I am from a 700thousand habitants city in Brazil. I want to move out as an unskilled 22 year old. I can make around 800 usd dollars a month online, but I'd rather have a job where I don't need to stay on the computer all day. Any country+profession suggestions? (I have a US visa)

Come to the US and work just about any job. 40 hrs a week at minimum wage will still make you more than $800 a month.

I know that. But cost of living is way higher in US compared to Brazil (also I wouldn't have a work permit, but I don't mind working illegally). Any specific suggestions?

Oh, my bad man, I thought a visa allowed for employment. Not sure, man, that does make it tougher. And I know how bad the cost of living is :/ I'm currently trying to find my own place and it's a real bitch. I'm not sure what the best advice would be in this situation, but I'll give you my upvote and hope you get some more replies. Best of luck to you, brother.
