

Girlfriend(28) asking me (27) to marry her

November 13, 2019 | 134 upvotes | by throwaway26180081

Hello everyone, throwaway for obvious reasons. My (27) girlfriend (28) is asking, or better say requesting, that I marry her. If it was another case, or other person I would show her the door, but it isn't, and here's the long story.

I am from third world country, when I finished HS got into Uni, in field related to medicine, but not the medicine (think radiological technologies, nursing, lab, physio) because my parents forced me to go there but not the medicine. There I meet this 5'7" girl who was 6 really. nice face but nothing to stand out. Then I had 310lbs at my worst, while I was 6'4". While I had height and kinda nice face for fat fuck there is no chance I was over 3-3.5. I was Billy beta, no doubt.

We started dating and she was really nice to me, when I decided to study medicine (6 years) she fully supported me and told me how I deserve it and how should I go for it, and shit like that. She helped me even put arguments to my parents. I got into medicine and that was going fine until my Grandpa died, the man I loved the most, and I was fucking depressed and cried many times on her shoulder. After that I hit rough patch and was on verge of suicide, but she helped me go through that. We always hung out somewhere cheap or free because I never had money and really was not into her paying for shit, even though she always offered.

In my third year of medicine I decided it's time to stop overeating and all that shit, as much as I did that for myself, I did it for her too. I hit the gym, always used to do MMA, now did it more, lost over 50 kg, now I have 100kg, at 11% body fat. When I started skipping meals, and working out a lot more, I told her I did it for her as well and she always said shit like "You don't have to", "I love you either way". In my 4th year she got professional job and nice pay, she bought me stuff, even though I couldn't reciprocate.

I finished med school last year, got paid cardiology residence in the best hospital in the country, and I am the shit, I look good, I am very appreciated in my field and people are projecting me good career, I did some amazing stuff and award-winning researches.

But my gf now asked me to marry her, and shit I get that, she is getting older, and we both want children, she had job, I've got job. But here's the thing, I know I am now, today 8 or 9, with nice SMV, and she is 5.5 who is approaching the wall, and if it was anyone else I would told her to gtfo, but she was always here for me, she never cheated on me (although even when I was the most beta I've always told her: "If you think you could do better, go"). I did fuck other girls, but it's only that. I don't know how to put it into words, I believe I can do much better, and I love her, I am not in love with her, but I truly love her. Last year I tried to make her dump me, but it's not happening.

TL:DR girl was with me when I was 3.5 and nobody and she was 6, supported me all the time, now I am 9 with good career and she is asking me to marry her.

This is gonna be really unpopular here but I think stability, loyalty, and purity will be of more value long term for raising a family than looks. If you want a family and don't wanna just fuck girls long term, you will want the mother of your children to have not been a thot. You'll want her to be loyal and kind and committed and focused and devoted. And ultimately, your wife, no matter who she is, will grow old and uglier. A 5.5 with a 10 heart is worth more than a 9.5 with a 5 heart. Looks always decay but the moral compass and convictions a person has does not. I am not going to say marry her. That's your decision. But you're not getting the best advice from people viewing this as solely transactional since you do want a family. Maybe you should marry her. Maybe you shouldn't. But I'll tell you the answer shouldn't be "definitely not!". This is a very rare type of woman that you found. Very, very rare. Someone actually maybe worth admiring for your eventual children. Don't do something you one day regret.

trele_morele • 29 points • 13 November, 2019 09:29 PM

This is not an unpopular opinion. It's a rational, adult perspective. This sub just happens to be dominated by the younger demographic focused on sex

Why do you think he's immune from divorce and alimony if he marries this woman? She very well might do that after she's had kids and has no more use for him.

Absolute bullshit. He is extremely high value now. He could find a new girl like this in a week.

Have you found one like her?

ArnoldT1000 • 2 points • 15 November, 2019 12:24 AM

Just look at the update and it says everything I need to say.

Just because you think she's special doesn't mean she is. She entered his frame again just like any other girl would if you do things right.

Y'all need to quit doubting theory in the face of a potential unicorn. Female nature doesn't change.

ArnoldT1000 • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 06:25 AM

Past indications of loyalty don't mean shit

iteal • 3 points • 14 November, 2019 03:38 PM

They are better than no indications of loyalty though.

ArnoldT1000 • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 10:26 PM

Yes, but not good enough that it justifies signing your life away.

iteal • 1 point • 15 November, 2019 06:31 AM

I think he shouldn't marry, too. But that's not the question is it? He said he definitely wants to marry and have children. So the question is who to marry and not if.

ArnoldT1000 • 1 point • 15 November, 2019 06:38 AM

Nah dude read the update

TacoMedic • 9 points • 13 November, 2019 08:52 PM

She may, but she's the closest thing to a loyal woman as there comes.

OP has already stated he wants marriage/children and any pre wall 8s+ WILL cheat on him, at least this girl has shown loyalty even when her SMV was drastically higher than his.

Obviously you shouldn't get married, but if you must, then do it to a 6 who has already shown LTR compatibility.

TitsAndWhiskey • 3 points • 14 November, 2019 12:01 AM

Yeah that's bad advice. People change. You can't count on someone not fucking you over because she seems to be a good person now.

How much money was he making? Didn't read original post

TacoMedic • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 03:00 PM

He went through med school and is in the cardiology field. He's also one of the top in his country.

My bet is he's a cardiologist, but either way just being in the cardiology field means he's doing better than most of us.

ArnoldT1000 • 4 points • 13 November, 2019 09:57 PM

Read the rational male. You still believe in "the one" fallacy.

flipthecatjack • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 08:42 PM

Do you have any tips for how to root out that engrained idealization of "The One"?

I know to spin more plates, learn to love yourself and consider yourself as the prize, always keep things within your frame, AWALT, that Hypergamy and biology are out of our conscious control, etc.. but goddamn is Oneitis pervasive.

Is it just a factor of time and experience? This feels like I've been raised to believe in a religious cult, and I'm just now being shown the truth of the outside world - except worse because the truth of my false beliefs is everywhere, yet everyone around me is still indoctrinated into the cult. What the hell man

Correct, time and experience. You have to beat that belief out of you.

"The average man is ignorant and misled. His mental construct of women is far greater than anything the typical woman aspires to. This is not his fault for his biology deceives him and society lies to him, as such the deck of deception is stacked. Nevertheless, the reality remains." - Illimitable Men jackandjill22 • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 01:37 AM

Agreed. This is so unlikely that I would either be suspicious or consider it completely impossible.

KillaJewels • 13 points • 13 November, 2019 06:52 PM

Agree, to some extent. Looks fade with time. If she has a nice face and the rest is decent, that should be good enough. At that point, it's really about the qualities.

Questions you should be asking: Is she loyal? Is she submissive? Would she be a good wife/mother of my kids? What are her in-laws/family like? Is she compatible with the future I envision for myself?

