And you know the funny thing? For most women, getting a solid animal pounding makes them feel more loved than the sweet, soft, gentle lovey sex. It makes us feel desired, wanted, like he thinks we're so sexy he just can't help himself. It's ultimately more satisfying.

The best is when the harpies of AskWomen justify this. "When you really trust a guy it is SO HOT to be submissive, in bed, only in bed, because I'm like, totally independent and socially dominant and stuff..."

if you think that's good, try asking femo-crites if rough sex perpetuates rape culture.

Confirmed. My gf often says the times we had rough sex were the best ever.

I want to be sexually dominated by a hot woman.

This article is going to get a lot of guys thrown in jail who misunderstand the context.

No, what's really going to happen is feminists will claim this is proof we're all rapists. Same story, different day.

I wonder if they will ever realize we are actually the strongest deterrent for rape there is. We teach game which gives men options to seduce women instead of cowardly tactics such as rape, assault, date rape, etc. Think about it...Alpha male #9483 who has no issue with women, probably in shape, probably carries a weapon, sees jaded omega asshole #3904875345783908457 attack a woman? For as much as we denounce White Knights my claymore would lop this guy's head off.

Do you even have a CWP?

You're eventually going to get crushed if you try to defend a woman's "honor" like that. The true omegas have mastered cheap shot guerilla tactics and are usually the hardened criminals who won't be dissuaded by a virtual alpha/beta/omega construct.

The solution isn't for you to use lethal force when a woman is attacked by a criminal. The solution involves the woman getting her own weapon and defending her own life, given that this is the 21st century and women are allowed to own, train with, and carry guns in the majority of jurisdictions.

Fuck heroism. Red pill is all about survival.

I have a Springfield XDm and a CCW. You're welcome to be as selfish as you wish but if we are ever going to have true equilibrium there has to be a measured amount of intervention. Upon seeing the situation I described I would first call the police, and then probably draw on the suspect until he lets her go. Most omegas are cowards and when faced with real opposition they crumble. This isn't about defending a woman's "honor" this is about putting a dent in the rape hysteria which hurts everyone.

PrisonerOfLife • -1 points • 19 January, 2013 08:53 PM

Fair enough.

I'm glad to see that other RP'ers like you have the means to defend themselves from thugs and that would be a perfectly valid way to diffuse a situation. I simply don't want to see any of us lose our lives because we are caught in the middle of a woman's petty quarrel (which accurately describes most of the trouble they get in to).

If the guy is actively killing people (e.g. active shooter) then you have no choice to use lethal force, but I think it's a poor tactical decision to get between a thug and a woman if the thug is also well-armed.

Perfect, and nor do I. My goal is always equilibrium.

Blue Pill = Jump in harm's way, get yourself hurt or killed, situation is worse off for it.

White Knight 101.

My perception of Red Pill = Measured intervention where you put your safety first while diffusing a horrible situation. Refined Alpha 101.

Blue Pillers perception of Red Pill = Selfish rapists and rape apologists who will do anything to fuck anyone. Feminism 101.

That last one is the perception I want to avoid, and I feel there are ways to do so while maintaining the lessons of the Red.
