

Woman: The Most Responsible Teenager In The House | The child refers to his parents' things as “ours” while those he purchased are “his.” Even my own parents, my father worked his whole life to pay bills, when the kids were gone, my mom took up working - money she earned was “her money.”

February 20, 2019 | 270 upvotes | by redpillschool

<http://no-maam.blogspot.com/2012/06/woman-most-responsible-teenager-in.html>

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

AutoModerator[M] [score hidden] 20 February, 2019 04:55 PM stickied comment

Why are we quarantined? The admin don't want you to know.

Register on our backup site: <https://www.trp.red> and reserve your reddit name today.

I am a bot, and this action was performed automatically. Please contact the moderators of this subreddit if you have any questions or concerns.

Imperator_Red • 146 points • 20 February, 2019 05:40 PM*

I recall, long before I discovered TRP, having this revelation. As a teenager women really are more mature and you can definitely feel it as you go through life.

Sometime near the end of college though, I just had this epiphany when I was talking to some girls I know. Listening to the things they were saying, the way they acted, their interests, I thought, "Wtf are they talking about? They sound like children."

There's some amazing quotes in that article.

"... Women, then, are only children of a larger growth; ... A man of sense only trifles with them, plays with them, humors and flatters them, as he does with a sprightly forward child; but he neither consults them about, nor trusts them with serious matters; though he often makes them believe that he does both; which is the thing in the world they are most proud of; for they love mightily to be dabbling in business (which by the way they always spoil); and being justly distrustful that men in general look upon them in a trifling light, they almost adore that man who talks more seriously to them, and who seems to consult and trust them; I say, who seems; for weak men really do, but wise ones only seem to do it. ..." -- Lord Chesterfield, Letter to His Son (1748)

Chicks love submitting to powerful men.

She is an empty vessel who seeks to be filled with a strong man's "truths."

Most of our modern laws, and nearly all of the "experts" in the social sciences, have done everything they possibly can to undermine a man's ability to properly "husband" his wife. The current state of affairs completely upsets the natural hierarchy between man and woman. In the same way that it would be nearly impossible for parents to properly raise children if the government passed a plethora of laws deconstructing parent's natural roles and restricting them from setting boundaries for children, so it is increasingly difficult for a man to properly fulfill his leadership role that women instinctively seek and need. When children have legal authority over their parents, chaos will ensue, just as in Marriage 2.0 where women hold supremacy over the husbands, the practice of matrimony will only harm and bring resentment to all parties involved, making one ill-advised to seek such an arrangement in life.

If I only had a V I would use it expertly To generate equality That somehow always favours me

Women are children. This was known and accepted as an obvious truth for thousands of years. We will never rid ourselves of upside down clown world until the children are put back where they belong, in a position of subservience. No women in the voting booth. No women in the workplace. No women given platforms by the media to bitch and complain and spew their mindless drivel. Amen.

largepaycheckaddict • 56 points • 20 February, 2019 07:10 PM

Currently in my last year of college and am feeling this.

TheRedPillMonkey • 13 points • 21 February, 2019 04:40 AM

As someone who graduated college a decade ago, this maturity divide only gets bigger.

shaggyctes88 • 7 points • 21 February, 2019 01:36 PM

Wait to get a job, you have no idea what is to have a neurotic kid as a boss

SalporinRP • 42 points • 20 February, 2019 09:22 PM

I was the DD for a night out at the bars because I was on some medication that didn't allow me to drink and I was on the couch at my friend's pregame just watching a game on TV but really just listening in to this group of girls talking.

It was just the most surface-level vapid conversation I've ever heard in my life. And this was between girls who had been friends since middle school. Like holy fuck even alcohol and weed can't make 99% women talk about interesting things.

