

Men and Women are not nearly as evil towards each other as you people insinuate

November 7, 2021 | 234 upvotes | by fishboy0099

Reddit (specifically TRP, FDS, and this sub) has this idea that the opposite sex is incredibly toxic towards each other. This isn't true in real life. I say this as a man that has had multiple relationships and is currently in month 15 of my current long term relationship. Women don't only "chase chad" and all that other shit. All humans are individuals. Men aren't all toxic and manipulative trying to use women for sex. I see way too many vast generalizations here.

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

ToughAnswers • 128 points • 7 November, 2021 03:19 AM*

I see way too many vast generalizations here.

This sub's subject matter can't really be debated without generalizations. Otherwise it would be "everyone is different" discussion over

MMAjambo[] • 29 points • 7 November, 2021 07:02 AM

Exactly, of course we're going to generalise

Also shout-out to the absolute fucking tools who completely disregard anecdotal evidence, obviously I'm going to talk about my life experiences??

Absolute tools who read some stats online and cry about generalising people smh

Circ-Le-Jerk • 13 points • 7 November, 2021 04:08 PM

Yet, every, god, damn, post... There is someone bitching about how everyone is different blah blah blah... Heaven forbid you speak in absolutes as an easy way to avoid saying, "Most women, but not all, as humans are unique and into different things" and just assume everyone else doesn't have autism and understand it's general speaking by default. I swear, some people will freak out if you say something like, "Woman like a successful man" and of course some woman will jump in, "OMG How dare you! Not every girl is so vane! We are all different. Not some monolithic group! I don't care about a man's success, just his kindness!"

Like okay Bryleigh, we get it... You're special and everyone needs to know it. Ugggg...

MMAjambo[] • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 09:50 PM*

Does my tits in fam. Men too, "omg guys are such pigs they never take no for an answer" "oh well actually I always listen to a lovely lady when she says no" yeah here's a medal you absolute hero I dunno how this conversation would progress without you.

It's even worse on here because that example I gave is just a burd bitching but this sub is supposed to be about logically analysing trends and preferences, you actually need to generalise.

Circ-Le-Jerk • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 10:37 PM

It just baffles me how this isn't blatantly obvious. Either they legitimately lack basic social skills, or just want to argue and get defensive. There is no way a good faith, rational person, would be coming here concerned with pointing out how literally not every person is XYZ

Like wtf would even be the point of a subreddit designed around discussing genders and sexuality, if literally every reply is "Everyone is different. Cant speak in generalities." Like, okay, i guess we should just delete this place then.

MMAjambo[] • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 10:54 PM

Might as well just delete all the relationship and dating subs too

Nah actually we should do that because they're cancer that censors anyone that doesn't think wahmen are kweens

Circ-Le-Jerk • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 11:08 PM

This is literally the only relationship adjacent sub I go to. Things like that major relationship sub is SOOOO bad... I feel literally bad for people who ask questions there. It's so disconnected and bad practical advice. "Let's ask a bunch of nerds with terrible social skills, about complex nuances of relationships." The whole thing reads like someone who read an MMA book once trying to give advice to a UFC fighter.

MMAjambo[] • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 01:29 AM

Is that because my name[] you're the second guy today to reference it lmao

I'm banned on 3 of the 4 major ones lmaooo. On one I called a prostitute a prostitute and said her experience is probably much more than a regular girl, one I got banned for "redpill mgtow BS" I'm not even really redpilled lmao I actually don't sleep around and don't want to. I can't remember what I done on the other one

And yeah I've said before this is the best one because they're not too quick to censor people.

I think it's a requirement to be a radical pro trans feminist who either hates men or has severe autism to be a mod on those subs

Aldabruzzo • 1 point • 22 November, 2021 07:40 PM

It's that they want to argue. With women, mostly, it's that they take everything so personally. Whenever a woman hears "women are X", and "X" is something negative, that woman will immediately jump in with

"But I am not like that!"

"But my friends are not like that!"

"But the women I know are not like that!"

It's because women have a deep seated need to virtue signal and show that even if other girls have X negative trait, SHE does not, and HER FRIENDS do not, and THE WOMEN SHE KNOWS do not. And it's because women take everything so personally. They really do think everything is about them.

Master-Edward-3 • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 06:36 PM

Yes that's annoying alright.. People are similar enough in thinking to assume generality rules or principles about them. No one is saying that people think identically at every turn like invasion of the A.I. or what have you, but it's similar.

I recall with online dating that you'd have enough women replying to differently typed messages in the same ways and with one word answers often. Different people yet 90% of them used the same language yet they didn't know each other most likely.

95% of women reject men over the same things in personal life over online life too. Such as height, being a geek, or no money being the gists of it although simply due to some random rural Rebecca that lives on the coast of Maine with a population of 500 never did any such things she believes she can say that half of womankind are all unique eggs in basket and also would not reject for stupidficial reasons which is not true.

It could be possible that the less urban of environment you go then the less vain women and men become but in western civilization you'd likely bump into the same things time and again even if you traveled town to town on a road trip to date women. Which I think there should be a documentary like supersize me where you have a guy put different towns in different states to the test.

Highly likely most people lean towards a specific way of thinking. All Republicans and Democrats are individuals yet have very similar ideals.. But none of them shout to the other party saying we are not all like that in policies for the nation.

Cupcakelover1985 • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:42 PM

So would you agree all the people who said TBP lied to them or women lie about what they like are autistic then since they didn't read between the lines?

SylvestorTalone • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 05:19 PM

So would you agree all the people who said TBP lied to them or women lie about what they like are autistic then since they didn't read between the lines?

Equivocation is lying.

Cupcakelover1985 • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 06:50 PM

Then I take it you disagree with circ-le-jerks point?

SylvestorTalone • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 07:21 PM

No, since the convention of phrasing generalizations as absolutes is widely understood, and does not conceal an alternative meaning. It's simply and obviously a time saving device.

Cupcakelover1985 • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 11:22 PM

It's just as obviously understood as the silent note of "who I find attractive" after whatever list of personality traits and values and individual gives when you ask what their type is. So if you're socially competent enough to understand one, you should be socially competent enough to understand the other. You agreeing with the social competency rationalization when it comes to generalizing but not when it comes to bp logic is disingenuous and contradictory. Carry on though as you're not the person I asked anyway. I say this respectfully.

SylvestorTalone • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 11:44 PM

They are not the same thing at all, one is a time saving device that does not fundamentally change what's being said. The other is dishonest sleight of words designed to hide the ludicrous entitlement of what is being asked.

If we understand things your way, the most common female complaint is "why wont a guy out of my league treat me like I'm special". But since it's obvious how entitled and ridiculous that sounds, some way to phrase it that doesn't sound so bad has to be found.

Carry on though as you're not the person I asked anyway. I say this respectfully

Obviously you don't get to make your argument and then dismiss me. If you want to take that line this needs to be your entire response. Here you are gabbling on about autism and social competence as well, how completely preposterous. I say this disrespectfully.

Cupcakelover1985 • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 11:45 PM

They are the same thing. They're both time saving devices that rely on the listener being socially competent enough to read between the lines and understand/hear the unspoken. So either they're both ok or neither are ok.

I can make my argument and dismiss you. You're not my parent or boss and have no say in what I chose to do. Just as I have no control over you and your disingenuous behavior. Now carry on, respectfully ☐.

[deleted] • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 07:17 PM

Underrated, comment, people here don't know how to read between the lines and think relationships and human behavior are some binary phenomena. Human behavior is the least binary phenomena in existence. Every cognitive and behavioral scientist understands this but the autists on here can't seem to wrap their head around anything more than a simple black and white function.

Human behavior is not computer science. It's not a "go, no go" phenomenon. Yet people talk about it like it is around here.

MMAjambo[☐] • 7 points • 7 November, 2021 09:54 PM

That's usually women on the internet in my experience. So many of them think their preference are universal and anything else is abuse.

So for instance if a hooker hates getting asked out by clients it's immoral. But If a different hooker loves it because it's flattering then not asking her out is immoral. That's an example from pure clown world

A more obvious one. Trad feminists think it's immoral for men not to approach because it puts women on the spot and makes them do the work we're "too cowardly to do". Rad lib fems on the other hand think it's immoral to approach because you're wasting her time and making her uncomfortable because they believe the woman would show signs or approach first if she was interested.

They need to start diagnosing autism in wahmen more often

[deleted] • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 12:00 AM

Men and women do this. There's no need to separate genders here on this. But I agree women do need more representation in autism diagnosis because it's incorrectly still viewed as a "man's disorder". Studies show it is more common in women than originally hypothesized.

MMAjambo[☐] • 3 points • 8 November, 2021 01:33 AM

Yeah they need to get those diagnosis tests out and head to r/sexworkers
r/fragilemaleredditor all of the major dating subs and then the big dog
r/femaledatingstrategy

[deleted] • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 01:34 AM

Haha as a woman autistic you're right. Everyone on this sub needs to be tested for sure.

