I actually commented on it

A lot of comments literally blame him for not standing up for her. LIKE HE WAS AT GUN POINT!?

AND qere blaming "her fight or flight"

I lived in fight or flight for YEARS because of PTSD (I couldn't turn it off sadly until I learned how to), that isn't how Fight or Flight works. Yes fighting means fighting but foesnt mean screaming at someone to fight. It means YOU DO because adrenaline literally pumps into your system.

Fucking hell

BTW, am a woman. ☐ I think he is in the right she is in the wrong.

I can one up you guys

I know these things aren't a competition but I feel competitive right now

I had a girlfriend try to fix the connections on a gas grill outside and asked me to come out with her

She turned on the gas and asked me if I would with the wand lighter attempt to light it

The next moment was key as I found out this woman could care less what happens to me

She asks if I would do it, handing me the wand then stepping several steps away and giving her back to the grill and then bracing herself

I said, are u f*king serious? She says you're a man you're supposed to take risks

Not right away but I stopped seeing her after that as I realized I'm disposable to her

I've been in the same situation but it wasn't a misandry thing.

Boss told me to do something unsafe at work (I'm an electrician) he eventually convinced me it was fine.

Until he backed off once I started servicing the equipment, so I turned and said "fuck this, if you're too scared to be in the same room while I do this then I'm not doing it."

I know how to service energized stuff, but 9/10 times you're told to do it its totally unnecessary and it's for some arbitrary convenience. No one thinks about our lives.

I realize that this is just how people treat other people. If I can make a dollar by having you lose 100$ I will, and that's society for you.

Also, if you ever do get injured on the job like really bad, you'll find out what people with chronic pain go through and it's very sobering about reality

Dump her for being a selfish and then block her an lose her number. If she don't value you, she is not worthy of you being in her life.

Life isn't a damn movie. If someone has a gun pointed at you and you don't, give them what they want. No material possession is worth more than your life.

This girlfriend needs to be made an ex immediately.

Is it just me, or am I surprised she is still with him 2 weeks later?

He should've said to robber "deal with her yourself" and walked away.
