

"your loss"

1 upvotes | 7 January, 2016 | by ioncehadsexinapool

If you ask me it feels like a bitchy/snotty thing to say after getting denied. And will make your chances worse than before. What are your guys thoughts on this? My thoughts:

- If you need to tell her its her loss, she wouldn't understand anyway
- It's responding to getting denied as a personal offense
- Seems like poor sportsmanship, no?
- True abundance mentality would just move on without thinking another thing.

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

medik13 • 6 points • 7 January, 2016 02:56 PM

Well yes, that's why most of us never say it ioncehadsexinapool[S] • 1 point • 7 January, 2016 08:32 PM

I've been told before to say that so I figured it was common my bad

Trowaway4me • 1 point • 7 January, 2016 11:16 PM

It's more like something you internalize...you are the prize etc.

notgivefuck • 3 points • 7 January, 2016 05:42 PM

I would never utter those words after being rejected. After being rejected you have to become brighter and friendlier than before, therefore confusing the fuck out of the girl because she expects you get upset and stomp away.

ioncehadsexinapool[S] • 2 points • 7 January, 2016 06:56 PM

Leld hard at stomp away. Yeah being nicer makes a lot more sense. I got denied recently and just didn't respond, wasn't sure what to say

BrunoOh • 5 points • 7 January, 2016 08:21 PM

"Okay, have a nice day".

notgivefuck • 1 point • 7 January, 2016 07:23 PM

don't know what to say? put on the cheekiest smile you can possibly make and hold there until the girl freaks out.