Imperator_Red • 34 points • 20 February, 2019 11:46 PM

Oh this 100%. There are smart women and dumb women but I have literally never heard a group of girls have an interesting intellectual conversation. That's not hyperbole. Not even once.

mrheh • 10 points • 21 February, 2019 04:18 AM

The deepest they go is retarded shit like horoscopes, sensing energy and ghost talk. Whenever I want to just bullshit my way quickly into a girl's pants I'll start making up shit about energy and spirits; Like clockwork they eat it up and next thing I know we're fucking.

empatheticapathetic • 6 points • 21 February, 2019 01:15 AM

Why is this the case do you think?

I have a hippy friend who likes to pretend to talk about all this mindfulness stuff and she knows a lot. But sprinkled in with it is stuff that seems like complete satire.

Is it a lack of interest, effort, or comprehension?

RedPilledRoaster • 16 points • 21 February, 2019 01:46 AM

They just haven't evolved to take interest in such things.

Men are the ones who create, discover, and advance.

Therefore they take interest in topics having to do with such.

Women take interest in arbitrary topics because their end goal is to lock down an alpha.

So they talk about things that address their insecurities: what celebrities are wearing/how they look, what Chad did on Sunday, etc.

Imperator_Red • 7 points • 21 February, 2019 06:20 AM

They just haven't evolved to take interest in such things.

Exactly. Same reason they aren't funny. Same reason they aren't strong. Same reason they aren't leaders. They don't need these things to be evolutionarily successful. What they are evolved to do is conform to group standards, minimize risk, extract resources, and employ their AF/BB mating strategy.

SeamusAwl • 109 points • 20 February, 2019 07:19 PM

My epiphany was more like.. Girls mature faster than boys, but stop at 15. Boys mature slower, but keep maturing until 30.

HumanSockPuppet • 60 points • 20 February, 2019 11:03 PM

A man continues to mature long after 30, provided he is disciplined about his efforts.

ChrimsonChin988 • 4 points • 21 February, 2019 07:51 PM

A woman that is maturing is like a hot spark, intense but short-lived.

A man that is maturing is like a candle, burning gentle but for a much longer period.

RedPilledRoaster • 7 points • 21 February, 2019 01:40 AM

Wrong. A man matures when he chooses to do so majaka1234 • 4 points • 21 February, 2019 04:34 AM

And is never late.

Or was that wizards?

p3n1x • 3 points • 21 February, 2019 09:58 PM

until 30

Please delete this. I guarantee you the forefathers of TRP did NOT stop at 30.

Personally, I still view most 30yr old males as slightly more mature than children.

leew360 • 1 point • 21 February, 2019 03:30 AM

Lol you wish. Most men today are just teenagers too thanks to victimhood chic.

[deleted] • 24 points • 20 February, 2019 07:58 PM*

This is a myth. There are just more societal expectations from a man than a woman. Speaking biology, a girl can have substantial value when she's e.g. 14-15, cause they can produce babies at the age, while boys are still weak and dumb. Speaking of environment, they're exposed to same experience boys are, they attend same schools, do same homework, etc. It is an experience that forms a person. And a boy who has exposure to outside world, like attending sports section with adults would be more "mature" than a girl who's only exposure is speaking to her friends and doing homework.

Imperator_Red • 8 points • 20 February, 2019 11:47 PM

Given that their optimal breeding age is pretty young compared to males, it makes sense that they would reach their peak maturity faster.

Vinterson • 13 points • 20 February, 2019 09:19 PM

Maturing has a huge societal factor so if we expect more from men they have more maturing to do. Some people have to grow the fuck up when they are young because of their circumstances as well.

Maturity in character is obviously a social construct but that doesn't make it less meaningful.

the99percent1 • 1 point • 21 February, 2019 04:28 AM

Trust me. Even girls who are exposed to fame and live a rock star lifestyle still act like kids.

They just don't have the mental capacity to mature beyond 18.

farendsofcontrast • 1 point • 2 March, 2019 06:39 PM

One word: Estrogen.

