

Does “busy all of September” basically mean she’s not interested...

Went on a date with a woman and had a great time, we made out at the end, she put my hands on her ass, and even talked about how we would hook up next time and that I could come over whenever,

Today she tells me shes busy all of September lmao. So she’s already said she can’t hang out the next 2-3 weeks.

She’s busy. She has multiple kids, a career, and is in an open relationship with a guy she lives with, but still...it means she’s not interested right?

(Don’t roast me too hard for the last paragraph lol, I’m not looking for anything serious with her and she is objectively good looking)

Yes I am

But also a comma would've been useful there

Text her to “wake you up when September ends” and then forget she exists. If your phone lights up with her name, keep as plate.

She could be busy indeed, her fiance will be around in September or not interested in you. Text her in October, but dont put much stocks in her
