men do shrooms once and discover the same things 13 year old girls have discovered alone in their bedrooms

R slash they try to be/feel as special as they can just for being human, put us down for experiencing emotions, and then treat us like inhuman mutants when we do. Good job, girls! But seriously, wtf? Can anyone even decipher this strange shit?

Means they've never done mushrooms, and they think they're deep.

Tbh, mushrooms aren't that deep either. You sober up and realize you're not actually profound, plus you forget most of it.

Hard disagree. Shroomaging is filled with profundity. And you might forget the profundity, but you don't forget the sentiment.

As a 21 yo girl, I also have zero clue what they're talking about if anything theyve unintentionally put down 13 year old girls lmao. What they mean by 'discovered' is supposed enlightenment over whatever the fuck but yes essentially calling 13 year old girls delusional as someone who is high would be.

The clitoris?

anoncitizen4 • 3 points • 28 January, 2023 03:02 AM

That was my thought as well.

They're making fun of men's mental health crisis.

As much as i hate to talk like this, it probably has to do with “teenage experiments”, and that men have less sensitive... you know what. Especially those who are circumcised.
