

How are women supposed to appreciate male attention when it's so cheap?

January 31, 2020 | 358 upvotes | by twopeas3296

It always confuses me when men here admit that guys will happily fuck nearly any and every woman and in the same breath criticize women for not “appreciating” the abundance of attention they get. Am I really supposed to feel thankful that guys who’d p&d Bus Driver Bertha would also spread some dick my way? I also laugh when guys say “it’s impossible for women to be insecure; look at all the validation they get from men!” Yeah, because male validation (something given freely and blindly) means so, so much. Am I just missing something?

Hm, maybe I'm too plain or too much of a recluse, but I don't find real life attention that abundant. Unless you dress up to the nines every time you leave the house, you'll more often than not be left alone. Sure, on social media or dating apps, if random guys send very low effort messages that they've probably copy pasted for all the women they half-way fancy, I'll more likely than not just never respond, which I don't think they care that much about. If a guy actually approaches me in real life, though, it's rare enough that it doesn't bother me unless it's rude and I can only imagine the humiliation I'd feel if I put myself out there like that and got rudely rejected; I don't see a reason not to be nice as long as the other person is too.

The guys at r/dataisbeautiful often upload graphs of their tinder data and man are the results depressing to look at

DazzlingMolasses7 • 2 points • 22 April, 2020 07:19 PM

Then what is the proposed solution? Because women accepting low effort messages is def not it.

Maybe men could actually try with fewer women and send decent messages? Would be the same amount of effort but concentrated.

Lol this argument is parroted allover reddit and it never holds because women were always picky. Online dating didn't change women from reasonable to picky. Back in the old times, casual sex was frowned upon. You had to court women and it took a long time, lol at a 3 date rule. Men weren't able to go on tinder and hit on 100 women at once.

DazzlingMolasses7 • 0 points • 23 April, 2020 03:27 PM

Lol so women have 100s of men at their fingertips but men don't? If they're both using online dating they're both getting access to people they might not otherwise.

Just because you can't actually get them doesn't mean it's not access. Not women's fault men are so thirsty they'll swipe right on everyone. Everyone has access now. The rules from before still apply; more access doesn't mean more success. If you were unattractive before you're still going to be unattractive now.

Joey_Lopez • 37 points • 31 January, 2020 08:16 PM

You'll be surprised how many girls will be happy if a guy approached. Don't forget that social media also raised the standards for looks in females.

ProfessionalLoser62 • 41 points • 1 February, 2020 12:44 AM

I mean, every time I approached a girl they weren't rude with a stick up their ass. They clearly wanted me to disappear because I wasn't a smooth tongue rolling talker, but hey, they weren't assholes about it at least.

pample_meese • 11 points • 1 February, 2020 03:17 PM

It's nice to hear a man being reasonable and understanding in this sub

Joey_Lopez • 12 points • 1 February, 2020 12:56 AM

Just make sure you look your best and are fun and non-threatening to talk to. I got shot down and I had girls be rude about it, but a lot of them did like the attention. Some will even like you as well.

brackenz • 9 points • 3 February, 2020 08:51 PM

but a lot of them did like the attention.

No shit, you're feeding her ego

frynwik • 6 points • 1 February, 2020 03:06 PM

Social media raised the standards for everybody. Not just in looks, your life has to be interesting, you have to be adventurous, you have to be confident. Although to say overweight men/women ever had it easy is bull crap

brackenz • 2 points • 3 February, 2020 08:52 PM

This, and the biggest irony is that most of the time it's all fake or highly exaggerated

brackenz • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 08:50 PM

Haha good one, are you a mace salesman?

[deleted] • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 02:48 PM

It's not just being approached. It's also the way they treat you and the way they act around you. They don't always have to say something. It's obvious even if they don't.

OP never said anything about not being nice.

Sure thing buddy

Kwint86 • 13 points • 31 January, 2020 08:36 PM

Gonna go stream of consciousness.

I feel like there is a parallel between the effects of men giving attention easily and women giving up sex easily.

However there is a distribution difference in terms of who receives most of the benefits for each gender.

So high value men are able to receive easy sex from various women who can be considered high value in looks. However, the benefit he receives from any woman is typically the same (vagina) and doesn't really vary much from woman to woman. The need for him to invest in one particular woman doesn't arise until he chooses to do so.

Women are able to receive cheap attention from what is probably lower value men. However, low value men don't provide anything to said woman, ergo she doesn't value it.

If the attention from a man provides value in anyway, whether its via scarcity, invoking of positive feelings, monetary, or socially, then attention is deemed as worth more and she would be wise to invest more into this man, however what she offers has been cheapened by easy to acquire sex from other women of a similar caliber.

In conclusion, men should stop giving free attention to women (which would bankrupt quite a few of them), higher value men should raise their own standards for which women they will sleep with (not likely), and men giving out free attention to women on the internet should be shamed into oblivion.

I'm all for being kind to people who approach me, even if I'm not interested, as long as they take a polite rejection well and don't get nasty about it.

[deleted] • 39 points • 31 January, 2020 07:36 PM

As an example, it is not respectful for a 40+ year old man to approach a 19 year old woman in a public setting, not matter how polite he is. It's delusional, and men deserve to know that's the truth.

Redditzorzez • 33 points • 31 January, 2020 07:59 PM

I personally know more than a couple of (then) 19 year olds who were bagged and tagged by 40+ geezers, stop pretending like that kind of thing doesn't happen

Joey_Lopez • 15 points • 31 January, 2020 08:11 PM

Yeah I remember when I was 19 and all the girls were ignoring us to get with all the older guys with the nice cars.

reluctantly_red • 13 points • 1 February, 2020 02:09 AM

Those guys were early to mid 20s -- not 40.

RuleBreakerrz • 8 points • 1 February, 2020 12:35 PM

It's a double standard and women hate it, and betas don't like it either, because they wanna seem sympathetic to women. But it is what it is. Men of damn near any age can get young girls. But older women can't do the same. Women lose value the older they get, and men gain value the older they get. A woman's value is her youth and beauty. A man's value is not youth or beauty. Men gain knowledge and wisdom with age, and acquire more wealth as well, and become better looking honestly, and more distinguished. Women love that. Younger dudes will bang a older woman, but it's more for fun. The older a woman gets, she's getting near menopause where her child birthing years are coming to an end. Just saying it's a double standard.

I'm early 30s and I was dating a girl that's like mid 20s and her friend is younger than she is like 22 and she said her friends' boyfriend is 45 or 46. You actually think women have standards? HAHAHA No! They are impulsive and reckless.

GibsonL6 • 3 points • 1 February, 2020 05:40 PM

It's important to note though that being a good looking 40 year old guy doesn't mean you can get ANY young woman, or even a big proportion of them. But they're always THERE, and the number of good looking, single, 40 year old dudes willing to date a 20 year old seriously is pretty small, so it probably seems a lot easier than when you were 20 and competing with an enormous number of men for sexual attention.

brackenz • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 09:00 PM

Ironically a lot of those guys dont want to deal with the drama of a young chick with daddy-issues

Ulteriormover • 0 points • 20 March, 2020 05:33 AM

Mabey they need to be talked to themselves.

Joey_Lopez • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 10:43 PM

As long as you have status you can pull younger chicks.

RuleBreakerrz • 0 points • 2 February, 2020 12:35 AM

You don't even have to have status lol.

Joey_Lopez • 2 points • 2 February, 2020 12:48 AM

I think you do. I also think you have more experience and game then a younger guy so that probably why you feel like you don't need status.

RuleBreakerrz • 3 points • 2 February, 2020 01:20 AM

Yeah you said "I think you do" I don't think, because I know you don't. Ya'll give women too much credit. Ya'll think women have standards, and things that they really stand on as a moral code or something, when they don't. Once you truly understand that, you know you can get any woman, any age, anytime. Women make it up as they go. That's why a woman will do something with a guy and say "I normally don't do this". lol. And anything a woman says she doesn't do or won't do is B.S. A woman will break any rule she has, depending on her mood and how's she's feeling, or you're making her feel.

Women just don't have a code of ethics they go by. Me knowing this, and having seen it with so many women, makes women very easy to get with.

brackenz • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 08:58 PM

and men gain value the older they get

Up to a point, else you wouldnt see so many geezers dying alone

A woman's value is her youth and beauty

Lots of ugly/fat/old women getting married because money

Men gain knowledge and wisdom with age

A few, most dont

and become better looking honestly

You're starting to sound like one of those 50yo mgtow types bruh

RuleBreakerrz • 1 point • 4 February, 2020 12:13 AM

I'm just a guy that has knowledge and wisdom. I'm in my early 30s and I see this stuff playing out already. You do know we all gonna age and die right? lol. If you or me are even lucky enough to get that old. All I know as a man, we do get better with age. Women as they get older their youth and looks leave them. A man gets more distinguished with age, I knew that when I was a teenager. I remember being in my early 20s and these girls I knew talking about how my dad was handsome, haha. I was like ya'll are talking about my dad? Then I knew how women think, and how they are attracted to men of all ages. Women do have their hayday in youth. But it's a reason women go thru menopause in their late 40s and men can continue to reproduce with young women even in old age. It's like that for a reason, nature made it that way for a reason. Men even in the reproductive realm have more value than women do. It's just a better deal as a guy, nature doesn't care about anybody's feelings, it is what it is.

Joey_Lopez • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 06:54 AM

More like late 20's - 30ish.

Sir_manalot • 17 points • 31 January, 2020 08:16 PM

Yet women are the ones that prefer older men.

[deleted] • 14 points • 31 January, 2020 08:16 PM

Not 20+ years older LOL more like 2 years older.

Christian_Kong • 16 points • 31 January, 2020 09:39 PM

Personal experience only but I think there are more than an number of younger women that have at least a phase for older men. I don't know if it's just a checklist thing or what but it has been happening enough in my later years and I am still not really seeing any patterns(for example no father) for the girls involved.

For the record I am heading towards 40 and while I might rate myself 5 or a 6 for my age group(very good shape, average/below average face) in the eyes of a 20 year old I would think I would probably be a 3 at best. I don't every think it's worth it for me to hit on a young girl, in my mind I don't stand a chance and I never do.