The don't have the same chemical makeup in their brains. Which is why they're different. And we are different.

points 3 March, 2019 01:13 AM*

[permanently deleted]

points 3 March, 2019 01:14 AM*

[permanently deleted]

points 3 March, 2019 01:16 AM*

[permanently deleted]

RedPilledRoaster • 2 points • 21 February, 2019 01:48 AM

Maturity happens to men through experience. You choose when to experience, therefore you choose when to mature.

"Maturity" happens to women through biological imperatives.

Irtotallynotrobot • 1 point • 21 February, 2019 01:20 AM

Yes definitely. That's why I found women so competitive in early career stages, besides the feminism support.

BrosefJones85 • 76 points • 20 February, 2019 05:50 PM

Is this biology or the pampering and modern feminism heaped onto females. I've seen teen girls be given alcohol from adults only for those adults to get charged with providing alcohol because one got sick. The girls tearfully gave statements in court that they were too immature and it was the adult's fault... only to then go to another liquor fueled party next weekend. All with the parents backing their daughters.

Imperator_Red • 41 points • 20 February, 2019 06:11 PM

I'd estimate 75% biology 25% culture. Having a kid probably helps women mature as well, which most no longer do in their 20s.

largepaycheckaddict • 11 points • 21 February, 2019 12:03 AM

Yeah. My mom had me when she was 24. Typical single mom-partied, did drugs, all that shit. I remember her being a pretty responsible mom, getting a degree and a good job etc.

I notice the same happened to some girls I knew in HS when they inevitably got knocked up by some chad. Those mom instincts kicked in and they became more responsible and stopped engaging in nonsense debauchery every weekend.

BrosefJones85 • 14 points • 20 February, 2019 07:02 PM

I'd put it at 60/40. Relatives of mine from the home country are very mature at 15 comparatively to 30 year old females relatives born and raised in the US.

p3n1x • 1 point • 21 February, 2019 10:06 PM

With women, it is just an altered perception. You can't "mold" or "force" biological emotional maturity. Some only give the impression they have a better grip on it. AWALT

AWALT the moment the right person and opportunity appear, more mature my ass.

whittlingman • 3 points • 21 February, 2019 04:06 AM

The girls tearfully gave statements in court that they were too immature and it was the adult's fault..

That's called lying. That's not a lack of maturity. They knew how to get out of trouble and it was by not taking responsibility.

BrosefJones85 • 4 points • 21 February, 2019 04:47 AM

My point was their parents backed them, refusing to take responsibility for your actions leads to immaturity. They are intertwined.

whittlingman • 3 points • 21 February, 2019 04:52 AM

A good point then. The parents are facilitating them not maturing past being teenagers. They don't need to because their parents will "take care of it".

BrosefJones85 • 2 points • 21 February, 2019 04:56 AM

Yup, and I feel this happens a lot with girls. Whether it be their parents, their teachers, the criminal justice system etc. Men face consequences, women are saved from them.

whittlingman • 3 points • 21 February, 2019 05:32 AM

When I see men have the right to decline fatherhood of a baby ie no child support, women be severally punished for false rape accusations ie perjury in court, and marriages allow for predetermined non-50/50 asset splits.

I'll finally feel women have achieved taking some responsibility for their actions and feminism achieved its goal off equality.

Ivan_The_Reddish • 1 point • 21 February, 2019 05:09 PM

What evidence have you seen that the goal of feminism is equality?

whittlingman • 2 points • 21 February, 2019 05:59 PM

Too funny, I just had an argument in another subreddit, when I said feminism today is overreaching and trying to gain superiority over men. Many people argued that "that's not the goal, the goal is equality"

I will be reasonable and say that I get the original original point of feminism was to gain acceptance that women are equal to men. They should have the right to vote and to have jobs.

