

Nephew in law documents history of abuse & is struck in public. Aunt is offended that her niece is the one charged.

June 27, 2022 | 21 upvotes | by mule_roany_mare

https://np.reddit.com/r/BestofRedditorUpdates/comments/vlgsvw/comment/idv9vr9/?utm_source=share&utm_medium=web2x&context=3

By no means the worst thing I have seen, but it blows my mind this is upvoted 85 times & no one questions it. Even with an abundance of evidence people aren't able to imagine the woman being abusive & the man being the victim, it's like a Jedi mind trick.

All the proof against her niece only served to convince her of his guilt.

It's not worth mentioning how skeptical I am that the woman was arrested and charged for only a slap. Even guys can escape being charged for a single slap.

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

there doesn't seem to be anything here