Girls evolved to be able to get over their partner quick and replace them with a new oone because thousands of years ago, if a primitive chicks mate died, she had no protection or security. If she wasted time mourning, shed be unprotected. So instead, women just get new mates very quickly.

She loses attraction? New mate quickly.

You die and she has no one to take care of her? New mate quickly.

Etc etc.

a_regular • 6 points • 15 November, 2016 02:14 AM

This doesnt make much sense considering how many single girls there are that would be "unprotected." I think you answered your own question. You slowly became the woman in the relationship essentially and she slowly lost attraction. It wasnt quick, she probably just didnt have the balls to breakup right away; or maybe she thought you'd change. This is backed up by the fact that she doesnt have the balls to even face you to talk it over.

ponkyol • 19 points • 15 November, 2016 03:01 AM considering how many single girls there are that would be "unprotected."

There's no such thing as an "unprotected" girl when you have things like welfare and child support.

grubek • 5 points • 15 November, 2016 05:57 AM*

How much modern society protects women is one of the reasons shit got how it got. I promise you the ugly guy she continually rejects would look hundred times more attractive if she lived in a small village in the wilderness with no technology.

[deleted] • 5 points • 15 November, 2016 07:29 AM

Under this logic no women are ever single. This is patently untrue.

TheRedStoic • 10 points • 15 November, 2016 10:50 AM*

Women in modern society are rarely ever single in a classical sense.

support groups

Shelters

grants

big Daddy government

betas and orbiters abound

social media approval with go fund me

Primal, classical "single" is largely reserved for the bottom men.

[deleted] • 1 point • 16 November, 2016 02:14 AM

Because the welfare state exists solely for use by women.

[deleted] • 4 points • 15 November, 2016 09:57 AM women in modern society can survive as being single. Look at the early 1900's in France and most single women not living at home were prostitutes and beggars. It's well documented. It's much the same or worse the further back you go. This is in one of the more socially progressive societies in the EU.

Even if you go back to the 400's as people first started to acquire enough wealth to escape serfdom of a feudal society you still saw much the same concepts of the pre-civilized world.

There will always be exceptions to the rule in the nobility like Queen Elizabeth the first. However for the most part young women married early or died as spinster beggars and prostitutes.

The change from women to being able to hunt for themselves is a relatively new phenomenon. So naturally you will see some women who are objectively single in modern times this isn't a historical reality.

Judging the past based on the current situation is patently false logic.

[deleted] • 1 point • 16 November, 2016 02:16 AM

However for the most part young women married early or died as spinster beggars and prostitutes.

This is because women were not legally people allowed to work or own property in the traditional sense. Unless you had a "person" whose household you were attached to (father or husband, because a women is not a person), then the only options for you are begging or prostitution (or eventually shitty manual labour jobs post industrial revolution).

[deleted] • 0 points • 16 November, 2016 05:16 AM

Incorrect.

1718 in the US women had the right to own property. (Pennsylvania being the first)

1722 Russia gender segregation is illegal.

1771 France gain property & inheritance rights.

1776 France allowed women into apprenticeships

By the 1900's these barriers to speak off are multiple generations gone.

You have been swallowing the womens studies koolaid my friend.

In fact most of the laws erected to prevent women from these things were entertain until the 1600's and were repeal within 200 - 300 years. This was largely due to religious pressures.

[deleted] • 2 points • 16 November, 2016 08:14 AM

Listing stand-alone laws don't give you any cultural context for what normal behaviour is in a society.

Biotruths over systemic cultural biases. Sure.

TehJimmy • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 11:56 AM all they have ever had to do to have interested guys lining up is turn their phone on. abundance mentality comes effortlessly to them

NeedRPadvice • 19 points • 14 November, 2016 11:47 PM

Thats such a RP truth that makes me so mad. The only thing they have to do is turn there phone on and show up. I have to put SO much work in.

[deleted] • 20 points • 15 November, 2016 12:02 AM

You should be happy it's hard. What's the point if shit just falls into your lap? It'll get old after the initial thrill wears off.

You know why girls chase after the guys that don't give them any attention? Because it's a challenge, and therefore not boring for once.

Silver-Monk_Sh • 6 points • 15 November, 2016 08:13 AM

There's more to life though. Some of us have jobs & hobbies so our time is more valuable and it won't come off as "boring" if we could get sex when we want it without any problems.

LaRedPill • 3 points • 15 November, 2016 02:50 PM

The truth is, if your life and hobbies were really valuable then you would have trouble keeping girls off your pants.

