Also, don't forget that if you want to be successful with women, follow these two simple rules:

- 1) Be attractive
- 2) Don't be unattractive

goodmansaysfuckyou • 135 points • 14 February, 2020 10:36 PM

Give zero fucks.

Like moths to the flame.

analogic-microwave • 32 points • 15 February, 2020 02:00 AM Metallica?

goodmansaysfuckyou • 18 points • 15 February, 2020 02:48 AM

I don't know. I have never listened to them.

It's just an old adage. Something will attract something else like moths to the flame. Most nocturnal flying insects are attracted to light. I'm not a scientist so I can't explain it...it just is.

animistspark • 79 points • 14 February, 2020 09:53 PM

Also depends on how much money one has.

HiredNote • 111 points • 15 February, 2020 01:06 AM

Or how popular you are with other women. When I was in my early 20s, I didn't know women would show interest if you've got another woman you're friendly with. I would go to a restaurant with my sister and the waitresses were noticeably friendlier. Went next week by myself and I was old wallpaper. Or go to a nightclub with another woman and the women in the club would "accidentally" bump into me, start conversations, grind on me, or flirt with me. Go to the same club the next night and I was interesting as old newspapers blowing in the wind. Or I would get a new job and some of the women would clearly be stuck up and standoffish with me. Then, when some of the other women were friendly, all of a sudden, the stuck up chicks warmed up to me.

That kinda stuff happens all the time. All you have to have is one chick showing interest in you, then some other chick(s) suddenly find you fascinating.

cleverbutnotoverlyso • 51 points • 15 February, 2020 02:55 AM

When my mom and her brother (my uncle) were teenagers, they both loved to dance. That generation (1940's) went to dances to socialize and meet people. If there was a girl my uncle liked, my mom would chat her up and then introduce them. If a boy caught my mom's eye, my uncle would do the same thing. It was the perfect wingman arrangement.

ogrilla99 • 45 points • 15 February, 2020 03:59 AM

Yep. It doesn't even have to be different girls or different times. I remember once I went swing dancing on a blind double date (my friend and his girl knew each other, me and her girlfriend were a blind setup) My blind date was cute, but she seemed a little distant, like she wasn't totally interested.

So I figured it was going to be a polite but pointless evening. We had also invited a few friends to come out, and one of my female friends (strictly platonic) arrived maybe a half hour in. She and I started talking, laughing, etc and we danced a couple of songs. Next time I danced with my date, she was brushing her tits against me, grinding, and pretty much moving way beyond normal swing dancing :-). All of a sudden, she was much more flirtatious, hanging on to my arm even when we were sitting down, etc. etc.

I probably could have and should have taken advantage of the situation, but I was kind of disgusted by the whole thing so never bothered calling her after that night. If she's only interested because some other chick is interested, then count me out. But it definitely happens all the time.

Unpopular_But_Right • 26 points • 15 February, 2020 06:46 AM i mean, count me in once just to see what she's like in bed, but count me out after that

BonelessSkinless • 31 points • 15 February, 2020 02:42 AM

It's the dumbest thing ever cilantromakesmepuke • 32 points • 15 February, 2020 05:41 AM

Yep, that's sexual pre-selection for you.

Let me give you an example: would you try a new restaurant if it looks good from outside, but no one is eating inside?

What if it is full and there are people waiting in line? Would you eat there?

tralala501 • 19 points • 15 February, 2020 11:16 AM* i would really eat in the empty one, lol. but i am a misantrophe so it explains a lot inertargongas • 20 points • 15 February, 2020 01:46 PM

Congratulations, you chose the restaurant that won't give you STDs.

BonelessSkinless • 8 points • 15 February, 2020 11:23 AM

I'm with you.

BonelessSkinless • 2 points • 15 February, 2020 11:23 AM

Personally, I like a nice place that's lowkey really good and quiet. So I would actually go with the former. Yeah there's a lineup for the busy restaurant with buzz and all eyes on you... but sometimes you miss the best hole in the wall because you're too busy looking at the lineup across the street.

