

She constantly asks for pictures

I matched with this chick two days ago from Tinder and got her phone number. We started texting in Viber but goddamn, she asks me to send her pictures at least three times a day. What is up with that?

It's a bot

Mate, I added her on Viber and she sends me pictures constantly as well. We talked on the phone, it's most definitely not a bot.

Hey man, it's 2019 and people keep telling me men can be women and that we landed on the moon in '69. Anything is possible.

So she can remember which one of the 12 guys she's talking to right now you are.

Just send her selfies of you and other girls, she'll stop asking before the end of the week.

"Why ask for pics when you can see the real thing? Drinks at [Place 5ish minutes from your residence or hers] this Thursday, 9:00."

True, true but she went on vacation, not coming back until next week.

This is a strange thing I keep seeing around here.

There must be at least half a dozen stories a day on askTRP where some guy is talking to some girl he met recently but can't meet up with her because she immediately went on vacation for some extended period of time right after he met her.

Is this a thing women do now?

It's the summer bro. People are vacationing or leaving college to visit home

Great way to deflect and recruit orbiters. The vacation that never ends.

You say you got her phone number. Have you spoken on the phone yet? Sounds like you may have a scammer or a bot on your hands.

Yes, I did at least three times already.