Silver-Monk_Sh • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 05:06 PM

Not if those hobbies and life involve not being around girls.

Not everyone's some sports maniac, others are working at home making something happen.

If you work a full time job while running your own business and you dare have a hobby that's indoors then you have little to no chance.

LaRedPill • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 05:20 PM

You can spin it the way you want, if the hobbies and the job does not increase your smv, they are simply not valuable. You might like them, and please don't let anyone stop you from enjoying them, but don't lie to yourself that they are valuable.

[deleted] • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 06:56 PM

They increase your SMV if they make you happier and more pleasant to be around.

Nothing kills SMV more than being depressed.

I suggest you start looking at life in more than one dimension. SMV and women aren't everything.

LaRedPill • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 07:19 PM

Taking drugs also makes you happier and more pleasant to be around.

This is Red Pill, we are here to learn to get laid.

[deleted] • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 07:30 PM

Not in the long run it doesn't.

And the Red Pill is all about bettering yourself first, that's one of the basic concepts man.

If someone likes woodworking in their garage they shouldn't do it because women aren't there? That's absolutely preposterous.

Silver-Monk_Sh • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 07:45 PM

Why are you suddenly defining what's valuable?

You know, people use theredpill for different reasons and I used it to increase my options, I never was insecure about my own hobbies & interests.

It's..deluded to think that the only thing that matters is how other people view you, my life isn't based around what people think of me, and it's not like I sit around and do nothing.

Telling me that starting my own company isn't valuable, and being completely honest with myself isn't valuable? Absolutely ridiculous, you think you woke up from hanging out around here, but your beliefs are equally ridiculously as the betas you make fun of. It's funny how the people on here make fun of beta's for doing everything they can for women, and now you guys are doing everything you can for sex when you don't have to.

Your entire life, your hobbies & careers sole purpose is to get you laid? Well sorry if I don't value sex THAT much.

LaRedPill • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 08:14 PM

Value is inherently tied to society, if you have a great "thing" you want to "trade" but no one wants it, what is its value? ZERO.

You can get angry all you want, project all your insecurity on the messenger all you want, that does not bend reality, your valueless existence won't suddenly become valuable because of your sheer will.

you guys are doing everything you can for sex when you don't have to.

This is exactly my point, your hobbies would attract women without you having to make much of an effort... if they were valuable, you are lacking in either focus or skills.

Silver-Monk_Sh • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 08:20 PM*

Who is this no one? The sex?

There's money involved, there's interest. It just doesn't lead to sex and that's okay. The money itself can lead to sex and even then I would be doing it if it didn't. There's many people who are interested.

I'm not angry though? Why are you saying my existence is valueless? You are mistaking something greatly, and that's I understood TRP and already found success, and then I continued on with my life while you haven't.

You are throwing in these assumptions that I'm angry, and I want to revolve my life around sex, which is not true. All I cared about was having the option of having sex with many women, but that's not even hard anymore?

You are trying to find a problem where there is no problem, and you think what it takes to make you happy, is the same for me which is not true.

edit: Just because something doesn't attract women/sex does not mean it has no value, that is an incredibly narrow stupid mindset you're trying to force on me.

wont_tell_i_refuse • 8 points • 15 November, 2016 12:16 AM

Stop comparing your emotional experience to that of a woman. Stop viewing the world as "fair" or "unfair".

After a few more years of TRP you will lose the ability to empathize with women entirely, and that's a good thing.

asktrpthrow123 • 3 points • 15 November, 2016 02:58 AM

It bugs the crap out of me too... put in a shit ton of work to increase my value just to get with some subpar women. Whereas most ugly women can go out a night and be guaranteed to pretty much fuck a random guy.

They get to sleep around, enjoy the slut lifestyle and then some beta will say "the past is the past" and settle for that shit. It's pretty much the reason I'll probably not get married unless I've had my share of abundance. And even then I'll be picky.

It stinks because I would have loved to spread my genes and have kids to take care of, but I just don't see the unicorn I'm looking for around.

ThemApples007 • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 02:54 PM

Holding grudges won't do anything for you. Just live your life by your rules and enjoy yourself. Being concerned with others, especially women, is a waste of time. They're never happy anyway.

zyk0s • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 06:59 AM

And when you're done doing the work, you get decades of attractiveness. Women start depreciating at 25 and there's nothing they can do about it.

