

Sexual hypocrisy?

November 15, 2022 | 1 upvotes | by Coein4

I don't follow how guys can rip on girls for being "hoes" and the like for agreeing to casual sex while these same guys are the very reason for it -- being that they invest so much in pursuing and convincing women to casually sleep with them. If they were so concerned for these women, why don't they sit with these girls and explain how casual sex and their "body count" is harming them and their chances of a LTR with a "high value" man? Instead they just talk about going to clubs and getting into girls' pants and then complain of "loose" and "degenerate" girls. Am I missing something?

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

there doesn't seem to be anything here