Maybe they need to select a little better and not just glean everything from what they see off initial visual attention/attraction and then wonder why the guy doesn't love them or they keep getting screwed over.

jrpark05 • 2 points • 16 February, 2020 05:14 PM

Taking the restaurant example, in my experience the best restaurants are NOT the ones that are most expensive, and the best ones are located in places like strip malls and holes in the wall.

In other words, people usually don't know truly great food, and they are attracted to glitz and glamour.

vetiarvind • 13 points • 15 February, 2020 07:32 AM

Yeah, was with some girl at a party. Random women would pass by and cheer my drinks. This was in Asia btw. AWALT.

Mudd66 • 5 points • 15 February, 2020 04:14 PM

Sheep Syndrome

Sheep Syndrome, refers to the oblivious and ignorant mind set of either an individual or a populace within a society, where people support a movement or ideology which is potentially dangerous and harmful not only to the well being and safety of themselves and their families, but also to their country and community. Very much like that of a sheep when being marched to the slaughter house, it is totally unaware of the danger looming over its head.

I-am-the-lul • 2 points • 17 February, 2020 12:27 AM

You have discovered the power of pre-selection, whereby women conclude that a man must be higher value than she previously thought because another woman is with him.

SeekingLevelFive • 35 points • 14 February, 2020 09:56 PM

Yes.

smfuel87 • 39 points • 15 February, 2020 01:12 AM

1. Get out and move on.

zczczczczczczcz • 30 points • 15 February, 2020 12:57 AM

I get that this is a joke, but seriously as an ugly man are you pretty much fucked in life?

IcariusFallen • 63 points • 15 February, 2020 01:12 AM

Yes and no. Personality goes a long way, but won't surpass an ugly mug. Being rich might get you somewhere. Being good at sex might get you somewhere. There was a time when it wasn't like this, because all women wanted to settle down. Now they're too busy thinking they're all queens that deserve the best, without realizing the best doesn't want them.

zczczczczczczcz • 38 points • 15 February, 2020 01:14 AM

I don't think being good at sex would matter if you're ugly. No woman is gonna want to sleep with you.

goodmansaysfuckyou • 2 points • 15 February, 2020 01:34 AM

Not true. If you have the personality and the money, then they will fuck you good and hard...for a while. Just don't get complacent.

RegRobillard • 19 points • 15 February, 2020 11:39 AM

Looks are the determining factor for a woman's attraction. Money is for betabuxx. Personality can only prevent a loss of attraction. Rule #1 of the old redpill is that you can't negotiate desire

IcariusFallen • -8 points • 15 February, 2020 01:23 AM

I mean, even an ugly guy probably gets some pity sex sometimes, I'm sure.

Artichoke19 • 4 points • 15 February, 2020 09:41 AM

Can confirm

_geraltofrivia • 12 points • 15 February, 2020 03:17 AM

Just go to the gym 5 times a week and you wont be (that) ugly anymore

Older_Miggy • 16 points • 15 February, 2020 04:02 AM

Doesn't work that way.

_geraltofrivia • -1 points • 15 February, 2020 04:33 AM

It does tho, it will make you more attractive. Your posture and everything and even in your face bc u get healthier. Also boost in confidence wich will make a lot easier and is also something that helps with attraction. I'm not saying you will be a 10/10 but you can get from a 5 to a 7.5 easily maybe ven higher zczczczczczc • 17 points • 15 February, 2020 07:47 AM

Not true. Doesn't change your facial features or structure.

Origami84 • 11 points • 15 February, 2020 08:36 AM

If you are borderline deformed, very little can help you, true. But it is also true that a "normal" unattractive face can be partially compensated by everything else: good clothes, muscular body, good haircut, good attitude.

