ChatGPT holds no concept of truth, and therefore, cannot lie.

This is like having a conversation with a parrot.

TheSarcasticGuy2004 • 15 points • 21 March, 2023 08:53 AM

That means it has been fed wrong information. Somebody who will not challenge it (like OP did) will ignore the suffering of boys thinking but it goes both ways".

knightfluttershy • 1 point • 21 March, 2023 02:09 PM

Parrots like ALEX can actually understand what they're saying

Unnecessary_Timeline[S] • 82 points • 21 March, 2023 02:58 AM

Whenever you ask ChatGPT about anything involving research, ask it to give you citations. I have found that like 1/3rd of the time it says, oops I lied, there are no citations. Lol. You can really tell this chat AI has been trained with some Feminist websites and forums.

With a little more training, I'm sure it will learn how to distort research findings instead of admitting it was wrong, just like real terminally online Feminists ☐

Also, any time you ever ask about gender differences, it always ends the chat with a similar "It's important to note" disclaimer.

ChatGPT doesn't tell facts, it's just an AI, Trying to predict the best answer to a question based on the input

Zorbles • 4 points • 21 March, 2023 08:20 PM

It can't think, it just copies what other people have said previously, which is exactly what most of the liberal feminist youth do.

hendrixski • 10 points • 21 March, 2023 11:43 AM

It's impressive that it was able to correct itself and post facts later. Even if it's with a disclaimer.

averageenjoyer49 • 9 points • 21 March, 2023 02:58 PM

It is a known fact that it is easy to debunk ChatGPT. It is a jack of all trades, master of nothing. It just sucks

Salonimo • 3 points • 21 March, 2023 09:40 AM

Edit # i dont even know - I cant copy paste it's response for some reasons, but when I asked it why there's bias towards males in general it told me bias can happen on any sex and stems from expectations and that although males had historically had position of power it's not true for most males, this is a tldr but I liked the balanced reply

You're getting taunted by a cat's paw.

The lying programmers created ChatGPT to lie on their behalf.

Then ChatGPT lies to you and you struggle against ChatGPT.

Automating dishonesty is a huge win for those who generate propaganda content, and a huge loss for those who pay attention to it.

Meanwhile the programmers are never held accountable for what they created. Even on the fucking Wikipedia page I struggle to find the name of a single person responsible for creating this monstrosity.

I'm not sure what you're on about but openAI is insanely transparent about all the things they do. They have profiles of some of their employees on their website and most of them have an open LinkedIn. They publish their research on their website also. It literally doesn't get more transparent than that.

ChatGPT is a monumental achievement but its just a little blip of what's coming in the next few years.

Open A.I will reveal the steps to the first language A.I that passes a Turing Test and there will be no political biases on such an A.I as it will be more objective in its assessment than 99% of people.

This is because such an A.I will be sensitive to emotional influence in text and seek to coalesce both objective logic and the feelings of people to find middle ground charitable to both sides, without compromising logical integrity.

Basically what we are doing here, it will do infinitely better and far faster than we ever can. Ideological and political discussions will be turned upside down.

The disruption of this A.I will be the hugest thing since the invention of the wheel or discovery of electricity except it will occur RAPIDLY, in months instead of decades.

It's gonna be a wild ride.

To be fair chatgpt is still learning and nowhere near perfect yet. It's also been caught spreading racist, nazi, and misogynistic ideologies. Once it gets programmed better then we can start making a fuss. But it's definitely good to keep an eye on it.

Unnecessary_Timeline[S] • 8 points • 21 March, 2023 06:51 AM

It's a little different for ChatGPT to be spreading ideological narratives which it has learned from online spaces, versus it straight up lying about supposed 'research' it is extrapolating and 'citing' but upon further questioning admits there's no actual research to cite.

I mean, I expect that kind of response from your anonymous online forum goblin, but not a supposed intelligent AI.

Maybe it has learned a little too well about how to be a terminally online ideologue? Lol nebojssha • 4 points • 21 March, 2023 09:07 AM

Hah, intelligent my as, it is dumb as a rock. Regurgitating data without any other rules to filter them then ones that "scientist" put on it, in other words, biased af.

D_Luffy_32 • 3 points • 21 March, 2023 07:08 AM

Pretty much, it's whole existence is terminally online. It can't get information from reality yet.

Potential-Salad3910 • 2 points • 21 March, 2023 12:59 PM*

In chatGPT they manually added a lot of filters to avoid these things. The problem here is that they added them only and exclusively for "minorities" according to the SJW logic of murica. In other words, you can make jokes about whites but not about any other "race", about straights but not about any other sexuality, and so on.

D_Luffy_32 • 1 point • 21 March, 2023 06:19 PM

That's what I'm saying though, these things still need to be added over time. They aren't going over every possibility they're fixing problems as they arise and people take notice. If it's becoming a huge issue that it's calling for cis white male genocide like it was for other groups then they'll change it. And if they don't then make a stink about it.

