i personally care more about looking cute than getting a partner but because i have a low neoteny and masculinized face, it's over, i might get a partner but my complex will never be solved, makeup is cope and doesn't work should i art copemaxx harder to not care about this?

Face feminisation surgery is a thing. Plastic surgeons can make your face look more feminine surgery is risky

also ill be too old when i have mone for such a thing(not to be attractive, but to be cute specifically)

Then go to a therapist. Maybe you can get over your complex.

Either way, you'll never look like a anime girl.

it's not even just me wanting to look anime, i legit have higher masculinization and lower neotenization than normal girls my age too, i probably would've been a "chad" as a guy unfortunately i was born fineale
