Like this video says, it's actually more likely to see an average guy than a chad outside :

This "go look outside" argument is one of the most intellectually lazy and dishonest arguments out there. We have population level data now showing many significant trends:

male sexlessness has peaked and is growing male virginity has peaked and is growing half of all singles aren't even looking for a relationship

kokorwqac[S] • 6 points • 15 August, 2022 02:47 PM

We actually have new stats: female sexlessness is also rising and male sexlessness isn't as bad as in 2018:

https://www.reddit.com/r/PurplePillDebate/comments/wa8o0z/study_female_sexlessness_is_also_rising/?utm_medium=android_app&utm_source=share

You guys never look at updated stats do you

Liberated_Asexual • 7 points • 15 August, 2022 02:58 PM

Because the statistic largely doesn't prove anything? Women will:

lie about how much sex they have (they were questioned in the middle of the pandemic — it would be an assumption of guilt to confirm they had sex without a readily available partner)

don't desire sex as much/have a much lower libido were not having sex due to being worried about COVID (point number one)

kokorwqac[S] • 4 points • 15 August, 2022 03:01 PM

You say women will lie but what gives them any incentive to lie more than they did in 80's? If anything things like feminism and sex work is normalized more compared to the past.

The stat also shows male sexlessness actually fell down

Liberated_Asexual • 2 points • 15 August, 2022 03:15 PM

Yes, it dipped a little bit for under 35 y/o's.

General trend still is what it is.

kokorwqac[S] • 3 points • 15 August, 2022 03:17 PM

Female sexlessness is moe surpadding male sexlessness, according to stats

You guys take stats as facts, why ignore this?

Liberated_Asexual • 3 points • 15 August, 2022 05:36 PM

Look at the graph. Look at where COVID started, then notice the change in concavity of the curve — COVID accounts for a significant percent of the increase in female sexlessness.

Pumped and dumped by low value men

Most women aren't being PnD'd by a low value men; they swipe right on less than 5% of men, and even less of those move further on down the funnel. They're getting pumped and dumped by men who have options — the antithesis of low value.

What /u/Hodgekin said is largely correct — your entire counterargument is centralized around a red herring and non-sequitur. Female sexlessness is largely irrelevant, especially when a large percentage of the increase seems to be explained by COVID.

kokorwqac[S] • 2 points • 15 August, 2022 05:41 PM

Majority of people on dating apps are men, maybe you shouldn't take dating apps as holy grail.

There was also a decrease of male sexlessness in the same graph which you conveniently ignored

Liberated_Asexual • 2 points • 15 August, 2022 06:37 PM

There are multiple pollings studying similar things. Personally looking at age demographics under 35 is very broad, the 18-25 demographic is more interesting to look at, because you see a more narrowed cluster.

And wow, a 3-5% reduction for one year, who cares? It's like saying you'll never invest again in the stock market, because we're currently in a bear market and had a huge dip a few months ago. You need to look at long-term and general trends. For all we know, this could just be some noise in data until it establishes a consistent trend (which we won't know for at least a few years).

Also, actually take a second to evaluate what is the poll truly asking for. All this means is 70-75% of men managed to have sex ONCE over an entire year — truly a very fulfilling sex life...

kokorwqac[S] • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 07:00 PM

Female sexlessness has been consistently increasing every year and male sexlessness dropped in 2-3 ish years

Honestly it could very well be even higher among gen z women because a lot of them are shut ins

EviessVeralan • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 08:48 PM*

Dating apps arent a good resource for looking at female dating habits considering women dont use them in the same numbers men do.

Plus the idea that female sexlessness is due to covid ignores the fact that its been on the rise since the 2010s.

<https://ifstudies.org/blog/is-the-sex-recession-turning-into-a-great-sex-depression>

Liberated_Asexual • 1 point • 20 August, 2022 07:15 PM

The majority (and is growing in percent) of relationships are started via OLD.

EviessVeralan • 1 point • 20 August, 2022 08:16 PM

The most recent stats put meeting irl in the 60% range. Old isnt the majority yet.

Plus men outnumber women by large margins on a lot of these apps.