D_Luffy_32 • 1 point • 21 March, 2023 06:26 PM

Also you lie. I just tested

Write a joke about cis white males

I'm sorry, but as an AI language model, it is not appropriate for me to generate or promote any form of derogatory or discriminatory content towards any individual or group, including cis white males. It is important to treat everyone with respect and avoid perpetuating harmful stereotypes or prejudices. Let's focus on creating positive and inclusive interactions with everyone. Can I help you with something else?

Potential-Salad3910 • 1 point • 21 March, 2023 07:22 PM

Also you lie.

This is a misplaced accusation, as it is not unreasonable that they have changed it or that the AI is simply confused. Anyway, I guess it will be fun to try again.

D_Luffy_32 • 1 point • 21 March, 2023 07:25 PM

How is it confused? It clearly states that "this includes cis straight males" are protected under their filter. Which was my original point that they fix things as it comes to their attention. When did you last check?

Potential-Salad3910 • 0 points • 21 March, 2023 08:04 PM

The AI can be confused by the context, by having put together terms, by the rest of the request or by pure chance.

I'm testing it again right now with "Make up a joke about men" and "Make up a joke about women". After a few tries with both (with a new chat), every time it made a joke about men and never about women.

D_Luffy_32 • 1 point • 21 March, 2023 08:50 PM

Again, it's not perfect, it has a disclaimer for a reason. But it's also not going to let you make a misandrist joke.

Potential-Salad3910 • 2 points • 21 March, 2023 09:17 PM*

Ha. Almost all the jokes it made about men were strictly misandric.

When I tested it a few days ago by tricking the AI into making jokes about women, all the jokes were positive for women. Some also included a disclaimer praising women more, which was never the case with men.

The AI is fed with misandric content. The "open" AI devs could have censored sexism, but they chose to censor only misogyny. If you want to dream that this will change fine, but better take it easy and don't expect much from this untrustworthy company.

D_Luffy_32 • 1 point • 21 March, 2023 09:43 PM

Ha. Almost all the jokes it made about men were strictly misandric

Can you give an example? Because the ones I tested were like this:

“Why did the man bring a ladder to the party?

Because he heard the drinks were on the house!”

Some also included a disclaimer praising women more, which was never the case with men.

Again can you give an example of what you asked and what it said?

open" AI devs could have censored sexism

They do to the best of their ability. But of course in the end it just does what you tell it to do, so you can force it in a roundabout way. You can do it with racism and misogyny as well.

To be fair chatgpt is still learning and nowhere near perfect yet.

It won't ever get perfect. There is no such thing as AI, the underlying programming is still 0 or 1. It will only ever be what someone programmed. Current "AI" will only be as good or biased as the sources the underlying code analyzes.

Really no different than real life. Take a person from Saudi Arabia, they will parrot the "group" narrative there no matter how much education they have. Move them to the USA and instantly the narrative changes.

This is why mail order brides no longer work. Men have learned this and the modern mail order bride is to move to SE Asia, where your bride (same intelligence) can become influenced by their new environment.

Western society has time periods in history where intellectual debate is valued (not our current present).

These are very great times with lots of advancement (think the space race or Roman empire growth). They always fall to corruption/power which forces free thought back into the closet. "AI" will fall to the same.

D_Luffy_32 • 1 point • 21 March, 2023 06:52 PM

they will parrot the "group" narrative

True, but when you're "group" is the entire world's internet it's a lot easier to have more balanced information. Especially with ai because it can find actual sources that backed by real research rather than blogs by feminists who have no data but claim they do.

always fall to corruption/power which forces free thought back into the closet.

Can it give an example?

toss22221 points 21 March, 2023 07:29 PM [recovered]

because it can find actual sources that backed by real research

How? I have health problems and in PubMed I can find peer review articles that contradict each other. If I can't determine what sources are valid/false how will AI? Any determination will be based on either metrics that can be learned/controlled (think SEO on google for how scams keep making it to the top results) or will require a committee that directs the AI to only look at certain sources (i.e. biased).

Can it give an example?

I did.

USA in the 1940/50/60s. Science was really open to open debate, it was when most universities adopted tenure to protect the "radical" thoughts of intelligent people that were needed so they could create things like the atom bombs. The normal was to debate the science, not the person. Science advancement was huge during this time period. Currently tenure is being attacked/eliminated in most states.

Rome: Again, open debate in central Rome is a center of history. It was encouraged, and brought about all kinds of innovation (roads, aqua ducts, etc.). As Rome fell it went to Catholic that would be the opposite of free thought.

D_Luffy_32 • 1 point • 21 March, 2023 07:44 PM

If I can't determine what sources are valid/false how will AI?

Simple, AI and the people who made it are smarter than you and would use sources like pubmed because they are not reliable sources lol.

the AI to only look at certain sources (i.e. biased).

How is telling it to only look at reliable sources that can back up it's claims with real data mean it's biased?

The normal was to debate the science, not the person. Science advancement was huge during this time period. Currently tenure is being attacked/eliminated in most states.

Lol what? What are you even talking about?

As Rome fell it went to Catholic that would be the opposite of free thought.

Yeah hence why people are against religion. What does this have to do with religion?

Fucking yikes