RegRobillard • 3 points • 15 February, 2020 11:42 AM

The best all that does is push you up 1, maybe 2 points max. If your face is a 4 or lower, you won't get results from what you've said. If you're a 5 or better, you've got a chance

RRFdev • 9 points • 15 February, 2020 12:51 PM

You guys are severely underestimating the boost of having a fit, healthy body to compensate for a plain facial appearance and average height.

Seriously guys, it works. Just go for it. Don't doubt yourself.

zczczczczczc • 0 points • 15 February, 2020 02:54 PM

You're completely missing the point. We aren't talking about having a "plain facial appearance", we're talking about being objectively ugly.

This is the problem. Nobody wants to admit or accept that ugly people exist.

ThaHentaiConnoisseur • 1 point • 15 February, 2020 12:55 PM

This. No amount of muscle you build will change your face.

respectallwomyn • 9 points • 15 February, 2020 01:02 PM

Losing weight massively changes your facial features.

sparklingscott • 3 points • 15 February, 2020 05:07 PM

Being fat isn't the same thing as being ugly. If you're fat, you're fat. And if you want to change that, the best thing to do is have a meal plan. I've seen fat dudes at the gym that get no where because they're obviously still over eating.

zczczczczczczcz • 0 points • 15 February, 2020 02:46 PM

It won't fix poor genetics.

bigdaveyl • 4 points • 15 February, 2020 04:38 PM

I don't think this point gets enough recognition.

It's sometimes not as easy as saying "just lift bro." There can be many factors at play:

Straight up just got the bad luck of the draw - short, bad bone structure and generally looking like you had a stroke recently. Unless you're wealthy enough to over come this (just because of your wealth and you can afford elective plastic surgery)

Shitty American diet.

The West has turned more into a "service" economy. Less people are doing manual labor like working at farms or mining that would counter act bad genetics or diet.

Genetic propensity towards certain illnesses/conditions.

I'm not disagreeing that keeping a healthy weight increases your chances, but this is for people who are generally borderline in the first place, i.e. losing X pounds would make you go from a 4 to a 6+.

Where it goes off the rails is for someone like myself who has several medical conditions that indirectly cause weight gain. I'm likely always going to be some level of chunky.

zczczczczczczcz • 2 points • 15 February, 2020 06:37 PM

You're right, it doesn't. And they just downvoted me because they can't refute the argument.

You make some good points. And I'm not disagreeing with that either - a good, in shape body is better than a fat or skinny body. But if your face is fucked it's over, no amount of gym will fix it. Sorry to hear about those conditions. That really does sound shit.

zeus113 • 10 points • 15 February, 2020 07:44 AM

NormanMitis • 4 points • 15 February, 2020 01:32 AM

[deleted] • -4 points • 15 February, 2020 10:42 AM

He's 56

cilantromakesmepuke • 0 points • 15 February, 2020 11:23 AM

Ewgh! Old people, why the fuck are they still alive anymore?. Huh, luckily we will never get old.

[deleted] • 2 points • 15 February, 2020 11:26 AM

At what point did I say anything like that? We're on r/WhereAreAllTheGoodMen, where older women are routinely (and possibly justly) mocked and made fun of on a daily basis. After a certain point, though much later, men's attractiveness degrades as well. Brad Pitt has undoubtedly seen more attractive days, as is the way of biological lifeforms.

bigdaveyl • 0 points • 15 February, 2020 04:42 PM

here older women are routinely (and possibly justly) mocked and made fun of on a daily basis.

Do you realize why they are mocked, though?

I'm not condoning "mocking" either way, just pointing out that being old is only part of it.

[deleted] • -2 points • 15 February, 2020 02:10 AM

Not shifting the goal, all my replys are still true imo. I used social class as attraction and also including money and society values (like black and white couples use to be bad, so that type of dynamic public opinion, what eve let that is in current times)

And I love JoJo

Incelvester • 12 points • 15 February, 2020 02:13 AM

You 100% shifted the goal from looks to social status when I proved you wrong.

