

Vasectomy and Hypergamy

3 upvotes | 24 March, 2018 | by becoming_alpha

---

See my last post for an askMRP cut the shit summary.

My wife wants a 4th child. I don't. The other night I was initiating and she said she'd have sex, but only if I didn't wear a condom. I declined. I've been considering a vasectomy for a while, and this incident made me think it's about time. My question for MRP is whether having a vasectomy has any negative impact on desire driven by hypergamy. Do women see you as less of an alpha or less valuable for provisioning for their future if you're shooting blanks?

---

Archived from theredarchive.com

---

Comments

---

DanG3 • 8 points • 24 March, 2018 04:54 PM

Apparently she doesn't think you are of sufficient caliber to get pussy elsewhere.

becoming_alpha[S] • 3 points • 24 March, 2018 08:50 PM

Yeah, could be.

[deleted] • 5 points • 24 March, 2018 03:22 PM

If it did...would you change your mind to suit hypergamy?

becoming_alpha[S] • 0 points • 24 March, 2018 08:49 PM

No, I'm going to get a vasectomy sooner or later. It's more a question of whether it would be unattractive to her hypergamy. I can deal with that since she doesn't find me attractive right now anyway.

hystericalbonding • 6 points • 24 March, 2018 07:37 PM

Here, and here, and all over the main sub.

My wife wants a 4th child. I don't.

You don't want more kids with her, or at all? If you don't want more kids, then get a vasectomy. She might divorce you, but it's better than having an unwanted child, which would lead to an even worse divorce.

You're solidly in her frame. This post is fear and insecurity masquerading as a theoretical discussion.

she'd have sex, but only if I didn't wear a condom

I'd be out the fucking door if my wife tried to manipulate me into something as serious as having a child. If you see her as your only option for sex, then you've given her all the cards.

Vasectomy seems redundant when you've already given her your balls.

Halfway through WISNIFG, which is awesome but tough to internalize.

No shit. Your answer to her demand is the title of the fucking book. Practice the skills everywhere.

becoming_alpha[S] • 1 point • 24 March, 2018 09:29 PM

Good links. Real mixed bag about whether to get a vasectomy, but seems like no SMV reduction.

You don't want more kids with her, or at all?

I don't want any more at all. Until reading the responses here and your links, I hadn't thought about finding someone new and that the new girl might want to have kids, but at this point I wouldn't want to start a new family anyway. The three kids I have now are plenty.

You're solidly in her frame.

I'm not, but it's a frame battle at this point. She's befuddled that I'm not falling into her frame and doing what's best for "the family" (her).

WINSIFG... Practice the skills everywhere.

Our conversation the next night when she was trying to convince me to have more kids became almost comical. I was a broken record that "I don't want more kids." I must have repeated that 20 times. Why don't you want kids? Because I don't want any more. Why? I don't want them. Rinse. Repeat.

Also threw in some A&A when she said but we could make it all work with a 4th kid. I said yeah, we could figure it out and make it work with 18 kids, but I don't want to.

She was looking for every angle, every possible way to change my mind and simply wasn't hearing me. I did this to myself being bluepill for the last decade, she still thinks she's steering the ship. This is what got me thinking it's about time for a vasectomy.

[deleted] • 1 point • 30 March, 2018 08:28 PM

Your answer to her demand is the title of the fucking book gold

McLuhanSaidItFirst • 0 points • 25 March, 2018 01:56 AM*

Vasectomy seems redundant when you've already given her your balls.

...wow. I've been away from this sub for a while, forgot what it's like.

Narrator: Testicular cancer's mine, that one should be a no-brainer.

Marla : Technically, I have more of a right to be there than you; you still have your balls.

Narrator: You're kidding, right?

Marla: I don't know. Am I?

FWIW, some women, I've read, have way less attraction if you're not giving them a good dose of ejaculate. They get off on the sensations, the symbolism, the testosterone/whatever neurotransmitters in semen or just some reason they can't/won't articulate. Doesn't happen to everyone or even most but I have heard of it.

_WhatTheFrack_ • 4 points • 24 March, 2018 06:00 PM

Women can't see your vasectomy.

hystericalbonding • 1 point • 25 March, 2018 09:07 AM

Women can't see your vasectomy

My sack is extra wrinkly now

InChargeMan • 4 points • 24 March, 2018 10:13 PM

Shoot it on her tits like god intended.

470_2_700_nm • 3 points • 26 March, 2018 12:11 PM

Get a vasectomy but don't tell her about it. Then tell her you want a 4rh and "try and try and try".

agentphunk • 1 point • 26 March, 2018 08:17 PM

Right up until she goes and fucks (and gets pregnant by) Chad.

470_2_700_nm • 1 point • 27 March, 2018 11:35 AM

Chad doesn't worry about other chads. Seems you do though.

becoming_alpha[S] • 1 point • 27 March, 2018 09:34 PM

Sounds fun but I'd rather have her actually desire me.

MrChad_Thundercock • 5 points • 24 March, 2018 05:38 PM

Why are you wearing a condom to fuck your wife?

Westernhagen • 11 points • 24 March, 2018 06:25 PM

So that he controls the birth control, which is evidently necessary now that there is a dispute over whether or not to have another kid.

becoming_alpha[S] • 1 point • 24 March, 2018 08:55 PM

Yeah, a couple years ago she got her IUD out following kid #3, and I took over birth control. I've been on the fence about kid #4 for a couple years, but since finding MRP I've pretty much decided I'm a no.

