

Beer and Boobs - Rollo Tomassi

July 15, 2013 | 12 upvotes | by redpillschool

<http://therationalmale.com/2013/07/15/beer-and-boobs/>

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

mrust • 7 points • 15 July, 2013 02:09 PM

It's a good article, but where's your analysis?

redpillschool[S] • 4 points • 15 July, 2013 02:18 PM

Well, you tell me: What's your concept of masculinity?

omgboat • 3 points • 15 July, 2013 06:46 PM

That bitch is wasting beer.

mrust • 2 points • 15 July, 2013 10:10 PM

Eh, it's an interesting question, but I was just busting your balls cause you're a moderator and should set the example.

I actually got asked this by my last gf while I was in a LTR, and the more interesting thing for me was could I actually give a coherent and consistent response that was palatable to her.

For me, I do think that stoicism is a big part of it.

When a man is hungry, he eats. When a man is horny, he fucks. When a man is sad, he deals with it.

She was obviously reaching for support and provider role, which I didn't want to go along with.

OTOH, successfully pursuing beautiful women without compromise or apology would be my ideal of masculinity.

whiskey_bearfist • 2 points • 16 July, 2013 04:26 PM

i think jack donovan's book influenced my idea of masculinity the most. his key tenets of Strength, Honor, Courage, and Mastery. any masculine trait i can think of could be described by those or a combination thereof.

I am not surprised that a western feminine mind would try to define masculinity in terms of consumerism and marketing.