After being in classes with all men and the occasional good student girl, im back in some classes with a more general population. i have noticed girls hitting up guys to essentially use for free tutoring. the guys are geeks and its fairly obvious the girls are not attravted. the girls will approach , pitch their pitch and ask for a number to meet up and study. it reminds me so much of me hitting up girls i want to fuck. anyone else notice this ?

Only one way to find out. Don't denigrate the smart ones. They run the world. They may end up being beta bux, but they run the world.

You'll see one day. Hyper educated men run the fucking world. You think bill gates was swimming in pussy in college?

Didn't Bill Gates drop out of university? Not sure I'd call him hyper educated. Knowledgeable sure, but most of it he probably didn't have taught but learnt through experience.

An extreme exception to the rule favored by the right conditions. Education rises your chances

I disagree. "Study time" is mostly "teach me time", which heavily reduces the amount of time you're investing in acquiring knowledge during that time. You need to study with people as smart as you and with good work ethics.

If you studied before and teach someone, it helps strengthen your understanding of the subject.