Life ain't fair, but there is a balance. Tough out your cons and enjoy your pros.

InChargeMan • 3 points • 15 November, 2016 07:07 AM

Until it stops working for them. AKA the wall nice_and_friendly • 4 points • 15 November, 2016 07:20 AM* not really.. if you think post-wall women cant get dick from pretty much whoever, you're mistaken. in the last few years i have plated everywhere from 18-45 and one of the things i have learned is that at some point they realize and are actually pretty open about the fact that they hit "the wall". usually its around 30. they say it in womanese, but i hear it loud and clear. they know they arent getting any younger, and they know you arent about to make them your wife, so they are down to just be your little whore. they all know the score.. its actually a refreshing change of pace. and lord knows as long as they take care of their body like a normal person i dont give a fuck.. its not like women instantly turn disgusting on their 30th birthday. plenty of short skinny 7-8's in their 30s are fully aware that they are on the decline, and it just makes them bigger whores

Yeah, we're on the same page. The distinction is that the young hottie gets guys to do all kinds of shit for them, but them stuff, etc. The older woman (as you indicated) is now playing a different game, she knows she is no longer the prize. She can't expect the same level of attention and benefits that she once enjoyed.

In reality, most reasonably attractive guys can get laid at will, just not with an attractive woman. Unattractive older women can get laid at will, but not by Chad, he is busy taking a 22 year old to pound town.

nice_and_friendly • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 07:31 AM sure, very true. i suppose a part of the point i was trying to make is that hitting "the wall" doesnt necessarily mean unattractive. i know women in their 40s with kids that acknowledge hitting the wall, and still look 25. in general their value to me is far more contingent upon how well they take care of their body than their age.. honestly im only 26 and these days i think the older the better. i guess life experience has led me to take the "wall" thing as educational rhetoric at this point

Fictitiousfallacy • 25 points • 14 November, 2016 11:47 PM

It's always heartbreaking for a human being who says they love you and would do anything for you to one day give you the cold shoulder. I had a similar experience, brother.

What we as men need to understand is, she never loved you. At least not in the same way you loved her. Women DO NOT LOVE MEN. Women love THINGS about men. For example his wallet, his car, his superior DNA that can be passed down to her offspring, you name it. Women love how you make them feel.

Men actually love women, for the most part. Think back to a time in your relationship when you were the most in love with her, you didn't just love the sex you got from her, you probably loved her as a person, you loved her even though she was imperfect and had so many glaring issues. This is the difference between men and women; they cannot love in the same way we do.

This is why most modern relationships fail without some kind of knowledge of female nature or TRP. When you don't receive the same love you give out, it hurts. But when you learn to accept that at best, if they love you, their love is conditional, then you'll be able to move on with your life and have better future relationships.

wont_tell_i_refuse • 9 points • 15 November, 2016 12:17 AM

I had a similar experience, brother.

Hear, hear. I did too. I think a lot of us did.

This place is so great in part because it lets you mourn that part of you, while also planning productively for the future.

bp_reject • 9 points • 15 November, 2016 12:44 AM

I have as well. One day they tell you, you are their world, the next, you are nothing. Loyalty to a woman, is what fairy dust is to man, a foreign concept, something that can't be comprehended.

I am not even into my rage phase yet. I am still sad phase of the trp. I am constantly tearing up thinking savage nature of hypergamy. There is no winning against hypergamy. There is no winning. I thought about writing a letter to the son I will never have, and explain to him why I wouldn't bring him to this world. Why would I bring a son or daughter into this blue pill world?

Worst for me has been seeing men break friendships over pussy. I need more redpilled or MGTOW friends IRL. The ones I had, were hungry guys waiting to extend a hand to branch swinger.

zezozio • 6 points • 15 November, 2016 03:06 AM

We broke up. Well, she broke up. 4 weeks later on the phone, she tells me "I'm yours". A week after that she was having wild sex with a guy who replaced me one-for-one.

A first I thought she was some kind of special (fucked-up) cookie. After a while reading TRP, MGTOW and the usual suspects on the blogosphere it (finally) dawned on me that she wasn't special but typical.

I wish she was special and there would be actual love, but no, it was just the role I held and the feeling I generated. So be it.

Echo609 • 7 points • 15 November, 2016 05:21 AM [recovered]

If it makes you feel any better she'll do it to him too

zezozio • 4 points • 15 November, 2016 02:02 PM

Oh, I am at peace now. She was my last oneitis. Now I know.