I can keep tracking and using condoms when she's ovulating, but I'm ready to be done with that game. I'm looking for input from other MRP guys who have had vasectomies to see if it's impacted attraction for them.

MrChad_Thundercock • 7 points • 24 March, 2018 09:21 PM

Get snipped. Start raw dogging your plates on the side.

becoming_alpha[S] • 2 points • 24 March, 2018 09:36 PM

Chad, I always like your input. I'm pushing into DL5 now and DL6 is up next. Not sure how high up the ladder I'll go.

BobbyPeru • 2 points • 25 March, 2018 06:09 AM

If you're sure you don't want another one, tell her you are done and plan the vasectomy. This is one situation where you need to be overt. If she wants to end it over that... well, that's called a deal breaker— better to find out sooner than later. But, if she wants to end it over that, I'd question her motivations and willingness to make your relationship work... in which case, you just need to accept it.

If you're done, you're done. Period.

[deleted] • 1 point • 24 March, 2018 06:30 PM

The theory you're obliquely and probably unconsciously referencing is that when dating, telling a woman you're sterile (for whatever reason) could check a box into her "unmanly" column. So don't do that.

You are three crotchfruit deep already with this woman. Doesn't apply to you. You trying to create some sort of team?

It boils down to the fact that you should not add any weight to either side of the scale based on what a coincidental outcome factor may be.

I want motorcycles. Love them. Addicted. I bought motorcycles. Coincidentally my neighbor likes motorcycles too. Should that fact even enter my decisionmaking process?

becoming_alpha[S] • 1 point • 24 March, 2018 08:58 PM

Good point. My decision, not hers.

red-sfplus • 1 point • 24 March, 2018 11:03 PM

The fact that she only wants to fuck you to have babies is a bigger issue and the one worth addressing.

I am snipped. Bothered me more than it ever did her.

Never been a problem with any one else I have fucked other than her as well.

becoming_alpha[S] • 1 point • 27 March, 2018 09:33 PM

Yes, that is the bigger problem and why I'm here. 15 years of being a beta will do that. Working the MAP to change things.

Iammp2 • 1 point • 25 March, 2018 12:03 PM

I wondered the same thing before my vasectomy.

She will probably grieve the idea of not having a fourth because a vasectomy is so permanent. It will effect her. You need to try and get her on board before you do it. It's not about being alpha or not because it involves your literal balls. In her mind it's about you making a decision that effects her without her input. But it's your body and you obviously have that right to snip without her input. But the decision is what she would be upset about, not about you being less of a man.

On the other hand, you will be able to fuck her without a condom and some testosterone and other hormones will be given to her from your cum so doing so may put her in a better mood in the long run.

becoming_alpha[S] • 1 point • 27 March, 2018 09:38 PM

I think I'm making some progress on getting her to let go of the idea of more kids. Now it's back to the MAP to generate her interest in me.

AlphadustBeta • 1 point • 26 March, 2018 03:27 AM

I had a vasectomy after kid 4... all of them were planned and happy about it. No noticeable difference in sex or ejaculate before or after. Maybe even more enjoyable sex, since there is no concern about potential pregnancies, or having to use condoms, or timing of the month, or interruptus.

becoming_alpha[S] • 1 point • 27 March, 2018 09:36 PM

Good details, thanks. I like the upsides.

Big_Daddy_PDX • 1 point • 26 March, 2018 11:04 PM

If you don't want another kid and you already have 3, why don't you just schedule the damn operation? I'm 46 with 2 kids and a new relationship w/ a a great girl, but even I would have a hard time with having a kid win her. Also, I'm a no condom kind of guy, so I can't imagine how you're managing in a relationship.

electric_dragon1 • 1 point • 24 March, 2018 03:28 PM*

There's no apparent difference in your cum before vasectomy or after... so the only difference would be psychological. FYI getting a vasectomy without spousal consent is grounds for divorce in some states. Or so I heard.

Edit, reread your question more closely. Of course that you can't n make more humans is another huge difference- but I don't think masculinity is perceived to be lower- not in my experience anyways. That's more dependent on everything else you do

Westernhagen • 1 point • 24 March, 2018 06:38 PM

FYI getting a vasectomy without spousal consent is grounds for divorce in some states.

Leaving aside the fact that in ALL states, she can get a divorce for any reason or even no reason, in many states doctors insist on having the wife sign a "spousal consent" form indicating she knows the vasectomy is happening. But I think if you shop around for doctors you might be able to find one that will do it without the wife signing off.

Persaeus • 1 point • 24 March, 2018 06:49 PM

Yes or just lie and say your not married. It's none of his business. He's a meat mechanic and your asking him to change the plugs.

McLuhanSaidItFirst • 1 point • 25 March, 2018 02:04 AM

I have heard of much less ejaculate post-vasectomy. You're saying there was no noticeable difference for you?

electric_dragon1 • 1 point • 25 March, 2018 05:05 AM

Yep, I can't tell the difference. The sperm part is actually a pretty small percentage of what you produce. What I would worry about however is the possibility of being in long term pain as a consequence of the surgery. Google PVPS. It's rare but can happen. I might post about it in the main Reddit later