It doesn't change the fact that these women approach me. They will chat me up and by the end of it as me why I haven't asked them for their number. I tell them my age and I get the whole, "that's cool I like older guys" or something of that ilk.

I think it's mostly a sexual bucket list thing or phase for a certain subset of younger women. They vary in age(19 and beyond personally) and it's kind of strange, but I don't really feel like I am in a position to turn down an attractive woman trying to hook up with me.

Ladyofblades • 14 points • 1 February, 2020 04:39 AM

That number is a very vocal but small minority. Among groups of young women the general reaction is one of disgust. I mean you don't need the women here telling you this. It should be common enough sense to recognize that they're outliers.

Christian_Kong • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 05:23 AM

I wouldn't call these women vocal, it's not like they are parading it on IG. Again, I am starting to think it's just a sexual bucket list thing for more women than one would assume. As I mentioned, I'm not a big deal, but it's happening at a much higher rate(which is in reality anything more than 0) than I would expect.

Ladyofblades • 4 points • 1 February, 2020 10:21 AM

I hate to break it to you but most women do not count bagging an older man for sex a bucket list item. Women are not attracted to an older man for actual sexual prowess, but maturity and experience (there are enough 30 year old men who have learned enough sexually that it's not much of a big deal anymore, and a fit young man is just going to outlast older guys in bed.) There are enough women with varied tastes in men physically that there should be enough to want silver foxes too.

[deleted] • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 09:40 PM

Disgusting. Girls need to get some self respect.

Christian_Kong • 8 points • 31 January, 2020 09:57 PM

I am not sure why this implies lack of self respect. They want to have a sexual experience and they make it happen.

[deleted] • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 09:58 PM

Sleeping with gross old men as a young woman is disrespecting yourself and your entire gender. Fucking gross.

87AudreyHorne • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 02:57 PM

Why would this mean a lack of self respect?

cxj • 4 points • 1 February, 2020 12:57 AM

TexasRose25 • 3 points • 1 February, 2020 01:49 PM

This is all YOUR perspective, not everyone's, so that behaviour is not in truth "gross": you just happen to not like it.

Silverfox17421 • 6 points • 1 February, 2020 04:42 AM

LOL a lot of teenage girls have Daddy issues. A lot. And a number of them will go for men not just 20 but up to 40 years older!

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 11:59 AM

A small number, and men that go for girls with Daddy issues and have old man kinks are benefiting from an other man's abuse and neglect. And it's so LOL hilarious because doesn't matter had sex.

The power differential and intent is what makes it predatory. I understand a minority relationships work out for a length of time, between 2 people with a similar mentality that met by chance, but the older person is not going to be a serial 20+ age gap seeker and the younger person isn't going to be exposed to that many old men. The bodies of old men, the skin, the smell and especially the breath are different and not in a good way. It starts to smell like death. And the way they are zeroed in like Nosferatu is inescapable.

TexasRose25 • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 02:01 PM

That's what it is - missing validation that they didn't get from their fathers while they were growing up, and the conflating of love with sexual attention from a stranger who can't make up for what she missed out on.

Silverfox17421 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:24 PM

Yes I still date young women aged even down to 18-20 at times. They all have crazy older man fetishes.

Father left her at 13.

Hates her father's guts because he treats her like crap.

Has incredibly mixed feelings towards her father because he's too controlling.

Vast majority of young women won't go for a man my age, but trust me, there's some that do!

Shenaniboozle • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 04:49 PM

Last year, I had a 19 year old give me her number, and ask me out. I was 46. That is a 27 year difference. I was approached.

No, besides me being intolerable for a few days nothing came of it, cause not only am I married, but... thats a kid.

I agree with you, But I would say that pursuing someone vastly younger than yourself is more unprincipled than anything else, and thats at best.

Would I schmooze up to a 19 year old girl just sitting there minding her own business? Absolutely not.

While you may not be attracted to someone old enough to be your dad's older brother, there are plenty that are. Nope, I dont get it either.

RuleBreakerrz • 0 points • 1 February, 2020 12:24 PM

It's not 2 years get outta here. Women don't even have standards that they stand by.

Women just go with whatever they feel. If the chick is 20 and the dude is 40 she'll hook up with the dude, suck him, have a relationship with him whatever. Women have no standards, they'll talk to damn near any dude that gives them attention. There is no age limit. It is what it is. My parents are like 6 years apart in age. And a lot of times a dude is just trying to smash, so for that age really doesn't matter. Women have love older men, since the beginning of time. There's a reason why men can impregnate a woman damn near until he dies. That's because men of any age are attractive to women. It's like that for a reason, it's biological.

reluctantly_red • 0 points • 1 February, 2020 03:13 AM

Young women date a few years older. Middle age women date up to about 15 years older.

[deleted] • 3 points • 1 February, 2020 05:23 AM

When did I talk about what middle aged women do? At least middle aged women are a realistic target for old men.

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 02:43 PM

Why do so many men on Reddit have this delusion? Women stay within a 10 year range generally speaking. The idea that 19 year olds prefer men as old as 40 is laughable. Is that wishful thinking or what?

Sir_manalot • 3 points • 1 February, 2020 03:35 PM

Who said that?

Nobody said that.

Some women do like much older men and it isn't some kind of "oppression" when she picks that kind of man like other people are implying.

[deleted] • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 03:42 PM

A 40 year old dating a 19 year old is a creep, regardless of gender. It's not "oppression" but it is a gross power imbalance.

MrHerbSherman • 4 points • 1 February, 2020 05:00 PM

So is dating a millionaire or a movie star

That's like women's MO, finding a guy who has a lot more going on than them and latching on to it

[deleted] • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 10:14 PM

How is that a fucking power imbalance? False equivalence.

GibsonL6 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:37 PM

I wouldn't say it's so much of a PREFERENCE as it is an OPTION. You can find dozens and dozens of men talking about how as they got older, women their age and a significant amount younger stayed interested. I've heard 35 year old guys say it's easier to date than when they were 22 because their dating pool at 35 is ages 20-40, and when they were 22 it was more like 18-22. Women say the same shit but it's flipped, as they get older, younger guys aren't as interested. A 35 year old woman has the option to date 30-50 year olds, but a 22 year old woman can date 18-50 (if they so desire).

That doesn't mean young women ALWAYS prefer older guys, that obviously not the case, I know a lot of women who only date guys around their age. BUT older guys are available.

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 10:12 PM*

I know almost no one in their 20s who is happy to date someone 20 or 30 years older. I think men online carry on about it yet I almost never see a 20 year old date a 40 year old in real life. You can maybe get away with it if you are already very attractive or you have a lot of money (and you don't mind dating blatant gold diggers) but it's still the exception to the rule. Women are not attracted to receding hairlines, wrinkles, or a flat tire around the waist.

[deleted] • 2 February, 2020 05:54 AM

[deleted] • 2 points • 2 February, 2020 06:08 AM

I'm a female in my 20s. I think you meant to direct all this advice to someone else. To me, even at 29, 19 year olds are extremely immature. I can be very physically attracted to them but their personality kills it. I need someone who is on my level so that we can have conversations that aren't shallow and centred around me teaching them something. That you date them at your age is fucking weird and creepy regardless of how you look. You openly admit they have daddy issues and you don't care. You feed off and encourage a set of mental problems. That is simultaneously selfish and condescending.

That's analogy to your words.

Ballface8020 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 09:51 PM

age is for women what height is for men

I agree that a man over 30 has no business sleeping with a girl in her early 20s or below, but I do enjoy seeing how you ladies react when the shoe is on the other foot. You in particular are triggered as fuck despite the fact that in your prime you were likely throwing yourself at the tallest guys you could find. Turnabout is a bitch, huh?

If it makes you feel any better, just like 90% of women won't be able to get in a relationship with a 6'4 guy (even though that's what they all want), 90%+ of men in their 40's or later will never be able to fuck a girl in her mid 20s or younger (even though that's what they all want).

[deleted] • 1 point • 2 February, 2020 12:20 AM chickenfriedsteakdin • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 10:56 AM

Maybelowsmv • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 12:17 PM

But they shouldnt expect all women to be cool with it. The weirder it gets, the more natural it is to expect women to act with disgust

Redditzorzez • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 12:50 PM

I don't think most of these dudes "expect" women to be cool with it. There's literally no way to know without them actually trying . And I bet most of them are really measured and cool in their approach and (lots of) rejections.

But to insist that it's "disgusting" and "insulting" because Tumbleweed personally doesn't find that kind of people attractive is just... laughable. It's solipsism of the worst kind. I'd even say it's sad that people who dismiss rationality completely in favor of muh feelingz are allowed to vote.

Maybelowsmv • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 03:07 PM

The main comment here was from Smoogs who said that men want women to stop being so dramatic in response to respectful advances. It's not about whether older men should approach younger women or not. My statement is about how in cases that don't fit the norm objectively, men shouldn't demand that women wntertain it. Would you entertain it if a gay man hit on you? If youre the few gay or bisexual men who would enjoy it, fair enough. But you can't expect every straight man to react without dramaticism

Jaktenba • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 04:14 PM

But you can't expect every straight man to react without dramaticism

We should be able to expect straight men to react reasonably to being approached by a gay man.

Maybelowsmv • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 05:12 PM

Theyd probably be like "eww im not gay. Get off me" on avg. Which is fine

[deleted] • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 03:44 PM

No one is pretending it doesn't happen. People are aware and universally grossed out by it.

tropiew • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 09:38 PM

Lol. I agree. But i believe this goes the other way too albeit not as much as the 40+ men do it. I have heard plenty accounts of cougars (40+ women) getting a little too touchy feely with young guys and then getting kicked out.

ohheyhi99 • 4 points • 31 January, 2020 09:42 PM

It's not disrespectful just because it makes you uncomfortable. Do you you hold 40+. year old women to the same standard?

[deleted] • 10 points • 31 January, 2020 09:43 PM

It is disrespectful if I feel it is.

