"When I see happy couples during Christmas, I wish they would die" <innocent smile>

It's like the start of a Japanese Horror movie.

mrust • 2 points • 16 October, 2013 10:37 PM

Takashi Miike's Audition comes to mind. FYI, don't watch this movie with a girl. Speaking from experience there.

RedSunBlue • 2 points • 17 October, 2013 12:31 AM

Don't watch any Miike flicks with girls.

mrust • 2 points • 17 October, 2013 01:01 AM

Yeah, Audition was my first. No idea what I was getting into.

I still remember scenes from Ichi the Killer and Visitor Q.. Can't think of a country other than Japan where something like this might be produced.

What stuck out to me was how the overwhelming response to "Why aren't you dating anyone" was "Because I don't have time for that and I want to spend my money on other things." Yet, here they are, spending their time and money on non-investable and short lived relationship experiences.

Also, 60% of them are all single! That's incredible! Most of whom aren't even interested in ever starting a relationship. It's such a huge market gap, I understand why it's being capitalized, but you also think society pressures and social norms would fill that gap by changing and evolving.

It seems like as women went on and started going their own way, so did their standards. Meanwhile, the men continued to get sucked into their anti-social weebo world. So the women, now with much higher demands, are far less attracted to the men. You'd think that the sexes would adapt. Women would all get hotter in an attempt to attract quality men since the dating pool is clearly shit, and the men would respond to the abundance of quality women and be more motivated to become successful to attract a partner. But nope, both sides sort of gave up on each other. It's fucking ridiculous. Imagine being a Japanese man with moderate game in that society. It would be like a God Damn harem. One of the professional BFs reported to be making 800k USD a year!

This whole thing is counter to what Russia experienced after WWII. The war happened to have much deeper effects on society than many people realized. After the war, a HUGE chunk of men were wiped out of the society. This left an abundance of women fighting over a mate. What subsequently happened is women placing a lot of value on looks, in hopes of finding good guys. But since there weren't enough men to even go around, women were just happy to get what they could. To this day, why Russian women are so attractive in general is because of this cultural element that started after WWII.

But this hurt society even more. See, what happened was, men had an abundance of pussy. Even the men that were destined to be forever alone were getting pussy. Men didn't have to work very hard to get a quality, attractive girl. Men became more selfish, less caring about what women thought, and generally just spoiled brats in general. And again, these traits still exist today.

Which is why Russian women LOVE American's. Their native Russian men tend to be overly selfish, lazy, and rude. Even the most obnoxious and loud American is considered friendly and calm by Russian women standards. But what gets them really going is American's ambition. Again, Russian men are poor and okay with being poor. Whereas American men want to have resources and provide.

Man. Now I'm thinking about my time in East Europe. Seriously, you guys need to check it out. Neckbeards probably wouldn't do any differently there, but if you have game in the US, you are treated like a God over there. It's fucking ridiculous. I'd never marry one though. Fuck that. But still fun to easily pull in 9s like they are 6s in the US.

pontifx • 8 points • 16 October, 2013 06:30 AM

Hilarious and disturbing. I have deleted multiple responses because they are not correct.

I have to think on this. It was terrifying to see that girls empty eyes seething with a void of a world she knows exists but can only see other people behind a glass panel enjoy.

ihavespellingproblem • 3 points • 16 October, 2013 06:54 AM

Thing about Russian men is that they are a weird mix of mommy boys and macho men. Hard to explain, it's a Russian thing.

On the flip side, Russian girls are the biggest gold digging whores ever for the very same reason - male deficit. Also, I pity the foreigner who marries a Russian girl unprepared. She will eat him alive with all the bones and shit without choking.

puaSenator[S] • 6 points • 16 October, 2013 07:54 AM

She will eat him alive with all the bones and shit without choking.

I don't think I've ever heard a better analogy in my entire stint here in TRP.

But you're absolutely right. So many guys here think Russian women are an easy out, so they want to move eastward. The reality is, they are EXTREMELY demanding, and are even more brutal than American girls when it comes to hypergamy. For them, you being American is much better than what they have around, yet soon as you bring them back stateside, they'll leave you in no time for the next best guy with more money. To them, coming out of a communist society, capital is the highest form of value.

I had an amazing relationship with a Russian before. However, how I got in was very clear. She even said, "They said 3 American's were coming into the office, and I was so happy. I'm even more happy you are the one taking me out on a date."

vengefully_yours • 1 point • 16 October, 2013 04:25 PM

The Russian girls I dated were like that, and they were forward about it. They wanted an American, they wanted to get out of the shit hole they were in, and were willing to do damn near anything to get out. The shit tests were epic, and if you didn't have enough money for them, they would go fuck guys who had more than you.

Been considering going over to Korea for some fun with the Russians there, and also heading over to Germany and Poland because those two countries are insanely fun.

There is already a much better documentary about the topic of host clubs: The Great Happiness Space

You can watch it on youtube here:

Probably one of the most red pill documentaries I have seen.

[deleted] • 2 points • 16 October, 2013 08:04 PM

Sadly, I don't think you're kidding.

