • 17 October, 2016 10:10 AM

Nah, probably for several reasons. Year 12 exams are coming up soon so most people are focussing on them to be bothered contacting the school. I don't think many kids really tell their parents about what they do at school. It's a private school so even if parents did contact the school, I don't think they're under any obligation to unpussyify what they're teaching.

I'm glad to note however that most guys were pretty aware at how biased the article were. I heard lots of comments such as "I'm gonna have to go full PC mode while righting this essay." A lot of people realised the bullshit going on.

The worst part of this all is that the head of English at my school is male, so he would have had to sign off on the article for approval. So either he is a full blown beta or he felt pressured by other female teachers. Can't hate on the guy too much though because he gave me a free hotdog today.

I should probably also mention that this school is one of the biggest if not the biggest school in Australia so this bullshit is being taught to literally hundreds of kids in yr 11.

redartist • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 11:13 PM

Can't hate on the guy too much though because he gave me a free hotdog today.

This is the price of liberty. A hotdog. /s

Seriously though, even though you're right that they're under no obligation to unpussyify curriculum, remember we're dealing with SJWs here. They are cowards and will fold even under moderate pressure. So if a few parents got curious that might do the trick.

Squeezymypenisy • 15 points • 15 October, 2016 03:28 PM

I saw this yesterday on Reddit news. The comments were pretty similar to those on here. The article itself said there were Australian think tanks that found the program to be bullshit. Australia has always had a problem with super left wing policies though.

[deleted] • 8 points • 15 October, 2016 09:51 PM

Women overwhelmingly will vote for feminist imperatives that give them power. Throw in betas who support them and feminism wins with a landslide. I don't see how this trend will change.

Utterberetacht • 7 points • 15 October, 2016 11:31 PM*

I lost faith in Victoria's education system ever since they introduced the programme "Fightback" some time ago.

Edit: On the other hand, I'm not really surprised that this is happening since Victoria is full of SJWs, and both Federal and State Labor parties (currently governing Victoria) love to bend backwards to radical PC and SJWs.

sithlordomega • 11 points • 15 October, 2016 03:39 PM

Just send your son to a private Catholic school.

Jesus Christ you don't need to deal with their shit.

Cardplay3r • 10 points • 15 October, 2016 04:54 PM

For a different kind of indoctrination altogether.

[deleted] • 12 points • 15 October, 2016 07:37 PM

"Christianity might be a bulwark against something worse" - Richard Dawkins

Noirgheos • 15 points • 15 October, 2016 04:04 PM*

Doesn't help. I attended Loyola in Montreal, and they have to be some of the worst I've seen. Daily announcements will have "suffrage of women" placed in randomly.

"Its no secret women are abused much more than men..."

All guy school as well. Most of the teachers were nice, and saw the world for what it was, just the people in charge were... odd.

MuhTriggersGuise • 8 points • 15 October, 2016 04:55 PM

Wait, so they literally talk about "women's suffrage" like it's a bad thing? They think it means suffering?

Dude, you need to get them onboard with a "get rid of women's suffrage!" movement lol

Noirgheos • 2 points • 15 October, 2016 05:00 PM

Not like its a bad thing, they know the definition. Its one of the best high schools in Quebec for a reason.

Still, they act like its largely relevant in today's world.

Baeward • 4 points • 15 October, 2016 05:28 PM

The left wing state schooling is a joke and should be absolutely avoided, government agendas get way too caught up in it, moreso than the education part in some cases

[deleted] • 1 point • 15 October, 2016 05:50 PM

It depends where you go and who is running the school

sithlordomega • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 05:48 PM

Well, I went to one in mexico and we weren't taught 'womens issue's' bullshit

Hussssy • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 01:08 PM

I went to a catholic high school, we just studied from the bible until year 11 and in year 12 got to choose from 9 different types of religious subjects eg religion in art. It was a normal school (for 2003-2008 standards anyway) and nothing was indoctrinated into me. I am orthodox anyway and there were other religions there too. Your comment is spot on

JDiculous • 5 points • 15 October, 2016 05:55 PM

watch, this is going to lead to an increase in ultra-feminine homosexual men and masculine blue-haired fat chicks

coffee_34 • 6 points • 16 October, 2016 01:30 AM*

Notice how they teach "respectful relationships," yet no schools teach philosophy as a mandatory class. Society does not want you to think for yourself. They want you to be a good little boy.

manwhowouldbeking • 6 points • 16 October, 2016 03:57 AM

I am Australian hopefully this curriculum fails in victoria and they don't roll it out to the other states. School was hard enough, kids have enough problems to deal with, puberty and figuring out what you want to do with the rest of your life as well all the highschool bullshit. Then get told by these cunts that your playing on easymode because your male.