MMAjambo[] • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 01:42 AM

Autistic people aren't that bad but it's when you mix narcissism and autism it's fucking awful and you end up with FDS. People who are born socially clueless but they're too stuck up their own ass to learn any better plus their egos are through the roof and they think people owe them shit

MMAjambo[] • 1 point • 9 November, 2021 12:27 AM

I'm not sure what point you tried to make?

Women and blue pill blatantly lie

Cupcakelover1985 • 1 point • 9 November, 2021 12:29 AM

That people pick and choose when they want to apply "the read between the lines" logic.

MMAjambo[] • 1 point • 9 November, 2021 12:49 AM

I don't think there is any lies to read between when it comes to blatant hypocrisy, double standards and just general shit advice

solitasoul • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 06:35 PM

But that's the thing. Bryleigh is not special. Most women are like bryleigh.

It's not the generalization, it's the incorrect generalization.

Circ-Le-Jerk • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 07:06 PM

Most humans are not special little snowflakes who rolled a completely random character like it's a video game where the stats are just random.

Most people DO bunch of with things. Women DO tend to act one way in general, and like things in general.

This idea that people want to feel like this 100% autonomous unique special snowflake is teenager thinking. Most people tend to exist on different bell curves bunched up in similar things.

So pointing out, "But everyone is so different! You can't generalize!!" Is just a useless and pointless claim. I can generalize, and often am accurate with them more than not. That's just how it is.

Thinkingard • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 12:04 PM

And that makes it useless to debate.

ToughAnswers • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 02:48 PM

Yet here you are lmao

Thinkingard • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 03:37 PM

I check in from time to time and sometimes see thoughtful questions but the comments ruin it for me and I stand by my comment.

Circ-Le-Jerk • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:10 PM

Maybe once you realize people aren't as unique as you think they are, you'll realize there is more to understand. People aren't just NPC's where you roll random stats for everything, but instead, people tend to lump up into general bell curves... That's what people are discussing.

Thinkingard • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 09:04 PM

It tends to devolve into personal anecdotes or dismissals because of generalizations.

Circ-Le-Jerk • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 10:33 PM

Then it's literally impossible to talk about anything human related... "Everyone is different, we can't infer any general trends, or share any experience. It's all just random!"

It would literally make discussing any social dynamics impossible. I don't even know why you're here if that's the case, as the only absolute that can be discussed is men are XY chromosome and women are XX. After that, social things? It's all general bell curves and matters of opinion.

Thinkingard • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 11:10 PM

Its worth discussing but not worth debating because a debate is more than an attempt at persuasion it is in pursuit of truth which I do not believe can or will happen here. And of course this is a debate sub on one of the most subjective topics.

moresleepy1 • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 04:03 AM you couldn't even say that cause of people with XXY chromosomes so nothing could be discussed.

Sweetheart305 • 1 point • 9 November, 2021 12:12 AM

That would be a way more intelligent conversation let's be real here. "Everyone is different case closed." Yep. That's about the gist of it

goneaway2thewind • 10 points • 7 November, 2021 03:27 PM

I agree that it's rare for women to have evil intentions, but the effect of their subconscious nature can be devastating to men that get in their way.

Master-Edward-3 • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 07:41 PM

I agree that it's rare for women to have evil intentions,

I laughed and can't figure why.

hardallthetime666 • 35 points • 7 November, 2021 03:37 AM

They're not "evil" but men and women in general are acting in self interest when dating. Mind games, seeing multiple people etc etc

Something ive noticed that a lot of daters are aware of is power dynamics. People quickly realise who got more power in a coupling and it becomes a "thing"

All my best experiences have been where it all happened naturally, no mind games or any of that. We just admitted we liked each other and it went on from there. This sort of thing is becoming rarer these days (though still prevalent)

Tobinaor • 7 points • 7 November, 2021 07:13 AM

That sounds magical. I like you and you like me. Let's do things together that are fun and repeat!

Artistic_Guest4386 • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 04:29 PM

Yes but a BIG part of the "like" is a response to the other person being "better" than them (more so on the female side) and signs of being better than the girl include treating them like an afterthought/disposable.

Electronic_Ad_4748 • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 08:53 PM

Lol no. It's just not being a fucking degenerate like most people are.

decoy88 • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 10:18 PM

A lot of it is just the quality of the experience you have with another person and how much that company is enjoyed.

OldSimpsonsisbetter • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 02:53 PM

That's because there are social conventions in real life that prevent it. On the internet, people can be themselves more, so you see true female nature on the internet way more. It's only social shaming that forces women to not chase Chads and go for nicer guys.

[deleted] 7 November, 2021 04:12 AM

[permanently deleted]

[deleted] 7 November, 2021 05:16 AM*

[permanently deleted]

DngrusDillushunz • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 03:29 PM

Well said.

fishboy0099[S] • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 05:20 AM

It's unfortunate that some people can ruin it for everyone else.

[deleted] 7 November, 2021 05:24 AM*

[permanently deleted]

fishboy0099[S] • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 05:35 AM

Seeing how bitter everyone is makes me feel so happy and lucky to be in a positive relationship where we communicate and love each other.

CimZim • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 07:12 AM

Right? I look at my own relationship and realize that according to many people here, it's the equivalent of winning the lottery and striking oil on the same day.

moviecooknl • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 06:09 PM

If you state you value happiness based upon on others and their relationship, you have crappy values and you're prone to be fucked over.

Happiness is something you experience on an individual and long term level, you should never experience that based upon the experience of others or how they pretend to be around you or on short term aspects.

I can be happy when eating pizza for example. Me eating pizza every day will probably make me overweight and die earlier. So short term happiness will probably not be the best thing to experience, even though I really like pizza ;)

moviecooknl • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 05:51 PM

Honestly this is the most fucked up advice I've ever heard: surround yourself with people who have a happy relationship....

Do never underestimate the aspect of looking good for others while your life is shit or in shambles, this is extremely the case with people who state they have a happy relationships for the public but in the end are miserable and end up in divorce or breaking up.

No: surround yourself who have the same core values as you and respect and accept your boundaries and vice versa. And yes, their relationship or what's considered healthy in accordance to your values.

TheHeroReditDeserves • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 07:43 PM

Breaking news! Socialiy majadusted redditors not best window into humanity. More at 11!

JacobMoogberg69 • 17 points • 7 November, 2021 09:00 AM

There is no battle of the sexes. Men and women are just victims of their social conditioning that is meant to keep them apart.

PMmeareasonolive • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 03:41 PM

Men and women are just victims of their social conditioning

So they don't have competing biologically based mating strategies?

NotTheBestMoment • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 05:30 PM

The issue is that mating gets conflated with dating. Mating is sex. Dating is everything beyond that. When it comes to the dating scene, everyone is largely after the same goals. The mating scene is where the strategies and bullshit start coming out theosamabahama • 5 points • 8 November, 2021 12:54 AM

The way men and women choose their partners (for dating) is based on mating strategies developed by natural selection. You can't have dating without passing the mating selecting phase.

NotTheBestMoment • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 01:07 AM

They're overlapping I agree but not the same, a lot of people use them interchangeably

JacobMoogberg69 • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 04:38 PM

There are no competing strategies.

Gabrielrape • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 05:56 PM

Yes, there is. When you purposely give the opposite bad dating advice that serves your imperative that's competing mating strategies. When you vote in laws that will benefit your gender only that's a competing mating strategy.

JacobMoogberg69 • -1 points • 7 November, 2021 09:10 PM

What bad dating advice? What advice would you give women? Give nice guys a chance? Lower your standards? Don't sleep with other men so you don't make me feel insecure about my own lack of sexual experience? Because this is the "advice" I see guys here try to give women, whether they want it or not (they don't). How is that good advice for women?

Gabrielvrpe • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 09:34 PM

Here's a few:

- Spend money on random women who you don't even know well enough
- Date single mothers because that's what a real man would do
- Give women free validation because they are women and you should

List goes on and on. I didn't say anything about men giving advice to women and I have never seen any man here even say those things but nice straw man.

[deleted] 7 November, 2021 09:46 PM

[permanently deleted]

Gabrielvrpe • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 09:47 PM

Where did you get the assumption that I was, you think I ask for dating advice from women?

[deleted] 7 November, 2021 09:54 PM

[permanently deleted]

Gabrielvrpe • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 10:01 PM

I was giving you examples of dating advice that women give men. I never said I asked for them. Anyone who has to use the n-word when talking or debating I can already tell is not that smart. Keep it chief.

