

Thanks TRP

I just want to say that thank you so much for creating the trp subreddit and all those who heavily contribute to the community. Without them, I would not have found the passion to live life to the fullest. I have accidentally stumbled upon this subreddit while i was watching the anime called: Welcome to the NHK. I felt truly ashamed that I can relate to the main protagonist that i literally google the phrase: "How not to become a loser" Laughable, I know. To my surprise, google has linked me to the post "How to stop being a loser in life" by the99percent1. Curious, I read all the top posts and also the sidebar. I've felt that I discovered something that I should've known the day I was born, or maybe I did and i have forgotten because of feminism. In any case, I thank TRP again for the drive that I was looking for. I now have a goal in life, where previously I was just the typical happy-go-lucky chump. I now consistently lift weights, improve my social interactions, learn a new language and other things that i find interesting and necessary. I just wanted to post because it is almost a month since i swallowed the pill and there is so much more to do. Thank you again and again.