TB3o3 • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 06:43 AM

tell me about it, glad me and my borther won't be in school to have to deal with this shit

OmniscientOCE • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 11:17 AM

The problem is bombarding them with this shit so early. After around 16 I think most boys can smell the bs, but if they're indoctrinated earlier then the ship has already sunk.

[deleted] • 6 points • 16 October, 2016 04:11 AM

Australia used to be a country that valued the larrikan, mates, a fair go and helping out.

Because Australia is a harsh country and to survive you have to put in the hard yards, not take yourself too seriously, and help each other.

Work hard, Laugh at yourself, help your neighbours.

Those 3 things were how you got ahead as an Aussie. And everywhere.

Now I don't know what the fuck we are.

menial_optimist • 11 points • 15 October, 2016 03:58 PM

If you live in Australia and have children, homeschool them or fork out the dosh to send them to a proper private school. The minds of children are extra malleable and shirking your responsibility by letting the state babysit them 8 hours a day is going to do near irreversible damage to them not to mention your entire country down the line.

Demonizerwarden • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 08:00 AM

just posting this in case anyone's of that age

<http://youreteachingourchildrenwhat.org/has-your-school-signed-up-to-the-safe-schools-program/> Here are a list of schools(including several elite private ones) who have signed up to the infamous Safe Schools program. It's safe to assume they are likely to sign up to this garbage as well. Keep that in mind when making the decision on where to send your child.

8n0n • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 08:54 AM

Nice link; not surprised to see a few I know all too well on the list.

VasiliyZaitzev • 5 points • 15 October, 2016 06:32 PM

This is why, in the States, they're trying to encourage force people to enroll their kids in pre-K at 3 and 4 years old. All the better to get them away from mom and dad and in to the clutches of the state.

This is also why, if I ever had kids, I would home school them.

Archterus • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 02:21 AM*

Sadly, though it be a limited sample, my experience of home schooling is that it often driven by the mother, frequently single, and very ill equipped to attempt the task. My approach has been the evening meal, we all sit together and talk about the days events. A small dose of red pill administered frequently trims the sails nicely.

VasiliyZaitzev • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 06:26 AM

I work from home, and I formerly taught university students as an adjunct, so in my case, it would be handled by me, should it come to that.

Archterus • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 09:00 AM

Never doubted that. You could have a business on your hands, selling the curriculum/guides to other fathers.

kellykebab • 5 points • 16 October, 2016 03:31 AM

I mean, that's pretty unprecedented. I grew up going to conservative Christian schools and they didn't teach traditional gender roles. Outside of chapel and Bible classes, we didn't talk about values or ideology at all. We learned facts. I assume public schools had even less brainwashing.

[deleted] • 8 points • 15 October, 2016 05:42 PM

You are the canary in the coal mine. You are a wonderful contributor to TRP, as good as it gets. I am Australian but I would not have known about this without you pointing it out. I will be mobilising our forces to deal with this. Thanks again for your good work in defending men's rights.

Demonizerwarden • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 08:04 AM

how do you plan doing this? As a victorian, me and a few of my friends would be happy to help. Feel free to contact me via PM if you want

DysfunctionalBrother • 3 points • 15 October, 2016 11:21 PM*

What is worrying is that they are conditioning children to be weak right? So what they effectively doing to the security of their country? Fewer are going to willingly join their military because of this sort of conditioning. They are basically making it easier to be dominated by invaders. Do they not realize that they are putting themselves in danger from countries that do not have the luxury to have problems as small as cat calling. I doubt those invaders, if they do come, will be as nice as western men are to western women, nor do i think they would keep feminism around.