My point as of today's society is they achieved that, so what's left for radical feminist activists to fight for? More, More rights. Which then those rights come at the cost of men's rights.

points 20 February, 2019 07:37 PM

[permanently deleted]

RedPilledGodEmperor • 12 points • 20 February, 2019 08:57 PM

That sounds horrible. Despite my parents having what seems to be a very strong marriage, it's not worth the risk anymore for men. I'm in my late 20s and already decided that I'm NEVER getting married no matter what.

Actually, only thing that would make me want to get married to a woman is if she had the looks and money of Sara Blakely

alexzang • 6 points • 20 February, 2019 09:39 PM

Or by extension is Sarah Blakley

[deleted] • 53 points • 20 February, 2019 06:02 PM

It's nice to see this resurface again. I would also charge that it's WEAK MEN who cause this developmental delay in women.

One matures to the extent that life obligates them to, and a society which supplicates itself before all women conceptually creates the same demanding naivete found in most child-emperors. "Bring me my scepter! Bring me my servants! Bring me a two-bedroom home and vacations to exotic locations where I will sit at the hotel pool! I am ordained by God - no, by Goddess!"

Who could expect anything more from someone who lives in a bubble desgined to cater for them, without the obligation of reciprocity in any form of gratitude?

And if ye, mortal, be waist deep in free internet porn or video games, you too are being lulled into a permanent childhood by a trans-fat approximation of real pleasures.

anglertaio • 22 points • 20 February, 2019 10:12 PM

No.. this is inherent to the sex. That's why all the ancients said the same thing.

What weak men do is allow women's lack of reason to unleash itself on themselves and on the world, and teach each other that everything is just fine - instead of restraining them legally, socially, and physically, and not taking their ideas very seriously.

largepaycheckaddict • 6 points • 21 February, 2019 12:06 AM

This I believe is where Witchery stems from.

mrheh • 7 points • 21 February, 2019 04:24 AM

| porn

My one god damn major weakness I need to fucking kick.

shaggyctes88 • 3 points • 21 February, 2019 01:49 PM

Same, It's poison, go lift brother.

Managical • -3 points • 20 February, 2019 09:22 PM*

free internet porn or video games, you too are being lulled...

A lot of what you keep saying sounds like abstinence with extra steps. I know guys like you exist because I have bested your kind in video games.

Do you mean TRP is not free internet porn? I'm only here looking for tips to beat these dating simulation games! Real women are too easy to figure out. I'm out here hoping to catch a Unicorn.

Persaeus • 8 points • 21 February, 2019 12:00 AM

Her money is a shit test , and one that should be nuked from orbit. My response last time I heard this , “no babe it’s all my money, you work for me now” - broken record and ACT accordingly. If she has a problem with it she knows where the door is in the house.

[deleted] • 6 points • 21 February, 2019 01:02 AM

This is why my grandpa gives my grandma $20 a month allowance, and one casino visit per year maxed at $200

majaka1234 • 5 points • 21 February, 2019 04:38 AM

Nah your grandpa just didn't realise that $20 in 1940 has to be adjusted for inflation. Dude was giving her a fortune in his mind.

/s

Managical • 6 points • 20 February, 2019 09:13 PM

"It is interesting to note as well how many men claim that it is at around age 27 or 28 that they begin to “figure things out” in regard to women, or at least much more so than they did earlier in life."

Not at all, I was close to knowing more a long while back then gave up because it did not solve anything noteworthy.

Auvergnat • 3 points • 21 February, 2019 01:43 AM

Damn that article is good.

It was the biggest eye opener in my life the first time I read it, and every time I read it again as I grow in my red pill understanding its status in my mind as fundamental keeps growing.

I fully believe that one would almost only need to read this and implement its lessons and be done with his learning about intersexual dynamics. It literally IS the red pill.

[deleted] • 3 points • 21 February, 2019 04:00 AM

Women are children, so treat them like it.

The_Red_Trooper • 3 points • 21 February, 2019 08:02 AM

That entire website is fuckin gold.