Popeman79 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 08:01 PM

Very poignant quote that I want to be wholly true, however I can't be sure.

shitposterkatakuri • 6 points • 14 November, 2019 01:10 AM

Tbh it's like 3/4 true. People change and grow. Change is inevitable. But if you are a strong man with a frame made of twisted steel and panther piss, YOU will dictate the direction of change. Try as they might, the waves of life will not prevail against your vessel as you steer it towards your chosen destination. Change is inevitable. The clever can choose the change they want and work towards it. We few, who visit this sub and who do want a family, must be able and willing to go further to master and direct our own change and the change of our future families. That's what it is to be an effective patriarch :)

LethalShade • 5 points • 14 November, 2019 02:24 AM

Dude, look at alternative options. A true alpha doesn't let society define his choices for him. If you're really miles ahead of her in SMV, open up your relationship on your side if you want a loyal wife while still chasing hot tail. If you offer her emotional commitment, provisioning and a good environment for her kids, it's also a great deal for her.

The idea that sexual exclusivity is the foundation of a loving relationship is a relatively recent societal construct, it has some merit but if you're making this big of a decision, it's worth considering alternatives.

Zanford • 2 points • 14 November, 2019 04:16 AM

You can get those things, like having kids and raising them under one roof, without marriage, though, reducing your legal / financial risk. And arguably it will make the relationship more stable, as she'll have less financial incentive to run off. (Possibly child support, but that beats child support + alimony).

shitposterkatakuri • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 05:43 AM

I'd recommend a prenup probably

Zanford • 3 points • 14 November, 2019 07:29 PM*

Sometimes judges will shred prenups, but, it's still massively safer, and a marriage with a good prenup is probably closer to being unmarried than to being married without one. Some advice for bros considering:

You'll want her to be repped by her own lawyer. Makes it harder for her to say later on that she didn't know what she was signing or was under duress. And you should be prepared for her to play good cop bad cop with her lawyer (her lawyer will try to convince her not to 'give up' too much via prenup like waiving all alimony)

Finish the prenup before doing ANYTHING else (ring, setting date, venue booking, informing family, etc.) Otherwise you could get put in a squeezed position where if she doesn't sign you either lose a venue deposit (bad) or get married without a prenup (MUCH WORSE) or something. Also, if a prenup is signed right before the wedding, it's another angle for 'I was under duress' later.

If she gives you shit about this ("you don't trust me? boo hoo hoo...") stay calm. In fact you should see this as an opportunity to fish out her true character. The more opposed to a prenup she is, the more you'll learn she felt entitled to your money all along.

Even if she's richer, you probably want a prenup. She might quit her good job (lots of female MDs drop out of the practice after a few years for example, part of the reason for the US doctor shortage). She might have hidden debts (student debt is common, as are bad credit card habits). If she has a lot of family money, her family probably has that shit locked down tight in various living trusts etc. to protect it from the alimony claims of their princess's 'deadbeat' ex-hubby (you). And courts will be massively biased against you (esp if there are kids). Also if you go for alimony she might make up an abuse story to get out of it or get a sympathetic judge to lower the amount (there was a news article a few years back where a woman got an entire state's laws changed so that she wouldn't have to pay alimony to an ex-husband b/c she claimed abuse).

This

Diche_Bach • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 05:25 AM

True. But an 8.5 with a 10 heart trumps your 5.5 with a 10 heart.

Keep looking till you find a TRULY exceptional one. Not finding anything remotely in that ballpark?
Change your search methods: Laundromats in upscale neighborhoods were a win for me.

shitposterkatauri • 3 points • 14 November, 2019 05:49 AM

The method is clever lol. But I think that someone this loyal is truly exceptionally rare. If the girl is 8.5 with a 10 heart, the likelihood that someone else didn't already cash in their lotto ticket and claim is infinitesimal. I mean it's good to want that and strive for it. And I know this isn't maybe "abundance" enough, but if one is looking for marriage and they want a good life partner and mother of their children, a 10 heart is rare enough that you can't expect to find another one within any reasonable time horizon. And becoming a doctor will make it MUCH harder to judge if someone is truly a 10 heart or a pretend 10 heart looking for a cash cow. I just think there's value in being careful before glossing over a girl who's been his ride or die when selecting a wifey. She's even above average according to his standards. With a little glute working out and maybe some pec exercises, can probably get to a comfortable 6. 6 + 10 heart is definitely a CANDIDATE for wifey material imo.

Diche_Bach • 2 points • 14 November, 2019 02:07 PM

I guess I got real lucky. But, it did take me about 15 years, scores of failures, lots of anguish, and perhaps most importantly (a) learning to be content alone; and (b) realistically appraising my own expectations, hopes and fears. To operationalize (b) what I eventually did is to start writing down a list of characteristics, actually two lists if memory serves: (i) traits I absolutely MUST have in my mate; (ii) traits I absolutely cannot stand in my mate. After that, things were a lot clearer and I embarked down cul-de-sacs and into ambush territory much less often . . . wasted my time and energy a lot less too.

shitposterakatakuri • 2 points • 14 November, 2019 03:14 PM

Fair enough man! Lists are definitely helpful to narrow the search to useful candidates. Congrats on your success!

FinancialThanks1 • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 10:21 PM

Exactly. Plus if your smv is much higher than hers you could probably negotiate some kind of one sided open relationship

Str_ • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 10:09 PM

This is solid advice OP.

beginner_ • -5 points • 13 November, 2019 07:19 PM

Still, marriage is stupid idea regardless of the situation. If she is so pure, loyal and devoted she will stay even if you don't marry and tell her it will never happen.

In fact not marrying will keep her more devoted as she doesn't get free meal ticket like she would in a divorce. marriage is a sign of low SMV (for average Joe, rich and famous people marry for PR/marketing reasons).

[deleted] • 7 points • 13 November, 2019 07:45 PM

Naw, her babymakers gonna be in overdrive. She's gonna look elsewhere if he says no.

ArnoldT1000 • 4 points • 13 November, 2019 09:59 PM

So that sexual strategy still applies, but her innate hypergamous nature as a woman doesn't?

I'm seeing a lot of hamstering here.

[deleted] • 4 points • 13 November, 2019 10:03 PM

Oh she'll still try to get the best man she can, but if he's out of her league she'll settle for someone else. Women are built to have babies. It hits them strong by late 20's.

max_peenor • 0 points • 14 November, 2019 04:24 PM

A 5.5 with a 10 heart is worth more than a 9.5 with a 5 heart.

What? Are trading a fucking horse or something?

AWALT. You are playing a dangerous game with metrics that aren't even real.

Arnoux • -3 points • 14 November, 2019 12:53 AM

Looks matter even it will fade away. Not for your amusement but for the health and looks for your kids. Looks signal good genes which means healthy person. Obviously you have to be aware of what you are looking for and don't get fooled by makeup.

I choose a somewhat thot over 2 other girls who would probably never cheat on me. They were better in every scale except looks. My baby is 3 months old and he is objectively more handsome and healthy than other babies.

shitposterkatakuri • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 01:17 AM

I think sluttiness and attractiveness tend to not be found together so it's reasonable for most men to compromise for an in between. If you somehow raise your SMV to ungodly levels, you can probably have both. Ideally our society would lead everyone to avoid hoeing around so we could choose the best of the best for relationships but oh well!

sweetestboo • -5 points • 14 November, 2019 12:48 AM*

Uhm I don't think thots have a bad moral compass. Embracing and flaunting your sexuality is not a vice. You can have a thot wife with 10/10 looks and a 10/10 heart.