PM-ME-YOUR-STOMACH • 12 points • 7 November, 2021 09:17 AM

Well it's honestly not just this sub. If you go anywhere women dominated on reddit it's legit 80% them complaining about men or something man related. Men can't really talk TOO much about women on this site but it's absolutely brutal out there depending on the area you live in. Especially with introverts having more voices on social media, online dating becoming more common, and the bar for "harassment" kinda becoming grey because people don't realize flirting is just a means to make the other person see you in a sexual light to build attraction. When ugly people do it it's going to be unsuccessful more often than not, and what would be a "failed flirt" is now just called sexual harassment.

Master-Edward-3 • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 07:36 PM

Yah subs like niceguys TrollXChromosomes and of course FDS do nothing but whine and bitch about men bout every other post. Two of the three are essentially misandrist and one borderline misandrist.

TheBookOfSeil • 7 points • 7 November, 2021 04:20 AM

Yes normies with not a care in the world don't act like theres a problem, but most people mask their issues in front of others because they don't want to be judged if others don't share their opinion on the topic.

[deleted] • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 12:38 PM

As much as feminism insinuates*

xcheshirecatxx • 3 points • 8 November, 2021 07:19 PM

Yes and no.

the problem is that women have the law on their side when they want to be evil. And men can have the physical upper hand

Female power through the law is worst as its legal

Jakes1967 • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 08:43 PM

Men and Women are not nearly as evil towards each other as you people insinuate

Yeah, the 2 friends who killed themselves, after their ex-wives took everything including their children, disagree.

Reddit (specifically TRP, FDS, and this sub) has this idea that the opposite sex is incredibly toxic towards each other. This isn't true in real life.

Unfortunately with everyone scared and cautious, it is.

fishboy0099[S] • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 08:45 PM

While what happened to your friends is unfortunate, it is far and away the exception, not the rule.

Fichek • 2 points • 8 November, 2021 11:02 AM

I'm glad you are happy with your current SO, I honestly am. I would love it if everyone would be able to find someone to love and that someone to love them back. But you don't get to say that something is an exception because it doesn't fit your current situation. Have you maybe considered your situation as an exception? Everything is a statistic until it happens to you.

Jakes1967 • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 09:02 PM

While what happened to your friends is unfortunate, it is far and away the exception, not the rule.

Or the guys I'm working with, who is now 40K in debt due to his SO.

Another friend who lost his house and a whole string of army buddies whole got fleeced.

Or my brother who hasn't seen his son in decades, who is now so poisoned, it's a waste of time.

My half-brother who lost his house, children and almost his business...

There's plenty of exceptions, just live long enough.

Mysterious_Detail_62 • 3 points • 8 November, 2021 02:42 PM

You know what the sad part is ? Other women won't even empathize you when comes to that they mostly assume those guys deserve it or his fault.

Jakes1967 • 4 points • 8 November, 2021 09:20 PM

You know what the sad part is ? Other women won't even empathize you when comes to that they mostly assume those guys deserve it or his fault.

Absolutely, equality ends where responsibility begins.

RahLyt • 33 points • 7 November, 2021 03:32 AM

Lol I don't get how men are still the ones getting the manipulative label.

NiceGuyNumber4 • 15 points • 7 November, 2021 07:23 AM

Apex Fallacy.

flapperfemme fatale • 23 points • 7 November, 2021 04:00 AM

Depends on the man, obviously, but a lot of what I see with manosphere types is about manipulating women into fucking you.

RahLyt • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 04:02 AM

Can you give me an example? And a comparative one as in how to do it right.

flapperfemme fatale • 18 points • 7 November, 2021 04:07 AM

Stuff like withholding affection, letting it slip that other women are interested in you, etc

As for how to do it right? The fundamental issue is that (speaking for myself) I would never do something like that just to get a date (or sex). I stick with being myself, and if the guy turns away from that, I'd say I dodged a bullet. So, there is no "right way".*

If a guy doesn't have that same mentality and is more concerned with getting anything at all, I'd see that as a problem.

ilovepetya • 7 points • 7 November, 2021 11:17 PM

Stuff like withholding affection

So exactly what ALL women do. Ok

flapperfemme fatale • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 11:21 PM

Are you one of those men who confuses affection with sex? lol

ilovepetya • 5 points • 8 November, 2021 12:00 AM

No I'm explicitly referring to non sexual affection, like planning and paying for dates, physical intimacy, gift giving, caring for a partner when they're sick, etc.

flapperfemme fatale • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 12:30 AM

Then you pick some horrendous women

ilovepetya • 4 points • 8 November, 2021 04:02 AM

Or maybe most women just don't do those things lmfao

Mustbeaight • 7 points • 7 November, 2021 03:45 PM

You can afford to "be yourself" and "wait" because you're a woman. You have the luxury of guys coming to you. Most guys don't have the luxury of girls coming to them.

flapperfemme fatale • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 04:27 PM

The question is whether you're capable of being alone until you get exactly what you want. If you lack the willpower for that, that's not anyone else's fault.

Mustbeaight • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 04:29 PM

Like I said you can afford to keep your standards high and wait . We can't because if we do we are guaranteed to get nothing

flapperfemme fatale • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 04:30 PM

Then you'd rather settle. Which is your call, but it could just as easily not be.

Gabrielvrape • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 06:01 PM

I don't know why you say this when this does not apply to all men. It's pathetic and it's not attractive, that will make women want to avoid you more because she sees you have no options. Robert Greene explains this perfectly in 48 laws of power. Ignore what you can't have so it doesn't have power over you.

Mustbeaight • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 07:37 PM

Lol that's cool but what percentage of men do you think can afford to just wait? . It's cool but most men don't have many options to choose from

Gabrielvrape • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 07:50 PM

100% all men. It's better to have more respect for yourself than be with someone out of convenience because you get 0 women. You want to be a dancing monkey for someone who does even like you back?

RahLyt • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 04:18 AM

You touched a interesting one because I'm naturally like this. I literally can't be affectionate if I just had an argument with my SO for a good awhile. Does this makes me manipulative or just makes it me?

If girls won't have sex in the beginning of the relationship, consciously about it, unless the man checks certain marks ,is this manipulation or just good vetting?

You're talking about dreading, do you know when it is recommended to use dread?

Dapper_Art_8269 • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 07:37 AM

Same. I can't have sex when I'm angry and hurt. The last thing I want is to be touched when we argue.

flapperfemme fatale • 12 points • 7 November, 2021 04:30 AM

Does this makes me manipulative or just makes it me?

Are you doing it as punishment, or because of anger? I'll avoid my husband if I'm angry, but not because I'm doing it to hurt him. I do it for myself. How he feels about it is irrelevant.

is this manipulation or just good vetting?

Is she doing it to actually get him to change his behavior? The only reason I've ever made a guy wait is because I wanted to be sure that he was in the relationship for genuine reasons, not just to get laid.

do you know when it is recommended to use dread?

No.

RahLyt • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 05:25 AM

Are you doing it as punishment, or because of anger? I'll avoid my husband if I'm angry, but not because I'm doing it to hurt him. I do it for myself. How he feels about it is irrelevant.

Not necessarily anger, I just can't be vulnerable with someone I'm mad at. Especially when they never see fault in their behaviour.

Is she doing it to actually get him to change his behavior? The only reason I've ever made a guy wait is because I wanted to be sure that he was in the relationship for genuine reasons, not just to get laid.

Well there are girls who do it so he spends more or for him to commit.

No.

Usually when there are problems in the relationship. Is taking action always manipulative?

Orange_Paisley • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 11:20 AM

Dread game.

Individual-March8163 • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 11:15 AM

Lol the stereotype is that women are manipulative rather than men

MMAjambo[] • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 07:04 AM

Bro I was just walking home and had to run cause two guys pulled a knife on me, there are plenty of pieces of shit men out there and many of them are manipulative.

RahLyt • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 07:11 AM

That sounds like my teenage years. There's shitty men I 100% agree. But what does your example have to do with manipulation?

MMAjambo[] • 7 points • 7 November, 2021 07:53 AM

Those guys would 100% be willing to manipulate if they're willing to pull a knife

Upside is I guess they were looking for someone specific. They didn't chase me far, one of them asked me if I was so and so and I turned and said no then they just said "ok have a great night" (at 6am) so I mean, at least they're not just mindless thugs out trying to stab randos...yey

But still guys who stab randos do exist and you'd be a fool to think they're not manipulative pieces of shit to women too

DjangoUBlackBastard • 9 points • 7 November, 2021 08:26 AM

Those guys would 100% be willing to manipulate if they're willing to pull a knife

I'm guessing you don't know what manipulation means. Stabbing someone is very direct. Zero manipulation involved.

MMAjambo[] • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 08:59 AM

If you're willing to stab someone you're willing to manipulate someone.... You think the kinda dude who stabs people would be like "hmm I better not manipulate this girl because then I'd feel bad"

DjangoUBlackBastard • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 09:17 AM

I think you're making a lot of assumptions as someone that's non violent (I see MMA in the name but I know tons of guys that only fight in the gym) and doesn't know any violent people. Your propensity for violence unless it's past a certain point doesn't say all too much about your personality. Most people I know that are willing to be violent are actually great people and the exact type of people you'd want around you for any type of support.