ChrimsonChin988 • 2 points • 21 February, 2019 08:36 PM

I want to add something to this. TRP says we must become men and leave our teenage years behind. Why? The easiest way to get a woman is by understanding how they think. You can only understand how she thinks (like a teenager) when you're no longer one yourself.

To understand something (a paradigm) you must be able to rise above it (next paradigm). This is why women love a man. They know he is better than them because on one hand, he's able to understand them and communicate on their level but on the other hand he can come back to reality and look further, beyond her paradigm. Something she will never be able to do and therefore admires him.

Chadster113 • 1 point • 21 February, 2019 04:59 AM

Wow. I actually read this whole article. I usually just skim through. awesome!

kweikum1 • 1 point • 21 February, 2019 02:47 PM

Mobile optimization is beyond basic. Shit 90% of this information is basic. If you can't figure out mobile optimization or to not put black text on a black background I'm not going to waste my time reading half baked content. My time is too valuable to have to deal with this basic shit.

redpillschool[S] • 6 points • 21 February, 2019 03:01 PM

Mobile optimization is beyond basic. Shit 90% of this information is basic. If you can't figure out mobile optimization or to not put black text on a black background I'm not going to waste my time reading half baked content. My time is too valuable to have to deal with this basic shit.

Mr. Important here is too important to read one of our main sidebar articles because it's from blogspot and not mobile friendly.

I suppose we should all bend over backwards and spoon feed you this info!

Listen up. You are NOT important. You get what you take out of this.

If reading an article is too hard for you, maybe there's something elsewhere more your speed. Like /r/relationship_advice.

One thing's for sure- you millennials think you're so important that you actually make a comment telling people you're not going to read something- next time you decide not to do something, keep it to yourself. Nobody gives a shit about how lazy you are.

VickVaseline • 1 point • 21 February, 2019 03:57 PM

Updated version:

<http://masculineprinciple.blogspot.com/2015/03/woman-most-responsible-teenager-in-house.html>

magx01 • 1 point • 22 February, 2019 12:42 PM

Just post the text here this isn't your personal advertising sub.

Swaglord300 • 0 points • 21 February, 2019 03:09 AM

"One cannot be emotional and rational at the same time" -OC

Wtf, I dont first stop being emotional to then be rational. I can defs do both, dont know what he is talking about. This is general shit, not all women are like this its just their capabilities and like all humans they too can surmount their presuppositions, to some degree, if properly trained.

magx01 • 2 points • 22 February, 2019 12:49 PM

I agree with 99% of the post but yes every single second of every single day has an emotion attached. The idea that emotion and reason are separated is incorrect; even the most rational (on the surface) cognitive processes do not occur in an emotional vacuum; there is an emotional context at play.

Swaglord300 • 1 point • 22 February, 2019 11:22 PM

I'm guessing they meant noticeable emotions that distract you or the lack of the ability to set emotions aside to do the rational thing. But get rid of emotions, nope not possible. Ignore, sure.

kweikum1 • -7 points • 20 February, 2019 07:01 PM

That website isn't mobile optimized... didn't read.

[deleted] • 5 points • 20 February, 2019 07:56 PM

Black text on dark background? Nope. The original is fine though.

redpillschool[S] • 10 points • 20 February, 2019 07:02 PM

You're missing out.

Standgrounding • 4 points • 20 February, 2019 08:42 PM

What he "missed out" is pretty much common sense.

I figured that myself that women in college are children(well basically, except they are better at manipulation and emotion) and men are the serious problem solvers

magx01 • 1 point • 22 February, 2019 12:50 PM

Easily could have posted the text here.

Omnidempotent • 7 points • 20 February, 2019 08:11 PM

Quit acting like an entitled child.

BloodSurgery • 1 point • 20 February, 2019 11:14 PM

Desktop mode, save this post and see it on a PC, or stop being so bitchy. All those work.