Flux_7 • 3 points • 14 November, 2019 01:12 AM

Look into the research. Marriages with women who are former sluts are less happier and don't last nearly as long.

They don't understand loyalty and to an extent, TRP encourages such behaviour.

shitposterkatakuri • 3 points • 14 November, 2019 01:15 AM

Lol okay. Have fun with your sloppy seconds in an LTR then. There's a reason we men naturally gravitate to pretty faces with submissive attitudes and low n counts. N counts matter. Pair bonding matters. There's a wealth of science backing up the typical red pill position of low n counts. Cultures have traditionally always been more lax with males hoeing around but less so with women. And when they do all become thots, the civilizations tend to crumble shortly thereafter (although thottery is usually accompanied by other degenerate practices). We have known what makes a good man and a good woman for millennia. Don't be prideful enough to think you know better than the sum of thousands of years of observations. You will find a cute thot and get hurt one day. Not worth!

Original_Username7 • 147 points • 13 November, 2019 05:15 PM*

Fuck dude, I'm gonna get downvoted to hell for saying this but the idea of leaving her now that you're better is the exact same things that we criticize women for doing all the time on here. Can anyone see that? This girl is acting in the opposite ways we say most women act (my ex was repulsed by my weakness). I really don't think you'd be where you are at all today without the support of this women. You pretty much owe her. Yes, red pill is about sexual strategy and is "amoral", but if you're looking for help making a moral choice, this may not be the best subreddit to ask on. I totally get feeling like you want some hot pussy now that you can get it, but take it from a guy who was married to a 9 who turned into a evil bitch, just hearing about your good woman blows my mind and makes me kinda wish I'd ended up with that instead. I'm not saying marry her, that has it own host of problems, but I am saying you casting her aside after she helped you become awesome is immoral in my book. Congrats on your success bro, I wish you the best. edit: spelling rockyp32 • 11 points • 13 November, 2019 06:29 PM

U got a point we hate women for doing it but we'll do the same shit. Women just have way more abundance so they'll do it for way stupider shit. Also probably cause men chase women so much it gives them a distorted abundance that maybe wouldn't exist if there wasn't porn everywhere

I don't disagree with you but can we keep life partners off of what we owe them? It's a hard call. My solution to him was to look into nonmonogamy. Keep her as a loyal partner and have other hot girls that you fuck if your dick is really not satisfied with this one. If his SMV is that high compared to hers, it's also a good deal for her.

throwaway26180081 • -15 points • 13 November, 2019 07:56 PM

PayneGreyWolf • 4 points • 14 November, 2019 05:22 AM

It's not. Another comment he made here is "I am all about the bad bitches now." in response to someone telling him "Don't come back later and say all women are bitches when you dumped a good one". This guy is a bonafide dumbass lol

clausternn • 1 point • 15 November, 2019 06:34 AM

Actually there is a mantra that gets repeated here in TRP that every man should fuck 25 women before he considers getting married, so that he can know exactly what he wants.

Still fucking hilarious that OP would flat out say something like that lol.

red_matrix • 2 points • 15 November, 2019 07:11 AM

For single guys the plate theory makes sense, gives you ability to walk away to increase your attraction. But this guy has a gf, and wants to get married and have kids....so he wants to go backwards to being a bachelor so he can fuck 50 hot chicks? If he hasn't fucked 50 hot chicks by now, guess what, he won't. That ship has likely sailed, he's not in college anymore. He can look forward to being 30 and dating post-wall girls.

This guy is going to get a large dose of life...and he will regret this for the rest of his life. This guy is a train-wreck.

clausternn • 1 point • 15 November, 2019 07:31 AM

I agree with your overall sentiment that he shouldn't ditch the great woman he found, but I strongly disagree with this part:

If he hasn't fucked 50 hot chicks by now, guess what, he won't. That ship has likely sailed, he's not in college anymore. He can look forward to being 30 and dating post-wall girls.

Men age like wine, and he's still young at 27. Specially since apparently has insane SMV according to the comments, he could easily spend the foreseeable future fucking hot girls if he wants to.

red_matrix • 1 point • 15 November, 2019 07:55 PM*

This guys sounds more beta to me, who the hell dumps their GF to bang 50 hot chicks? That just oozes desperation. He has no plates, no game, just thirst. You can't have it all.

throwaway26180081 • 1 point • 15 November, 2019 06:56 PM

I spent on average 10 hours a day studying while in college. Second college here is not like in the USA. People who were furthest away from college were like 200 km away, most were in range of 50 km.

red_matrix • 1 point • 15 November, 2019 07:58 PM

You can't have it all bud, you either get the wife and kids or the player life (which is empty and hollow after a while). You had a woman you trusted, who loved you...you had what you wanted...and you're flushing it down the toilet just so you can bang some carousel sluts? Dude. What are you thinking?

throwaway26180081 • 1 point • 15 November, 2019 10:06 PM

I am trying to have my cake and eat it too. As I said previously I truly love her, I want to have children with her, I think there is no female in this world that would be there for me as much as she did. My own mother (fuck that bitch btw) was not so if I said that I don't love her I would be fucking liar.

But here's the catch, I can't let my world revolve around her. She could decide tomorrow that I am not good enough for her, she could go on cheat on me, she could die of fucking cancer. If any of that happen what is left there for me ? I could choose bullet in the head, rope around neck or morphine in the vein. TRP teaches abundance does it not ?

TantalizingGrapfruit • 7 points • 14 November, 2019 02:51 AM*

That's the most pathetic thing I've read in weeks, she can do better and I guarantee you can't. Think rationally

Nergaal • 5 points • 13 November, 2019 08:19 PM

Sounds like you can still bang 50+ while marrying this near-unicorn

Yea marry the your Gf and bang chicks on the side like you've been doing

Spaghetti1776 • -1 points • 13 November, 2019 07:47 PM

So she'd do the same to him

Nergaal • 5 points • 13 November, 2019 08:18 PM

OP pretty much said she DIDN'T do the same to him

iwviw • 5 points • 13 November, 2019 08:59 PM

She was never a 9 though. This guy is a 6'4 mma ass kicking cardiologist at the best hospital in the country

Nergaal • 7 points • 13 November, 2019 09:13 PM

he said he himself was a 3 at some point and seems like the girl wasn't that low. regardless, she saw potential in him and helped him achieve OP's current status. not many women these days can boast that

iwviw • 6 points • 13 November, 2019 09:50 PM

She was a 6 . Her 3 bf was in med school. Broke. But in med school nonetheless. This guy was like an investment and it paid off

Garathon • 7 points • 13 November, 2019 10:13 PM

She was with him before med school though, so that doesn't count.

throwaway26180081 • 3 points • 13 November, 2019 10:38 PM

This is correct. She was the reason I got into med school

Spaghetti1776 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 10:33 PM

iteal • 2 points • 14 November, 2019 03:42 PM

Chances are he is not a 9 lmao

Spaghetti1776 • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 06:58 PM

I could see either one being true, but not both. Being that tall really helps.

