If only she had a peak attractive age where she was calling the shots and would give priority to men planning for long term.

MachoToughGuy • 97 points • 29 December, 2020 07:26 AM

I guess those men ain't so boring anymore.

Sir_manalot • 31 points • 29 December, 2020 07:00 PM

Thank god for women finding them boring too.

It forces the future "real" men to think about women's value to them more.

chalulin • 75 points • 29 December, 2020 07:39 AM

Right! At age 18, 19, 20 all I really had going for me was being admitted to a good university and being a fantastic salsa dancer. Not much attention.

But now...why would I want to settle down and marry a 37 year old when I'm at the top of my fave professionally? With nothing but better days ahead? Maybe date a young mid 20 year old. If not no worries, I have my job and tons of other interests, hobbies, and activities to keep me busy.

FuckRedditsADMIN • 63 points • 29 December, 2020 09:40 AM thats exactly how my life played out, but i was quite lucky in that i was quite good looking so some women did chase me when i was younger, but i never wanted a relationship because i didnt have the means to provide what they considered "normal" (i.e financial slavery) so i just had sex and no relationships.

Now i am much older and in a great job with the means to provide and actually am a hell of a catch (financially), and i simply dont want to, i have the means but not the motive, why the fuck should i spend my hard earned money on some entitled bitch who brings nothing to the table.

women are too entitled and have no self criticism, they expect the world to just give them everything, well they can get fucked, id rather be alone thanks.

MattyK414 • 22 points • 29 December, 2020 02:53 PM

Right. And that's not even accounting for their "special" kids (from a "horrible" man) and the $200K in debt that she racked up.

jihoech • 40 points • 29 December, 2020 12:26 PM

I am a 38yo physician. Definitely not super rich or a "winner", but I have a stable job I love with above average income. Probably a sufficient partner for this lady. Would I be interested?

Hard NO.

Too late, dearie, I am married. I met my wife at the college at 21.

yu126 • 18 points • 29 December, 2020 03:00 PM

Awesome stuff. I'm a 4th year med student awaiting the match in March. I'm a single 25 year old guy. What advice would you have for me moving forward.

jihocech • 23 points • 29 December, 2020 03:20 PM*

Studying medicine is hard, working is even harder, use your time wisely. Learn as much as you can, when your brain is young and fresh. Be humble, find a friend and a mentor.

Concerning women: do not worry, focus on yourself, find a good department and a type of work you will like. They will find you.

I have a friend who was invisible at college. Average looking, slim, not tall, kind, nerdy, underestimates himself a lot. We meet once a year because he lives far. After graduation, almost every meeting he shows me pictures on his new girlfriend. He has no "game", he doesn't chase, he just exists. He started with 30+ divorcees, but after few years...

vtec__ • 6 points • 29 December, 2020 09:47 PM is he a doctor? im assuming he has a good job/career

jihocech • 10 points • 29 December, 2020 10:19 PM

He is. His career is good, but nothing special. Just a common doctor like many others.

42252252 • 5 points • 29 December, 2020 10:25 PM

Well you're already a step ahead, smart enough not to get married in med school. The stress is like a pressure cooker and you'll be going through so many job swaps and changes it's just too much to ask of a marriage unless you have a real solid foundation. Granted, dating will maybe be a bit harder after, as you find the gold diggers think it's a ticket to instant riches and convertibles. (Which may be, depending on malpractice insurance AFAIK) I've heard that it kinda helps to sift them out if you say you're a nurse for the first couple dates.

For some reason our local med students all hooked and split by the time they graduated. (At least the seven or so weddings I remember happening from our people. And I'm no MD, just worked on a project with the college that let me mingle with 'em a bit.)

Good luck out there!

happychickenpalace • 3 points • 30 December, 2020 12:45 AM

On the other hand I will also argue that being in a relationship could actually serve as a boost to make you feel happier and work harder - granted, only IF you are in a good, proper, loving relationship.

Source: my late dad who pulled off the seemingly impossible feat of studying law in his mid-40s while also balancing his day job, his side business and being a father at the same time.

Here's the thing though, the majority of relationships you will see out there are actually relationships, as Uncle Terrence Popp called them, so you're better off most of the time just focusing on your studies.

42252252 • 3 points • 30 December, 2020 11:16 PM

A good relationship, with a good woman, can do a lot of beneficial things, not just enhance your productivity and life happiness. The problem is the sorts of environments, social support structures, and cultural norms that produce such people are critically rare. Chances are, even if you have one, the paradise won't last forever as new friends, new coworkers, new classmates, and so on will pollute your home with the same hypergamous nonsense as the rest.

