

Not sure if this is the right place to post (am wife)

August 6, 2016 | 7 upvotes | by ImFuckingPolite

My husband works in a town far away for a few days at a time and comes home on his days off. He's coming home tonight after a long ass day at work. I want to surprise him but I know he will be tired. House is cleaned. I am gonna get cutied up and I want to do something special for him. Should I just let him unwind like usual or would a romantic candlelit finger food dinner be too much after a long day of work?

Not the right place, but since you asked.. Have dinner ready and hot. Make his plate for him. Sit quietly while he eats. When he finishes, ask him where he wants to sit while you blow him. Then deepthroat, don't neglect the balls, swallow. After that, a nice back rub while he falls asleep.

Hahaha thanks for the answer. If this will make the end of his work week better I'll do it.

We're pretty simple creature. Balls empty, belly full, don't talk too much.

Are you Macedonian by chance? (I know it's random)

Depends on what you have in mind.

Lol just wondering if you have Macdonian ties. My friend worded something like you said to me and told me her mom told it to her on her wedding night as did her mom before her. Was wondering if it was some cultural saying.

It's too bad more mothers do not provide this advice to their bridal daughters , although I have heard of it before. The world would be a better place.

Ps. Some men prefer the blow job before dinner, kinda takes the edge off. Just ask your man. We tend to answer direct questions with direct answers.

I also like to have my ego stroked with elaborate power fantasies and the adoring selfless* worship of a woman.

* but, like, only in a totally not needy way.

I've lived it though. Recommend it.

you mean, right before she lightened your wallet?

Most of the older generation of women around the world knew this.

How to have your man be romantic ? Keep his balls empty and stomach full.

How to keep the man from cheating ? Same answer.

The logistical preferences can be different but the theme is the same.

I'm much more likely to feel respected and desired by the woman who emptied my balls and filled mah belly

[deleted] • 2 points • 7 August, 2016 12:43 PM

This is the bedrock really. Also a recipie not just for romance but also for tolerance of any number of shortcomings on her part lol

You'd think it'd be a footnote at the very least in the women's studies programs, female empowerment as it were lol

[deleted] • 2 points • 7 August, 2016 12:46 PM

its the female answer to "lift, own your shit, and take care of things/ make things happen"

[deleted] • 1 point • 7 August, 2016 12:57 PM

Exactly.

The mind does wander at the possibilities. I could see you as visiting faculty.

Just gotta work on your curriculum man.

Module one: The Myth of Surfeit: Or: How to turn any man into an Uncomplaining ATM

Think of the fieldwork opportunities lol

Its a common trope. Balls empty, stomach full. I say it to my wife regularly, whenever she complicates things or can't figure me out.

[deleted] • 14 points • 6 August, 2016 07:44 PM

Absolutely. I don't know why girls don't know this. It wraps up all our triggers. Genuine desire, appreciation and relaxation. Literally the only gift you'll ever have to give him

Anything else is him being appreciative, but not truly adoring of you Awwwww.

Why are you asking us? If our wives were like this we wouldn't be running Dread Game. LOL.

I want to know what my husband would like. He's not very vocal about some things.