RedSunBlue • 8 points • 16 October, 2013 07:36 AM

What Japanese society has managed to do is to make the blue pill grind so completely unpalatable for young men that they are deciding to drop out of society en masse. This combined with a lack of strong male role models in the media and complete and total game-unawareness is the cause of the herbivore man movement, which in turn repulses women.

DexterousRichard • 1 point • 16 October, 2013 08:26 AM

Yep. I live here any this is the truth. Japanese men are ground to shit their entire lives. Their only attempts to express masculinity end up being sadistic teasing of their friends or underlings.

IMHO, the video vastly overstates the independence of women here. They are not all making enough. They get by, barely. They are very feminine, and I could lay almost any women I see anywhere. Honestly, it's just a matter of choice.

Which means that it's not them dropping out, it's the guys. The women are receptive. The guys don't want the trouble. They are so damn traumatized by the time they have a stable job that all they want, for the love of god, is a bit of fucking peace from their families or their bosses.

And in Tokyo, that's easier to get than anywhere else in the entire world. Want anything at all at 4am while gaming? There are 4 convenience stores within a 3 minute walk. And they don't just have snacks and shitty coffee. They have tons of microwaveable meals, some hot fried chicken and fries, beer, wine, scotch, iced coffee, ice cream, tiramisu, cream puffs, chips and snacks, sushi, sandwiches, stationery, umbrellas, manga, porn mags, books, news, cigarettes, extra underwear, and on and on.

Want to get away at lunch? You can go to a porn vid shop where you can rent a sealed room with a comfy leather chair and big screen tv, pick 6 porn DVDs at a time to freely fap on, watch tv, read manga, or use the web. They even have showers, snacks, beer, etc there for you. It's 10 bucks for 90 mins or about 30 bucks for a whole day.

Or call a prostitute to a hotel for a few hours for about 200 bucks. Or choose "eat in" for less, or just a hand job and massage for even less.

With all these options, why would the battered Japanese guy want to deal with a real girl? None of these options involve bitchiness.

The upshot is a poon paradise for any western guy who wants it even in the slightest.

Perhaps I should get on a military hop over there and see how it works. I suppose learning some Japanese is a good place to start. I know a little, but am far from conversational. Im better at German and Russian.

Watch Demographic Winter... it's about an hour long, and worth your time to start to understand what's going on in Japan, and all over the world.

Welcome to what I'm beginning to call 5th generation warfare: war by wombs. The native cultures in every 1st world nation is below replacement levels (2.1 children per woman). In some cases, they are close, in others they are far behind. What is happening in these countries? They are being replaced by the immigrant populations in an incorrect belief in equality (multiculturalism).

Now Japan and Germany, being Axis during WWII, did not experience a population boom after said war like most of the Allies did (Russia lost so many men it couldn't have much of a boom). As such, they are declining faster than other 1st world countries. Germany is slated to be an Islamic majority by 2030-2050. Japan, not buying into multiculturalism, doesn't have an immigrant population replacing the native culture and as such is in a steeper population decline than every other first world country out there. IIRC, they are going to hit 1:1 worker:retiree ratio around 2020. I don't have the numbers for Russia off the top of my head, but they are being replaced by Muslim immigrants as well.... native Russians are declining by something insane like 700k/year.

If you follow the demographic trends, by the next 100-200 years fiercely patriarchal Muslims will take over Europe and Asia, and softly patriarchal Hispanics will take over the Americas. Africa will remain, well... Africa, and my big question mark is the Orient (both Japan and China don't have a replacement population lined up and both said populations are declining). I figure somewhere around 250-350 years from now, we'll be watching the second conquering of the "new world".

I figured most of this out around 5 years ago. The movie above was icing on the cake and, for me, the easiest way to introduce the idea to others.

IllimitableMan • 8 points • 16 October, 2013 05:02 PM*

Muslim shit is spiralling out of control. They are emigrating anywhere with a welfare state and having the indigineous pay for them to reproduce at an average of 4 children per woman, in countries where even 2 children per woman for an indigineous lady is rare. Effectively having indigineous populations pay for their growth, the same foreigners they refuse to integrate with, keeping to self-segregated communities more representative of rural Pakistan than anything remotely western. It's pretty fucked up. Really governments need to abolish feminism and deport all the unskilled muslim immigrants to get their own numbers up and stop inadvertently feeding the islamic ideological machine free money.

Islam and Feminism despite being gender opposites share many parallels in how they operate, eg: refusing to be criticised or insulted and claiming a special victim status whilst they bully their opponents.

Europe is islamifying at an "incredible" rate, the freedom of movement within the EU has only caused to exerbate that problem too. You have Turkey applying and reapplying for membership also, which if they got in, would only speed up the process in Europe.