It's cliché to say "they don't make 'em like they used to" but it's mostly true, with an additional drawback that they don't have stocks of spare parts, and the knowledge base for maintaining the platform is disappearing. A bit like trying to use mechanical typewriters in a modern setting, it's an uphill battle.

Far from impossible, but it's not as easy as "lol just find a good one like damn" or "well go to church, that's where the good ones are!" as if there aren't multiple vectors of damage so simply mitigating. I can only think of two marriages out of at least 100+ in my life I've seen and thought it's something I would want for myself. Not a great success rate....

kyledontcare • 25 points • 29 December, 2020 10:36 AM

Remember men: Keep the video game console warm, Netflix at the ready, and your favorite pizza delivery place on speed dial.

PsyMonk- • 20 points • 29 December, 2020 03:49 PM

Pizza will make you fat, lazy and poison your mind with unnecessary glucose rush. Lift weights, eat healthy, retain the warrior mantra. Pure mind, pure body, pure soul. Meditate, meditate while you lift, cook, meditate while you cook, nourish yourself, make nourishment meditation too. Always hold the reins of the animal your brain is and control your consciousness to never go back on your beliefs and acquired truths.

Mister_Mask • 20 points • 29 December, 2020 03:54 PM

Only if you eat it everyday. There's no need to be a purist. Enjoy your life. Pizza ain't that bad anyway. Good source of carbs ('specially if you're lifting).

PsyMonk- • 1 point • 3 January, 2021 10:44 AM

That's all I meant, don't eat it every day. Pizza cheat day is more than fine with me, have your fill once a week, but don't be lazy either, it'll eat at your mind and make you feel bad about yourself. It's better to stay active to live longer anyway. More time to enjoy the hobbies you like.

OdinStat • 8 points • 29 December, 2020 05:04 PM

Not everyone aspires to be sub- 12% body fat lol

PsyMonk- • 1 point • 3 January, 2021 10:40 AM

10~14% is fine. But there's a surreal state of mind that lingers when you're below that. I can't really explain it but you feel like your sweat has testosterone. It feels amazing is all I can say, oh and it makes your meals taste soooo much better. It's like I smoked the best weed, but I feel that high all day and night.

[deleted] • 6 points • 29 December, 2020 05:47 PM

Good advice but I allow a cheat pizza day!

cjohn3b • 3 points • 30 December, 2020 10:06 PM

PsyMonk- • 1 point • 3 January, 2021 10:29 AM

PsyMonk- • 2 points • 3 January, 2021 10:30 AM

Pizza cheat day all the WAY xD

warlocc_ • 4 points • 29 December, 2020 08:52 PM

The joy of the manosphere is we're free to be fit and zen, or fat and lazy, or anything in between, and still have respect for one another.

PsyMonk- • 1 point • 3 January, 2021 10:28 AM

Yup, but I also don't want him to die of a heart attack at 45 cause "those pizzas were just too good I couldn't help it". I use to be overweight all my youth and only got fit when I was 20. Now looking at my elders, I feel I should always remind my brethren to take care of themselves unlike the harpies we've sworn to never marry (again).

Nequis • 3 points • 30 December, 2020 01:24 AM

Foul heretic, maybe what you people pass for pizza abroad poisons you, I've seen what you barbarians call pizza and let me assure you it isn't real pizza.

PsyMonk- • 1 point • 3 January, 2021 10:24 AM

I mean there's ways to make it healthy, but you still shouldn't gorge on it by eating it too often. Regardless of "how" you make it, you only have so much stomach space in a 16 hour day so you have to get all your daily nutrients in before you think of stuffing yourself with pizzas.

happychickenpalace • 8 points • 30 December, 2020 12:49 AM

Don't be the male equivalent of a wine lady. If you resolve to be alone, get healthy, productive hobbies for yourself. Netflix is junk food for the brain.

We must keep cultivating our muscles and our brains, especially as we continue to age. Exercise and dabble in craftsmanship instead.

kyledontcare • 6 points • 30 December, 2020 01:19 AM

Everything in moderation. I have plenty of hobbies.

jihoczech • 2 points • 30 December, 2020 10:43 AM

Netflix is junk food

I agree. There are plenty of good films even from the US, when you watch European and Japanese movies as well, one life is not enough.

