Hello everyone, I am new to the red pill forums. However I feel like most of my life I have had a red pill mentality. In high school there were girls I did not particularly want to bang, but I would try just to know that I could. Some were hot, some were not. Now as an adult I find myself doing the same thing. I know most men want to just bang as many girls as possible, and I do to. However I feel like just knowing that I could, is way more satisfying, then the actual act of sleeping with them. Does anybody else feel this way? Especially with a red pill mentality it is very hard for me to even want to talk to them after we had sex. Like mission accomplished, next.
I went through this. You're processing the pill normally compared to my experience. Understanding power is essential to implementing this sexual strategy. Shit, I kicked girls out of my bed at 3am just to prove a point - they obviously wanted to fuck me even more and begged for second dates.

That seems to be what is going on. I like to socialize often, and sometimes I have parties at my place, and girls sleep over. I've had them crawling into my bed, prob assuming I will sleep with them, but I don't. Then like you said they want it more.

I'm pretty sure that girl you linked goes to the gym, bro

While I agree with this, the point is that the guy lives in the gym, while the girl merely visits 1-2 times a week for some spinning class or the likes.

Right, and you know this to be 100% fact? Nah ya don't. Also in the pic those are just two specific body shapes neither of which are the ultimate ideal body types of today if one really even exists since that's pretty relative. Men don't have to look like muscle heads to be considered attractive.

Completely agree with you. My view of standards and sex was way different back in high school days. Was basically doing everything I thought would build up self esteem.

You should decide what you want to do and do it. If you have problems getting girls to sleep with you, than yeah, you need the practice. If getting laid isn't that difficult for you than set some other goals and achieve them. There's some stuff about that in the sidebar.

This. I am very much like you op. Then lately i have noticed many little details and little logistic issues need polishing that i could have worked on long ago.

You are 100% correct on your advice. A lot of my goals are socially, and financially motivated, good thing that attracts a nice amount of women.
I think this is a bit of self validation also the thrill of the hunt. Men enjoy validation just as much as women. People also value relationships that they had to work harder for, more acutely.

I'm like this as well, and always have been. I just enjoy knowing the fact I could with the flick of the switch, but half the time I don't. Tbh I think we are just kinda like girls fishing for validation lmao... we just like knowing we are wanted. Don't care as much about physical sex. Holding the power is what gives us that high

Now that I think of it, I think it has to do a lot with not wanting to start a family yet. I usually already have a exit strategy before I even know a women has interest.

honestly I would worry about my health nailing too many girls too regularly and to do that anyhow means dropping my standards which isn't really easy. My body will fight that every step of the way. 8/10 or hotter or not interested

I would hope nobody here is advocating fucking girls when you don't want to fuck them...

Guys that do that end up back here asking questions about not getting it up.

Ya I did that for a while, back in my needy beta days...then I had a few instances of not being able to get it up for a few girls. I thought there was something wrong with me, but as I swallowed the redpill I began to realize I didn't actually LIKE those girls...their behaviour was terrible and I was with them for validation only. As soon as I stopped trying to bang every girl I was slightly attracted to and was more picky, I was fine.

I wish more guys would realize this. There are a lot here who are in the same position you were in.

This is hilarious! The good ol' I can't get it up conundrum.

Not advocating women you find unattractive!!

What if you're married to her? Pass the cialis.

This question doesn't sound like it has much to do with sex. If you want to do something and you can, you do it. It sounds like you're not that excited by the prospect of sex, alas have trouble recognizing that fact. Probably because yeah you can fuck her, but she's not hot enough for you to care enough about going through the motions to do so.

I see what your saying, but I do this with what I consider really hot girls. Often times I know they are "sluts" anyway, and I just want to test the waters. Most guys would consider them really hot girls too. You are right about not caring enough to go through the motions. For example telling her you just having fun, and discovering yourself, and all that other good stuff, when they try to lock you in.

I'm his same situation, and I get it. I like my girl and I'd need a very hot chick to consider adding a girl, so those that are at least attractive to me I'd love to feel the rush of power of knowing

jbonit[S] • 1 point • 19 February, 2016 11:36 AM
I feel even better when it is a hot chick.

I used to think no, then yes, now no. My standards got pretty low there for awhile...

Don't fuck anything you aren't willing to risk impregnating.

oldredder • 3 points • 19 February, 2016 11:21 AM no man should live like that - use condoms and get the snip so you never have to worry.

jbonit[S] • 1 point • 19 February, 2016 11:31 AM
I'm not trying to impregnate anything right now except my wallet. Plus I do not think a women's looks is the best thing to base weather a women is a good mother. By that I mean, not going to use your own kid against your, and things of that nature. That is very important in the long run.
