You can join the US military when you're disabled? O.o

I'm in excellent physical condition, but because I'm slightly flat-footed and suffer from (well controlled) asthma I couldn't join the Australian Army if I wanted to, despite easily surpassing all physical fitness tests

Non combat roles. They actually take all of their best(mostly the most intelligent ones) recruits and the ones who are unable to fight and teach them to perform non combat roles.

TIL. Presumably they don't have a problem with slightly flat-footed, asthmatic lawyers, then? Maybe I should join the US military to help get permanent residency/citizenship.

Um dude, why do you want to immigrate to the USA? The us has income tax payments as a PR/Citizen even if you don't live in the USA anymore. It's the only country in the world to do that. And on top of that you have to report all foreign bank accounts. Tax returns as a US expat are a royal PITAs and will cost you ~$5k to pay $0 to the IRS.

On top of that, as an aussie, you have the E-3 visa. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/E-3_visa

"In terms of physical capability, the upper five percent of women are at the level of the male median. The average 20-to-30 year-old woman has the same aerobic capacity as a 50 year-old man."

For fuck's sake, why does our society insist we're equals where its obvious to ANYONE WITH EYES that we are not??

Fucking Jefferson, man.

Maybe they should restrict the military to black men.

I had no idea that it'd be so polarizing. I figured a small percentage of men would be unable to cut it, and a similarly small percentage of women would be able to make the grade. Those figures from the Navy's damage control tests really are stunning. And the Army's figures of there being 130:1 odds of a woman having the physical size and strength of the AVERAGE male was really something.

Whoops, we have objective evidence that men are stronger than women.

What's fucked up is that we need a report to tell us this because feminists deny it.

Here's more in case someone's still wondering.

And she's on ped's.

zionController • 4 points • 2 February, 2013 09:03 PM

Hmmm I don't feel like deploying anymore... better go spread my legs and get pregnant! Army pays for my mat leave, and I can get state support checks and tie a man's income to me til the kid is out of college!

Thank you feminism. Thank you generous white knights!

This solipsistic train of thought is also at clear dissonance with the still-present views on domestic abuse. Even though more men are sexually/physically abused, society still sees in this situation women as weaker and needing protection.