TheBunk_TB • 133 points • 13 November, 2019 01:40 PM

If you don't feel that way about her, you don't feel that way about her. It wouldn't be a good idea. You need to be honest with her, though. Her vision of you was rewarded somewhat. You technically don't owe her for it but you owe her honesty. (I personally feel like I owe people that have been on my team but this is not a "law". It is my opinion). Marriage isn't a joke. It is often a lifetime decision that can might you in the rear end. You have a lot to lose.

hoopingblob • 23 points • 13 November, 2019 04:14 PM

This is gold advice. Honesty is the best approach here. Be honest with yourself aswell. Do you really wanna get married? This is key because if you forcefully marry her it's going down the drainm

So after reading some comments, you guys are hypocritical on this one. It's entirely his fault and we should not overlook this.

I mean i agree, don't marry someone you don't wanna spend the rest of your life with (so for me never), but honestly this is just his fault and he's a cunt for keeping someone around who does not meets his expectations. We normally judge girls for riding the CC in their younger years instead of locking down an alpha? And now that a girl does exactly what she is biologically wired and expected to do in our eyes, we don't even appreciate it and fitstbump the guy for growing out of his old pair of pussy?

So for me it's end it right now and fkn grow a pair of balls in all your scarcity.

BeenCalledLazyIce • 41 points • 13 November, 2019 04:50 PM

Finally some sensibility.. OP , listen to this.

Also people should keep in mind in thirds world countries, people just dont do hookups . They date to marry.

PurpleRose328 • 21 points • 13 November, 2019 05:03 PM

I'm from a 3rd world country and can indeed confirm this.

NickA97 • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 06:00 AM

I'm assuming you don't go out that much.

I'm from a third world country as well and people fuck around like mad rabbits. We're not living in some anachronic, Medieval fantasy. Times have changed over here too.

claustrern • 2 points • 15 November, 2019 06:37 AM

Or maybe he's just from a different developing country than yours?

I've been to several developing countries and there are both types of girls in many of them.

Asia tends to have many "date to marry" girls, while Latin American and specially Brazil has an overwhelming hookup/cheating culture.

NickA97 • 1 point • 16 November, 2019 05:03 PM

Yeah, maybe, but still it's not a general phenomenon and people are adapting to globalization very fast. It also depends on where in the country you are, whether in the center or the periphery.

I didn't think about Asia though, my bad. Maybe they're much more conservative over there. I always associate "third world" with South and Central America.

Brazil has an overwhelming hookup/cheating culture.

Haha no doubt. I lived there for a while and I was impressed by how casual they are about sex and relationships.

claustrern • 2 points • 18 November, 2019 07:16 AM

Whereabouts did you live? I lived in Porto Alegre for quite some time.

I see in your profile that you seem to be Colombian. Are they not that casual about sex and relationships over there?

To be honest, Colombia is one of the places that I want to visit the most. Specially since I heard they like blond white Americans over there lmao. People talk about Brazilian women, but to me Colombian women are the most beautiful in the world. One time I changed my Tinder location to Medellin just for fun, and dear lord...

beginner_ • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 07:24 PM

Also people should keep in mind in thirds world countries, people just dont do hookups . They date to marry.

And? Your live, your choice. marriage is a dumb idea but be clear and direct about it that it will never happen. That maybe was OPs fault.

Walkerstain • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 10:24 PM

I don't get it, why? Because it provides more stability for ones life since everyone is poor or something like that?

ders89 • 33 points • 13 November, 2019 05:15 PM

Yeah i agree with you 100%. Dude still is a beta if he cant tell her how he feels and might instead marry her because of it. An alpha would straight up be honest and say he doesnt feel the same and would rather be with someone more attractive in his eyes.

Shes loyal, honest, caring, compassionate and empathetic person that stuck by a guy in his worst years and encouraged him to do better. Meanwhile beta fuck over here cheated, cried about shit and cant tell a single truth to her. And is now asking strangers on the internet what he should do.

Grow a pair and leave her to someone who deserves an LTR.

Do the alpha move for once and tell her you want someone more attractive and youre sorry for wasting her time. Pretty simple solution.

beginner_ • 8 points • 13 November, 2019 07:22 PM

An alpha would straight up be honest and say he doesnt feel the same and would rather be with someone more attractive in his eyes.

I disagree. Yes he would separate but not tell her she is ugly. Being honest is often the wrong thing to do. Speak womanese. "it doesn't feel right anymore.you have lived apart". blabla.

ders89 • 10 points • 13 November, 2019 07:36 PM

Yeah youre right. Being honest doesnt mean you have to be rude. My fault on that one bishop_larue • 5 points • 13 November, 2019 05:54 PM

Glad someone said it.

[deleted] • 4 points • 13 November, 2019 06:48 PM

Agreed. Logically she may not be as hot, but it sounds like she is hot enough. And if OP is hot, they should have decently good looking children. With that and having an amazing mom which she sounds like she will be and a successful father. Those children have a high chance of success themselves. Which is really the end goal.

mrbill1234 • 21 points • 13 November, 2019 03:48 PM

If you want to get married at all - ever - then you may as well take someone who has been loyal - assuming of course she will remain loyal. Sure you could do better looks wise - but you will find it difficult in your profession to find an 8+ female who knows she's an 8+ and not a gold digger.

If you can find someone better who has the same prospects as yourself (another doctor for instance), then you may have less to lose in case the marriage goes downhill and ends in divorce.

This is all of course assuming you WANT to get married. Your best bet is to just not get married at all.

VinterBot • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 10:29 PM assuming of course she will remain loyal.

Which rule was "always plan ahead"? Cause you have to assume she might cheat with a 9 inch midget.

If you can find someone better who has the same prospects as yourself (another doctor for instance), then you may have less to lose in case the marriage goes downhill and ends in divorce.

mechcoder598 • 13 points • 13 November, 2019 04:00 PM

She did a lot for you man. Yes, I agree its not enough to get married as you have to want it too. The right thing to do would be to be honest with her. Tell her you don't see each other getting married. But if you are just doing this just because you are scared that what will society think that you are an 8 that ended up with a 6 then you my friend are a blue-pilled beta who cares too much about the world. But if you have no intentions to marry her then let her go.

br0j1tsu • 51 points • 13 November, 2019 01:51 PM

She's in her epiphany phase, I'd say don't get married, but then again, you're invested into the relationship, do whatever the hell you want just have in mind that you're about to jump from a plane and there's a 50% chance your chute is not going to open.

unnaturalcontrol • 12 points • 13 November, 2019 03:35 PM

FrontloadPain • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 03:49 PM

Yes

iteal • 5 points • 13 November, 2019 04:15 PM

No

FrontloadPain • 0 points • 14 November, 2019 12:14 PM

Your upvotes show how little people on here understand basic principles. Yes divorce laws differ as does secularity. But the basic principles of women do not change period, as such my "yes" is more valid than your "no" which would be more of a "no, only in very certain circumstances".

iteal • 2 points • 14 November, 2019 01:45 PM

To be honest I have no idea about the statistics. I just wanted to show that only answering such a question with "yes" or in my case "no" is simply stupid. It's an empty answer. I agree, that basic principles of women don't change depending on the country. But you cannot tell me that western society doesn't encourage divorce more than some 3rd world country, where family pride and honor are much more present.