Of course I do, but I don't care as much because cougars don't appear in my life anywhere, but gross old men do.

ohheyhi99 • 11 points • 31 January, 2020 09:49 PM

"It is disrespectful if I feel it is."

Lol that's not how it works. There are standard ethics which one can follow so as not to be disrespectful. Uncomfortable does not always mean disrespectful.

"Of course I do, but I don't care as much because cougars don't appear in my life anywhere, but gross old men do."

I still disagree with your standard, but at least you're consistent.

[deleted] • 8 points • 31 January, 2020 09:51 PM

Yes it is. If I feel disrespected, it was disrespectful. When a gross old limp dick man approaches a beautiful young woman full of life, if he seriously thinks he has a chance, that is fucking gross and he deserves to be called the fuck out so he'll think twice about making a girl want to projectile vomit all over him.

ohheyhi99 • 6 points • 31 January, 2020 09:55 PM

Lol it's entertaining thinking about your narcissism getting so bent out of shape over ethical, respectful approaches. If those men were being rude or ill-mannered somehow I'd feel differently.

[deleted] • 5 points • 31 January, 2020 09:57 PM

Nothing is ethical or respectful about a gross old man approaching me and I take GREAT PRIDE in crushing their overgrown ego and telling them to crawl back into whatever hole they came from.

Jip_Jaap_Stam • 4 points • 1 February, 2020 12:06 AM

The lady doth protest too much, methinks.

[deleted] • 9 points • 1 February, 2020 02:39 AM

It's this attitude from men that makes women call men pigs and hate and fear men. We get hot dog of all ages flung in our face from the day we grow boobs sometimes younger until well into older MILF age and then get told we should appreciate it or we're jealous of teenagers that love it, when we lived it. Teenager like older famous men, not the sleazy dads American Beauty-ing themselves at us with his saggy balls swinging when we're in our prime.

NeedingAdvice86 • 0 points • 1 February, 2020 03:56 AM

Triggered is the word.....

Imagine what these harpies are gonna be like in 5 years when all the guys around them in their 30s are dating and fucking younger women while ignoring them or asking to step to the side so that as get to the bar for a drink with their younger girl?

Good lord....it appears like these nearing 30s PPD ladies have hit the wine boxes too early, too often this evening and are letting their 26-30 terrors loose on the internet.

It is really like a mini-menopause to these women when they hit 27-29...they go berserk because the clock is running.

rus9384 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 04:33 AM

It is disrespectful if I feel it is.

As men say, women use feelings instead of logic.

Silverfox17421 • 0 points • 1 February, 2020 04:37 AM

How do they approach you? Are they just trying to make a friendly conversation? If so then why is it a problem? If it gets sexual, brush him off. And sure there are lots of women like you who hate "gross older men" but I assure you that there are many women your age who will absolutely go for a hot 40 year old man.

Since that's true, why can't we test the waters and see if you're one of the ones who are into older men?

muddyrose • 10 points • 1 February, 2020 03:43 AM

Alright, you've raised my "now that I have daughters I feel differently about women" hackles, for slightly different reasons but they are still up.

You say "raise our young women to not be so delicate". What do you consider delicate? Can you please describe this for me?

What are you doing with your daughters that is so ground-breakingly different from any other father who's held their infant girls in their arms and promised to move heaven and earth to keep them safe?

Daughters aren't a new concept. Loving parents aren't a new concept. And yet, we still have girls being assaulted and raped.

And a hard truth pill to swallow is that many girls give a polite yet firm no, and it doesn't save them. After their polite yet firm "no" fails, they turn to police who doubt their stories.

Many women don't even get the chance to say "no", I have personally experienced this. I no longer go to clubs or bars later at night because men just straight up grope me. I couldn't tell you how many times a dude has grabbed my vulva, breasts, ass, neck etc. I have to physically remove their hands from my person and then they melt away like the little bi*** they are.

The gross truth is that women do depend on men to keep them safe. Mostly because we depend on men to act like decent humans, which is true 97% of the time (my made up statistic to get the point across).

If an average dude accosted me, there's not much I could do to fight him off. If I decide to report it, I will typically have to depend on men to take the crime seriously, as well as provide me with aid and support while I deal with the after math.

I'm not doubting your abilities as a father. I'm sure you'll raise strong women who aren't afraid to stand up for themselves. Just know that sometimes, things outside of their control can happen.

My father raised a strong woman who isn't afraid to stand up for herself. I was still raped. I have still been assaulted countless times. Basically, please don't put it all on your daughters to stay safe. Teach them how, like you said, obviously, but be aware that they are not the only factors in the equation.

It's easy to tell your girls to say no, and to get help if they need it. Just as easy as it is to tell them to leave an abusive relationship, as easy as it is to say report. In reality, it isn't always easy.

To add a crass point; sometimes you just don't want to be polite. Sometimes you're sick and tired of putting other's feelings above your own. I don't know about you, but sometimes I crack and show that I'm human. And honestly, I hope you don't raise your girls to cater their emotions and reality around everyone else, because that's a huge aspect of the problematic upbringing of girls. Stop teaching them to always be polite. They don't need to walk on eggshells, they're allowed to speak up and be heard. Dare I say, assertive.

And to attempt to bring it back to the semi-original point, can you imagine your 19 year old daughter dating a 40 year old man? You really wouldn't have a problem with that?

Disclaimer: I didn't address male sexual harrasment or rape because the point here was about women. I'm fully aware that these issues affect men as well, and I find it just as skeevy when a 40 year old woman pursues a relationship with a much younger man.

Sorry for the novel, I had a lot to say.

Jaktenba • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 04:27 PM

After their polite yet firm "no" fails, they turn to police who doubt their stories.

Good lord why is this such a difficult concept? The police do not exist to blindly believe whatever nonsense any random person tells them. The police are investigators, they have to doubt and question everything.

The rest of your comment isn't worth reading because "believe all women" is such a fundamentally flawed position.

seal_eggs • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 04:21 PM

If two consenting adults want to fuck each other, you have no right to stop them, whether or not you think it's "disgusting."

TheKarmicWoosh2 • 6 points • 1 February, 2020 12:10 AM

Yeah to you. People like different things. Ive met girls who exclusively fuck 40 year olds and they are in their 20's. No harm no foul as long as everyone consents and is having a good time.

Never understood this "everyone must like what I like" mentality. The gene pool is extremely diverse.

[deleted] • 5 points • 1 February, 2020 10:30 AM

mcmur • 0 points • 31 January, 2020 09:43 PM

As an example, it is not respectful for a 40+ year old man to approach a 19 year old woman in a public setting,

I mean not always. Especially if he's got money. Women do love that after all.

[deleted] • 7 points • 31 January, 2020 09:48 PM

Gross. I literally want to vomit taking about this BS.

memur • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:54 PM

I mean i agree with you that self-serving gold-digging women are disgusting but this is literally the way our society has constructed male-female relationships going way back.

Women expect men to provide. If you think having a bunch of money doesn't make any difference in female sexual attention as a guy you are 100% wrong.

daddysgotanew • 0 points • 1 February, 2020 03:22 PM

No one gives a shit what you think. Most women like older dudes and that's a fact. You can be pissy about it all you want lmao. I'm 28 and have an 18 year old FWB. She's not some rarity either.

YungBoi12 • 0 points • 31 January, 2020 09:38 PM

I agree. Do you think an ugly man is being disrespectful when he asks out a pretty woman? And vice versa.

Silverfox17421 • -1 points • 1 February, 2020 04:35 AM*

That's not true. He can certainly approach her to make a casual conversation that's completely nonsexual, right? Then he looks for a green light, and if he gets one, he can start flirting. If he doesn't then don't make the conversation sexual in any way. That's the way to not be a creep. Just throw out the fishing lure and see if you get a bite.

I've been dating women that age since I was 40. I was still dating 18 and 19 year old girls at age 60.

Granted most don't want anything to do with me, but trust me, there are very young women out there who love older men, even 20-40 years older. They're not common bu they do exist. And there's not a lot of problems with a man 20 years older. I had lots of young women after me who were 20 years younger. After that it gets touch and go and worse every years.

Now granted most men probably can't pull this off, but there are a few of us who can.

If this is delusional, then how was I able to do this?

[deleted] • 6 points • 1 February, 2020 05:27 AM

Aaren_Augustine • 14 points • 31 January, 2020 07:13 PM

It has nothing to do with the respectfulness of the mans approach, but his perceived value and who he IS. If a low value male is comfortable approaching a woman it means (to her) that he sees her as in his league and attainable. It is a slap in the face to her and an insult to her self esteem. He might as well have thrown shit on her. That is why she reacts with disgust, it is literally disrespect to her that he considered her approachable

CommanderOfTheDeath • 44 points • 31 January, 2020 08:02 PM*

And this, guy's shows us once again how arrogant & self-centered many women of today are.

If a low value male is comfortable approaching a woman it means (to her) that he sees her as in his league and attainable. It is a slap in the face to her and an insult to her self esteem.

Women hate men they perceive as low value. It would probably be indifferent to them if all of them were killed. Don't kid yourself, male disposability is absolutely a thing.

[deleted] • 0 points • 1 February, 2020 12:24 AM

CommanderOfTheDeath • 15 points • 1 February, 2020 12:29 AM

Silverfox17421 • 9 points • 1 February, 2020 04:49 AM

SmurfESmurferson • 10 points • 1 February, 2020 01:03 AM

A barista today changed her makeup. I asked her if she had done so. I pointed to my cheeks. She said she had changed the blush on her cheeks. I told her it looked great. I have absolutely no intentions of dating this young woman. She's too fat.

A comment about makeup is not necessarily a come-on. It could be just a normal conversational topic.

violetbiscotti • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 02:28 AM

Joey_Lopez • 27 points • 31 January, 2020 07:48 PM

Kind of how men treat post wall women. It's insulting to me when those chick's think I will accept leftovers and play step dad.