Selfishaltruist181 • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 06:14 AM

Saying that, Australia has some very strong ties to the US and China. China is more of a trade relationship, but if some third party was to invade, I'm sure both these nations would step in.

Apexk9 • 6 points • 15 October, 2016 05:37 PM

Man any smart parent needs to homeschoolin their kids.

DJGammaRabbit • 2 points • 15 October, 2016 09:14 PM

This is funny. They'll just go red pill even faster because they'll be able to look back and think that was all bullshit!

J_AsapGem • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 05:25 AM

Well boys there's only one thing we can do, lookout for ourselves and dominate fucking life the way we please. and if it may be you get a kid, raise him in your image.

Demonizerwarden • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 08:08 AM

I'm ashamed when my home state puts forward policies like this into the law. Rule 38(think for yourself but behave like others) has been completely internalised by most men in Melbourne.

One of the most left wing and SJW cities in Australia means that in most academic and corporate circles the average man maintains silence of platitudes in favour of the order of the day.

But in private or with male friends the truth comes out and most men are against this garbage.

I don't really know how this can be fought, since people are only willing to admit it or talk about it in private. The older generation(50+) are clearly against this and won't see the country they built go down without a fight but most of this shit is so indoctrinated in people 30 and under that its just assumed everyone agrees. This is the case at most universities and everyone just kind of goes along with it.

My guess is that most of the wealthier, more conservative types will educate their children that this is garbage but that still means it will permeate to the wider population.

OmniscientOCE • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 11:24 AM

Most guys know that this is garbage, even if they aren't "red pill" by the time they're in late high school, but it's easy to manipulate the minds of the young.

pizzae • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 12:00 PM

I'm glad I'm already in uni so I am lucky I did not grow up to this crap.

Seeing all these feminised males makes me happy, it will mean creating and maintaining a business will be easy, since it will be less likely that subordinates will be ambitious and challenge authority

highenergysanders • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 02:00 PM

That's exactly right. You have an entire upcoming generation being conditioned to see personal ambition as greed & appropriation, and self confidence as disrespectful aggression. Desirable traits are timidity and always keeping your head down

stawek • 2 points • 17 October, 2016 10:46 AM

If you give children a vote, expect to have state sponsored ice cream parlours, mandatory holiday parties and banned homework, cause this is what children like.

If you give women a vote, expect to have socialism, big government and welfare, all the things women like so much.

[deleted] • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 12:34 AM

The only logical solution is to nuke Australia before this nonsense spreads..

Let's nuke Canada too, they seem beyond saving at this point..

[deleted] • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 02:04 AM

Fuck it guys why are y'all mad?? Less competition for us! If aussies are being taught this shit, fine, whatever. WE'RE not. We still got our heads on our shoulders and can still think for ourselves. Don't trip. Let them teach whatever the fuck they want. We're chilling.

Chad_Thundercock69 • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 01:40 PM

Because I'm Australian you massive colossal autistic faggot

larryjack • 3 points • 15 October, 2016 04:32 PM

TRP advocates stoicism, therefore acknowledge what you can change and what you cannot then take advantage of it, otherwise why knowing things if you don't use the knowledge?

Are you (reader of this, not just OP) scared society is going in a direction you don't like it to go?

Do you have the power to change its direction?

If no, read as much as you need but then go on with your shit.

As a side note, a strategy of some people is to just spread the knowledge, waiting and hoping someone else will change the things they don't like.

I'm not saying its OP's strategy. Just spreading the knowledge.

A beneficiary strategy for those who knows the direction society is going but do not have the power to change it or they prefer to use their power for some other endeavors is to simply take advantage of what they know.

[deleted] • 3 points • 15 October, 2016 06:43 PM

Then maybe it should also be mentioned that homeschooling has been proven to be very effected. You only hear about it from the media when the family is anti-vaccers and flat earthers, but actually studies have repeatedly shown that most home schooled children do well in education ad more importantly - practical application of skills. Something that has become a joke in the mainstream education system.

larryjack • 1 point • 15 October, 2016 07:06 PM

Personalized teaching, of course it works.