A quick search showed that people marry more often and divorce less than in african countries: <https://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/doi/abs/10.1111/j.1728-4457.2015.00086.x>

Neyjuve • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 05:21 PM

skorpion7777 • 32 points • 13 November, 2019 02:18 PM

You don't owe her anything. But as far as I can see you still want to be with her and want kids together. Imo a good way to go about it is to tell her you don't want to involve a third party (the government) into your relationship. Tell her you're still into her and like to have kids, but it was never your intention to get married (you can be honest in that regard). You'll save your assets and minimize the risk an ugly divorce. If she tries to pressure you into marriage that is a red flag and you should seriously think if your having a future together.

DarkJayBR • 6 points • 13 November, 2019 06:43 PM

Actually, in most states there is the concept of "Stable Union" for couples that are not married but live together and have kids. It still counts as a marriage in the eyes of the law.

Black_Jesup • 8 points • 13 November, 2019 05:25 PM

No matter who you wind up with, looks will fade. Character usually doesn't. She sounds like marriage material, but you will have to decide if a more worthwhile package remains for you out there. Her proven loyalty for you is something to seriously consider.

empatheticapathetic • 46 points • 13 November, 2019 02:51 PM

You're 6'4 and you were a medical prospect. Any sensible girl would hold onto you. Now you've blossomed. Women drop men all the time without a second thought. You hold all the power here. Call the shots and she can stay or go. Marriage is off the table though.

Nergaal • 2 points • 13 November, 2019 08:21 PM

you read the entire post?

empatheticapathetic • 2 points • 13 November, 2019 08:38 PM

Yeah. Why.

bearholdingbeer • 5 points • 13 November, 2019 10:49 PM

Women drop men all the time without a second thought

Women also suck strangers dick in the club without a second thought, should OP do the same? Is this what OP should be doing right now, behave as a woman does? That's why men should give his life situation a second thought and decide based on that what's actually valuable for him and his future

What's incorrect about what I said? Did I say he should suck dick in a club? No I implied he shouldn't let guilt stop him from dropping her if he decides it's a good decision. Match her behaviour towards relationships at the very least and understand that if he was 5'8 and not a medical prospect, she may not have stayed with him.

He has all the power and can call any shot he wants. If he decides she has value and wants to keep her he can. It's his decision to make, not hers.

The post was written with an element of fear and anxiety. First step is understanding where he stands in the relationship and making a logical self interested choice without anything clouding his mind.

Make sense?

bearholdingbeer • 2 points • 13 November, 2019 11:09 PM

All you did was stating the obvious and telling us that OP has got all the power now, but OP already knows all of that and he cannot call the shot because he's not sure of the outcome, that's what this thread is about, about his question on whether leave the girl or stay with her now that he is in the position of strength.

empatheticapathetic • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 11:31 PM

So you're proposing a scarcity mindset? What good will that do him? If she leaves because he wants to call the shots then let her leave, he's better off. Anything except that is not a redpill mindset. Have you read the sidebar? Did you read briffaults law? Do you understand what the purpose of that article is? If not, please go read it before replying.

bearholdingbeer • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 11:44 PM

1) I didn't propose anything 2) OP is too beta/scared already to decide and that's why the question was asked and thread made 3) Briffaults law didn't apply for this woman in particular as you may understand in OPs text of how low in life he has been and she's still loyal to him

empatheticapathetic • 2 points • 13 November, 2019 11:49 PM

1. Then what is your point at all?
2. Yeah and I'm here to give him some great advice.
3. And in my comment, actually two comments now, I have pointed out that, in my opinion, due to briffaults law, she hung onto him. Hell even if he was a 6'4 janitor she'd have held on to him. But a 6'4 guy with some sort of medical future? She ain't going nowhere. I have tall friends with zero career aspirations who have girls clinging to them for years even though they are beta AF.

Her loyalty can be explained away easily. Don't be such a fool to think any nAWALT shit. Otherwise why are you on this sub?

Briffaults law applies to all women because AWALT. And I'm saying he should think about how briffaults law applies for him now. She's had her use, if he wants to keep her in some capacity go for it, but do it for the right reasons, and not under some blue pill illusion that he or she is special.

bearholdingbeer • 2 points • 14 November, 2019 01:27 AM*

My point is that your advice to OP was to behave like a woman and dump her just because he could do better now, without giving a second thought about future with her. You're giving him a bluepill that he could do ONLY better from now on because he's "blossomed" and any sensible girl would hold onto him, sure they would, he raised his SMV from fat fuck without any career aspirations to absolute macho who owns his shit, that doesn't mean there isn't someone with even higher SMV than he is. Now he can go and fuck every roastie in the world but that doesn't mean he should necessary do that. OP said he's thinking about kids and family and she proved absolute loyalty and submission to him, that's why top upvoted advice here is to consider what's important for him not just dumping her ass asap. You follow TRP rules so blindly that you cannot make a decision on your own based on how people treated you when you were deep in shit. What Iam saying is that you're that kind of girlfriend telling your bestie that she should dump her boyfriend for a Chad because she deserves better. Men actually do value loyalty, women don't. Again, you're telling me about Briffaults law and how it applies for him now, it still does, if he values her loyalty and dedication for him and their relationship then he should continue the relationship and breed children with her (which apparently doesn't since he dumped her). Don't fool yourself with AWALT rule, it is used so men don't fool themselves with oneitis and unicorn girls. Iam not staying this one is, but she already proved herself as a worthy to be considered as. I cannot help myself but think of you as some fanatic of TRP without any sense of your own decision-making aside from sidebar, TRP can only show you the way, you gotta walk it yourself, thats why MGTOW.

TantalizingGrapfruit • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 02:55 AM

He wasn't a medical prospect when they met. So she in no way was acting like you're suggesting she did or suggesting OP should. Flacid fucking argument.

Vitamin_ABCDE • 22 points • 13 November, 2019 02:12 PM

You have no abundance and you feel pressured into marrying this girl because you think you owe it to her.

What do you have to gain from this, aside from appeasing her? Maybe you think it's "heartless" to reject her now when she was there when you needed support the most, but marriage is a really big ask and sometimes you have to be heartless to have a happy life.

You've probably thought long and hard about this; if you have any doubts whatsoever, don't do it. There's a lot that could go wrong.

Only get married if you really want to and understand all the pros and cons associated.

MrSlommy7 • 6 points • 13 November, 2019 03:24 PM

Gonna repeat what everyone else has said by saying you don't owe her. But you need to evaluate what's best for you. Can you see yourself in a marriage with this woman? If marriage something you want? Or perhaps the single live is for you? She's sounds like a decent woman, but you need to weight out both options and make a decision from there. Either way, keep things real with her. Sounds like she stuck by your even at your worst times and she at the very least deserves respect for that.

Good luck bro

Don't kid yourself, you're still a beta. You're just a beta with a good job and low body fat now but the fact you can't straight up tell her how you feel demonstrates beta behavior. Second, this girl has given you her unwavering loyalty, stability, and from the sound of it, you wouldn't be where you are now without her but you're want to give that all up for a hotter piece of ass. RP is about sexual strategy and maximizing your efficiency but it this girl sounds like a keeper. Especially if children you want in your future, this girl offers you intangible things that are very rare today. And this might be immoral but since you've already done it, why not go out and get a piece of ass once in awhile. But otherwise if you chose to leave her I can totally see you being a beta male provider that ends up getting played hard and divorced + sucked dry for alimony.