CommanderOfTheDeath • 13 points • 31 January, 2020 08:03 PM

I don't think they really think men will accept the leftovers. They know they are at the bottom of the market. I just think they are so desperate that they take every opportunity they have even if the chance that they will succeed is low.

mcmur • 28 points • 31 January, 2020 09:42 PM

I just think they are so desperate that they take every opportunity they have even if the chance that they will succeed is low.

Wow! You just described men!

screamifyouredriving • 4 points • 1 February, 2020 04:57 AM

No they described someone with low value. The behavior is a reflection of sexual market value and not gender. It also happens that the most low sexual market value people are men but it's entirely possible for a really unattractive woman to develop man hating attitudes just like how nasty guys do. The term incel was originally made by a woman to describe herself.

Jaktenba • 3 points • 1 February, 2020 04:38 PM

The term incel was originally made by a woman to describe herself.

If course, because you don't tend to create terms for the status quo, just the exceptions. Men are considered to be involuntarily celibate by default in society, as it is assumed that men always want sex.

mcmur • 0 points • 1 February, 2020 05:51 PM

The term incel was originally made by a woman to describe herself.

It might have be coined by a woman by the term accurately describes the status of mostly men in society.

Women are almost never 'incel'. When they are not having sex they are typically voluntarily celibate. There's a big difference.

screamifyouredriving • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 06:50 PM*

Yeah but assuming an incel is a man is like assuming a criminal is black. Negative stereotypes, yikes.

Joey_Lopez • 9 points • 31 January, 2020 08:06 PM

I don't think you spoken to enough post wall chicks. They think that it's normal in this day and age for men to be step dads and that everyone is getting married later. Not to mention that that it's "2020" and men can't judge them for sleeping around.

Most of them think that they just have to get a fake ass, a degree, and some botox and they can compete with the younger girls.

CommanderOfTheDeath • 14 points • 31 January, 2020 08:11 PM

I don't think that they really believe that. They are just extremely desperate and that's why they try to convince men to take their leftovers. Women may be pretty delusional at times but they aren't plain stupid. They realize when they hit the bottom of the sexual marketplace.

Saying shit like "the past doesn't matter", "a real man does X,Y and Z" etc. is just a cheap attempt in shaming some beta simps into committing to their leftovers.

Joey_Lopez • 4 points • 31 January, 2020 08:20 PM

I don't think women are stupid. I just think that they think men accepting leftovers is the new normal. But I do hope you're right.

CommanderOfTheDeath • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 08:27 PM

I invite you to reread your posts. After that...

Exhibit A: "this is how 'women' think"

Exhibit B: "I am right, this is exactly whats happening out there"

Whether or not it's your PERSONAL belief doesn't matter. If you say that it's your belief as to how all other women "iN gEnErAl" think...congrats, that's still just how YOU think.

The inherent contradictions in your posts leads one to suspect that you are either stunted in your ability to communicate your thoughts and ideas clearly and effectively or, perhaps...you just haven't thought this through very well.

Please help me understand if I am wrong. I assume that - in typical atlas fashion - you can't resist the temptation to have the last word anyway.

[deleted] • 9 points • 1 February, 2020 12:26 AM sorry, she's right, this is how girls think

I've seen thousands of approaches in my life to various girls and this is how they talk when the guy leaves

TexasRose25 • 5 points • 1 February, 2020 01:15 PM

Then the women you've observed are not "high value" anything, in any area that truly matters. This current shallow, myopic focus on externals as if people are empty shells is sad and laughable at the same time. Miserable jerks treating each other with scorn and contempt, all the while feeling like they "deserve the best" while being shit human beings. Ya'll have fun with that.

Maybe men need to not reward that BS and stop giving any attention to women who think and act like this. To praise it by labeling these people as being "HSMV" is to reinforce their false sense of entitlement. You always get more of what you reward, like using bribery and treats to curb bad behaviour in children, for example. The solution is for everyone to have some basic human decency, care about others' feelings and to not be so full of themselves.

Jaktenba • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 06:32 PM

Maybe men need to not reward that BS and stop giving any attention to women who think and act like this.

This shows an incredible lack of understanding of both evolution and of the dating game in general. While I agree with you in principle, I also understand that this could never happen at a large enough scale to actually bring about change.

This post is exactly why I find the concept of MGTOW as a catalyst for broad societal change hilariously delusional.

No shame for the guys who do it for themselves. There are a lot of em that don't seem misogynist at all and rather feel the juice is thin for the squeeze in 2020, and have said fuck it. Hey, alright. Kill it. Save megabucks and dig on your life

But I see so. Many. Fucking. Posts. Comments. Facebook statuses. This idea that MGTOWs will quietly die off in a generation and a half, and that'll be that. No one will ever even notice.

Jaktenba • 2 points • 3 February, 2020 12:20 AM

MGTOW has always existed, it's part of the reason why things like "bachelor's tax" have existed. And it will continue to always exist, but will likely always be a minority. The only way MGTOW will ever become a huge thing is after artificial wombs become a viable option, and will still likely need great advancements in robotics and A.I., but at that point it won't matter and women will likely GTOW as well.

Silverfox17421 • 8 points • 1 February, 2020 04:51 AM

teibe • 4 points • 1 February, 2020 04:58 AM

I don't think any woman actually thinks this. The woman who posted this probably doesn't even think this, she just thinks that's how other women think.

Skratt • 8 points • 1 February, 2020 06:06 AM

Yeah, I don't think it. ._. I've had dudes on all ends of the attractiveness spectrum approach me and I wasn't offended by any of them.

memur • 4 points • 1 February, 2020 05:48 PM

What I'm saying is that I pretty much agree with her. That's basically they're attitude.

A lot of women treat ugly or men 'below' them as sub-human. These guys aren't even permitted to openly have a sexuality, they are constantly shunned and shamed for it every time they bring up the fact that they have sexual feelings for women.

Think of all the 'incel' and 'nice-guy' bullshit you always hear.

teibe • 3 points • 1 February, 2020 06:34 PM

Of course you agree with her. You are a man and you will agree with anything that confirms your insecurities and justifies your outrage. Notice that no woman here is saying "yes, this is how I feel!" Even the woman who said it admitted that she didn't actually feel this way.

memur • 3 points • 1 February, 2020 06:48 PM

Of course you agree with her. You are a man and you will agree with anything that confirms your insecurities and justifies your outrage.

Spoken exactly like the kind of woman I'm talking about!

Bitchy and rude towards men who don't serve their interests. I rest my case. I don't even need to ask whether you're a woman or not.

Silverfox17421 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 04:51 AM

They do, don't they? And women wonder why men hate women. Isn't it obvious with attitudes like that? They deserve to be hated for thinking that way!

Asbelowsoaboveme • 3 points • 1 February, 2020 05:29 PM*

No they don't. Most women reject men cordially, but you can't hate women for the way they think privately.

Silverfox17421 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:39 PM

If women treat me like they hate my guts if I have barely even spoken to them, I feel like I have the right to hate them right back. You hate me, I hate you, no problem. We're even. There's such a thing as basic civility.

Asbelowsoaboveme • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:42 PM

I agree with basic civility and it's generally easier to be nice than be anything else. But you can't police people's private thoughts and emotional reactions, or judge them morally based on them. If the grossest oldest smelliest guy in the world hit on me today I'd be absolutely disgusted and disrespected on the inside, but I'd smile and be polite on the outside and just try to gtfo as quickly as possible. It's the safest and easiest thing to say "thanks but no thanks bye have a good one". Then agonize over it later with girlfriends and share horror stories to commiserate.

Silverfox17421 • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 06:01 PM

LOL I'm not even hitting on anyone. I'm just making basic conversation or talking about the weather or something. And even that is creepy LOL. No sexual content at all unless I get a green light and that's rare nowadays. Lot older women really treat me like crap too. Hell women of all ages treat me like dirt. And it's all because of age. Nothing else.

Asbelowsoaboveme • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 06:04 PM

I don't think anyone should treat other people like dirt, especially in public. There should be an expectation of platonic niceties in the public sphere imo. I'm sorry people have been rude to you. I don't start convos with strangers, but when they strike one up I'm usually happy to have small talk and a chuckle or two. But as a woman I do have the emotional response of disgust and self doubt when a man far below my league shoots his shot. I also feel bad about rejecting him and potentially hurting his feelings, but the primary emotions are centered around "ew really?"

rus9384 • 0 points • 1 February, 2020 05:02 AM

Silverfox17421 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:11 AM*

I am not there yet but when a woman goes off on me, I really let her have it. That's 45 years of rage speaking. It tends to build up.

I have an unusual story. I was said to be very handsome when young and even had modeling offers. Of course females treated me, Chad, like a Prince, and I lived a wonderful life.

Well now I am a lot older (62), and most women won't even speak to me. I'm a creep everywhere I go, and most women act like they hate my guts. And it's all due to age. I don't act 1% different. I read about how these incels say they get treated by women, and I am getting treated precisely like that right now.

I sort of laugh about it because it's so different, but it is pretty jarring. I got banned from a coffeeshop recently simply for talking to young women. I guess they didn't want me talking to them. But they didn't make that clear.

They called it "harassment." How the Hell is it harassment if all you are doing is having a conversation? I often just talked about the weather or made a joke or something. I never flirted with any of them or said anything remotely sexual because I didn't get any green lights.

But it's incredible how shallow women are. Now that I am apparently low value, most women treat me like I am lower than a slug. They act like I need to die as soon as possible. In particular, the mere suggestion that I have any sort of sex life or sex drive at all seems to completely drive them up the wall. I honestly think they would love to see me castrated.

There's nothing wrong with me because a lot of men are really nice to me. I meet guys for the first time, and they're my best friend! And I don't treat men any differently than I treat women. I am now officially a creep! LOL. Chad to creep, I love it. If they'd been treating me the way they do now my whole life, I would really, really, really hate women. But they didn't so I don't.

Women treat these poor incels like they are human refuse who have no right to breed much less to exist. These poor guys have been treated that way their whole lives. Of course they hate women! What man wouldn't hate women if that happened? I mean you hit a man enough times, he might just start hitting back.

I seriously think that these cruel, vicious female monsters need to be given precisely the hate that they dish out towards us. If a lot more of us men starting doing that, this whole society would turn upside down.

