You add a nickname if you want to. Not because you want to send some covert message about who or what she is. How exactly is she seeing this? How is she near your phone when she calls you to see the caller ID?

And this isn't a process to give off some half hearted attempt at dread.

You guys are missing the point of dread. It's not to instill jealousy. That will backfire on you. It's to improve and show you are an attractive man. That women want you and that she needs to come to the decision if she is going to work to keep you. The women that are responding to this crap are DTF and your marriage wasn't as far gone as you thought, but you were/are.

Dread is all about you until the last stages where you have put you wife/LTR on notice. Even still it's you. You making the choice to move forward with your life.

So.. You have a cute nickname. Are you going to change it when she's a bitchy? Then leave it laying around. Maybe she'll see it and get the hint?

Get out of her frame and stop with the covert communications. If you want to call your wife DTF Girl and have her notice? just fucking do it.

Manufacturing jealousy has always backfired with my wife. Probably because her envy tank is overfilled most of the the time. But I guess it could work for some guys

Any jealousy using Dread is technically manufactured. If you are being flirted with because you are a great guy then it's not manufactured. That doesn't have to instill jealousy just confirmation that you are the prize and the woman you are with has you. To other women it makes them want you.

Vs the fact that you are out there creating a myth for yourself that isn't real.

If you are doing the whole, "that's DTF Girl 3" then its really nothing more than teasing. Which is fine. It can be fun, but isn' dread nor jealousy.

I didn't think about it that hard, simply having fun for my own amusement. She saw it when I was sending her a link of something we were both looking at. I get your point but in my case it's just not this deep...

This is a fun game you can play with her.

These are not the same

Yeah, I totally see your point. I think the problem is in my delivery of this. Because the way that it went down wasn't the way I'm suggesting it in this post. It's like in my post I'm trying to say that you can do this too and have good results but in reality if you try to do the same thing I did it would be covert because it would not be organic and it would be done for her.
