As someone who was falsely accused, this take is shit and to call it Microscopic is only going to invalidate those who are effected by such allegations like myself

I have a feeling she doesn't care. But sorry that happened to you.

I highly doubt she gives a shit

First of all, false accusations are so rampant that they're the leading cause of female survivors struggling to get justice. However, more innocent men go to prison over fake rape claims than guilty women to prison for raping men and teenage boys

Secondly, men are less than 50% of the population. Feminism is the number one reason why. They started "killallmen" and they're winning that war

Feminism is the number one reason why.

Not really. Governments/corporations/society are and were considering men expendable even without feminism influence. Those are the main beneficiaries from exploitation of men, so they are the main enemies of men. Inclusively by allowing "killallmen" trends; "divide & conquer" and such.

Focus on eliminating the root of the problem; our resources are already scarce.

You're correct, the reason why I put feminism as the number one cause is they've effectively taken majority control on Western societies, and therefore all consequences of operating on male disposability and exploitation of men is blame that they have inherited

KatsutamiNanamoto • -1 points • 15 December, 2022 09:19 AM

Feminism is in control of academic research on gender/equality topics, also maybe they hinder initiatives that would help men specifically (shelters, etc.); but control of whole societies? Pff, they wish they had. Again, they're just a tool, nobody would give them real power. Well, not that any decent people would be given real power either :(

gratis_eeKhoorn • 3 points • 15 December, 2022 04:16 PM

feminists are not decent people

I think I mentioned those two groups separately by adding the word "either"; though English isn't my native language, so I could be wrong.

r/supportfortheaccused would disagree

Why are we still responding to stuff from 5 years ago that was widely covered and condemned back when it was said?

Meghan is grossly misinformed. Or chooses to be in the dark on a very serious issue.

RexFx96 • 2 points • 24 December, 2022 12:31 AM

False accusations rarely happen? Didn't a study from UC Michigan determine that 48% of accusations were false?

Whatever happened to Better that ten guilty persons escape than that one innocent suffer,?”?