Reisiluu • 6 points • 1 February, 2020 08:59 AM

I seriously think that these cruel, vicious female monsters need to be given precisely the hate that they dish out towards us.

Go ahead. The "hate" that women dish out is just trying our best to ignore the old and ugly men who should be looking for their match. So yes please, return the hate and ignore us back.

Are you that socially unaware to not know that a 62 year old should behave differently around someone who is in there 20s as opposed to someone in the same peer group ? Like no shit women think you're a creep.

Silverfox17421 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:04 PM

I just try to make casual conversation. Older women think I'm a creep too. I can't talk to anyone anymore really. And it's never anything sexual. Just maybe about the weather or something. I wouldn't get sexual or forward unless I got greenlighted, and I never did.

Hell, they won't even let me look at them! They get furious if I so much as look at them.

"Are you that socially unaware to not know that a 62 year old should behave differently around someone who is in there 20s as opposed to someone in the same peer group ?"

Well, I still date women in that age range and even 18-19, so not really. I'm not getting this new thing.

When I grew up late teens and early 20's people like me made friends of adults of all ages, 20's, 30's, 40's, 50's. We even talked to or made friends with adults in their 60's and 70's. As a boy, we hung out with older men the whole time growing up. We went on fishing and camping trips with men of all ages. Now a man can't even talk to a kid.

I taught school for many years, so I'm used to talking to kids and this new crap is all so weird. In the 70's and 80's, once you hit 18, you could talk to or hang out with adults of all ages. This new antisocial sexual paranoia is so weird. Not everyone who talks to you is trying to pick up on you. Some people might just be commenting about the weather.

xo_hannah_g • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 06:27 PM

All I'm saying is that clearly if this happens to you a lot then maybe your approach is wrong. I am a female 23 and I don't have a problem when older men talk to me, but I can sense when it is overly friendly. And it isn't always about talking sexual per say as much as it is sensing that the older man you are talking to might be looking for a green light. Trust me I never understand it when I was a child but with many different encounters I have learned. When I work w males and females ranging from 30s-70s I have made a wide range of personal connections and friendships, even with the customers that come into work. So no not everyone's intentions are negative, but also they have never made me feel uncomfortable. If you consistently are making people feel uncomfortable you should evaluate why? Refraining from sexual talk is literally the bare minimum expectation.

LOL I'm an old player. What can I say? Also I look 50, and in my heart of hearts, I will always be 22 years old.

And I still date 18 and 19 year old girls. I date women my age too.

I've been a sex maniac my whole life so of course I got very interested in PUA. Incels were fascinating and now I am getting treated like they do so sadly, it's relevant. I still like to fuck! The Chad concept was very interesting too and rang true. And apparently I was a Chad at some point. Women, even young women, still say I am very handsome, but it doesn't translate into shit anymore I'm afraid. I'm at the age where Looks are pretty much useless.

I've been on both sides of the fence, so this whole subject is very interesting.

Also I run a blog that talks about PUA stuff a lot. I still research and try to perfect my Game all the time, although I am at an age where Game is about useless too LOL.

Picture Hugh Hefner and you'll get an idea of me.

[deleted] • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 12:11 PM

Hugh Hefner at 62 looked ready for the nursing home. All his girls found him physically disgusting. He had to watch gay porn and bestiality to get off and had to jerk himself to finish.

OverEasyFetus • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 05:28 AM

Idk man I'm not great looking but I've gotten women before, I've rejected more women than I've gotten actually. My standards are unusually high for a man, but I wouldn't in any way describe myself as a player. I get swiped on on apps but they're all either weird looking or extremely fat. I'm single because my standards are too high, not because I literally cant find anybody. I hold myself to a high standards so why would I settle for anyone that dosent live up to those same standards?

I wouldn't say I hate all women as a blanket statement, I just dislike most of them. The only reason I even care is I've always imagined myself with kids, other than that I think women are a waste of space usually. I just dont tell people that IRL so I come here to vent.

But yeah, most women have this attitude of "know your place!" And if you dont fit their stereotype then you're a creep or some shit. They live in a privileged little fantasy world.

Silverfox17421 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:36 AM

How old are you?

" But yeah, most women have this attitude of "know your place!" And if you dont fit their stereotype then you're a creep or some shit. They live in a privileged little fantasy world."

I hate to say it but all women like this need to be treated with utter contempt by us men. If more men starting doing this, we could seriously change society. Women will flip! LOL!

We need to start standing up for ourselves against these snotty little woman-children. And yeah, basically, women are monsters. Especially young women. 30% of young women are basically psychopaths IMHO. They do get kinder as they get older.

OverEasyFetus • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 05:45 AM

I'm 29. The only reason I miss being 20 is because girls were seemingly more clueless back then, I seemed to be able to attract 20 year old women when I was 20 than I am able to attract 30 year old women now that I'm basically 30. Not that I really want that shit with the kids and all the other shit that probably comes with it.

You're right. That's why I dont treat women like angels. If they're being civil then I will be nice back, but the second I see a woman start getting anything other than nice I basically put her back in her place. She will either steam with anger or she will pout and look for my validation. I don't give a fuck either way. I really wish all men were like this, they really would lose all their power. The only reason they have it is men give it to them.

TexasRose25 • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 01:44 PM

Then reward people for being decent human beings; if youth and physical perfection are inherent parts of your "high standards", you are literally setting the bar at low effort. Those things are not worked for or developed, they just "are", and they change quickly. Be a good man, from the inside, and you will look for and find a good woman.

An adult having sex with a 14 year old girl is hardly a monster. Back in the 70's, many rock stars were doing exactly that. Including David Bowie, Jimmy Page, and Steven Tyler, among others.

And then there's this gem:

LOL how can you possibly "groom" a 14 year old girl? You can't. She's not a child. She's a teenager. You can only groom little girls, like under age 13. Above that age, there's no such thing as grooming. There is only seduction.

Repeated studies in the lab have shown that it is 100% normal for adult men to be turned on by 14 year old girls. No study has ever found that all or most all normal men react pretty strongly to them. You don't have to be a creepy pedophile to get turned on by a 14 year old girl and anyway most pedophiles are only interested in girls under 13 anyway.

Silverfox17421 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:58 PM

I wasn't aware that there was an age limit on conversation. Why do I have to stay in my age bracket if I want to talk about the weather? I never even flirt, just talk about the weather or something. Nothing sexual unless I get a green light and I hardly ever do. Why is every conversation seen as a pickup attempt?

Nah a lot of older women treat me like garbage too. All age brackets of women. And it's all due to age 100% of it. I can't believe women are so shallow.

Creep = low SMV man with a sex drive.

Doomzdaycult • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 08:52 PM*

Just accept it as a fact of life and get over it, young chicks get creeped out when a random geriatric guy tries to start a conversation with them.

Stay in your lane, and you'll prob be much happier. I'm sure there are a ton of "low value" 62yo women out there that "might" not get creeped out by you randomly talking to them.

Edit:

Nothing sexual unless I get a green light

BTW that is exactly why they think you're a 62yo creep, you're just waiting for a green light from a 19yo chick.

Thanks very much for your insight, it's extremely valuable while being heart-breaking at the same time. You make a lot of good points; being treated like that would make anyone start feeling bitter and want to lash out. Like I said in a post above, the answer is for us to treat people based on who they are, how they act and how they treat others instead of solely rewarding youth/ "looks"; that was never the full measure of a human being and it still isn't. Having that shitty attitude towards women who aren't porn star thin, who have children and who are past the age of 35 is just as callous and rude. Truly, the SMV concept only applies because the only thing that most want is to use others for their base gratification. Very few value marriage or fidelity anymore, and fertility's only purpose is to bear the next generation of human beings, which most eschew these days because they can't be bothered with caring about anyone but themselves. You think things are bitter now, wait until the consequences of these actions and attitudes manifest in a few decades.

Silverfox17421 • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:19 PM

Hey, thank you so much! You are female, too. Women like you are the reason I don't hate women yet LOL. Well, I got treated so well by women for so many years that even if they treat me like garbage for the rest of my life, I still don't think I would hate them. It just seems wrong to hate the opposite sex no matter how they treat you. If I hated women, I'd hate you. And why should I do that?

Older women are pretty mean to me too. It's like women of all ages are mean to me. I will say that women my age are often pretty nice. I'll give them that. But what kind of a world is this if I can only talk to women who are 50+? All I want to do is talk or make a joke. Nothing sexual unless I get a greenlight, and LOL I hardly ever do these days.

It's funny because these women are so vain that they think if I speak to them (even if they are behind a counter) that means I'm hitting on them. LOL some are fat and I wouldn't date them if they wanted to. So much egotism.

You know "League" is ALL ABSTRACT and subjective. One man's trash is another man's gold. The concept is real, because some people perceive themselves as more attractive than others, thus a league. Also I think if a man truly believes someone is out of his league but still approaches, he's likely displaying humility and courage, but most likely not "throwing shit".

What goes around comes around, unless someone is really overstepping their boundaries like touching you without your permission or harassing you (sexually or non sexually) i think you should always at least be courteous. Plus there was a podcast about happiness and it's been proven that people who regularly have positive social interactions with people they don't know are usually much happier than those who don't

Epoch789 • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 07:54 PM

I think appreciate is the wrong word and that this should be a separate argument. I would be supportive of your view if the OP was why should women reject male attention respectfully or why shouldn't women reject unwanted male attention spitefully.

Your definition of appreciate equaling respect is a way some people will turn the thread into women should accept any approaches, women should be grateful for getting attention men don't get, and etc topics the unsuccessfuls will complain about.

What you're missing is that men who observe these things (at least the smart ones) aren't talking to women, or trying to get them to change. They are trying to help other men change how they think about women—and give up on the belief that women will be a positive force in their lives.

Don't know depends on what you mean by 'appreciate'....

When Auntie Mabel gives me a too large out of style sweater exactly like she gave every other guy in the family for Christmas , I can behave in one of two ways:

I can go apeshit entitled bitch that she is an insufferable, lame ass troll who should know better than to inconvenience me with such a shitty unwelcomed gift.