The Teacher Figure will decide what to teach and he will carefully choose what to teach as to ultimately provide benefits to him.

Older family components teaching younger ones? They will teach the younger ones what they need to know as to benefit the family.

Mainstream education system teaching millions of children? It will teach them what they need to know as to benefit the system.

---

If I'd be the System I'd try to make parents so busy and so "I just want to relax" that they will not have the necessary time and energies to even think about purposefully directing their children's mind so as I, the System, will retain control over it.

drallcom3 • 1 point • 15 October, 2016 07:26 PM

So they're doing the same thing that failed horribly in Norway

cliff racer333 • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 10:39 AM

Happens in the US too. If you are a male, you are disliked... but if you are a white male, oh then you have a problem.

Kashmon777 • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 10:55 AM

<http://thenewdaily.com.au/sport/afl/2016/09/23/jobee-watson-feminist-cap/> australian men are already fucked...

Expectations1 • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 11:26 AM

Australia is a pretty pussified politically correct society anyways.

Azora • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 12:42 PM

Can they show women as intimidating bouncers and security guards, even go as far as them on a battlefield in a war. That's some nice equality.

Hussssy • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 12:51 PM

Is this public government schools only or private and catholic as well?

_fappycamper • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 01:48 PM

The next generation has no chance.

Lsegundo • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 06:00 PM

Can you opt your kids out of this BS? The term "male privilege" makes me ill. I have more advantages than some and less than many others.

These fucking cunts talk like you just show up and flop your white cock out on the table. Instantly you get rewarded with a great career and all kinds of gifts.

It has taken countless working weekends and skipped events for me to even try to reach my goals.

goingright32 • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 09:14 PM

It's scary how feminist australia is. I remember a "shock tactic" government tv ad recently that was promoting feminist ideas

LuckyLuke23 • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 02:56 AM sigh.... my country that i know and love isn't my country anymore.

so far this is only in one state so it looks like the biggest city that will be affected is Melbourne.

i really do feel sorry for all the boys who will group and wake up at 28 and go. FUCK they lied to me.

Betterthanuatlife • 1 point • 17 October, 2016 07:31 AM*

I was never encouraged to "dominate and control women" nor did I have any privileges due to being a white straight guy. I was forced into being timid, submissive, I was told that I was a pervert during the hormone rushes of early puberty (being sexually attracted to women is oppressive), and I was shamed for getting a boner from staring tits (Tits shouldn't be something sexual despite being a female sex characteristic, meaning men get off from them naturally, because feminism and stuff!). I started becoming a misogynist shitlord already at an early age due to feminist programming. Want men to hate women? Have women tell them to hate themselves since an early age. That is SURE to create a few Ted Bundys. But still I'm from rural Sweden and most of us grew up in a sports culture so we denied that programming vehemently. During history class when we were taught about the nazis and how "the blonde blue eyed man is duh evil nazis and genocides everyone" some raised their right arm in protest because they were sick of being constantly blamed and shamed for everything wrong in the world, not because they were actually nazis of course.

PantsonFire1234 • 1 point • 19 October, 2016 01:48 PM

This is beyond stupid. I don't think there's been a society in the entire history of humankind this weak and pathetic. Idiot, all of them.

Betterthanuatlife • 1 point • 22 October, 2016 04:48 PM

As harsh as that is it's also the truth. A bit the same here in Sweden granted not as severe. If you're not a white dude you can get away with more :/ A white guy has consensual sex = gets arrested for rape. Two wogs brutally rape a woman in a wheel chair = gets let go without a slap on the wrist.

aussiehere_ArmaniG • 1 point • 8 November, 2016 10:35 AM

So fucking typically, especially in the state of Victoria (nanny state heavily policed). This makes me sick

iminyourfacejonson • 1 point • 15 October, 2016 07:14 PM

Never liked those shitposters anyway

Selfishaltruist181 • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 06:21 AM

This made me crack my shit

AzzyMcGee • -1 points • 15 October, 2016 04:00 PM

Australia needs to be nuked. Not hard enough to extinct the animals (they're cool) but hard enough to fuck up all the DUMB CUNTS M8.