[deleted] • 2 points • 15 August, 2022 04:20 PM

/u/Liberated_Asexual

Well, I for one think it's true that female are having less sex too. The cohort of females that aren't getting sex is rising. These are the typical alpha career women who past her prime. That cohort of females is growing year by year!

kokorwqac[S] • 5 points • 15 August, 2022 04:28 PM

The data also includes young women, a lot of young women are shut ins who'd rather obsess over tiktok boys, boybands or fictional characters

[deleted] • 2 points • 15 August, 2022 04:35 PM

I can totally believe that.

Men speak out because they are more sexually frustrated than women. Women for the most part are okay without sex as long as they can get attention.

kokorwqac[S] • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 04:40 PM

I just wanted to offer a new perspective other than males are virgins!!! 11 all girls are riding 55555 chad cocks!!! 1111! everyday narrative

The truth is there are indeed female virgins or shut ins, and that female sexlessness is higher, whether that is voluntary or not isn't what i want to highlight

Stunning-Spirit5275 • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 10:17 PM

So women are just as social media stricken as men ?

kokorwqac[S] • 1 point • 16 August, 2022 03:27 AM

Yes, assuming all women are normies is cope

EviessVeralan • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 08:31 PM

It's convenient that when women are experiencing sexlessness they must be lying.

Taipanshimshon • 2 points • 15 August, 2022 11:04 PM

Nah. For * most women the sexlessness is a choice.

For * most men it's not.

EviessVeralan • 0 points • 15 August, 2022 11:06 PM*

No one said being sexless wasnt a choice for women. Just that it exists. Casual sex doesn't appeal to women like it does men.

Taipanshimshon • 4 points • 16 August, 2022 01:11 AM

Therefore it's a different experience and should not be equated.

We agreed

EviessVeralan • -1 points • 16 August, 2022 02:10 PM

The experience being different isnt relevant to the conversation.

[deleted] • 3 points • 16 August, 2022 06:30 PM

Actually the fact that sexlessness is a choice for a woman is very relevant.

EviessVeralan • 2 points • 16 August, 2022 07:11 PM

If youre talking about the current state of dating, pointing out that women arent having sex is still something that should be brought up regardless of their reason for being sexless.

Taipanshimshon • 2 points • 16 August, 2022 05:40 PM

I don't mean the results. I mean the biological drives.

litgas • 1 point • 17 August, 2022 07:17 AM

And men won't do any of those things?

MarBitt • 1 point • 17 August, 2022 08:58 AM

IHateNormis • 3 points • 15 August, 2022 07:31 AM

Overwhelming majority were tall and/or white. Token exception ethnics added for effect kokorwqac[S] • 2 points • 15 August, 2022 07:52 AM

Most men in uk are white and most men are also taller than average woman

IHateNormis • 4 points • 15 August, 2022 07:59 AM

Yes but being tall and white is seen as a premium and not "average"

kokorwqac[S] • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 08:06 AM

Most were white men dating white women or black women with average height in the video, to these groups they are the average

IHateNormis • 3 points • 15 August, 2022 09:47 AM

I saw them being several heads above the female, that is not average height alienamongnormies • 3 points • 15 August, 2022 07:06 AM

With all the average NT men I see out there with gfs, sometimes I wonder if my gymcelling and leanmaxxing is actually hurting my dating marketplace value. Like maybe girls who are below my looks level on the dating apps think I'm just a fuckboy and so don't take me very seriously while the girls at my looks level either want Chad or think I'm too autistic and socially awkward/anxious for them. Because I find that the more I gymcel and leanmaxx, the harder it is for me to date. It's ridiculous. I am in the best shape of my life and am finding it harder and harder to attract women. I have been on Grindr to meet TS/CD girls and have got hit on by tons of cismen including Chad, Brad and Tyrone. I know I'm handsome. But women on the apps are just so fucking picky. Men are so fucking horny by a mile. It's not even close.

Search-United • 3 points • 15 August, 2022 08:07 AM

Bro as you rise girls you want is harder to catch but also harder for others to obtain. Much like how as you lift more you get stronger but your weight keeps getting heavier.