PsyMonk- • 1 point • 3 January, 2021 10:51 AM

One life really isn't enough to see it all but what bothers me is my memory, I can't remember the movies I watch as well as movie critics and stuff, the way others speak about movies is so fresh they can recollect most of the film even those from years ago, me? For some reason I've been forgetting a lot recently. I'd watch a movie and forget most of it in a few days. At least new movies are mostly trash so I don't have to bother wasting more head data space to remember the woke PC trash.

Traksimuss • 10 points • 29 December, 2020 11:40 AM

Well, you would need a more balanced and rational person to make this decision. We could call him, father. Else this is example when woman follows her vagina the whole life and ends up with cats.

popthatpill • 1 point • 1 January, 2021 05:37 PM

The shoe is well and truly on the other foot now.

Not really. A woman who gets platezoned is still getting sex from a high-status guy. A guy who gets friendzoned is getting nothing.

PsyMonk- • 2 points • 3 January, 2021 10:55 AM

I really hope religion is right and hell exists because at this point its the only way I see women not winning in the end. I guess on Earth you could say they may not kill themselves as often as men but they do live miserably in larger numbers than we do, so there's that.

We're happier longer than them even while friendzoned, they fuck but are so unloved it eats at them worse than us because they're social creatures. We can plug our hole of being friendzoned with so much, movies, anime, games, porn, gym, studying, making money, inventing, art, etc.

They can't plug being fuckzoned so they just fuck even more. At some point, it becomes losing regardless of how much they fuck, STD's, mental illness, risk of disappearing or being hurt.

FuckRedditsADMIN • 94 points • 29 December, 2020 09:35 AM

When a man complains about not being able to find a girl to fuck, he is told its his fault and he needs to work on himself so that he provides value to the woman, its entirely 100% his fault.

When a woman complains about not being able to find a man to commit, she is told its his fault and he needs to work on himself so that he provides value to the woman, its entirely 100% his fault.

Yeah get fucked bitches, if he doesn't want to commit to you its YOUR FAULT and YOUR PROBLEM.

People commit to people who add value to their lives and they want to be around, nobody commits to a talking vagina, if they dont commit to you, its because your personality is fucking awful and all you bring to the table is sexual relief.

jihoczech • 10 points • 29 December, 2020 12:46 PM

Well, it is "fault" of those men they do not want to commit. But should they commit? Should they even want to commit? It is their freedom and wildness that makes those men attractive.

I do not believe she was dating some shy good-hearted Tolkien fan.

TheApricotCavalier • 9 points • 29 December, 2020 05:04 PM everything is a mans fault because men do everything.

Jetrous • 64 points • 29 December, 2020 08:42 AM

Pretty much yelled at me = gave me a definitive answer after hysteric episode on my part, pushing the relationship to the limit with my insecurities about a stable and happy life.

Girls will never realize that the utopia they created for themselves will tear them down. They burn through all they have to offer and wonder, too late, what the shit is happening.

The biggest ilusion our brain is playing on ourselves is that we can be happy when we have everything we want. We can't.

silly_birb • 30 points • 29 December, 2020 10:27 AM

Sounds as if nature gave women beauty in youth so that they could invest it on building a man's affection towards her...

FuckRedditsADMIN • 24 points • 29 December, 2020 09:43 AM

The biggest ilusion our brain is playing on ourselves is that we can be happy when we have everything we want. We can't.

everyone needs a struggle to be happy, a sort of continual war where progress in it makes you feel satisfaction.

in the past a woman's marriage/family was her struggle she would try and be a better wife and try and raise great kids, it was hard, but her success genuinely made her happy (as it should).

Now they have nothing they get to sit in misery wondering why nobody values them anymore.

NewYorkStorkExchange • 62 points • 29 December, 2020 08:54 AM*

I have always wanted a family with traditional values. The white picket fence in the countryside.

She just wanted to get fucked by every man in the neighborhood before choosing which one she would settle down with. My wife and I talked about this just tonight, the men she's looking for are in her 20's where she left them. Truly marriage oriented women find men who are marriage oriented and vice versa. Women like this are little children who can't accept the consequences of their own actions. OLD helped ruin so many women.

FuckRedditsADMIN • 42 points • 29 December, 2020 09:46 AM

Exactly bang on!

Where are all the idealistic men who where raised to believe in a natural eternal union between his sweet heart and himself, while at the same time, wanting a 37 year old, with a long extensive sexual history and almost negligible fertility window?