She finally got what she wanted : some kind of Chad-Alpha-Master. She tried to subdue him and do her jedi-tricks on him. One evening the new guy snapped: he slapped her hard for a solid half-hour, strangled her nearly to death and... now he's in prison and she and her kids have big flashes of PTSD. I simultaneously pity the Chad and am grateful she out of my life.

bp_reject • 2 points • 15 November, 2016 04:25 PM

Remember if you ever even try to come back to her life or accept her, everything that happened will be your fault. It can never be Chad's fault. Chad is infallible. It would be your fault for leaving her to Chad. (Although she left you.) Hypergamy always wins. Don't fight nature.

zezozio • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 07:10 PM

So true ! Well, obviously, first of all, she left me because of me. Not because she's a bore and a mindless bitch. She can't be at fault.

And I learned (through acquaintance) that it was my fault that Chad mashed her: he found 2 pictures of me on her cell (see!!!), and that was the starting point of the crisis... (let's not talk about how she cheated him before, that would be disrespectful of her great pain)

Regarding getting back there, to the plantation... ooooh no! nononononoNO! I'm FREE brother, FREE ! Been there, done that bought the T-Shirt, wrote a book. You know the sayin' :

Fool me once, shame on you; fool me twice, shame on me!

I'd rather lose my left testicle (that I am VERY found of) than going back there with the mind-games, the nagging, the pre-menopause, the 2 little fucktards and now the PTSD... Phhhewwww

bp_reject • 2 points • 15 November, 2016 09:28 PM

You dealt with 2 children for her? Ugh.

I am as BP as it gets, but I have been blessed to avoid that nonsense. I had friends go down that road and its horrible. Due to being BP or luck, I haven't gotten a girl pregnant yet. I intend to keep it that way.

bigk12345 • 5 points • 15 November, 2016 03:50 AM

I'm still in the angry phase. It has been 7 months.

Knowing the truth about hypergamy does not make it easier.

It is unrelenting.

With the blowing up with social media, it only feeds into the womens' fragile egos to be entertained at the snap of the fingers and to get instant validation.

I see less and less women that are good mothers.

I need to figure out how to lose the self imposed necessity to have an emotional connection with a chick to have sex

I have fucked girls where I don't know there names . This was after my encounter with a BPD.

RPthrowaway123 • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 08:55 PM

[deleted] • 2 points • 15 November, 2016 05:33 AM

If you leave a woman, then she will only complain to her girlfriends about how she wants someone to love her. They never say something along the lines of wanting to meet a man and appreciate him and do good things for one another. We're accessories like a coach purse.

2comment • 24 points • 14 November, 2016 11:13 PM*

The real question to ask is "How can us guys fall so damn hard and deep for women that in reality do so little for us in return?"

Evolution wired the two sexes different. Women being nonchalant branch swingers aided their genes in spreading by picking the winning party in a crunch - they evolved into the gender of war brides, etc. Men being protective of their family aided their genes by being ensuring the kids stay alive, and their loyalty worked well in other instances like tribal cohesion ensuring the stronger (more united) sides won the little wars and other such hardships.

Yes, sex feels good but I connected with this girl on an emotional level.

Trust me, this connection doesn't exist except in your mind, it's your brain tricking you to go that extra mile.

Much about TRP is killing that inner beta that wants to follow this predictable script.

Edit: tldr; Go lift.

InformalCriticism • 10 points • 15 November, 2016 01:51 AM

It's actually gradual, and you have to notice behavioral changes; don't listen to what she says, look at what she does. She will hide it from you until she is ready, because fuck you, solipsism.

You feel this way because she chose the exit strategy that ruins you and allows her to feel fine the whole time. Just never let it happen again.

Rollo does a great job of explaining it here. I don't know if I always agree with the evolutionary psychology theories but This one seems solid. It basically says what redpilljunior expressed.

Thank you. This is the post I was alluding to above. Glad to see another big fan of Rollo!

graffix13 • 2 points • 15 November, 2016 04:18 PM

Rollo posted a comment in the article and this line is just pure gold:

Gentlemen, it doesn't get easier, you have to get BETTER. Depending on her conditions, depending upon your own, hypergamy is the stalking butler in the shadows just waiting for you to slip.