Being alpha isn't just looking good and having a high paying job. That's just looking the part. It's in how you think.

redbananaboard • 4 points • 13 November, 2019 04:32 PM

Why are we even discussing this? You don't owe her shit. You gotta do what you gotta do. A man should never go against his desires and needs.

You don't like her anymore? Let her go. Don't wanna marry her? Don't do it. Nothing will happen man. She'll move on and so do you. That's life, and in a year you won't give a fuck if you truly embraced RP principles. Cut that BP moral self-sabotage, go get whatever the fuck you want from life.

I know you want to do the "honorable" thing but It will explode in your face in a few years.

TantalizingGrapfruit • 2 points • 14 November, 2019 03:00 AM

So many guys bitching about how women don't know honor or loyalty (the supposed male virtues?) acting just like the shitty people they call emotionally driven teenagers. You ain't above no woman, you ain't more rational than no woman, and you sure as hell ain't more capable of male virtues than women. Tell me more about how women are the hypergamous ones redbananaboard • 1 point • 14 November, 2019 07:16 PM

I think you bring interesting ideas but I feel I'm missing your point. So under the logic you present, OP should do something he clearly feels would make him unhappy in the name of a moral imperative? Like we males need to always do the honorable thing according to whatever moral code we attach ourselves to?

thetotalpackage7 • 3 points • 13 November, 2019 05:25 PM

She sounds like a good person and has been proved to be loyal to you and treat you right. But I agree that no one wants to marry a hog. Is there anything you can help or encourage her to do to pull up her SMV to at least a 7-8? If she's fat, with bad hair, crooked teeth and bad skin...these things can be fixed. Won't be easy but maybe she's worth it?

Nergaal • 4 points • 13 November, 2019 08:14 PM

Do you want kids? If yes, this person seems like would make for a great mother. Now in the country where you live, do you realistically have a good chance of finding at least a similarly good mother for your kids in the near future? This might be the closest thing you will ever encounter to a real-life unicorn.

Plus, keep in mind that with a history like yours, it is very likely for the depression to come back when something hits you in the face. Do you think you are ready to actually do that alone? People in this sub seem to have a very shallow understanding of chronic depression.

throwaway26180081 • 3 points • 13 November, 2019 08:17 PM

As good mother for my kids ? Probably Someone as loyal as her ? Very low chance.

TantalizingGrapfruit • 2 points • 14 November, 2019 03:09 AM

So then marry a woman who's going to cheat like you do

RileysRevenge • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 08:40 PM

This is a great point. OP stated that he wants "like 10 kids".

OP, do you think you'll seriously be able to make the same decisions that have made you this fit and active when you've got 10 kids?

Kids are great, but you've got to be realistic about the amount of time and money it takes to care for them and ensure they're not shitty people by the time they hit 18y/o.

Even after having 1 kid, most parents report having zero free time left, pretty much for the foreseeable future until the kids move out of the house as adults. Having 10 kids?

It's estimated that having a child costs near $1M these days to raise to 18y/o. Even if it were half that, at 10 kids your medical salary will feel like minimum wage income.

All these things considered- what are the odds you'll still be able to work out and eat healthily like you've been doing? Ever see people after having kids? 9/10 put on serious weight.

I'm not saying don't have kids, do have kids if that's what you want, but be realistic about how your life is going to change. All these things will likely happen even if you marry a 10. Kids are kids.

Also, for the love of god, if you do decide to marry get a prenup drafted by a lawyer and have her lawyer and yours sign it together.

Kkiy0M • 3 points • 13 November, 2019 06:42 PM

Look at all she did you for you. There is no way you can guarantee that the next girl who comes along will even do half of that. That is very, very rare. True love isn't as expedient as looks and lust. It's much deeper, and that is what fulfils a marriage. Even then, looks fade. The next woman, will also sooner or later hit the wall. A lot of men, even in this sub, are unhappily resigned to bangin 9's and 10's all the while hanging onto a glimmer of hope that they might one day come across a woman with strong morals they can have a family and kids with. They'd change their position for yours in a heartbeat.

If you choose to leave her and get with someone else, you may very well heavily regret that decision in the future, perhaps when the next girls looks also fade, or when you find no one as down for you as her, or if she divorces you and claims all your money..And there are no do-overs in life.

And how would you know? As you say, your SMV is high now, there's no struggle or test you could subject another girl to in order to determine whether she'd take advantage of you later on or not. My advice? Finding a worthy woman to spend life with is rare nowadays, stick with the woman by your side. The grass is not always greener on the other side, you can find out the easy way or the hard way. You could wake up in 10 years, regretful of your insatiable lust, and be willing to trade the most beautiful face and body for the loyalty in her heart, the heart of a dedicated, dutiful and reliable wife, but be unable to do so.

Andrew54321 • 3 points • 13 November, 2019 06:59 PM

Stop. Right. There.

The question you should be asking is will this woman make a good mother? Will you and her make good parents?

This determines whether or not you marry.

If possible, impregnate but not marry but from the sounds of it you don't have the frame to pull this off.

319Skew • 3 points • 13 November, 2019 08:07 PM

TRP is not a place to find morality and I'll adhere to that.

Don't marry her. You mention every reason to stay other than attraction. That's important. I feel like you are trying to rationalize your decision based on the "she stood by you" and while that's honorable it's not enough.

I'm talking from experience here but it just hurts that much more when hypergamy kicks in and she realizes that she can dictate your life due to matrimonial obligations or having a kid.

Maybe it's different in other places in the world but we're not talking about women back in the 20s but women who are bombarded with social media, globalization and feminism.

Marriage is Red pill on hard mode.

Wish you luck on your decision.

I've seen somany posts shitting on women for monkey branching and dumping the guy who helped them through difficult times just so she can go find someone better/richer.

You are no better than them. Not saying you should have married her, but I hope you understand you are no different than a monkey branching gold digger. I.e. selfish, naive and immature.

Rkingpin • 7 points • 13 November, 2019 04:20 PM

Dont ask internet guys for help making a life-changing decision.

All that must be said is do the math. Ask yourself if you will truly be happy settling with this woman for the rest of your life?

Or will you continue to wonder if the grass is greener on the other side?

Marrying a woman below your SMV is a good way to make sure the relationship stays relatively stable, however guys like us rarely settle for less

FinancialThanks1 • 8 points • 13 November, 2019 01:41 PM

You don't owe her anything. If you don't want to marry her then don't. I'd consider it though

empatheticapathetic • 3 points • 13 November, 2019 02:48 PM

abomba24 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 04:01 PM

I would certainly not recommend marrying her if this is how he is feeling

RedSkeller • 4 points • 13 November, 2019 02:17 PM

Writing is on the wall so to speak. She knows she's in decline and you're on the rise, time to latch on and ride it out. You need to decide if you want to do this, and if you have even the slightest pit in your stomach about it then you know it's a bad idea.