MMAjambo[] • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 09:46 PM

Let me clarify, those specific guys maybe not

But I meant the people who stab randos, yes they'd be willing to manipulate someone and no they're not great people

RahLyt • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 10:54 PM

I'm not gonna lie I'm a bit lost. You know using that logic you could literally use any example you didn't like and add to those guys. Even if that was true, it would be confined to guys who stab randoms, which proves my point guys are not the manipulative gender.

MMAjambo[] • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 11:01 PM

I'll make it very simple

There are men that are pieces of shit and women that are pieces of shit

Pieces of shit don't care about morals

People without morals are willing to manipulate others to get what they want

Men who stab randos are not only willing to manipulate but they're willing to kill to get their way. So yes there are many men who manipulate women and the kinda guys who stabs randoms is the kinda guy who'd stab his girlfriend if she ever done something he didn't like

ilovepetya • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 11:18 PM

This didn't happen

MMAjambo[] • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 01:31 AM

If you live in a shit area it isn't that far fetched that while walking around in the dark with a hoodie you look like someone that someone doesn't like.

Stabbings aren't uncommon at all where I live

ilovepetya • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 11:17 PM

Lmfao cool story bro

Fichek • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 08:46 AM

You were walking home and two guys pulled a knife on you so you had to run because you were afraid you would be manipulated :D

MMAjambo[] • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 08:33 PM

The kinda guys who stab randoms (granted, not what they done) would be willing to manipulate

Unless you're all implying that men aren't skilled enough to manipulate or something. But those are the kinda dudes who'd stab their girl if she upset them so I'm sure that's manipulation of some kind

If you were only joking I apologise lmao

tiposk • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 03:32 AM

If people accepted what you say as true this sub wouldn't exist. Let's face it, discussing the life of harmless normies isn't fun.

John_Oakman • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 03:48 AM

Are the relevant people are evil though. Overall statistical trends and probability doesn't matter for those individual data points on the wrong side of those... and the majority of people here are the individual data points that are not covered by the majority.

In other words, it doesn't matter that the majority of people are non-evil, as most of the people here just happens to have negative experiences at the hands of the minority of evil people.

suberEE • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 11:12 AM

Based on my experiences, I concluded people are terrible in general. The whole gender war is just one aspect of how we're a terrible species.

Our treatment of the opposite gender is the equivalent of kids squishing bugs while joyfully laughing, just a bit more elaborate.

CFinCanada • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 10:05 PM

Yes.

flapperfemme fatale • 18 points • 7 November, 2021 03:50 AM

On an individual level, maybe. What shocked me more than the amount of sexual harassment and assault I've experienced since puberty is how many men have been willing to defend it.

343_peaches_and_tea • 2 points • 8 November, 2021 11:06 AM

First, before I say anything else. I completely agree with you. The number of men who downplay sexual assault and rape is disgusting.

However what I was shocked by has been the attitudes of women who I would have hoped to have been better.

When I was sexually assaulted by a guy who used to work for my mother. I told her only to be treated with silence and a quiet shuffle onto another topic.

There are several women here in the megathread claiming that rape against men by women isn't as bad as the opposite. One even likened being raped as a man to having your fingers sucked...

Rape is rape. Sexual violence against men isn't treated as seriously as the opposite and both men and women are definitely jointly responsible for perpetuating that idea.

[deleted] • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:03 AM

Why do you expect men to solve female problems?

flapperfemmefatale • 9 points • 7 November, 2021 04:07 AM

Not defending is the same as solving?

[deleted] • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 04:15 AM

You can defend (or not defend) anything you are not expected to treat as a problem to be solved.

flapperfemmefatale • 13 points • 7 November, 2021 04:17 AM

Then I can assume those men support sexual assault, correct?

[deleted] • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 04:20 AM

As long as you can assume women support male loneliness and suicide.

flapperfemmefatale • 14 points • 7 November, 2021 04:26 AM

Are there women defending male loneliness and suicide?

[deleted] • 10 points • 7 November, 2021 04:31 AM

Plenty. And plenty more are perfectly okay with it.

flapperfemmefatale • 12 points • 7 November, 2021 04:42 AM

Then judge them by all means.

[deleted] 7 November, 2021 04:48 AM

[permanently deleted]

Ecocavalry • -1 points • 7 November, 2021 04:21 AM

Only moral support not financial.

flapperfemmefatale • 11 points • 7 November, 2021 04:26 AM

... how does one financially support sexual assault? lol

Morelike-Borophyll • -2 points • 7 November, 2021 08:12 AM

Go to the movies, pay taxes, etc

burnshockingblue • 10 points • 7 November, 2021 05:02 AM

how is that a female problem? its a male problem.

[deleted] • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 05:54 AM

That's one way of looking at it. In your way, male loneliness would be a female problem.

burnshockingblue • 9 points • 7 November, 2021 05:58 AM so men should be allowed to rape because they are lonely?

Mustbeaight • 9 points • 7 November, 2021 03:49 PM

Twisted his words bravo

burnshockingblue • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 03:58 PM

Did not at all that's exactly what he was insinuating and he knows it he tried to twist my reasoning against me.

BassPotato • 0 points • 8 November, 2021 07:27 PM

Holy shit English can't be your first language lmao

burnshockingblue • 2 points • 9 November, 2021 12:42 AM

I love being gaslit <3

[deleted] • -8 points • 7 November, 2021 06:06 AM

Damn! Don't put it so crudely man.

burnshockingblue • 10 points • 7 November, 2021 06:10 AM

you're absurd

FabulousFuchsbau • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 08:07 AM

Welcome to PPD that's half the people here

Individual-March8163 • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 11:16 AM

No?

Mustbeaight • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 03:49 PM

No it ain't

burnshockingblue • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 03:50 PM

it's a problem for women's as the victim of it and men as the perpetrators women can't stop sexual assault

Mustbeaight • -1 points • 7 November, 2021 04:19 PM

Lol it's a problem for the few men who rape and women. Ain't got nothing to do with the rest of us men who don't.

burnshockingblue • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:22 PM

Except it absolutely does you all benefit from it

Mustbeaight • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 04:25 PM

Lol please tell me how I benefit from women getting raped or not raped

burnshockingblue • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:29 PM

Here's an example , it's not the only one.

A woman is abused as a child from that abuse she becomes docile and submissive,

less sexual boundaries

From this grown men sexualize her daddy issues and take advantage of her sexually without ever having to physically r word her, because she already has been broken down.

Multiple men are benefiting from the actions of the bad man.

Mysterious_Detail_62 • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:39 PM

Wait what ?

Mustbeaight • -1 points • 7 November, 2021 04:35 PM

Lol this is just incredibly stupid. What? By your logic we can charge all those men of rape because something happened to her in her past? Who's fault is it she got weak boundaries? If she consented to sex then it is what it is gothplastic • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 06:37 PM

because all you need to do to be seen as a good person is not be a rapist aka the bare minimum

Mustbeaight • -1 points • 7 November, 2021 07:39 PM

I could say the same for anything. All you need to be seen as a god person is to not shoot up a school aka the bare minimum. Does that mean you benefit from school shootings?

Mysterious_Detail_62 • -1 points • 7 November, 2021 04:33 PM

Wait what ??? Men who don't rape don't benefit from at all we get labeled all the same even if we don't do anything wrong.

gothplastic • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 06:34 PM

no, men who actually respect women's boundaries are called saints for doing the bare fucking minimum. because so many other men rape.

Mysterious_Detail_62 • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 08:09 PM

Nope only a small percentage of men rape. Men who respect women still get craped on by feminists like you because.

NotGoingoutofMW • -2 points • 7 November, 2021 10:43 AM

As that these days the bar of being sexual harassed is so low that any blink, wrong stare or the wrong tone qualifies as making the women uncomfortable and as sexual harassments and the amount of wrong accusations making questioning these "harassments" legit. Then add neuroticism into the mix where all this bad things only happen in their heads and suddenly you can't know what the fuck is going on now.

The real problem are the women crying about nothing watering down the problems of real victims.

Note: I don't judge you and your experiences since i can't know but just explain why men are "defending" it.

flapperfemme fatale • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 02:59 PM

No, the real problem is men who care more about whether something is legal than whether it's harming women. All you're doing is describing men who would do a LOT more of they could get away with it.

Mustbeaight • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 03:51 PM

You don't care about what harms men. Why tf should we care what harms you

flapperfemmefatale • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:31 PM

I care about men who I think are good. That's not all of you

Mustbeaight • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 04:39 PM

Sure. I also care about women who I think are good which is not most of you. Just like you don't care what happens to men who you consider "bad" I also don't care what harm comes to women which I consider "bad"

flapperfemmefatale • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 04:40 PM

Great. So what's the problem?

