Let's hear some stories about times you made a bit of a fool of yourself trying to game a woman. I think it'd be good for everyone to know we all have these moments and that they're normal. Don't be afraid of fucking up.

Here's my recent one: On a flight, did my usual thing of falling in love with a stewardess. Thought I was maybe catching some IOIs, but also was a bit guarded about that idea because I didn't want to be another incel thinking the friendly air stewardess is into him. Next thing I know she comes down the aisle smiling at me. She stops at my seat and starts chatting to me "hey how are you?". I take this as a cue to start hitting on her, asking her questions and shit. She is polite but then cuts the conversation short to go attend to something. I'm feeling great about myself, like I'm actually gonna get this girl's number or something before the end of the flight. About 5 minutes pass before I realise. I'd been pressing buttons on the remote control for the TV screen in front of me to see what they do. I'd pressed the 'call for assistance' button without realising what it does. Then it dawned on me that before she walked off she pressed the button too to switch it off. Anyway, she totally blanked me for the rest of the flight. Massive face-palm.

I walked up to a girl on campus. My first ever day game. Walked up to her, told her I don't usually do this. She stopped me right there, shook my hand and left, without saying a word.

Told a girl sitting nearby me on train that her voice is very sweet, she got up and went to the door of the train for two stops earlier.

Saying the full pixar theory to a girl on snapchat cause i didnt want to lose her attention or i want to date you but i want to know if you are not going to hurt my feelings like the other girls did, its almost like we all know beforehand we are losing our dignity before doing it but you still do it cause your kind empathetic unicorn knows better. Thats the blue pill world for you

Went over to this ballet dancer girl's crib to "watch a movie and chill" and just sat there like a dumb fuck talking for three whole hours. Literally didn't even try to escalate. Finally she said "I need to go to sleep" and kicked me out.

Never again.
