I feel like y'all are probably gonna say numbers but I'm not sure. Which is higher yield?

Get the digits. Socmed is for idjits.

numbers because a lot of girls out there just want to have more snap/insta followers.

I've had instances where I ask a girl for her number, she'll reply with something like, "can I just give you my snapchat/insta instead?" I just say "I don't use either of those."

I get the number 99% of the time when that happens.

Number. Much more personal. Social media is just validation for them.

I give mine 100% of the time, and most of the time the women text me pretty quickly. I'd tried both giving and asking, and weirdly enough I've had much better results with giving.

Facebook, tbh.

Women are always insintcively less entitled / thotty on there.

In my experience girls always post hoe shit for validation and likes there too