Mustbeaight • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 04:46 PM

You're the one who complained about men not caring what harms women

flapperfemmefatale • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 05:05 PM

No, I complained about men defending sexual assault.

D4sthian • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 09:01 PM

men who care more about whether something is legal than whether it's harming women

Taken from your fucking comment, nothing about sexual assault.

Now, if you can't answer his question that's fine, but stop making an ass of yourself.

NotGoingoutofMW • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 08:15 PM

No, the real problem is men who care more about whether something is legal than whether it's harming women.

As said a huge chunk of it is just women neurotic brains going overdrive because it was feed with false statistics and men are bad narratives. What ever a glance or one comment is harmful is on the women. Only the cases where a women was threatened or there was explicity touched you can consider harmful.

All you're doing is describing men who would do a LOT more of they could get away with it.

That's just what you think WOULD be IF men COULD get away with it. But i rather citate all the false rape accusations where the women ALWAYS get's away with it.

flapperfemmefatale • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 08:58 PM

Imagine thinking being raped or assaulted is less horrible than a false accusation...

NotGoingoutofMW • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 09:33 PM

Oh yeah imagine having your career and social life completely destroyed aswell as being forced to move far away. And the best part is you have zero open support.

flapperfemmfatale • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 09:34 PM

My first assault was when I was 12. A man stuck his hand up my skirt while I was in the toy section at Walmart. But yes, tell me more about your social life /s

NotGoingoutofMW • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 10:09 PM

Oh back to your own anecdotal evidence again that i counter with that one guy from my university who got expelled because a girl accused him of rape after they hooked up (with consent) at a party.

I guess we can circle around for ever but one fact will remain that women get away with way more shit.

flapperfemmfatale • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 10:24 PM

And if that makes you defend sexual assault, you're beyond broken

quiturbitchn • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 02:03 PM

Men defend the fact I was propositioned as a fucking child. I was 12 when I was first catcalled and I was a late bloomer so at the time there wasn't anything there. Most men are just unbelievably unaware of the amount of sexual commentary and harassment women receive regularly

NotGoingoutofMW • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 07:56 PM

And boys have to hear how men are all trash und how they should apologized in advance for future raping they might be doing in the future. And everytime they don't act and behave like girls they are getting scolded for being toxic and oppressive. And they are also never getting words of encouragement but only orders of how they are allowed to behave.

quiturbitchn • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 07:58 PM

No one actually expects that. It's also incredibly different than be sexually propositioned regularly. Being sexually vulgar should be scolded.

BMTEJ • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 05:32 AM

Duh, only neurotic, sociopathic, incompetent people are on reddit.. Okay, that's just me describing me, but I do believe the internet is one big echo chamber, so of course you're going to get a bunch of hard leaning views.

FabulousFuchsbau • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 08:15 AM

Reddit (specifically TRP, FDS, and this sub) has this idea that the opposite sex is incredibly toxic towards each other. This isn't true in real life.

cue Red Pillers and FDSers flying into shrieking rage

SylvesterTalone • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 05:27 PM

Population phenomena cannot be discussed without generalizing. In any case, all that is really discussed here is the effect that the descent of the West into an atomized, low trust, low social capital foyer has on the dating market. Unsurprisingly, this is the same effect it has on every other facet of society; more and more people engaging in exploitative and rent seeking behaviours, more scams, more angles overall. Of course it's not everyone, but it doesn't actually take that many liars to destroy the trust within a group, it doesn't take anywhere near 50%. Relatively few exploiters and free riders are needed within a system before it becomes impossible to be effectively unselfish.

WhistlerEscalator • 1 point • 30 November, 2021 12:24 PM

very insightful comment

Drayenn • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 02:17 PM

Ive been subbed here for two or three weeks out of curiosity. I feel like i just read comments disconnected from reality nonstop.

Hilarial • 2 points • 9 November, 2021 09:58 PM

Fucking same, I am tripping balls looking at this shit. Does any productive conversation happen on this sub? Man or woman, the people here are so invested in pseudo social science addressing vast majorities of demographics, when 95% of people aren't even entertaining these redditor ideologies.

Suitable-Law-6763 • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 06:03 PM

tbf that's mostly from the women on this subreddit. Idk how you missed all the topics about the 80/20 rule, and in what way that's disconnected from reality.

decoy88 • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 10:16 PM

Is this comment satire? Because talking about 80/20 is exactly the disconnect from reality I see all the time.

Suitable-Law-6763 • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 10:46 PM

the dating market got changed a lot by the 80/20 rule and female selectivity, clearly.

decoy88 • 2 points • 8 November, 2021 06:31 AM

Disconnected from reality Exhibit A.

Wildhouse83 • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 12:14 PM

There used to be times were men and women entered into relationships with mutual benefit. Today, women expect traditional relationships with traditional men but refuse to be traditional women. They demand provision and protection but refuse to give sex. They want to be married (after the carousel when the biological clock is ticking) but not be wives. The list goes on...

hadesloki2000 • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 02:12 PM

On the other side of this I could argue that men are just as hypocritical (at least on this sub!) They want a woman to stay home and look after the family but not be financially reliant on them. They want a woman to be a virgin or as close to as possible but not make them wait for sex. The list goes on.....

LAndLight2 • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:36 PM

No. Most men here arent trads who dont want a woman to work.

Most men here do look for a low N count women though yes.

Wildhouse83 • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 02:49 PM

This is not true. Most men have no problem if the woman is working and contributing to the household income. They are also willing to share the housework, they are only afraid that the woman loses respect when she sees the man e.g. cleaning.

Further, it is absolutely ok to wait for sex but only if the woman is a quality woman who does not give sex away without being in an LTR. Unfortunately most modern women make the man wait only if they are not attracted to him and he is considered "husband material". While simultaneously having their fun without waiting with fuckboys.

mandoa_sky • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 05:18 AM or you know just step back and bring a tub of popcorn with you when reading this sub ;)

No-Improvement-8205 • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 07:31 AM

This sub is indeed a good time killer. Don't know what to do? Come look at people getting mad at each other over some semi wonky research that have been shared about something

FabulousFuchsbau • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 08:14 AM

It's like watching hyenas and lions fighting and complain about who's the biggest meanie

_feedback_blasting_ • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 02:49 PM

Women don't only "chase chad" and all that other shit.

Maybe not so much in the real world, but with regard OLD, this is absolutely true. The next part is where, very disappointedly, they reluctantly settle for a more realistic looksmatch.

LillthOfBabylon • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 03:52 AM

Well, socially inept losers love to generalize and to blame other people for their personal failures. Look at politics.

"THEY STOLE OUR JOBS!"

"My privileged Western ass is oppressed and that's why I'm a loser!"

[deleted] • 15 points • 7 November, 2021 04:44 AM

"Today a guy held a door open for me. I can't stand this patriarchal oppression anymore!"

burnshockingblue • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 05:10 AM

"Today I held the door open for a woman and she didn't have sex with me!? I can't stand the chad cock hungry shallow feminist b!tches anymore."

[deleted] • 7 points • 7 November, 2021 05:16 AM

As if men wanted to have sex with every woman they have held the door open for.

burnshockingblue • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 05:25 AM

Oh sorry I was just doing a hyperbole like you

Tobinaor • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 07:18 AM

Well, I haven't heard anyone argue getting laid off opening a door. I have heard women not willing to admit men can be just as toxic and bitter as radfems.

Sekina7 • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 03:23 AM

The majority of women having experienced some form of sexual harassment at best and sexual abuse at worst says different .

Tobinaor • 16 points • 7 November, 2021 07:31 AM

It is such a minority of men who rape. It's so weird how the same women will get mad about generalizing a whole race or anything. If I get scared of x race coming towards me, I'm a racist. If you get scared of a man, you're... not a sexist.

Yes, it is 100% that of the time you're assaulted or harassed it was a man. 100% of 0.0001% of men. You pass plenty of men who didn't do shit. In fact, the ones who didn't do shit are the ones who heard you and are probably now afraid to startle you in any way. The rapist doesn't care about the movement or campaign you started. They continue on raping and it's not because of a joke.

You move the goalpost to make it seem like me just having a penis and standing there is supporting rape.

I don't care if women were mistreated in the past. I didn't do shit to any of you. Stop being hypocrites and generalizing. You don't get to say oh but you're scared. Maybe racists should just say they're scared and you can't blame them.

-Giga- • -2 points • 7 November, 2021 05:39 PM

The "minority" of men rape yet were responsible if we get raped. Being raped isn't uncommon. Sexual assault isn't uncommon. Violence, stalking, rape isn't uncommon.

So despite us being at risk and despite you seeing the lives affected, the stats, the way there is a sliding scale of danger for women, you want us to look over this

No. The fact that you dismiss extremely violent concerns about our safety when all girls around the world are warned about men growing up bc of how men are PROVES that it's not just the "minority" of cold blooded rapists we need to worry about. Because after everything I mentioned are the men like you who assert its not a problem.