McVaghunter • 12 points • 13 November, 2019 02:25 PM

She provided you with pussy back when you had none, the only thing you owe her is some dick whenever she's feening it. Nothing more.

Your morals are just chemical reactions in your brain.

Jaganshi93 • 2 points • 13 November, 2019 03:34 PM

Too old. Fuck her and thats it strainer123 • 2 points • 13 November, 2019 04:09 PM

Man thats a tough one, she's been by your side all these years, supported you, on the moral side of it, you owe her, but you can't be forced to marry someone you don't want to, you don't see yourself getting her pregnant? If you don't, you need to be honest with her, its going to crush this poor woman, you might find someone close to your SMV, and she might be a cheating bitch, what I find amazing here is that she's a 5.5 while you're an 8-9, and she's DEMANDING you marry her, thats ludicrous, maybe her ego is pretty inflated too.

damaged_goods420 • 2 points • 13 November, 2019 04:18 PM

At the very least you owe her your respect as far as I see it. That doesn't mean you're forced to stay with her, as that would be silly if you're absolutely not going to be happy and it would have an impact on your life.

I believe I can do much better, and I love her, I am not in love with her, but I truly love her.

Honestly mate, it sounds like you know what you have to do. It sucks, best of luck.

Snowaey • 2 points • 13 November, 2019 04:30 PM

Bro, youre approaching your PRIME, if you dont love the girl, you shouldnt feel pressured to marry her even though you might feel like shit for it, trust me, you will thank yourself later.

You only have one life to live brother, don't waste your prime years on something you dont feel comfortable with.

No need to break up. You could just explain that you want to stay together but not be married on paper. Up to you what reasons you give (you could explicitly bring up alimony / divorce rape etc., or not), and he can take it or leave it.

OfficerWade • 3 points • 13 November, 2019 03:23 PM

Dude if she fits in your life, when you were nothing with nobody it would be a sin if you didn't reach out to her with your job and career.

Don_Draper27 • 3 points • 13 November, 2019 04:59 PM

I broke up with an LTR of 5 years because she wanted to get married and I didn't. She's not married yet but she's with someone who's better aligned with her. She always loved traveling and never being home and I'm the opposite so at least now we're both happier and we're both with people who are better suited for us.

In my current LTR, while I was vetting and plating, I told her that I didn't want to get married and she chose to become exclusive with me anyway.

With that said, I would have an honest talk with your LTR and tell her that you don't want to get married. It should be a "It's not you, it's me" angle. Tell her that she deserves to be married and be with someone who wants to be married with her. By ending the relationship you're giving her the time and energy to go and find what she wants and likewise for yourself, you can focus more on your career or find someone better aligned with you.

Also, I do believe that if the tables were turned and a man was the one who was supporting his LTR for years and helping her rise up, she would only feel guilty for a second before dumping him for someone better. It sucks that men are the romantic ones and we have a much louder conscious.

shouldergirdle • 4 points • 13 November, 2019 03:49 PM

Exact same thing happened to me 30 years ago. I was low SMV beta, she was a 5 SMV. I was just starting my career and she was aging out. She really wanted to get married, so we did. Overall she was a good woman, a good wife and a good mother. We have had a good life together. My SMV continued to rise, hers plunged. If I were to do it over again this is what I would do:

1. Don't get her pregnant!!!!
2. Don't get married!!!!!!!!!!
3. Keep improving your SMV and wealth. Spin plates until age 45. Then, if you want to settle down find a 24yr old at that time.

All men have a strong sense of loyalty and appreciation. She has treated you well and your loyalty is kicking in and you want to reward her for sticking by you when you were nothing. But, it's a trap. Don't fall for it. Break up with her. Do it quickly, like ripping off a bandaide. It will hurt but you will get over it. This is your only life. To achieve happiness you MUST live for yourself. Living for others WILL make you miserable.

abomba24 • 2 points • 13 November, 2019 04:00 PM

Rough as this is, you are caring too much about her feelings and not prioritizing your own. She saw the potential in you and got behind it, even if you didn't. She thinks she's owed something. No.

It's your life. No "trying to make her dump you" - you make the decision. This sounds easy to me that you clearly are not that into her. Given your history, the most that you might owe her is describing that you're heart is not in this rather than just ghosting or something.

Serniebanders69 • 2 points • 14 November, 2019 10:05 PM

All I am gonna say is that a modern marriage license is a contract between three parties: man, woman, state. And the state is biased to side with the woman.

Don't let guilt dictate your life.

lolomotif12 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 04:58 PM

It sounds to me like you are in love with what she has done for you which is; been loyal and supportive. You now know you can do better looks wise even thou looks are not permanent remember that her looks will only get worse with time. So if you find her a sub 5 now think of what you will think of her in 10 years time. You will need to wake up next to this person for the rest of your life and marriage is a big commitment and a risky business. Dont get into a risky business if you're not confident in the business. You owe her nothing. The fact that you need to make a post like this about her wanting to marry you proves you have doubts. Dont do it. Be honest to her and move on.

PurpleRose328 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 05:19 PM

Looks can be a major factor especially when it comes to attraction but it seems to me like there are other stuff going on with you hence the hesitation. I truly believe that you have something you need to figure out in yourself first before dealing with this. Because once you've faced whatever it is, I'm sure you'll find the answer you're looking for.

I apologize if it's vague but a lot of people already gave advices about this and I don't want to tell you to do something I don't know the full details of. And besides, just like what others said, this is a major decision. Only you can figure out what you should do because you're the only one who can own up the consequences of whatever action you'll take.

markar_3 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 05:29 PM

I dont need to read the long story... If you re not ready dont do it.... if you feel like you might never get a chance with another woman then this is also a wrong reason... This is a commitment to yourself not to her... You owe her gratitude but not you future

sstidman[] • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 05:33 PM

It's you really care about her then you need to look at this from her perspective....is it a good idea for her to marry someone who is not in love with her and spends the rest of his life wishing he was with someone else? If you truly care about her then you have to let her go. I think you are worried too much about hurting her feelings in the short term but not really thinking about how much you will hurt her in the long term by marrying her.

ng07977 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 05:49 PM*

I don't know what's wrong with some of the posters here saying you don't owe her "anything" - does your definition of masculinity preclude you from expressing gratitude? She believed in you when you and built you up when you didn't believe in yourself. That should mean something to a healthy human. I agree with the comments that say you owe her honesty for sure.

To be totally honest with her, you need to weigh up what you want out of life and see where she fits. If you want to bang 8's and 9's then it's not going to work out. If you want to marry and have kids with someone worships you, it sounds like you've got that.

EraseUnaVez • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 06:12 PM

Getting some gender swap shenanigans vibes here, mostly because that's something a woman would do, on the other hand if this is true, just the way you wrote it, damn man, that's some shitty thinking.

fartt123 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 06:16 PM

why do you have to marry her unless you believe in religion? you could have children. you could give her a ring but explain that you can't marry her cause that would be destructive to you and your finances. Now if you do decide talk on it don't back pedal on your words, figure out what you want and stick to it. dont go off course!

rockyp32 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 06:17 PM

Could u upgrade her SMV? U said she had a great face if u motivate her to get in great shape and build up her booty that might satisfy what ur looking for. Also another thing to consider is youll both be wrinkly old and ugly eventually

HB3234 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 06:25 PM

Keep the girl with a heart of gold. Get her some cosmetology classes and a personal trainer, most 9s and 10s are 5s with a good hairdresser and a vanity full of makeup.

pdiggs1500 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 06:27 PM

[deleted] • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 06:41 PM

Sounds like an awesome woman. Would make a great mom, and you two would have rad children.