The problem with Islam is it doesn't seperate church from state, far too many extremists, mixes a customary law system with a religious system and a political system all in one specific ideology, has a contradictory book of faith that is interpreted and manipulated to fulfill specific agendas. The world needs to wash its hands of Islam, keep them out and in their own lands, or just have a horrific war and get it all over and done with, this "war of the wombs shit" is fucked up, it's slow, it's painful and completely preventable. Watching a land slowly change in demographic due to national negligence/corruption has got to be one of the most fucked up ways to wage war one could possibly imagine, due to it's slow, deviant nature - and the irony that the attacked host facilitates the process, tantamount if you will to the analogy of a host and a parasite feeding off it and slowly replacing it's original functions until the host can no longer survive without the parasite.

Sad as it is with these religious wars, USA is the last bastion of Christianity and will probably be the only force capable of going up against militant islam, whether it's complexion is caucasian or hispanic.

Islam and Feminism despite being gender opposites share many parallels in how they operate, eg: refusing to be criticised or insulted and claiming a special victim status whilst they bully their opponents.

The irony of feminist-induced "plans" like multiculturalism is that if Islam wins, modern day Saudi Arabia would be seen as far too liberal.

Women are going to end up enslaved brood sows with no rights once again. Which is the inevitable end game of letting feminists run the show. No boundaries = wraparound to zero.

Turkey is NOT coming in. They have enough oil and money to do well on their own. If Turkey came into the EU, they'd lose money. They've seen the shit that is happening with Germany having to pay for the Greeks, the Spaniards, etc,. The Turkish are smart enough not to enter the EU. Their economy is BOOMING right now.

[deleted] • 1 point • 16 October, 2013 09:06 PM

Yeah, the EU doesn't want Turkey. And as of recently, Turks have realized what a shitty deal the EU is.

The EU is a bad economic deal for any government with wealth as it basically all ends up getting wasted on the bureaucracy which is creating EU law and getting thrown at corrupt governments in ex soviet central and eastern europe. Countries as rich as Germany and UK should not be in political union with nations like Belarus and Romania, who do nothing but siphon wealth from the west of the continent into the east, be it through the EU itself allocating funds, crime or mass emigration of labour.

As for the EU, the less muslims the better, their lack of integration and self ostracization only creates discord and racial/religious tension. No other race or religion creates the bullshit that the islamic ideology does, but then other religions tend not to possess a contemporary political component, but just cultural and spiritual ones. Whether Turkey is better off in or out for it's own sake is regardless of the point being made, the fact remains that Turkey's accession would rapidly increase the speed of islamification and this "war of the wombs" shit the guy I replied to was talking of.

I tend to agree with you, and invite you over to my sub devoted to this topic: /r/natalism.

(We try to keep it a tiny bit less controversial than TRP though.)

[deleted] • 3 points • 16 October, 2013 05:05 AM

Three words: population control experiment. Also, they have enough of certain kinds of wealth that relationships seem inconvenient and a liability. So now everyone uses each other as disposable commodities, but just the parts that they want. So instead of a full relationship, you can have little a la carte pieces of what you like best. Much of the same thing exists in the U.S. I read a piece on cuddle parties in NYC not too far back. Pretty fucking sad, but then again I guess it's better than nothing.

puaSenator[S] • 0 points • 16 October, 2013 05:39 AM

I don't know about it being an experiment. But maybe societies that become extremely overpopulated tend to have these phenomenons occur as a naturally occurring self correcting measure. As in, one way or another, if society is way over it's carrying capacity, it'll find a way to reduce its numbers.

I'd like to see the data. But it seems like Japan is really the only one right now, and maybe some places in China. But let's be honest, no one really knows what the fuck is going on with that waking beast.

IllimitableMan • 0 points • 16 October, 2013 04:59 PM

Doesn't South Korea suffer from similar issues to Japan in terms of aging population?

[deleted] • 0 points • 16 October, 2013 05:04 PM

Well, the question you have to ask yourself is why certain things are legal one place and illegal in another place. Japan just happens to tolerate and/or make legal a whole panoply of things that correlate with lowered reproduction on an island with limited landscape and resources.

There are thousands of very intelligent people actively working around the clock to think up ways to keep population levels down, and to lower them in third world countries with limited but growing media exposure and saturation.

Exactly_what_I_think • -1 points • 16 October, 2013 03:48 AM

It's a self correction of Japan's overpopulation.

FortunateBum • 0 points • 17 October, 2013 07:43 PM

I know a lot of people disagree with me on this, but I think it's all due to women just not being as interested in sex as general as are men.

Contrary to popular belief, it takes the average couple about a year to get pregnant. That's for a couple who are fucking all the time trying to have a baby. It takes a lot of sex to make a baby happen. Men would happily fuck everyday if they could. Women? I don't think so.

It's well known that female autonomy = lower birth rate. Women with more education, money, and legal autonomy will have fewer kids. The UN itself makes this point (in an effort to fight overpopulation). It's widely believed that better educated women simply use more birth control. As this docu and other data show, that's not the case.

Traditionally the family unit was men providing security and women providing sex and food. When women no longer need men for security, that's the end of the family. Women don't give a shit about fucking. Nor do they give a shit about companionship.

TL;DR - If women ran the world, there would be no more sex.