Reality doesn't reconcile with your romantization of the male sex.

And btw we didn't do shit to your either. You're just mad because we've been forced to be careful and not fling ourselves at you with trust when you speak as heartlessly as the men we are avoiding. You get to enjoy all the perks so until proven innocent, you get generalized on Reddit like everyone else. No one knows you here.

Disposition11 • 12 points • 7 November, 2021 03:34 AM

The question one should ask is whether sexual harassment and abuse is perpetuated by the majority of men, since the majority of women have experienced it. Or is it a small minority of men who are repeat, lifetime offenders?

My money is on the latter, but unfortunately there is no simple way to distinguish these men, other than the most obvious cases. Historically, the the solutions societies offered severely restricted women's freedom and movement; just take a look at conservative Muslim societies today. So what are women to do? What are men who don't abuse women to do?

NotGoingoutofMW • 10 points • 7 November, 2021 10:47 AM

In reality sexual abuse and harassment is determined subjectively by the women herself and that even in retrospective. Obviously with the narrative these days they label even the slightest discomfort as sexual abuse or harassment.

Im_The_Daiquiri_Man • 21 points • 7 November, 2021 03:44 AM

This is why women invent shit like “rape culture”

It lets them put all men on the hook for whatever the few douchebags do (many of whom are acting that way because many women fuck them regardless of their behavior if they are hot)

Women then get to turn their fury on the meek nerd who made a “problematic” joke as if he’s the one cat calling or grabbing their ass at a bar.

RahLyt • 12 points • 7 November, 2021 04:03 AM

They love to attack what they consider weak men.

flapperfemme fatale • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 04:03 AM

Men behaving shittier than other men doesn't get the other men off the hook for their own shitty behavior.

And in my experience, the men who doth protest too much have likely done some horrendous shit.

[deleted] • 10 points • 7 November, 2021 04:47 AM

That's like saying the women who protests too much about standards likely to have pushed average looking sexless men to incelism or suicide.

flapperfemme fatale • 11 points • 7 November, 2021 04:51 AM

If you're asking me to feel sorry for men who'd kill themselves over not getting laid, that's not going to happen lol

[deleted] • 7 points • 7 November, 2021 04:55 AM

I'm not asking that. But if you are asking me to feel guilty because a loser can't defend her own person, that's not going to happen lol.

flapperfemme fatale • 7 points • 7 November, 2021 04:59 AM

Who said anything about guilt? Or are you one of those people who lacks ethics?

[deleted] • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 05:06 AM

Who said anything about feeling sorry? Or are you one of those people who lacks empathy?

flapperfemme fatale • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 05:14 AM

I lose empathy when their proposed solution is that women should be obligated to have sex with them. No one is entitled to sex.

EDIT: also, when their solution to feeling lonely is sex. If you're lonely, make friends. They confuse loneliness with horniness.

Mustbeaight • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 03:56 PM

Damn you are clapped. You literally said you don't care about men but when he says the same thing about women now he's the one who lacks ethics

Mysterious_Detail_62 • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 03:14 PM

If you ask me to feel sympathy for feminists who do nothing but call men are trash that not going to happen lol

flapperfemmefatale • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 03:34 PM

I'm not one for proselytizing. A guy who is anti-feminist is a lost cause as far as I'm concerned. Same category as anti-vaxxers and flat earthers.

Mustbeaight • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 03:58 PM

Lost cause ? Lol.. most men are not feminists

You are not apt to have any public discourse. Extremist behavior

flapperfemmefatale • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 04:25 PM

Most men in my social circle are feminists. That's why it's extremely easy to dismiss the rest of you. Why should I give you more respect than you give me?

Mysterious_Detail_62 • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 04:16 PM

Exactly why should men care if this how they talk crap about us constantly ?

Sarkbee • 11 points • 7 November, 2021 03:43 AM

No mention of how men experience it at similar rates of course. Can't say I'm surprised!

snowcakey • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 04:37 AM

I absolutely LOVE how men ONLY ever talk about male rape victims when they want to derail and detract ongoing conversations about women's issues. So genuine.

Sarkbee • 6 points • 7 November, 2021 05:39 AM

This claim must be true in order to fit your narrative, so you want to believe it. Again, not surprised!

snowcakey • -4 points • 7 November, 2021 04:09 PM

You literally JUST did this yourself. Again, not surprised at the poor logic of beta males though.

Sarkbee • 7 points • 7 November, 2021 04:12 PM* literally

♀

poor logic of beta males

Shaming. Classic tactic. "You're a beta male if you disagree with me"

DjangoUBlackBastard • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 08:32 AM

I used to post on leftwingmaleadvocates (they're pretty damn racist as a mod team so I stopped posting there) and you would've been right 5 years ago saying this but the MRA movement has moved beyond right-wing chuds at this point.

But yeah when it popped up it was more about screwing over women than helping men. It's not like that anymore though.

As far as male rape and assault victims go it's an issue but men are too busy trying to be taken serious to even get off the ground with any type of movement. When feminism benefits men at the top and an additional 51% of the population it's tough to get the word out. Especially when many men aren't necessarily concerned with egalitarianism because most men learn very early no one cares about them, their excuses, and that putting your head down and working is the way.

Individual-March8163 • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 11:21 AM

What are you on about? It's just about men's issues. Please give any examples of them "screwing over women".

Mustbeaight • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 04:02 PM

He's clueless like Ole Gunnar Solsjaer

Individual-March8163 • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 07:14 PM

Wasn't expecting an Ole reference in here of all places ☐

Mustbeaight • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 07:41 PM

Lol I'm sick of that fraud.

Individual-March8163 • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 09:42 PM

Please keep him until you play us at least ☐, (Arsenal fan)

Mustbeaight • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 02:27 AM

I'm not even a Man U fan but Old drives me nuts lol. I'm in Real Madrid we're chilling rn

Individual-March8163 • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 11:20 AM

No it's to show this isn't as gendered as a problem, and it's rather a human issue than a a women's one so you can't blame one gender for it.

And you've admitted that you've never bothered to look at men talk about their issues on it's own by saying you only see it when you're talking about women's issues. There's plenty of subs where men talk about that on it's own if you're bothered.

Mysterious_Detail_62 • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 03:13 PM

False men talk male rape victims on Leftwing male advocates and men rights.

Special-Armadillo-99 • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 03:51 AM

Anecdotes aren't really reliable.

Ecocavalry • 9 points • 7 November, 2021 04:23 AM

Her body her problem.

Tobinaor • 10 points • 7 November, 2021 07:45 AM

Women are strong and independent. Gender roles don't exist. They could stop being dainty. They should be the ones conceal carrying and getting muscled up.

Part of being a man is preparing yourself for the world alone. Women wanted in on that. You can't just ask for one thing. You get it all.

They are not our responsibility. We no longer need to provide (they have jobs now) and no longer need to protect. They no longer need to cook or clean.

Accept modernism. Equality at all costs.

-Giga- • -3 points • 7 November, 2021 06:04 PM

My my.

Now if it isn't the same guy higher in the thread who was super upset about generalizations and distrust agreeing with a misogynists about how its women's problem only when they get raped.

I'm happy to see the frustration in your comment here. It's not only the hypocrisy or the false equivalencies. It's the anguish.

Keep perpetuating the shit that makes women behave in the way you dislike. That'll really show us!

Anyways, "not all men" strikes again ☐

[deleted] • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 04:01 AM

If they can't stand up for themselves when they encounter creeps, that's their problem.

FabulousFuchsbau • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 08:13 AM

I have, luckily I didn't actually have to use my .38 but I've pulled it out a few times and made it clear I wasn't pulling it out to bluff.

Illustrious_Wish_383 • 2 points • 8 November, 2021 10:11 AM

The side supporting feminism hates civilian gun ownership though

FabulousFuchsbau • 1 point • 9 November, 2021 02:56 AM

Good thing I don't support them either

[deleted] • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 09:48 AM

Use it or don't use it. The point is it's not our problem.

FabulousFuchsbau • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 04:07 PM*

The point is it's not our problem.

Don't flatter yourself. What makes you think I expect anything out of people? Especially a sub-group that doesn't even think I'm a human being?

[deleted] • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 04:12 PM

I'm not flattering myself. I'm just explaining my point since your reply indicated that you misunderstood me.

FabulousFuchsbau • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 04:19 PM

I'm not flattering myself.

Sure.

I'm just explaining my point since your reply indicated that you misunderstood me.

No you just think I expect men like you to what, be human and empathetic? That is a naïve way of thinking and says more about your arrogance.

[deleted] • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 04:20 PM

Heh what okay

FabulousFuchsbau • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 04:25 PM

If you're having trouble read it again, but don't expect me to highlight everything for you.