Definitely honesty is the best policy.

In the perfect world, I would shoot for having a multiwoman relationship, where this is your primary girl who heads the household, and does most of the direction for child rearing, and you have some other attractive wives and girlfriends.

MeansToABenz • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 07:38 PM

Spaghett1776 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 07:46 PM*

Gonna end in divorce if your value is that much higher than hers and you're already aware you aren't in love with her.

At the same time though, leaving a good girl will probably scar you. There's a few girls I've broken up with that I still think of at least once a week. Ultimately you have to do what you think will be best for you and your potential family in the long term,

SoulRebel99 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 08:26 PM

Epiphany Phase. If you wont, it likely could end the relationship.

RileysRevenge • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 08:47 PM

I just want to say for anyone reading this post, if you're going to be in a LTR, be honest from the start about your intensions. Cheating is a shitty thing to do, male or female. Let's be adults and be honest about our desires from the beginning. Tell your significant other that you like the idea of an LTR but that the idea of monogamy is unrealistic at best. The amount of cheating that people do is insane, immoral, dishonest, and ultimately weak and beta AF.

Alphas stick to their word and don't compromise their morals. Mean what you say and say what you mean. Hold yourself accountable and live your life accordingly. Don't lie, deceive, cheat, or steal. Real men don't do those things.

Also as I said before, IF you decide to marry, have a lawyer write a prenup and have her lawyer and yours present when signing. Make sure it's water-tight.

LilLoserFreny • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 09:17 PM

With all due respect I would tell her to fuck off. She clearly doesn't care about you much if she wants you to get married to her in this day and age.

DinduNuffin33 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 09:18 PM

Mate she's been with you always at your worst, and even that now you consider yourself "better" than her, I'd say forget the numbers and all that shit. This is a woman that was with you always and its only natural she maybe if feeling more insecure now that you've achieved more and wants to settle and get married. If you love this woman then go ahead and do what you feel is best. Do not make your decision based on advice on reddit from people who can't fully understand the context. Forget the outer looks and look whether this is a person you'd wanna make a family with. You're a 9 now but you will get older as will she, you might leave her to fuck around with hotter chicks but don't forget that these hotter chicks wouldn't even look at you when you were at your lowest. Trust your gut feeling.

rejjiesnortssnow • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 09:42 PM

You either have to marry her or leave her, otherwise you are potentially jeprodising her fertility. And i wouldn't marry her if you were already having second thoughts. Also bare in mind grass is always greener, you might back yourself but when you go back to being single after so long you may not like it, and want to go back to her. Basically either shit or get off the bog.

redrocketred9 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 09:48 PM

Do what you want just remember this, it's your fault if she leaves you/cheats on you, ect.

Women aren't like men, they will mold to a man's image/frame if she thinks hes an "alpha". Good girls becomes dirty sluts, sluts will pretend to be the sweetest girl in the world if that's what it takes to get with an alpha. She's on her best behaviour if you slip up with her she's going to be your 6/10 nightmare wife with your kids just like it would be with any other girl.

If I where you I'd get more practice/frame and mold a hot bitch to wife up. That's just me tho

And unicorns don't exist, get that through your skull guys. Good luck bro

GGrub8 • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 10:14 PM

You don't need a marriage contract to live a life with her and she doesn't need it either.

If she values that contract above you as a person, above your love, then she's starting to show her true colors, especially now that the wall is approaching.

Put your foot down and refuse to marry her. If your commitment isn't enough and she leaves you then you'll be better off without her.

RedPillAlphaBigCock • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 10:15 PM

The TRUE test of a woman is what happen when you are down - she honestly sounds like a keeper - think about it - There are more important things than looks and loyalty IS one of them - she is better than a better looking girl with less of a connection

I am from third world country, when I finished HS got into Uni, in field related to medicine, but not the medicine (think radiological technologies, nursing, lab, physio) because my parents forced me to go there but not the medicine. There I meet this 5'7" girl who was 6 really. nice face but nothing to stand out. Then I had 310lbs at my worst, while I was 6'4". While I had height and kinda nice face for fat fuck there is no chance I was over 3-3.5. I was Billy beta, no doubt.

We started dating and she was really nice to me, when I decided to study medicine (6 years) she fully supported me and told me how I deserve it and how should I go for it, and shit like that. She helped me even put arguments to my parents. I got into medicine and that was going fine until my Grandpa died, the man I loved the most, and I was fucking depressed and cried many times on her shoulder. After that I hit rough patch and was on verge of suicide, but she helped me go through that. We always hung out somewhere cheap or free because I never had money and really was not into her paying for shit, even though she always offered.

In my third year of medicine I decided it's time to stop overeating and all that shit, as much as I did that for myself, I did it for her too. I hit the gym, always used to do MMA, now did it more, lost over 50 kg, now I have 100kg, at 11% body fat. When I started skipping meals, and working out a lot more, I told her I did it for her as well and she always said shit like "You don't have to", "I love you either way". In my 4th year she got professional job and nice pay, she bought me stuff, even though I couldn't reciprocate.

I finished med school last year, got paid cardiology residence in the best hospital in the country, and I am the shit, I look good, I am very appreciated in my field and people are projecting me good career, I did some amazing stuff and award-winning researches.

But my gf now asked me to marry her, and shit I get that, she is getting older, and we both want children, she had job, I've got job. But here's the thing, I know I am now, today 8 or 9, with nice SMV, and she is 5.5 who is approaching the wall, and if it was anyone else I would told her to gtfo, but she was always here for me, she never cheated on me (although even when I was the most beta I've always told her: "If you think you could do better, go"). I did fuck other girls, but it's only that. I don't know how to put it into words, I believe I can do much better, and I love her, I am not in love with her, but I truly love her. Last year I tried to make her dump me, but it's not happening.

TL:DR girl was with me when I was 3.5 and nobody and she was 6, supported me all the time, now I am 9 with good career and she is asking me to marry her."

I lived for a few months in a town one hour away from Rio.

People do have lots of casual sex in Colombia, but the culture is much more openly conservative, so it still is frowned upon. You're right though, your status over here would be stratospheric just based on your nationality. I find that a bit silly, but hey, you'd be my competition so I have my reasons haha. Plus you're something new to them, and if I saw a Ukranian volleyball player walking around I'd feel some tingling around my netherparts as well lol.

You should definitely come bro, it's male heaven over here. I wouldn't trade Latinas for anything.

ViolentInteger • 1 point • 13 November, 2019 03:43 PM

I didn't bother reading most of this post, because the details don't matter. What does matter are these two points:

Marriage is horse shit.

You should never do anything only because someone else wants you to.

I also spotted these gems in your text:

she is 5.5 who is approaching the wall [...] I believe I can do much better [...] Last year I tried to make her dump me

Sounds like she's not even LTR material, but you're too much of a pussy to end it.
