

What's my Ex's angle here?

December 23, 2019 | 10 upvotes | by rizzyfromthe9

Broke up almost a year ago, I dumped her bc I suspected a potential branch swing and went no contact.

I see her at the gym but I just do my thing and ignore her existence

She recently came up to me after the gym and said how she wants to apologize for what she did bc “what we had was really special” and “hopes one day I’ll wake up and forgive her”

I basically was like huhh, it’s not that serious.

She was persistent in acting like she hurt me, then apologizing numerous times. Acting very dramatic about it saying how I hate her. (because I see her often but never acknowledge her)

I just said ok that’s nice of you and I don’t hate you...just kinda smiling like idk what you’re going on about

Is she trying to get an ego boost trying to get me to say how she hurt me so much and how much I hate her so it? Lol

I could prob plate her for a little but only if she makes it easy but not sure after she was being so dramatic

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

FereallyRed • 29 points • 23 December, 2019 09:34 PM

The opposite of love is indifference, not hate.

By continuing to interact with her she's getting validation that you still have some form of feelings for her, which is a validation that she's still in your thoughts.

No contact. It's over. She's like the mousy cleaning lady you don't even realize is present.

Sylvester_Sterone • 1 point • 24 December, 2019 07:53 PM

This.

MMASpartan77 • 14 points • 23 December, 2019 09:02 PM

Stay far away, end of story

hmsthinkingmeat • 11 points • 23 December, 2019 09:12 PM

LMAO - it's incredible how manipulative they are - she hopes you'll "wake up" and forgive her for what she did. Trying to put doubt in your mind that it's you who is in the wrong.

Surely she's the one who needs to wake up from her fantasy world.

Or maybe she needs knocking out.

Your choice OP.

rizzyfromthe9[S] • 3 points • 23 December, 2019 09:32 PM

What do you mean knocking out?

Fucking and ghosting? That would be pretty funny

hmsthinkingmeat • 2 points • 23 December, 2019 10:14 PM

I mean the opposite of waking up.

amwfhunter • 3 points • 23 December, 2019 09:03 PM

Forgive her? I mean you suspected branch swinging but it was never proven so what is there to forgive her about?

Nah fuck her. Dont forgive her. She just wants closure, dont let her have her satisfaction.

rizzyfromthe9[S] • 2 points • 23 December, 2019 09:10 PM

Oh yeah nah I not going to forgive her

It's not even that serious I'm not looking for an apology

30dirtyfingers • 4 points • 24 December, 2019 09:56 AM you suspected potential branch swinging and broke up.

year later she see you around and apologizes for what she did because what you 2 had was special and hopes that you will wake up and forgive her...

Soooooooo, your suspicions are confirmed. She was trying to branch swing and you figured it out and broke u with her.

And now she wants YOU to wake up and forgive her. For what?

lolomotif12 • 2 points • 23 December, 2019 09:53 PM

She is trying to get you to engage in her by manipulation. It's been a year, dont go digging through the trash. Dont plate and make sure she doesnt have the comfort to come up to you again and try manipulate you, draw the line move on.

HurricaneHugues • 1 point • 23 December, 2019 11:39 PM

Didn't read. Who cares? Ignore ex and move on with your life.

Chadster113 • 0 points • 24 December, 2019 01:42 AM

Who cares