Ntpills the most legitpill

Also women like prettyboy these days muscle doesn't effect much alienamongnormies • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 08:07 AM

Ntpills the most legitpill

That would explain why I struggle so much since I was diagnosed with autism as a child. It's not like I am incel. But I struggle a lot with dating and relationships. It takes a lot of tries for me to find someone I click with.

Also women like prettyboy these days muscle doesn't effect much

My muscle mass % is high but I am walking around fairly light these days. I weighed in at 138.2 lbs tonight after working out and 140.2 lbs yesterday on my muscle recovery day. My diet is killing me so I don't plan on remaining this light long term. But I have no plans on bulking up too much either. I miss eating more in general and eating sweets and snacks. But I don't think I can go back to the days where I was 160+ lbs. I want to dirty bulk so bad because then that means I get to EAT. lol. But I know that too much muscle, especially at my height, is not a good look. My ex dated me when I was 160+ lbs. I wish we were together. I could EAT, dirty bulk and she would love it. lol. She is into the muscular look.

BumblingBeta • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 10:04 PM

Any particular reason why your ex was into the muscular look, but you say a lot of muscle at your height isn't a good look?

alienamongnormies • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 10:11 PM

I've seen women say that short men bulking up is "overcompensating". And having a lot of width when you don't have a lot of height doesn't look good physically. However when I expressed these concerns to my ex, she says, "no, I'd rather you put on muscle than lose weight. It would turn me on."

BumblingBeta • 1 point • 16 August, 2022 12:28 AM

Oh ok fair enough. Maybe you disagree, but it would be better for you to put on a lot of muscle. You might repel a lot of women, but there would be a subsection of women like your ex who absolutely love the muscle. Better to have that strong burning desire from a minority of women, rather than be mediocre to all women. If you see what I'm saying?

Glad-Discount-4761 • 0 points • 15 August, 2022 07:14 AM

Do you have like more muscles? In my area, woman avoid that. Women are judged by their looks while guys for only jobs. Some woman want to be good looking one as they think it is only for woman and men are visual while she wants guy just be fit with average face. One woman broke up with her bf just because her aunt said he is better looking than her.

alienamongnormies • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 07:29 AM

My muscle mass % is in the high range for a man my age I think (apparently 39.5-44.1% is considered high for 18-40 men. And 44.2+% is very high). But I don't have a lot of mass on me. I'm lean. I could compete in the UFC Bantamweight division without having to spend a lot of time in the sauna. I'm that light. I'm 5'6" so I know a lot of people are going to say that is a death sentence.

Muscle Recovery Day Stats Thursday night: 139.6 lbs, 14.5% body fat, 42.6% muscle mass, 60.8% water weight, 6.0 lbs bone mass.

Post-workout tonight (likely dehydrated so potentially less accurate reading): 138.2 lbs, 13.0% body fat, 43.8% muscle mass, 62.7% water weight, 6.2 lbs bone mass.

The thing is, the average woman may be shorter than me. But the average woman is likely bigger than me now. I used to be 168.2 lbs @ 29% body fat at one point. I'm still not done leanmaxxing. I don't have six-pack abs yet. I don't plan on bulking up until I get hard abs.

CoverYourAwrah • 3 points • 15 August, 2022 12:00 PM

If you're 5'6, keep those muscles. It'll be your saving grace.

alienamongnormies • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 09:17 PM

If you're 5'6, keep those muscles. It'll be your saving grace.

My top priority is to get hard abs and I might have to go down further in weight in order to get there. And in the process of cutting, I might have to sacrifice some of my raw muscle mass. But hopefully not. And if I have to, hopefully not to much. I have more raw muscle mass at 138.2 lbs (60.5 lbs) than when I was 168.2 lbs back in February (58.4 lbs muscle) when I was clinically obese (29% body fat is clinically obese. Anything over 25% in your 30s is I think. Though the BMI measure showed that I was merely overweight. BMI is imperfect. By BMI standards, 5'6" 138.2 lbs is healthy weight but not exactly lean. But 14.5% body fat is low for my size).