[deleted] • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:26 PM

You're funny

Fichek • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 09:47 AM

No you just think I expect men like you to what, be human and empathetic?

The empathy given is the empathy received.

FabulousFuchsbau • 1 point • 9 November, 2021 02:57 AM

I don't think empathy is a part of the Red Pill, for anyone or towards anyone

TheHeroReditDeserves • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 07:41 PM

I bet that guy got polite real quick.

FabulousFuchsbau • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 01:05 AM

Well he suddenly had no reason to be following me while I was hiking

TheHeroReditDeserves • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 01:09 AM sleeping could not have been fun.

snowcakey • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 04:41 AM

Look how rattled all the beta males are because of this comment. Like wtf how fragile do you have to be to get pissy over the fact that women face sexual harassment en masse?

Mustbeaight • 8 points • 7 November, 2021 04:00 PM

Shaming language. Learn to get your point across without personal attacks

Master-Edward-3 • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 07:17 PM

Well I figured there was specific reached I.Q. level to be enabled to do that usually.

Tobinaor • 13 points • 7 November, 2021 07:40 AM

By a very small minority of men... I'm gonna get pissed the same way any race gets mad when labeled/generalized/blamed for simply being a man. I didn't rape anyone so they can fuck off if they wanna make it seem like everyone is just congratulating rapists.

Here's another stat. 99.9% of the people who protect the country, investigate crimes, find justice, put out fires, provide security at night, are men. So yeah, if I'm gonna take blame, I want the blame for these too. I'm a rapist apparently so I'm a hero too then by that logic.

Two black kids broke into my home holding some of my stuff in their hands. They ran out when they saw me.

"100% of the people who broke into my property are black." Do I blame the other millions of blacks for this? No.

snowcakey • -2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:07 PM

You must not be good at reading if this is the wild conclusion you oddly jumped to. Point to where anyone in this thread is blaming ALL MEN.

[deleted] • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 06:22 AM

If women face sexual harassment en masse, it sounds like they are the beta who are too fragile to stand up for themselves.

[deleted] 7 November, 2021 04:09 PM

[permanently deleted]

[deleted] 7 November, 2021 04:13 PM

[permanently deleted]

wtknight[M] • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 09:34 PM

No personal attacks

wtknight[M] • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 09:33 PM

Don't make things personal.

_feedback_blasting_ • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 04:47 PM en masse?

I think you can make a compelling argument that they are significantly exaggerated the amount of harassments they receive. Granted, I'm middle class suburban guy however I never even once personally observed it myself. And, between my sisters and my S.O and female friends, I've never even once heard of it happening to them. Yes, course, it still happens, but from the responses from women of Reddit, you would think they live in a zombie apocalypse with the amount of terror they go through on an hourly basis.

snowcakey • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 05:54 PM

As a male living in middle class suburbia, I have never experienced sexual harassment from other males, therefore all women are lying.

Lmao ok nigel thanks for the input

-Giga- • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 05:51 PM

Granted, I'm middle class suburban guy however I never even once personally observed it myself.

How tf are people, especially women, supposed to take you seriously? The data is already out there but sure, the classic Reddit cliché of an out of touch male who has never "personally" seen it is law so naturally, dismiss what millions of women are saying

After all, we all know that most sexual assault and rape happens in the open when similarly aloof suburban guys are watching.

but from the responses from women of Reddit, you would think they live in a zombie apocalypse with the amount of terror they go through on an hourly basis.

Yeah, we're all volunteering fake information to stress you out

This comment here is a perfect example as to how men being the problem isn't limited to the "tiny percent of hardcore rapists" life that goofy commenter above said.

Men inflict the issues, excuse the issues, and deny the issue. Bc until its the bodies of their very own loved one, it's just the fiction of "the zombie apocalypse"

□

_feedback_blasting_ • 2 points • 8 November, 2021 02:18 PM

Yeah, we're all volunteering fake information to stress you out

No, not "fake" but definitely exaggerated. Something that happened once in 9th grade that really was just classic bullying becomes a huge post about "women can't even leave the house without receiving some type of sexual assault" hyperbole

kittenated • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 12:20 PM*

I'm going to summarize the responses you hear from men in regard to this subject with the following quote from Pauline Harmange:

'Strangely, not many men actually stop to wonder why feminists dislike them so much – if they did they might notice the statistics are quite damning. But they're too busy explaining to us that they're not like that, that it's really not nice to generalise like that. And if we alienate them with all that talk of men are trash, the risk is they won't join in and help us in our struggle. As if we were incapable of organising our struggle without them, as if we haven't been doing precisely that for years – and as if, when they invited themselves into our ranks to join the struggle, they didn't always end up taking over, talking over us and even imposing their decisions on us while they were about it.'

It's crazy how much of this is mirrored almost verbatim in responses from men here. Oh no, look us us crazy women, generalizing all men for the actions of some!

If we speak up about how many of us have been raped and harassed, look at how the nice, non-offending men respond - it's a small minority of men who do that stuff so I suppose we should all just be quiet and stop pretending to be victims! :)

It's another way of saying "Rape is not a crime, because women aren't people."

fnonpm • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 02:28 PM

Let me pull up my rape list to see if you're on it to warrant the death stares and bad attitudes I'm getting

Mysterious_Detail_62 • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 03:11 PM

Personally don't care why feminists hate us men all I know I don't care about changing myself to please them.

Mustbeaight • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 04:10 PM

Lol misandrist bullshit.

“Strangely, not many black people actually stop to wonder why white people dislike them so much, we dislike blacks because we have very good reasons to” I hope you agree with this quote too because it’s the same exact bullshit you posted but in different terms

And that Pauline bitch is so stupid is crazy. The people who quote her unironically are just as dumb. No logic just vibes

-Giga- • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 06:00 PM

This racist tactic doesn't work on everyone here especially bc it doesn't make sense.

But I will tell you what does make sense

The complete dismissal of "misandry" accusations from misogynist. Not that it matters anyway since lol who gives a shit

"Women talking about the things men do are misaaaaannndrists"

Lol okay and? Failed MRA logic forgets that playing SJW effectively requires a sympathetic party, not the one inflicting harm crying foul because people rightfully reject their behavior. Lol

kittenated • -4 points • 7 November, 2021 04:18 PM

Woman observing male behavior is "crazy".

The men in the comments of this thread are doing precisely what she said.

Mustbeaight • 5 points • 7 November, 2021 04:22 PM

Do you ever stop to wonder why some guys hate women too?

kittenated • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 04:23 PM

Yes I do, frequently.

Feminism and men's rights interest me both equally.

Mustbeaight • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 04:26 PM

And why do you think some men hate women then? Because they’re misogynistic assholes right?

kittenated • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 04:30 PM

The hatred of women is literally the dictionary definition of misogyny.

Mustbeaight • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 04:37 PM

Exactly then I can say that you and your Pauline bla-bla-bla are both sexist anti men misandrist assholes no matter how hard you wanna justify your hatred for men.

kittenated • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 04:39 PM

Pauline is a self-identified misandrist.

You appear to be a self-identified misogynist.

shrug Meh. If, by your logic, her misandry discredits what she has to say, then your misogyny should also discredit anything you have to say too.

Mysterious_Detail_62 • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:23 PM

No we think you're crazy because you believe this is automatically Male behavior which isn't by that way. Generalise all men and expect them to help you won't make them care.

goochiegg • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 05:16 AM

Lmao that sucks buddy

heyitsjeape • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 03:39 AM

I don't think many people are "evil" - although my experience dating online leads me to believe there are a lot of bad faith actors - but there is so little known about the other party from both ends. I don't have very much understanding of females and who they are and they have very little understanding of me and who I am. I'd love to learn but females don't appear to share that feeling, unfortunately.

kyjolski • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 04:39 AM

It has this idea because the large amount of users have some kind of deficiency that makes them angry and it's nice to shift the blame online from the comfort of your own home and anonymity.

Yes, this includes myself, but I'm trying to limit the sour grapes, and have enough self-awareness to realize that it's more likely some problem with myself (which doesn't define my worth as a person) and not the entire rest of the world around me.

Though, to be fair, there is definitely a cultural shift caused by many factors that seems to be making dating a shitty ordeal for an increasing number of people, and there's plenty of data to back that up (i.e. sexlessness statistics).

In short: most of us are fuckups in one way or another and trying to make sense of an increasingly fucked up world. Sometimes it's a bit too toxic and exaggerated because people are emotional creatures.

SaBahRub • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 09:16 AM

No, but our sexualities are in conflict and need to be tempered like any other selfish desire, which of course causes crime, whining and unhappiness

girlindolor • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 03:45 PM*

And what is women's sexuality according to you? Do you think women's ideal case scenario is fucking young hot Chads with ease for the rest of their lives if they could, which is male sexuality?

