

if you had the opportunity to be over 8 feet tall with a 20-inch erect penis, and be 441 of pure lean muscle (no health consequences) while still having superhuman speed and athleticism but could never have any sexual or romantic relationships with women ever! would you take it?

also with a gigachad face for me, the answer is obviously yes but I want to get the opinion of all pill debates resident lunatics for those of you said who said yes would your answer change if I told you that you could also not have any platonic interpersonal relationships with any humans as well, that includes your friends and family (so basically this a two-parter, one no romance, and one no romance, no friends, and no family) not if you have those stats no, but in my imagination, there is some magic force field that surrounds you and prevents women from finding you sexy if you take this deal

Being this tall and not experiencing any health problems is a pipe dream, I'm 6"2 and over the years my knees have become a pain in the ass, and my own at that for a change, but to answer the question - no thanks, I has relationships with anyone I ever wanted to and generally lived a pretty good life despite all the tough shit, I wouldn't give me as I am for anything.

So I would need to get custom clothes and shoes, because my size clothes/shoes don't exist? Would need to bend 90 degrees just to get through the doors? Being constantly cramped in a vehicle? Order a custom mattress and bed?

Nah, too much hassle.
