I broke up with a girl last week after 6 months. Technically we weren't BF/GF but exclusive. After 4 months I basically asked why am I being patient with her aka why she won't commit to being my GF. She says she's not ready because she still thinks about her EX (They broke up 6 months ago after 3 month relationship and he got MARRIED [2 years ago she also kissed me when she was still together with him while we were in college]) and that she needs a real job (she's a server at age 24). I said I need to have some sort of commitment (very needy and beta - this was all before I found TRP). We agree to become exclusive.

A couple weeks ago she was upset because she noticed I was being distant and that we haven't been hanging out and talking as much. I said I'm fine it's just that we've been working more. (I checked her phone and noticed this one guy she's brought up before was trying to invite her to his apt for "wine and cheese". She didn't say no but somewhat entertained the idea saying "would you cook me up a vegetarian dish for me?" He said "anything for you beautiful:)))" She also randomly texted him when she was over my house after our convo that night saying "hola" at 1:45am.

Fast forward to next week. She asks to come over Mon. I fuck her good and she says how everything feels "normal" again and that today felt so special. Since I would be busy the next couple days and she's been complaining about not hanging out I invite her over the next two following days. She said she was busy one day and the next basically just shut me down. Okay whatever.

We always hang out on Friday nights after she gets out of work so I didn't want to look like a needy bitch, I let her initiate. Instead we had a stale back and fourth then at 12:30am she says she's getting a drink with "my friend". I knew immediately it was a guy because she would have told me otherwise. I then said "Enjoy" then ignored her for 1.5 days with her calling me 15 times. Texting, trying to get a hold of me through IG and twitter.

I told her she's been sending mixed signals, etc. Then she tells me about Friday night and how she didn't mean to act sketchy about it. She told me about this guy before which is why it was even more strange for her to not say anything about it. She didn't know I knew she was actually getting drinks with him. Then I ask "is he gay?" playfully. She thinks about it then says "yeah I think he is" but then doubles back and says how he asked if she was seeing anyone she said she was then he asked for a kiss when they left. She told him no and that they shouldn't talk anymore (something along those lines)

Then started to cry saying she needed space (regarding to me ignoring her phone calls and texts). I lost my frame and say I'm sorry.

When she left I realized WTF am I doing? Then asked why she lied about him being gay. She couldn't come up with a reason just that she "wasn't thinking". Then tried again to make herself the victim "Did your friends tell you to ignore me? I can't believe you did that" I just ignored her.

Two days later, she comes over. I'm cold because I want to read her texts to see if she was lying about the guy saying that she cut off communication. She goes to the bathroom. I see that she was texting him the next two following days. Him talking about a date (could either have been playful or serious) and her saying shes free on mondays but she would rather hang outside of work. (I dont remember when this was said but either way she lied about saying they shouldnt talk)

I went cold. I denied all her touches. She starts apologizing for lying. I dont care, I say nothing this whole time. (She does't know I read her texts). I told her I need to go to sleep. She wouldnt leave but I was stern. She stormed out. I walked her to her car then said "Listen, we made some great memories but this isnt going to work out"

I feel like I made the right decision yet obviously after a breakup you just think about all the positives. Ive start feeling guilty/regretfull like I should have slept on it.

Last night, I had sex but I couldnt get hard until she sucked me off. I was still thinking about her. I fucked her for a couple min then just lost interest,pulled out then fingered her till she came. I thought sex would help but it did nothing for me and although I hate her, I'm still thinking about her wondering if I made the right decision.

She feels guilt. Clearly did something wrong.

he asked for a kiss when they left. She told him no and that they shouldnt talk anymore Bullshit. They probably fucked around. She lied.

I was manipulated, lost frame and said im sorry.

Lost frame big time. At least you acknowledged that.

I feel like I made the right decision

You did. Stick to no contact. I detect a strong oneitis with this one. Game other girls when you're ready.

Does it make sense to not go after people if you like them. You aren't planning out your life, but if it is just for fun, you are having plates, whats the issue.

Flamethrowa21 • 5 points • 19 February, 2019 07:48 PM

She doesn't respect him. It doesn't sound like he treated her like a plate, more of a LTR attempt. If he had some balls maybe he could salvage it and be enough of a man to plate her.. but I think his best option is radio silence.

After taking the red pill last month and knowing what I know now I feel like I can salvage it but never give her exclusivity like before. Still, I can't be the first to contact one another otherwise I'd lose all my power and would be rewarding bad behavior, correct?

Flamethrowa21 • 1 point • 19 February, 2019 08:12 PM

It's all about being less emotionally invested than the girl. Reaching out to her would show her that she can get away with that behavior.. how long have you gone no contact since you told her you're done?

I broke up with her a week from today. Two days later on valentines she dropped off her gifts and card (which said how she never would do anything to break our trust or hurt me) at my house. She also wanted to say goodbye and thanks for everything in person, (and also to see if i read her card). We did later. I was emotionless, not butthurt. She gave me a hug, i gave her a half ass hug back (if even) - didnt say thanks for everything back and that bullshit. Then I said "okay, thats it?" and left.

The last month I greatly detached myself emotionally after taking the pill (which she noticed which is why she wanted to see if anything was wrong)

But its been 5 days since we last talked.

Okay objectively, he should figure out and she should figure out why their orbiting is so miserable. The main problem with this seems to be unmet expectations. They should stick around being friends.

spiralguy3 • 3 points • 19 February, 2019 08:44 PM

I think you need to read the sidebar before giving advice. No, they should not "stick around being friends."

ArchsofArch • 1 point • 19 February, 2019 08:45 PM

I will do that.

Hyper_Sonik • 1 point • 19 February, 2019 11:07 PM

Bro, you're a moron. Stop giving advice you don't know shit.

isn't this poster a chick?

animalapemachine • 1 point • 20 February, 2019 12:08 PM

Yes

Ghost this lying, cheating whore

spiralguy3 • 2 points • 19 February, 2019 08:12 PM

If you can detach your emotions keep her as a plate. If you can't, then block, go NC, and move on. She is not LTR material. Whatever you choose, start gaming other women right away

spiralguy3 • 2 points • 19 February, 2019 08:16 PM

Also, don't offer commitment to hoes. They should be the ones begging you for commitment. And your commitment should only come after 6-12 months of dating with no red flags.

rizzyfromthe9 • 1 point • 19 February, 2019 08:23 PM

Yes I wish i knew about the red pill before we started. I wont contact her first thats for sure. If she does, I will say Im open to "test the waters" but never give her commitment or any emotion.

Hyper_Sonik • 1 point • 19 February, 2019 11:05 PM

She hooked up with the other guy. Drop her ass and go no contact.

If you like her go for it.

rizzyfromthe9 • 3 points • 19 February, 2019 07:29 PM

fuck off

ArchsofArch • -4 points • 19 February, 2019 07:33 PM

Why the shade.