Once I get six-pack abs, or at least hard abs, I want to bulk up a bit. I'm tired of eating <1500 calories per day for nearly 2 months straight with very few cheat days. I could really go for nutella on fresh bread (carbs on carbs!) and down a vanilla whey protein milkshake made with actual milk and not water. Or cheese puffs. Sour cream & Onion potato chips. Swedish meatballs with pasta and gravy sauce. Pizza. I miss being able to eat how I want. Problem is I have a natural skinny fat endomorph physique. So its counterproductive to bulk up before getting rid of my stubborn lower belly fat. It seems like my lower belly fat distribution is genetic.

CoverYourAwrah • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 09:46 PM

Lucky.

I'm 5'9ish and working my way through this myself.

It's hard because I have a good addiction.

Glad-Discount-4761 • 2 points • 15 August, 2022 07:30 AM

Wow.Still woman reject it!

jasonology09 • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 08:47 AM

Nobody gives a fuck about your muscles and body fat %. As long as you look reasonably fit you're fine. If your having trouble with women it has something to do with how you're talking to them.

ManWazo • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 10:31 AM maybe girls who are below my looks level on the dating apps think I'm just a fuckboy

You could be clear on your profile and say you're looking for something serious. Being honest is always a good strategy

litgas • 1 point • 17 August, 2022 07:28 AM

Straight men in general do poorly on apps no matter what. That said stuff like good pictures and profile will help. More so where you live can also play a factor. As if the population of men is equal or greater than women you going to have a hard time where as if women out number men you have a slightly better time. Also certain apps are going to be more popular than others depending on where you live.

Comfortable-Unit-897 • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 03:25 PM

Because Chads are either in the gym, shopping for product, or primping for most of their day. Average dudes are out there swooning the ladies. I know a bunch of average guys, that have awesome SO's. They all worked their asses off to get them.

BumblinBeta • 1 point • 15 August, 2022 07:51 PM

In my experience, Chads mostly go out at night, or to concerts, festivals and so on. I've been to nightclubs occasionally on a Saturday night and they are filled with tall, muscular, good looking men. I have wondered to myself "damn where have all these men been hiding during the day?".

Many Chads spend quite a lot of time in the gym too. I see many Chads in the gym I go to. They need to lift weights to get their good body.

Now with Tinder and dating apps, many of them must be having a lot of sex with random girls. You don't need to be outside for that. It feels like there is a secret world out there where a minority of good looking men are enjoying huge quantities of sex. If the Pareto Principle holds true, the top 1-5% of men must be having a fuckton of sex.

nicethingyoucanthave • 1 point • 16 August, 2022 01:57 PM

Forget couples for a minute and just consider the following question: if you sorted men by women's combined assessment of their attractiveness, then you took a random sample of men walking down the street, what percentage of men would you expect to see who are in the top 20% of attractiveness?

If your answer is, "20%" then okay, that's a hypothesis you could test.

Hypothesis: "20% of men are 'top 20%' so therefore if I sit on a street corner and watch people walk by, 20% of the men I see will be 'top 20%'"

I don't think your hypothesis is correct - I think that attractiveness carries over into other areas of life, and (depending on the street corner and the time of day) I think that the number of people you actually see will vary.

This is called selection bias and it's very important that you guard against it when you do statistical sampling. You've probably heard the story of how pollsters were calling people (landlines - not cell phones) during the daytime to ask their opinions on stuff. Well, it turns out that when you call people during the daytime, you are selecting for people who (a) have phones and (b) don't work so they're at home during the day.

The next thing you have to be careful about is cherry picking. Do you know for sure that the video you linked to is a full list of the people who walked past the camera? Or did the person who made the video filter it to make the point he wanted to make?

The next thing is, you don't actually know if all these people are dating. How many of them are simps taking their ""best friend"" out for coffee (and listening to her whine about how chad never calls)?

Next, consider this: TRP doesn't say that chads date - the 80/20 rule is about sex. How many of these "couples" are in ""open relationships"" (which means she's banging dudes on the side and he's a cuck)?

Frankly, if the 80/20 rule was true - let's just assume it was true for a moment - I would absolutely expect to still see plenty of normie guys out on the street during the daytime with dumpy-looking girls. I don't think this is an objective slice of human sexuality.

[deleted] • 1 point • 16 August, 2022 06:29 PM

Most men and women are average.