Docbear64 • 3 points • 15 November, 2016 04:39 PM*

It's too true , sad but true , you can't really rest because they NEED to constantly know that you are the best she can do . Thinking about that I don't know how other men handle LTR's after being unplugged , Shit was stressful when I was a blue pill and that's when women were princesses to me , not lions stalking me waiting to pounce.

graffix13 • 2 points • 15 November, 2016 04:42 PM

Exactly. Ignorance is bliss, but now that I the truth...there is NO WAY I will EVER be involved in another LTR. No woman is worth that.

I take care of myself, first and last.

batfish55 • 7 points • 15 November, 2016 12:50 AM*

Has no one done the sidebar reading?

Stop posting shit, go read the rational male. All of it.

In this case, Rollo draws upon evolutionary psychology. When Tribe A defeated Tribe B, A killed the men and the children (Why the fuck should we keep them? They're not my kids). They would keep the captured women of B as breeding stock. Eventually, women developed the ability to quickly form a bond with their captors.

The same thing, in modern day, as her running off with the quarterback, a clearly alpha male compared to you. It seems like some cold ass shit, but makes sense in that context.

Refrigerator1043 • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 05:27 AM

This makes total sense to me. After generations of this it makes sense that the women who were best able to branch-swing without remorse fared better and passed those genes along.

I also think that since women generally have a much easier time finding mates than men, they are naturally faster to get over any particular man since he is more easily replaceable.

"Love" is an ambiguous term. It means one thing to you, and quite another to her.

Prepend everything a woman says with "Right now, I feel that..." You'll be much happier, and experience fewer nasty surprises.

It's been over a year and i'm still not completely over that girl despite having seen a lot after...

Take it positively, the one girl in this world that could beta-fy you is out of your way. The kryptonite has evicted itself from your life. Rejoice and celebrate.

These kinda girls are like heroin man, a highly addictive drug that only makes you feel good when you're on it but makes you crave it when you're not, so much so that you can't think straight.

These sorta women are heroin my friend, it's not gonna be easy but I suggest you quit that drug bro. Withdrawal is going to be hell but you if you can survive it, nothing in the future will be able to shake your frame.

Werewolf35b • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 12:49 AM

Statistically though the opposite is true when you get older.

Men get new wives and girlfriends faster then women do after thier spouse dies. Average is 6 months. I can't imagine replacing my wife after her being dead only six months but there is the mentality that an older man "needs" someone to "take care" of him. I.e. prepare his meals and do his laundry.

Refigerator1043 • 2 points • 15 November, 2016 05:25 AM

That may be because male SMV peaks later than female.

zezozio • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 03:12 AM

There was a thread on this a few years ago in the main sub. I'll look for it, it was a good theory. The crux of the issue is that men and women do not love the same way. The biggest revelation I've had is that women DECIDE when they love you and when they don't. When they're done with the relationship for whatever reason they decide they don't love you and that's that.

Believe me when I tell you that almost every man here has experienced that. In my case with a 11 year marriage that I was blindsided when it ended suddenly.

This is AWALT at its core. Don't expect it to ever be different.

Stop what you're doing and google: redpill light-switch effect. Best thing I've read on this and made me see women in a completely different way.

You have to understand that women are socially conditioned to not bitch or nag. One of the worst things you can call a woman is a "nag" -- in fact, I'd venture to guess that most women would rather be called a slut than a nag!

So good women tend to refrain from expressing their disappointment. We keep our mouths shut while silently hoping you'll realize the error of your ways and shape up. (But sometimes, if you watch closely, you can see the light slowly dying in a woman's eyes.) Meanwhile her man is going along fat, dumb and happy, oblivious to problems, until one day his wife/girlfriend "just snaps." Actually the relationship probably had been heading south for awhile; he just didn't recognize it. Then he bitches that women are "so fickle"! No, not really.

How to avoid this? Dudes, keep your shit together. Don't get sloppy and lazy and expect your woman to do all the heavy lifting in the relationship, even if she's not actively complaining about it.

like how guy can next a girl so fast whenever she cheat? double standard anyone?

omega_dawg93 • 1 point • 15 November, 2016 05:57 PM when you dump her, the soap opera starts & it's a while before she is over you.

but when she has had enough, understand her process of replacing you started long long ago.

iow, branch swinging looks easy only bc she started the swinging process while she was still emotionally connected to you. as soon as those emotions die, it gets cold... fast.

You are over thinking this. You became a beta, she met someone out of the blue that plowed her, and instead of taking responsibility for her actions she just hard nexted you.

Instead of asking how could she, ask, what will YOU do now? Stop thinking about her and her stupid dumbass childish thought processes and trying to explain them. Waste of time.
