

The night before Christmas

Twas the night before Christmas, and a glass was left out
Beside it a pill, red and bright, filled with doubt
With a promise of change and a new way of thinking
He grabbed the glass, and started drinking

The man took the pill in his hand and he swallowed
But he was not ready for that which followed
He spat it back out with a great deal of force
But his life was the same and he lived with remorse

So he tried it again, and this time it went down
It got caught in his throat and he started to drown
After coughing and fitting and making a scene
It slipped into his chest and he started to dream

He began to fit, and dance like a monkey
His wife, not impressed, would not be his flunky
Hoping for sex and a life much improved
His cute little wife had turned into a prude

He came to a forum online filled with strangers
They laughed and insulted, highlighting the danger
'No change will you get if you don't shift your mind'
'your lifts don't impress me, and we are not kind'

'realise you are one of many dumb men'
'and your wife will keep you as a sheep in a pen'
Disgusted with life and hoping for change
The pill reached his head and he felt rather strange

He realised he must do things for him only
His wife, quite bemused, thought he was a phoney
As he changed his perspective to become like the rest
He weaved, and dodged, and avoided the shit-tests

He no longer cared if they banged all night long
As the girl at the counter clearly wanted his shlong
He knew he could bang any girl that he wanted
And his wife knew he could not be confronted

The wife, feeling tingles down her spine
Decided to bang like her life was on the line
They went forwards and backwards like a man in a fight
By the end, a new kind of man came to light

He did what he wanted and lead a tight ship
And her cute little pussy was starting to drip
For a man he was now, no longer a boy
And his wife could finally be his fuck toy

Merry Christmas gentlemen. I am no poet but hey.

Did Santa leave it out for him to find? The pill was his present.. Santa is a red pill mother fucker. All I picture is Ron Jeremy in a red suit.

“As the girl at the counter clearly wanted his shlong”

Make Uncle Chad smile.

So much talent.

Good job faggot.

Merry Christmas everyone.

And if I offend you by saying Merry Christmas, then you are a terrorist.

Because God Bless America.

But mostly Texas.

This is a beautiful, concise, poetic description of the transformation in a man when he unplugs and starts using Dread Game. Note that 'he no longer cared' and HOW he got to that point and WHAT the effect is on the wife.

From the title and preview of this thread, I came in just to call you a faggot, but that was an amusing read. Merry Christmas!

Awesome post. You condense the journey nicely as well as how you'll fuck up along the way.

Excellent summary, full of holiday cheer.

Even though fuck toy rhymed, I really like using the phrase fuck puppet more.