You make me hate it.

[deleted] • 0 points • 15 February, 2020 02:23 AM

? I dont understand

The pig post example fit with what I said? I'm assuming those replys to the tinder profile were not average looking guys?

And I didnt mean to make the goal smaller, I meant to increase it. I meant not only do people form relationships with those who are of equal looks, but also of equal social class such as money (wealth)

BluepillProfessor • 3 points • 15 February, 2020 03:03 PM

Girls do it all the time. They do it for cash and prizes.

KING_CPB • 137 points • 14 February, 2020 10:54 PM

Height, handsome face, muscular body, and money. Most of women really don't care about personalities. That's why nice guys almost always lose in the end.

signsignsignsign • 47 points • 15 February, 2020 02:30 AM

Yep. That's exactly why that phrase even exists. It's fact.

RegRobillard • 11 points • 15 February, 2020 11:48 AM

It depends. If a nice guy is being a nice guy to try and get with a woman without risking a direct rejection, I can get why women find them repulsive. If we're talking about how guys with normal personalities are overlooked in favour of guys with dark triad traits, I agree completely

BeAPetRock • 1 point • 15 February, 2020 08:24 PM

Well yes but actually no

KING_CPB • 1 point • 15 February, 2020 10:35 PM

There are exceptions for sure but hard to find a person in the right mindset nowadays, for both men and women. If you consider what I said in general statistics, you would agree. Well known proofs are skyrocketing divorce rate & low marriage rate.

RajcatowyDzusik • 0 points • 17 February, 2020 12:43 AM

But basically I'm guessing that she was likely the agressor or no less than an equal party in their thing ,but because she owns a vagina, once she feels like she isn't benefiting or has leverage, she has unilateral authority and victim status...as usual.

In these cases, if you as a man are fucking stupid enough to engage at work and you as a woman are enough of a fucking slut, both of you should lose your job. But thanks to shit like VAWA, we can never have nice things...

ex-turpi-causa • 8 points • 15 February, 2020 12:27 PM

[deleted]

ex-turpi-causa • 3 points • 15 February, 2020 09:42 PM

Legally it could quite easily be harassment. Flirting and being friendly or slutty aren't crimes, but for someone to go through with it and then spread it around the office could be, even if she was like that with everyone. It's different because she chooses to be that way but he doesn't have a right without her being ok with it to share details etc.

This is the reason why sexual harassment shouldn't be taken seriously. Because there's nothing objectionable about the act of flirting, it depends mostly on the attractiveness of the person flirting. Women have admitted this numerous times. Unlike other crimes where intent is concrete, with sexual harassment, intent is in the eye of the beholder.

Damaged goods, avoid like the current plague.

MentORPHEUS • 3 points • 17 February, 2020 04:30 PM

Coming from a woman who's sporting a level of bedhead usually seen on the morning before an intervention is staged.

Meursault21 • 3 points • 15 February, 2020 04:09 AM

Yes.

SemiCel • 3 points • 15 February, 2020 03:42 PM

She's a 4/10 at best but i bet she's pulled plenty of 10/10 Chads for one night stands and will accept nothing less.

BlinkBuster • 2 points • 15 February, 2020 12:15 PM

She's gonna get her woman card revoked for spilling secrets like that.

CVH91 • 2 points • 15 February, 2020 03:36 PM

Who is that? Slash, what is this from?

Thor-Loki-1 • 2 points • 15 February, 2020 04:19 PM

How is no-one commenting on her insane upper lip?

Fish mouth like I've never seen before.

where_muh_good_mens • 1 point • 15 February, 2020 08:15 PM

Someone already mentioned fetal alcohol syndrome, which she has strong facial characteristics of.

PeterCornswalled • 2 points • 15 February, 2020 07:58 PM

An honest women. They're a rarity.
