

How widespread is the Red Pill in Asia and how has the Red Pill helped your career?

Hello everyone.

I recently came across the red pill a few months back, so I'm new here. Thank you to those who read that first post a while back and gave me encouragement.

Just a little background, I'm a young Chinese 23 years old guy in a relationship. I've read about omega, beta and alpha males. I think I'm somewhere in between beta and alpha. I'm currently a work in progress from being beta to alpha.

The Red Pill is still very new to me, so there are some things I haven't figured on my own yet. (Though I've read "The Way of The Superior Man" by David Deida and the Manipulated Man by Esther Vilar before finding about the Red Pill)

I have two questions..

1. I was just curious.. how widespread is the Red Pill in Asia, particularly in Malaysia and are there any Malaysians here?
2. I'm not sure if this has been addressed before. How has the Red Pill helped in terms of one's career? Would like personnel experience though. If there are previous links, do post the links so I can read them.

Edit: If you're not sure about the first question, then just skip that.