Wow it really is a mystery that one.

FuckRedditsADMIN • 50 points • 29 December, 2020 09:50 AM just for your own satisfaction in case you dont realise, women like her grow more and more bitter and miserable as they start seeing young women with their dream life of a loving husband and a lovely family and it tears them apart knowing it will never be you.

As a man i dont think i have ever seen a married man and been jealous of his family unit (as it seems more obligation/responsibility than pay off) but to women it seems like security and acceptance.

enjoy your miserable life lady, you chose this :)

Divine-Nemesis • 25 points • 29 December, 2020 11:33 AM

I'm 42, single, no kids, never been married and couldn't be happier as all my friends who blissfully in love back in the days are miserably divorced with child payments. Girls see me as insta daddy.....lol. My oldest godson is 14 now and he was the first baby I ever held the day he was born. Why would I put anymore investment in someone else's failure? I love my Godkids as my own blood and get all the best aspects of kids without the responsibility. Why would I want different? If I need to bust a nut so bad, there are TONS of ways without baggage.

FuckRedditsADMIN • 16 points • 29 December, 2020 11:39 AM

Couldn't agree more, i have nephews for when i want to be a dad or do dad things, with the added benefit of palming them off guilt free when they become a pain in the ass.

I think there is a sense of liberty and freedom that enhances your life when you know you are not bound to any court condition or contract of love so that if your partner suddenly decides they dont love you anymore you face financial ruin.

Thanks very much feminism and modern women, you have allowed men like us to live our best life without you, and without having to bail you out anymore. enjoy your life, as we are enjoying ours :)

Divine-Nemesis • 11 points • 29 December, 2020 11:47 AM

Love it brother, isn't freedom great? Everytime I feel lonely, I just talk to my brother or friends and within ten minutes, they are always bitching about their exes, child support, or even current wives or girlfriends. I think the age of feminism is rebirthing a new age of masculinity. Slow but steady, I think guys are sick of being stomped on. Personally I think the Amber Heard cunt opened up the eyes that woman are, and have been lying, about abuse and playing the victim role. Men are just as much victims! I've had a drunk ex beat the shit out of me (I don't believe in hitting women) and the cops came and were trying their best to take ME to jail at MY place when my face was covered in blood and the only bruise she had was from falling down so much cause she could hardly stand.

Shame on you for this, you have basically been manipulated

It's not manipulation, it's instinct. Feminism and woman-centered politics has magnified the natural manifestation of this instinct in society and reinforced it, yes, but males are naturally averse to physical violence against females, just like you don't find a pile of dung to look appetizing.

I know what your point is but you're not giving enough credit to our default inclinations. Practically everything we do is rooted in instinct, oftentimes under layers of obfuscation and rationalization.

BluepillProfessor • 2 points • 29 December, 2020 04:30 PM

But that's just social conditioning InCEL.

Divine-Nemesis • 5 points • 29 December, 2020 11:54 AM

I know it's the way I was raised but in now, I wish that fight had happened today because I just might decide I identify as a female during the fight, but after the fight, I'll go back to identifying as a male. Hell that's what Hollywood said is reality and it's been plastered in our brains that gender is fluid so I'll still keep men don't hit women but since gender is so "fluid" these days, my defense will be "but I was a woman when I hit her"

You're absolutely right. I'm 42 so it's so ingrained that it's not even voluntary. I still can't see myself reacting but the logical side says that if you want equality, you get equality. Not just the parts that are convenient to you. That's the problem with modern day feminism. They scream equality but when something happens they don't like, they scream abuse. I use to be the guy that anytime I saw a guy getting aggressive with a woman, I ran to her aid. Nowadays when I see it, the first thought is homeboy has just had enough of her shit.

Poor thing. She's running out of time....

Dare I ask what she has been doing for the past 16 years? Judging by her story Im getting body count of at least 3 a year on average, x 16, that equals = 48.

48 is the low end sum. I did the math from age 21 to 37. If we add her "time wasters" from lets say 15/16 lost virginity to 21 we can easily get to a body count of 50. Yes, 50.

But, as most women project their failures onto men: they were "wasting my time"

Do these people... who basically wait for their 40's to have a kid... really want to be raising a TEENAGER in their late 50's? On top of all the dentist appointments and pta meetings in the previous years.

I am 41 and truly conformed by the fact my oldest kid already helps raising his brother and sister, and is just a couple years away from his own driving license.

The way I see things now, the slightest delay to life plans becomes a nightmare a few years down the road.