OR....

I can accept with quiet gratitude that she thought enough of me to make the effort\investment in any way with the act of giving me something even if the sweater wasn't something that I wanted or would have selected for myself. The actual gift is the thought and act not the value of the gift.

I certainly don't go around the family lambasting to everyone who will listen about who does Auntie Mae think she is that I, my entitled ass, might appreciate that she is giving me such a lame\shitty gift.

So which way are you considering 'appreciate' and reacting to such attention?

In the case of attention from guys, you can appreciate the "gift" without using the gift as the actual gift is that you were valuable enough to this dude that he showed YOU attention from the other 15 girls in the bar, club, room or street.

BajaBlast90 • 3 points • 2 February, 2020 01:49 AM

In the case of attention from guys, you can appreciate the "gift" without using the gift as the actual gift is that you were valuable enough to this dude that he showed YOU attention from the other 15 girls in the bar, club, room or street.

This literally means nothing. At the end of the day he's another intrusive ad or annoying salesman. His attention given to me in that moment isn't worth anything. If it wasn't me receiving it, then it's some other random broad. That is NOT the same thing as Aunt Mabel, who probably spent more time and energy making the sweater than some lame low effort approach that's essentially a copy+paste elevator pitch.

I'm not sure what respectfully rejecting betas had to do with Chad's attention? Doubtful that Chad cares how polite you are when rejecting a beta. He probably has as much disdain for the beta than as the girl rejecting him. Also, why "pretend" to be a "nice girl"? Why not aspire to be a genuinely good person instead of being the most shallow version of what a "nice girl" is?

Let me ask you this, are you nice to aggressive salesmen who get in your face? The sleazy sales rep at the car dealership? Do you thank Jehovah's Witness when they come to your door and offer them some refreshments and entertain them? Chances are you answered no to either of those questions.

BajaBlast90 • 1 point • 16 February, 2020 11:42 PM

"All I'm saying is as a girl, if a beta hits on you, say no first, if he keeps trying, then say fuck off."

Harsh truth but no one is obligated to a polite rejection. I've worked closely with the sales department at my job and helped them out on several occasions. I've had people slam the phone in my face, curse me out and be downright rude. Many people you approach are going to be shitty, it comes with the territory.

I wouldn't go out of my way to be rude to a salesman of some beta trying to hit on me. I would even consider their proposition. But neither of those parties are obligated to have people be nice to them or give them the time of day.

Nope, you're not missing anything.

It's the men who are missing it. Probably due to laziness, lack of empathy, and thirst — the normal motivations.

mcmur • 12 points • 31 January, 2020 09:39 PM

No, I pretty much agree with you.

Men need to start having standards, but they are so starved and desperate for affection and sexual attention in our society that they will take anything that floats their way.

It is definitely true.

But you can't at the same time acknowledge that this is true while maintaining some stupid beliefs about how beauty standards are 'unrealistic' for women, or any such feminist nonsense.

Beauty standards barely exist for women. There are basically no standards of any kind for women and this is actually a really big problem in our culture.

If you ever wonder why women sometimes have such a shitty entitled attitude: that is your answer. Because they can get away with it. They don't need to be angels to get the attention of men and they know it. Why bother cultivating a pleasant personality? Or a personality at all for that matter? Women simply have no use for such things, at least from a sexual standpoint.

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 02:59 PM

Are you serious? You actually think that appearances don't matter for women? As though minimal attention from slutty men who want to pump & dump is all you need in life. Get a grip dude.

mcmur • 2 points • 3 February, 2020 02:03 AM

You actually think that appearances don't matter for women?

Not really all that much when it comes to attracting men, no.

That's just reality. You can get pissy about it all you like.

[deleted] • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 03:09 AM

Speak for yourself. Most men do care about appearances, especially when it comes to relationships.

mcmur • 3 points • 3 February, 2020 02:36 PM*

They really don't. The myth of the 'picky' male with unrealistically high beauty standards for men, is just that: a myth.

Its literally been scientifically studied before, when observed men are remarkably less discriminatory then women when it comes to selecting sexual partners on pretty much every metric conceivable.

[deleted] • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 09:24 PM

We're not have just talking about sexual partners here. Women know men have low standards in that regard. That isn't significant whatsoever.

mcmur • 2 points • 3 February, 2020 09:36 PM

Women know men have low standards in that regard. That isn't significant whatsoever.

Do they though? Because you constantly hear women complaining about 'unrealistic' beauty standards for women?

You for example, seem to be resisting this idea pretty hard right now.

[deleted] • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 09:39 PM

How can I make this crystal clear for you? Beauty standards are not just about who men are willing to P&d. The world doesn't revolve around your dick. Read my comments again.

mcmur • 2 points • 3 February, 2020 09:43 PM

Who's standards then??

Who's standards are women not meeting?

If beauty standards are too high for women then they must not be meeting somebody's standards in society for that statement to be true? Who is this population of people that hold women to a high beauty standard?

YJNsackrunna • 2 points • 3 February, 2020 05:45 AM

I like how you say that as you go and decide to speak for "most men". Take your own advice.

[deleted] • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 08:55 AM*

Why the hell are you doubling down on this delusion? Do you think porn sites are full of ugly cows? Do you think men have zero problem ending up with someone with elephantiasis in the face because vagina? Are strip clubs full of women with horse teeth and tits down to their ankles?

Yeah we already know men have low standards when it comes to no strings attached sex. That doesn't mean beauty standards for women don't exist. We want more than a P&D. Also attractive people get treated better in general, they get more job offers, it's easier for them to make friends and network, etc etc. Believe it or not, it doesn't all center around getting your dicks hard.

mcmur • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 02:38 PM

Do you think porn sites are full of ugly cows?

Porn has a huge, huge range of body types and different kinds of women that feminist 'scholars' won't acknowledge.

Have you seen Sara Jay? She's a famous porn star. She's not pretty and not thin, but she is hugely successful in the industry and very popular. Alternatively, there are porn stars that a very skinny, also popular.

There are also obese and overweight pornstars that are fairly successful in there own right.

That doesn't mean beauty standards for women don't exist. We want more than a P&D

See here you're talking about what you want. But we're not talking about what women want, we're talking about what men want.

[deleted] • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 09:21 PM*

I don't care about exceptions to the rule. Most do not look like that for a reason. And no, we're not just talking about who men are willing to fuck. We're talking about beauty standards.

mcmur • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 09:40 PM

Most do not look like that for a reason. And no, we're not just talking about who men are willing to fuck. We're talking about beauty standards.

Then what beauty standards are you talking about then??

Who's standards? Men? It certainly isn't men's standards as I've explained.

So that leaves only women then since they are the other half of society. So your argument is that women have unrealistic beauty standards for women?

Society is made up of people so for a statement like 'society's beauty standards are unrealistic for women' you would have to be able to find somebody who actually holds that attitude. Society is not a otherworldly entity disconnected from humanity: its what humans do.

[deleted] • 1 point • 3 February, 2020 09:59 PM

Yes, women have unrealistic standards for themselves and each other. Much of it is socially engineered insecurity coming from the beauty industry to sell products. Much of it comes from film and TV. Much of it comes from standards regarding the feminine ideal. Part of being feminine is being decorative. And when it comes to something beyond just sex, straight men have standards too. Incels and those bordering on being incels don't count.

It sounds like the girls can tell the difference between cheap attention (he just wants easy sex) and real attention. I constantly hear females complaining that guys text things like "WYD?" and guys just inviting them over to watch Netflix.

The guys know that females don't get excited for things like that most of the time. The guys just don't care about those girls enough to try harder.

The girls do appreciate the real attention when a guy actually cares. I learned early in my PUA days that the girls that you really like tend to give you a chance while the girls that you don't like that you text "WYD" to tend not to.

I also see how jealous girls get of other girls that guys actually do value that get the real attention.

i would not fuck anything and/or everything with a vagina. just as I've met women that are below average looking that would kill for someone to notice them and give them a complement.

you, personally, seem to be approached at a rate that has made it worthless and annoying. that sucks. but there are also women that would appreciate the attention, and guys that would never approach you in a million years.

noafrochamplusamurai • 8 points • 31 January, 2020 07:21 PM

You shouldn't appreciate male attention from a dude that sticks it any moist orifice. I've been preaching to read ears for a long time. Fellas, don't dilute your brand.

I'm not a prude, I've had considerably more sexual partners than the average guy, but they've all been what I'd consider higher quality for the most part, because I value quality of the sex partner. There's a transitive property that activates as well. Your stock goes up, if a woman sees you with another woman that they think is quality. It raises your stature, the inverse also applies. It is possible to be both selective, and have an active sex life.

mcmur • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 09:45 PM

Nope the inverse doesn't apply. It's a common misconception. But a women's SMV doesn't improve with more (higher quality) partners. Beeing seen with HVM may reduce your SMV less than when you are seen with a criminal drug addict but it wont improve it.

noafrochamplusamurai • 7 points • 31 January, 2020 08:21 PM

MajIssuesCaptObvious • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 01:57 PM

I think it's that we, as a species, don't understand what we don't get: Men, generally, don't get physical validation, so we project our want for it onto women. Some women might think potential dating partners might make more money than them just because they're men, so they project provider expectations of onto them.

The quality of the attention varies with the quality of the man. Women love all attention, but crave the attention of a valuable man above all.

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 06:48 PM

Conversely, why should men have to pay top dollar, their life savings, their car, and their house for positive attention from women, O Dearest Internet Philosopher?

Yes, attention from men is cheap, but getting positive, safe, and predictable attention from women is fucking expensive.

Youngthugwater • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 08:34 PM

Male attention is unimportant. You're supposed to appreciate male commitment and make yourself one worth committing to.

RRnn97 • 2 points • 2 February, 2020 01:39 AM

It depends on the attention. There is a difference to a guy willing to spend an evening with you for example eating dinner, playing mini-golf and generally entertaining you compared to the dude that comes to your place, fucks you and leaves.