[deleted] • 8 points • 15 October, 2016 06:34 PM

Sydney is a beautiful place. I had to leave though because I can't stand the fucking people inhabiting it, or the government running it.

Limekill • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 10:50 PM

Sydney is a hole - u are their only for a job that pays well. If you don't have one - get out!

pspjoker • 0 points • 16 October, 2016 05:24 AM what the fuck has this fucking world come to. I just wanted to look at reddit after a long day at work and I get to see this. For fucks sake.

Am I the only one

JohnnyRaz • 0 points • 16 October, 2016 09:37 AM

Sigh...at what point will white people finally say that enough is enough?

Seriously, I wonder what the breaking point is.

[deleted] • -4 points • 15 October, 2016 07:25 PM

[permanently deleted]

Starbucks_ • 0 points • 15 October, 2016 10:57 PM

I like that you have less down votes than me.

[deleted] • -22 points • 15 October, 2016 05:53 PM

[permanently deleted]

teeelo • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 01:47 AM

You sound like you don't believe in white privilege either...

Troll detected!

THERE ARE ONLY TWO GENDERS. WAGE GAP IS A MYTH RAPE CULTURE IS FEAR MONGERING BY FEMINISTS.

curunir • 1 point • 15 October, 2016 10:41 PM

This is just additional proof that "rape culture" is a myth. Sorry, but unless you're a radical fundamentalist muslim living in a culture of the same, you do not live in a culture that defends or encourages rape of any kind - just the opposite.

Starbucks_ • -2 points • 15 October, 2016 10:57 PM

Hahahaha what do you call it when a white male rapes someone and then gets off free after a month of incarceration. Rape culture. Open your eyes.

curunir • 3 points • 15 October, 2016 11:30 PM

I don't know what you're talking about, but it sounds like bullshit.

What do you call it when an entire college lacrosse team is shut down, suspended, subjected to persecution and harassment for over a year due to a false rape allegation? Not rape culture.

What do call it when a fraternity is shut down, kicked out of their school, suspended, trashed in the media, screamed at everywhere they go, over a false story in a magazine about a rape that never happened? Not rape culture.

Starbucks_ • -1 points • 15 October, 2016 11:39 PM

I understand how horrible accusation of rape is, and that it will ruin someone's life. I also think that our culture makes rape out to be the very worst thing ever that can happen to a women, which it isn't. This culture we have surrounding rape is so fucked up. You realize most of them go unreported? That's a byproduct of our demonization of rape. (More culture for ya) I think women should be prosecuted to the full extent of the charge they accuse someone of. Rather than ruining a man's life they would ruin their own. It's disgusting what these women do, I really do think so. But you can't say that the culture isn't there based on false accusations.

curunir • 2 points • 16 October, 2016 12:23 AM

I only mentioned the responses to accusations because you claimed that some case where an accused rapist got a light sentence was proof that the mythical "rape culture" was actually real.

This article is also proof that it does not. Men that stop rapists is also proof. Media portrayals of rape, rapists, and victims of rape is also proof. The severe penalties imposed on the vast majority of convicted rapists is proof. There are many others.

Indeed, rape is so vilified in our culture, that it imposes the most severe punishment on the perpetrators than any other crime, sometimes even more than murder.

BTW: I'm not opposed to these severe penalties. Rape is NOT sex, it's violence, and one of the most damaging forms.

I'm just saying that that attitude is the most overwhelmingly most prevalent in our culture. And you should know that's an objective fact.

Starbucks_ • 1 point • 16 October, 2016 12:38 AM

The facts, in the case I've been referring to are pretty stark. You keep saying "accused" as if he didn't do it. A foreign exchange student saw him fucking her while she was unconscious! He got off on the fact that the charge would "damage his future" is what the judge said. This makes me sick to my stomach. He deserves life and got 1 month.

Subtletrious • 3 points • 16 October, 2016 04:48 AM

That is a sign of a poorly handled judges' ruling and not a culture wide problem. Don't use words like "rape culture" unless you actually are referring to a genuine rape culture. Don't let someone else's propaganda slogans do the thinking for you.