SaBahRub • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 04:36 PM

It's been pretty well established here: "the best" (female) versus "as many as possible" (male)

These are both legitimate drives, and are totally incompatible

Thus, the human condition. Time to write some poetry and lament!

poppy_blu • 3 points • 7 November, 2021 04:42 AM

Of course. It's all about blaming others for their own failures and unwillingness to do anything to make their lives better.

S0mnariumx • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 11:09 PM

Women on average are nice to me. The one's that have been evil towards me are exceptionally bad so yeah I definitely have some bias

PM-ME-BIG-TITS9235 • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 12:30 AM

TL;DR: Touch grass

WheelIntelligent1354 • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 01:48 PM

Generalizing is how you discuss people, or else you can always say "but im different".

ruboyuri • 1 point • 8 November, 2021 03:17 PM

Having antagonistic sex/reproduction goals is not a state of “evil”

DerekMorganBAU • 1 point • 9 November, 2021 01:24 AM

This prob will be buried anyways but if it's not oh well but....

I'm pretty much everything every parent warns their daughter about so...yea be vigilant ☐

xFallacyx69 • 1 point • 9 November, 2021 01:34 PM

That's why I look at the sidebar not the psychopaths telling me what they think the sidebar means

MBTHVSK • 1 point • 10 November, 2021 09:53 PM

Most people who hate on other people are just overblowing it because they think that the least bad of the people they hate are just mysteriously shitty and immune to positive change. The people you think you can change being so close but so far turns you into a crusader of rage.

Zerofication • 1 point • 18 November, 2021 03:50 AM*

All social sciences rely on vast generalizations. Women "tend" to chase after chads, and that's why they "tend" to have more experiences with manipulative men because that's the kind of men they keep choosing. Why they keep choosing these men? Because they blindly follow what they feel, like little children who prefer candies over veggie's even if it's unhealthy. Women have more in common with children than men to take better care of them. What do women have in common with children? Being naturally hedonistic with inferior ability to reason.

AutoModerator[M] • 0 points • 7 November, 2021 01:08 AM

Attention!

You can post off topic/jokes/puns as a comment to this Automoderator message.

For "CMV" and "Question for X" Threads: Parent comments that aren't from the target group will be removed, along with their child replies.

If you want to agree with OP instead of challenging their view or if the question is not targeted at you, post it as an answer to this comment.

OP you can choose your own flair according to these guidelines., just press Flair under your post!

Thanks for your cooperation and enjoy the discussion!

I am a bot, and this action was performed automatically. Please contact the moderators of this subreddit if you have any questions or concerns.

CimZim • 4 points • 7 November, 2021 07:10 AM

Can't change your mind because I agree with you.

This sub is an endless font of debate and entertainment, but only about 10% of it reflects anything I've encountered in all my various relationships with male friends, sex partner, coworkers, classmates, etc. I don't think the majority of humans are evil, just like the majority aren't good either. Most are neutral/apathetic towards others.

Tobinaor • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 07:49 AM

I think this stuff exists when problems arise. Of course we're not talking about it face to face. If I talk long enough to anyone and kinda lead the conversation, they'll say what red pillers or fdsers say all the time. They can form their own conclusions from the majority of stories out there.

Ask a man about divorce. Ask a woman about just being a housewife. They just don't actively think about it or engage in it as much as we do.

CimZim • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 07:53 AM

If I talk long enough to anyone and kinda lead the conversation, they'll say what red pillers or fdsers say all the time.

Really? I've never had that happen unless the person is already leaning that way. Most guys I talk to and am friends with aren't red though, they identify as feminists or egalitarians. Maybe that's the difference?

DjangoUBlackBastard • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 08:35 AM*

If you self select for the very small percentage of men that identify as feminists that'll make a difference. Idk any man that identifies as RP but every man I know is clearly RP and every man that taught me about women growing up repeated things I later learned were typically RP things (with a few changes).

Either way over 50% of relationships don't work out (to be more correct only about 5-10% of relationships work out). If you know a lot of people with great relationship history and no one with bad ex BF's and GF's you aren't the norm and neither are the people you hang out with.

I'm 27 and outside of me, and 2 married friends idk any man within 2 years of me in a healthy relationship. A few of them it's on the men, some it's on the women, most are not having any success with women at all. And these are all men in decent shape (actually the only pit of shape ones is one of the married ones and one of my gay friends that has zero dating issues), with good jobs, and more than anything else good character.

Someone from a rural area, or another country (most posters here from the US are flat out trolling) would have a different experience than me though. The city I'm in is super unbalanced with single women outnumbering single men by far, so that probably changes things too.

CimZim • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 09:14 AM

I don't self select for feminist male friends, especially since I don't agree with much of modern feminism. I'm egalitarian/purple...raised red and rejected 80% of it...have guyfriends who are mainly blue and I disagree with a bunch of what they say too. Thank the fucking stars my FWB is egalitarian like me, I wouldn't be able to stand him if he was red or blue.

Yeah, it's interesting that my guyfriends don't tend to have bad relationships and are either very happily/moderately happily married or in good committed relationships but only a very few guyfriends have bad luck with women or horrible exes. I haven't had female friends for a number of years, but when I did they tended to be the opposite/flipped ratios. I have no idea why. The only thing consistent about all of us is we are gamers/nerds, and either white or Asian...everything else is incredibly diverse. Education, careers, age, background, political party, income, is all over the place.

(most posters here from the US are flat out trolling)

What do you mean?

Someone from a rural area

Yeah, I live in a rural area and always have since I was 20. Before that I grew up in low upper class suburbia.

DjangoUBlackBastard • 1 point • 7 November, 2021 09:27 AM

Self selecting doesn't have to be conscious. It can be as simple as you liking to be around certain personality traits and those traits being heavily associated with certain beliefs and behaviors.

I haven't had female friends for a number of years, but when I did they tended to be the opposite/flipped ratios. I have no idea why.

I'd guess considering you don't have female friends anymore that's because the type of women you were around weren't super similar to the men personality wise and maybe that's also why you don't hang out with any like that?

What do you mean?

I think most posters on here from the US don't believe even a little of what they type and they mostly come here to troll and start arguments and issues. I've definitely seen some guys do it and I'm sure as you're one of the few sincere posters around here you've been in plenty of discussions where you've noticed the energy of the other poster is off. And I don't mean in a "he's kinda rude" way like my energy can probably come off at times but I mean in a "I really hope nothing this person is saying is true and that they are not only currently single but will always be single."

Yeah, I live in a rural area and always have since I was 20. Before that I grew up in low upper class suburbia.

Yep. So your experiences make more sense knowing this info. Including how few women you're around (IDK the current numbers but I do know women are like 25% more likely than men to move out of their hometowns and towards major cities). If you're in a rural area relationships are totally different. I live in a metro area of a commuter city and coming across someone with good values and character is incredibly rare.

CimZim • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 09:37 AM

Self selecting doesn't have to be conscious. It can be as simple as you liking to be around certain personality traits and those traits being heavily associated with certain beliefs and behaviors.

Fair enough.

I'd guess considering you don't have female friends anymore that's because the type of women you were around weren't super similar to the men personality wise and maybe that's also why you don't hang out with any like that?

To a certain extent, yes. Some simply stopped hanging out with us because they didn't mesh well with the gaming group, or wanted different rules made that nobody else wanted. For the most part though, they moved and we just haven't had new women join our group. As you pointed out, women are more likely to move away. It could be due to men in general having smaller social circles and somewhat harder times making new friends.

I've definitely seen some guys do it and I'm sure as you're one of the few sincere posters around here you've been in plenty of discussions where you've noticed the energy of the other poster is off. And I don't mean in a "he's kinda rude" way like my energy can probably come off at times but I mean in a "I really hope nothing this person is saying is true and that they are not only currently single but will always be single."

Oh, yes! Both men and women (assuming they're even being truthful about that). There's plenty of people here who are...concerning, if they were real.

If you're in a rural area relationships are totally different. I live in a metro area of a commuter city and coming across someone with good values and character is incredibly rare.

I've heard this before but never understood why that would be. Is it because of how fast paced everything is, or how easy it is to get material goods? Like, you never really need to wait for anything, so people learn a constant "instant gratification" mentality even for relationships?

DjangoUBlackBastard • 2 points • 7 November, 2021 10:05 AM

I've heard this before but never understood why that would be. Is it because of how fast paced everything is, or how easy it is to get material goods? Like, you never really need to wait for anything, so people learn a constant "instant gratification" mentality even for relationships?

It's because the people from rural areas that move to cities usually do so because their personality traits really clash with where they were raised and their life goals clash. Then there's the people that move to the city for more money (someone chasing money is more likely to be hedonistic). People already from the city were raised most likely by people who moved to the city for one of the first two reasons. Then remember it's mostly women moving here. What do small town women that move to cities want from those cities. Husbands is rarely the answer.