A lot of women believe that they're the shit because they can get the latter attention, when only the first one matters. A lot of women today are simply arrogant and self-absorbed because guys are willing to use them as cum-rags.

I also think that women do appreciate male attention.... From the "right males", i.e. the high status attractive ones. That's why you see some guys getting frustrated when they try to give their attention to a woman they like, whilst she complains that "no man likes me"....

I still get your point and fully agree, but it will never really change, what women and men need to realize is that male attention is not equal. Some is more valuable and that valuable attention is how you measure how valuable the woman is to males.

[deleted] • 2 points • 2 February, 2020 06:15 AM

If women don't value that attention why do they wear make up, take selfies, be on social media, troll dating sites, wear skimpy clothes, sink hours and lots of cash into their looks, get plastic surgery, boob jobs, lifts, wear heels, etc etc

Not all women do these things. But enough do (and enough are VERY defensive about it) that it pokes a pretty big hole in your assertion that women collectively don't value male attention.

[deleted] • 3 points • 4 February, 2020 12:28 AM

male attention

they seek female attention more than men! and women raise social status of beautiful fit women by praising them over and over (which affects both men's and women's ideas about that particular person)

brackenz • 2 points • 3 February, 2020 08:47 PM

Indeed, it's like the stud/slut dichotomy: any woman can get dick no matter how ugly, awkward or fat she is, so a woman who gets laid a lot will never be admired like a man who gets laid a lot because everybody knows even good looking men have to "work for it"

Yeah, because male validation (something given freely and blindly) means so, so much.

Dunno, you have a point but there are billion dollar industries built around this so ymmv

ArminoKink • 7 points • 31 January, 2020 07:56 PM

Bandit_Queen • 4 points • 1 February, 2020 05:34 AM*

Wouldn't that make women "expensive" as it shows high standards and selective nature since most men aren't wealthy?

Anyway, not all women are smitten by money, like not all men make moves on any and every woman. However, a woman in general do regularly have multiple men make moves on her, so it can get old and make an individual male look desperate and easy as he is unfairly lumped with others. When male attention seems freely and insincerely handed out, it's hard to appreciate it. As long as there's mutual respect, appreciation should not matter.

Well based on the bluepillers around here, there are plenty of perfectly normal average women that get no attention at all and men only want Stacies so you probably should be thankful for that validation.

SILENTSAM69 • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 09:18 PM

Think about this in a different way. You are like a rich person wondering why you should appreciate cheap gifts from poor people. Sure it doesn't mean as much to you as they think it would mean to them.

It's all about the very different perspective.

throwawayhouseissue1 • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 10:47 PM

Yeah, but my attention is special. Why don't you understand?

I think it comes down to the fact that men love women differently than women love men, we are all into the aesthetics and physical stuff while women are usually more interested in our utility. I am not saying either side is right or wrong, just in general we don't understand each other very well. How many posts are on /relationships about women complaining that their husband doesn't do enough housework? It is because we don't understand how attractive it is to women to be useful. But most guys do not get that, and on the flip side, women do seem to understand that looking good and being feminine makes us feel masculine.

newyearzz2020 • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 12:08 AM

Most men do not throw validation and attention to women. From their perspective their attention isn't cheap.

wtknight • 4 points • 31 January, 2020 08:00 PM

Once again, this is men scapegoating women for the success of Chad. Because Chad gets female attention so easily, average men expect women to return their attention so easily too. When they inevitably don't, they take out their frustrations by criticizing women.

AttachableSheep • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 09:17 PM

I don't think it's news that men will fuck anything but they don't want to be in a relationship with just any woman.

Edit:

I also wanted to add this thought:

TL/DR as a lady what you need to value and notice are men that treat you well and make moves to get you in bed... men will do some shitty, Immature shit in the name of sex but will only "man up" when they love you.

I've had a conversation about this topic with my fiancé before because the porn he enjoyed always made me feel self conscious and not in the "normal" way when you hear about women hating that they can't keep up with super thin big fake boobs pornstar types

What bothered me was he prefers a lot Of amateur (I actually find most men of a certain age do) stuff with... well what I would say were generally speaking not very attractive, kind of sloppy looking women... and this insecurity is long gone as he and I have discussed it endlessly and I "get it" now it anyway I used to hear him enjoying that and it would make me wonder... is it because I do look like these women? Am I sloppy? Am I not attractive the same way these women are?!!

But his porn preferences, like male Sexual attention all Women get isn't what is worth paying attention to as a woman. Anyone can give a compliment. Anyone can spend a weekend in bed with you... but beyond complaints and stunts there are things like telling his parents their opinion of you doesn't matter because he loves you, bringing you to meet his friends.... that's the kind of attention women need to be working for

Men are biologically driven to mate,

Then why dont most of you have kids by 20 if its such a "NEED"?

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 03:10 PM

It is not a need, it's a want. You will not die without it. You are just whiny and entitled.

teibe • 5 points • 31 January, 2020 08:34 PM

It's actually male entitlement that's higher. You used to have to marry a woman before having sex with her. Now every guy thinks he's entitled to have as much sex as he wants and gets angry when you suggest that he commits before sex.

Joey_Lopez • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 08:35 PM

You used to have to marry a woman before having sex with her.

That was a very very long time ago.

teibe • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 09:56 PM

Not that long ago, there are people still alive who lived during that time.

Joey_Lopez • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 09:59 PM

Then I guess I will have to concede that men have gotten more entitled but females are even more entitled to think that men will commit to them and accept anything.

teibe • 5 points • 31 January, 2020 10:02 PM

You don't have to commit to us. Most of us just want to be left alone.

Joey_Lopez • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 10:04 PM

It's not most. Girls love attention and now more than ever females want the validation that they are worth committing to.

teibe • 4 points • 31 January, 2020 10:06 PM

It's nice but the only time we get mad is if you fuck us even though you don't like us enough to have a relationship with us. If you just left girls alone they wouldn't complain about it.

reluctantly_red • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 05:39 AM

For many women commitment is a one way street. Why in the world would a guy agree to that sort of commitment?

teibe • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 02:45 PM

Can't relate. Commitment was always a one way street for me too but I didn't mind because I like making people happy when I can. I don't expect anything in return except love.

reluctantly_red • 0 points • 1 February, 2020 04:05 PM

Commitment was always a one way street for me

Sorry but this is not how real life works. If you marry someone its a reciprocal commitment. At least its supposed to be. When women decide they're not going hold up their end of the bargain they shouldn't be surprised when guys decide that kind of commitment isn't worth pursuing.

teibe • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 04:18 PM

It's how my life has always worked in the past. I always gave and never asked anything in return. I did it because I loved the person and wanted them to be happy. You are telling me that this way of thinking is foreign to men and that they are only concerned about what's in it for them. Well I already knew that.

reluctantly_red • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 06:21 PM

A gift and a commitment are not even close to being the same thing. If you can't see that you're a terrible bet for a relationship.

teibe • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 06:31 PM

Who mentioned anything about gifts?

darudeboysandstorm • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 08:07 PM

Is your apathy consistent when a man gets screwed over for 18 years or so called divorce rape by a woman who lied to him?

Absolutely, my thinking is people are responsible for themselves.

So lie about what exactly? You should be making the judgement on if they are low/high value yourself.

When men get conned, women are evil but you all share locker rooms while men openly laugh about strategies to trick people then act as if the victim was an unreasonable person.

This is called in group behavior, it isnt specific to men so I am not sure what you want me to respond to.

I agree, men being thirsty drags down the value of their sexuality.

Joey_Lopez • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 07:54 PM

Don't forget that pussy is also cheap today as well. These girls with high N-counts are not worth anything either.

isweartoofuckingmuch • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 09:39 AM*

Yeah I broke my last relationship cause she's initially lied to me about her n-count. It's pathetic how they want to ride the carousel and then expect themselves not to be seen as used goods. Doesn't work that way

Maybe if we all had a bit more self respect we could get over this issue of women with inflated confidence thinking they deserve everything for giving nothing.

[deleted] • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 08:07 PM

Yes. I'm a bisexual guy that would be great with another bisexual guy who had a handle on his issues. The sad part to it is the part I leave to because I prefer other bisexuals. The other points were all valid too. Bi men usually get written off the easiest but bi women are the worst off overall

To be fair and more understanding of the issue makes it all of our problem when it is every one else doing shit too.

Darkseeker_Mau • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 08:14 PM

It's funny, I'm also bisexual and I consider myself to be lucky because I can have relationships with men and women.

From my personal experience, men are the easiest to get along with, zero drama, easiest to please, etc. Have you ever dated women? And which sex is your favorite? (if you have a favorite).

Gimme a call when that's true, my number is 911.

I was talking entirely from personal experience, but what is up with people every time you say a slightly positive thing about men?

What's the compulsion to insinuate men as criminals? Just because I said that they are easy-going and friendly. Like WTF.

[deleted] 31 January, 2020 10:42 PM*

[deleted]

Darkseeker_Mau • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 10:45 PM

That's the not the same as "zero drama".

OKAY, in my very personal experience (NOT ALL MEN) are zero drama in my life

(NOT ALL MEN), sometimes men go out of their way to not inconvenience me.

Nothing wrong to say nice things about anyone, but lets not lie. Men have drama in their repertoire just as women do, it simply manifests differently.

I agree.

Woah, woah, take it easy, mate. Exaggeration does not make anyone more right than the othet.

I guess?

gimpgirl555 • 6 points • 31 January, 2020 07:14 PM

Male attention isn't as cheap as women like to claim. Most women don't get any male attention IRL. So of course it has value.

ohheyhi99 • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 09:45 PM

This was true before dating apps. Not anymore.

gimpgirl555 • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 09:53 PM

Internet attention and real attention are not the same thing.

ohheyhi99 • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 09:57 PM

They're strongly correlated, and online attention can be leveraged into IRL attention.

gimpgirl555 • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 10:00 PM

No they're not. A guy telling you stuff on the Internet is worth nothing. In fact you're losing out on opportunities of dating boys in the real world.

In the female world online attention doesn't count. It's like a guy watching porn and claiming that he slept with 100s of women.

ohheyhi99 • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 10:40 PM

“In the female world online attention doesn't count. It's like a guy watching porn and claiming that he slept with 100s of women.”

