

Typical AITA misandry

October 4, 2021 | 23 upvotes | by TheLWMA

http://np.reddit.com/r/AmItheAsshole/comments/q0tgkz/aita_for_not_walking_a_girl_home_after_a_date/

Here, some young man was asked to walk his date home at night and he declined, as he had a bus to catch. Which is fine, because it's not his job to risk his physical safety.

As fairly progressive sub, you'd think that AITA would him NAH, but.... they were pretty condescending towards him.

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

olafkittyking • 2 points • 5 November, 2021 08:54 AM

Personally I don't really see this as misandry. If she ask, why not if you like her. And as some mention in the comments, it would have taken 20 minutes in total, so he would have waited for the bus only a few minutes in the end ..

sad_femboi • 3 points • 28 November, 2021 10:36 AM

Because it's not his responsibility? Imagine if it was the other way around, would she be expected to walk home with him? Absolutely not. It would be considered a nice thing for her to do but there would be no expectation for her to do it.

Man_of_culture_112 • 1 point • 19 January, 2022 08:04 PM

I hate that comment section.