Lol not true. I and other people I know have met sex partners, dates, and relationship partners online. It only “doesn’t count” if it’s from the dozens/hundreds of men she doesn’t want. And most women could find a man they want online too.

gimpgirl555 • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 10:42 PM

Attractive people don't need to go online to get dates and sex.

And the vast majority of women who are online, are not looking to meet anyone.

ohheyhi99 • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 10:44 PM

“Attractive people don't need to go online to get dates and sex.”

They don’t need to, but they do. How old are you?

“And the vast majority of women who are online, are not looking to meet anyone.”

It often depends on how much like their options. Then they'll likely change their mind.

gimpgirl555 • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 10:46 PM

I'm almost 40.

They're going to change their mind? Women are not that comfortable meeting total strangers off the Internet for sex.

LeJacquelo • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 11:48 PM

That is literally the second worst and factually wrong statement in the history of PPD. Second to "women don't like the dick" which you wrote not too long ago today.

CommanderOfTheDeath • 0 points • 31 January, 2020 08:07 PM

Depends on the women. As long as she is somewhat attractive she gets more attention than the average male.

gimpgirl555 • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 08:15 PM

Not in my experience. Not IRL. Average girls don't get attention.

CommanderOfTheDeath • 0 points • 31 January, 2020 08:26 PM

What do the average girls you are talking about regularly wear & are they extremely shy or normal?

If they dress very conservatively and rarely talk to anyone obviously they won't get attention. I have seen women like this. Mostly they are cute and could get attention if they dressed a little bit differently and were more extroverted.

These girls never initiate conversation except if you specifically ask them or have been talked to them for quite some time and they are comfortable.

I don't think it's a surprise that someone who rarely talks doesn't get attention?

gimpgirl555 • 4 points • 31 January, 2020 08:58 PM

IME average looking girls don't get attention from boys even if they try. Cuz there are prettier girls who get all the attention.

It makes sense, why would boys waste time on an average girl when they can invest that time in a pretty girl?

CommanderOfTheDeath • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 09:04 PM

Because they know they aren't Chad. They go for what they think they can attract. The only women they don't go for are ugly ones.

gimpgirl555 • 5 points • 31 January, 2020 09:12 PM

I haven't seen guys do that. Not even Middle Aged guys. Everyone goes for the pretty girls even if they don't have a chance.

Joey_Lopez • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 08:14 PM

Most females don't like the kind of attention they get. Like I have a female colleague that's always complaining that only men with gf's approach her. Men don't even bother lying to her anymore to try and get in her pants.

CommanderOfTheDeath • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 08:23 PM

I said getting attention not getting attention from someone your perceive high value.

So you would rather believe to? Lol. Men dont lie anymore because pussy is so easily available once you learned game that you just don't need to lie.

theambivalentrooster • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 08:09 PM women take male attention for granted

there's this girl i know who you have to literally do everything for and get 0 in return for it. like she just expects all this time and money spent on her. she is extremely moody and literally screams and cries for attention or when she doesn't get what she wants. when you finally figure out what she wants she doesn't say thank you or anything. she might look your way and maybe smile a little bit. my daughter turns 5 weeks old on sunday i hope she grows out of it.

[deleted] • 1 point • 2 February, 2020 12:35 AM

It's not male attention that's cheap, it's that your standards for what you call attention are very low.

Vulture051 • 1 point • 4 February, 2020 06:06 PM

Chocolate bars are also cheap. I still appreciate chocolate.

G77R23D • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 07:19 PM

I don't believe in giving respect for no reason, but I do believe in treating people with dignity. As long as you're not ridiculing the man for his attention, you're fine. Be reasonably polite when you say no thank you and be on your way. Much better than ghosting or laughing at the guy.

LillthOfBabylon • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 08:43 PM

Gross. Who the fuck wants a woman desperate for attention? No one should want an attention whore unless she/he can handle such an insecure person.

that guys will happily fuck nearly any and every woman

Lies.

when men here admit that guys will happily fuck nearly any and every woman as long as she's hot.

They just forget that part.

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 03:49 AM

Not true. I've known attractive men to go hogging to spite their wives or because they wanted to not have to do any work while being treated with gratitude.

ZodiacBrave98 • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 07:24 PM

How am I supposed to appreciate the taste of good burger? They're so cheap!

[deleted] • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 07:43 PM

Male attention doesn't even taste good.

Orange_Paisley • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 07:55 PM

Yeah, at least you can throw a burger on a brioche bun and add cheese.

Joey_Lopez • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 07:53 PM

Don't forget that pussy is also cheap today as well.

[deleted] • 4 points • 31 January, 2020 07:57 PM

If pussy is so cheap today, why does TRP exist?

Joey_Lopez • 4 points • 31 January, 2020 08:00 PM

Probably for the same reason why females have so much dating advice themselves when "dick is abundant and low value". Because guys are greedy and don't particularly want the cheap ones.

CommanderOfTheDeath • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 08:09 PM

Cheap≠Easy To Get.

Once you learned to get it it becomes cheap.

[deleted] • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 09:29 PM

Cheap does mean easy to get in this context though.

CommanderOfTheDeath • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 09:31 PM

That's exactly what I said. The character '≠' or also often used '!=' means "not equal".

Cheap does not mean easy to get. That's why there TRP. Only if you learn how to get it easily it becomes cheap.

[deleted] • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 09:33 PM

I know, I'm not fucking idiot. Read what I said, I said CHEAP = EASY TO GET in this context.

CommanderOfTheDeath • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 09:42 PM

Nope cheap absolutely does not equal easy to get. It's only cheap for those who know how to get it. A RPer who regularly gets sex doesn't value it really much. It's indifferent to him whether a woman has sex with him or not. He can get it elsewhere. While a BP who rarely ever gets sex values it a lot more and would be willing to simp for a woman or get into a relationship just for sex.

[deleted] • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 09:44 PM

Yeah, supply and demand bro. Cheap means easy to get. Now please stop gaslighting me.

MuleFool42 • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 07:45 PM

I appreciate people based on who they are, not their gender, so I really don't understand the question.

jayval90 • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 09:27 PM

If you want to help us with that, support us men in our anti-SIMP efforts. We shame guys who give out attention with no reciprocity. Saturdays are for the Boys, peeps! Do not give monetary contributions to that thot. No posting cringey affirmations on her social media selfies. Etc.

Pontifex_Lucious-II • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 09:32 PM

It's projection because men would still feel validated if women's sexual attention was cheap.

Physiologist21 • 2 points • 31 January, 2020 10:23 PM

This is obviously false, it's why no one brags about banging fatties. Some peoples sexual attention is cheap.

tropiew • 1 point • 31 January, 2020 09:35 PM

No i don't think you are. Attention is a good thing only when you get it at the right time and from the right person. Well not that i would know a lot about attention and keeping focus seeing as i have ADHD. Lol.

PierceTheEye • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 06:42 AM

You are on point. This is exactly the problem. Men are too thirsty and lack self-respect. Although I also understand men, I struggled with this myself when I was younger and was lacking options. But luckily I was so prideful that I wouldn't stoop low into getting sex, like trying seduce some women I absolutely despised as a person. I utilised porn and aimed for relationships. Worked on myself, and I'm glad I did.

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2020 10:06 AM

"Men will swim through a river of snot for the chance to fuck a woman he despises" - Valerie Solanas. The sooner girls know this the better.

NockerJoe • 0 points • 31 January, 2020 07:29 PM

Most things are cheap, relatively speaking. If someone gave me five bucks worth of gas I'd appreciate it. If someone went out to a drive through and got me something off the dollar menu I'd appreciate that too. Same for just dropping a line on social media, or inviting me to a free event, or even just saying something nice. Something's value in terms of abundance or cost doesn't dictate it's value in sentimental cost. If you've somehow forgotten that you need to adjust yourself because you're basically saying you're too good for the little things in life.

goatismycopilot • 5 points • 31 January, 2020 07:31 PM

Five bucks worth of gas is useful though.

NockerJoe • -1 points • 31 January, 2020 07:32 PM

...I think you've somehow missed the point.

goatismycopilot • 3 points • 31 January, 2020 08:20 PM

Random gas is more valuable than random dick.

[deleted] • 1 point • 1 February, 2020 12:23 PM

Imagine if gay guys, drive by pedestrians friends teachers bosses and coworkers, hit on you or made comments pretty much every time you left the house. Even when you're wearing sweats and no makeup.

Imagine you were trying to talk to pretty ladies OLD and your inbox was clogged with gay guys trying to fuck and demanding your attention so that you never saw the females and just ended up generally exhausted by the whole process. It's not like being offered free food or gas. It comes with all this other crap, it's constant and it's annoying.

taapy234 • 0 points • 1 February, 2020 04:16 AM

Two things:

1. You don't see the perspective.
2. You are not grateful that you have options.

To elaborate on my first point: The perspective being you treat almost all male attention as "cheap". It isn't. The prevailing complaint from men is women have sky high expectations, and over the top demands even though they don't offer similar effort in return. The end result is, women just coasting through their twenties riding the cock carousel jumping ship between multiple men of the top 20% and being their side chick while making up rules to the average dudes.

We see all this and go, why the fuck do I even bother trying to fit into any of these demands when they simply break them when the top performing male pays attention to them? I mean, just think about this situation logically: Why would I treat a woman who says "NO HOOKUPS" seriously when she engaged in the same exact behavior with other men before? This is why the optimum behavior from men who demand these expectations is to just pander to her demands(just play the romantic boyfriend wannabe role that she craves and keep everything casual) the same way she is pandering to the chad in hopes of changing his mind to wife her up (Which he won't)

To elaborate on my second point: Because you are not grateful that you have all this option to choose from, the end result is you over-inflate your relationship value (RMV). The end result here, again, is you are now starting to alienate average dudes with your detestable behavior. Do you want this? So, your only available options are hoping the lottery ticket winning chance that a chad will choose you as his girlfriend/wife or get attention from below average men.