BluepillProfessor • 19 points • 29 December, 2020 04:32 PM raising a TEENAGER in their late 50's?

Doing it. Don't recommend. I got out of the hospital after my heart attack and my older son was with his mom picking me up. My teenage son couldn't be bothered to even come out of his room.

"What? I thought it was just minor heart surgery," he says without a trace of irony.

dorballom09[S] • 7 points • 30 December, 2020 06:10 AM

My dad had a heart attack around 13. I was too young to grasp the gravity of the situation and it was a minor attack. Still I went to the hospital few times till he got out.

I hope you are doing good now. Stay healthy man.

Yet she picks "time wasters" over and over it seems. Claims to want a traditional life yet selects men who have no interest in said lifestyle. At least she is aware that traditional minded men don't want high mileage carousel riders. Once women are attracted to and indulge in commitment avoidant men, the game is over for them - you are wasting your own time as she will show you with her actions the white picket fence dream is just that. - a mirage to help her cope with her being a massive failure in life.

Why the fuck do these women have an intrinsic desire to pop up one or two kids out of wedlock who'll end up as convicts

I think for women it's instinctual to both birth and raise children; it's the same for men to some extent. They're women who early in life sworn they would never have kids but as they start to get older (25+) they start to give in to their maternal instinct. Most women follow through and have kids; some get cats and dogs.

jihocech • 5 points • 30 December, 2020 11:00 AM

It is instinct - and also status. A barren women is a spinster, women with children and grandchildren has respect. The Romans had a great word for it: "matrona".

42252252 • 8 points • 29 December, 2020 10:37 PM

I used to think it was bunk, that everyone was better than instinctive, habitual creatures. The more I see the more I think those instincts are still totally in control, with rationalization forming a veneer of logic.

Evolutionarily it's best to use up her valuable gestation time with a guy who will thrive in a cruel world. Someone who can be a predator amongst prey, who can fight his way past survival to enjoy life at the top. It's easier to find someone like that in a prison over an accounting firm.

So, have the wolf sire a cub, then entice a nice housedog to come in and provide for the pack. Now she's fulfilling both ends of the evolutionary drive: Making successful (in the most base, natural sense) progeny while enjoying the benefits of a stable provider.

Traksimuss • 21 points • 29 December, 2020 11:37 AM

37yo traditional single women were nuns.

nicethingyoucanthave • 17 points • 29 December, 2020 04:53 PM

I have always wanted a family with traditional values bullshit.

Women who want that life while they're still young and hot are so exceedingly rare that, even with unrealistic standards, they can still easily get married. If she had wanted a family with traditional values when she was 19, she could have had it - and had it with a very high value man (because of how rare she would be).

But when you're 37, wanting a family with traditional values is going to get you a "hard pass" from most men. I mean think about it. A guy about 40 is looking at you, and he's doing this calculation in his head about how many more years you can desperately cling to the remnants of your fading youth sufficient to get him hard enough to fuck you once a month. Maybe two years? Maybe less? And he's weighing that against the family you say you want to have, which implies he'll be dealing with unruly teenagers and college tuition when he's 60!

FUCK THAT!

Worse (for you), that 40 year old guy that you find attractive can likely pull women 10 years younger than you for NSA sex because those women are still telling themselves the same lies that you were telling yourself at that age. So really, the 40 year old guy is off the table for you. You're really playing the league of the ~50 year old men, and they don't want to start a family at that age either!

But like I said, if you'd approach a guy with that deal when you were 19, you'd have had no problem. At that age, the man is thinking you'll stay hot for a long time, and your body will bounce back from a couple of kids. The kids will be the fuck out of the house by the time he's 50. You'll be 40, but he'll have a comfort level and familiarity with you that will make sex still a possibility. And the two of you can take nice vacations together, or whatever.

That's not a bad life. But you have to purchase that life when you're 19. Don't come at me with your 37 years of baggage and expect that deal. lol. Get away from that coffee. Coffee is for closers. And "a family with traditional values" is for young women.

jihoech • 5 points • 30 December, 2020 11:50 AM

True. Women have limited amount of eggs, a limited window to procreate. And men have a limited amount of tolerance and good will. When you are single with a good income, you can make a perfect comfortable life for yourself. The older you are, the less you want to lose it. And no "Peter Pan" shaming can change this. It is not only the woman's body that changes, the men she meets change as well.

No woman > old woman

kyledontcare • 16 points • 29 December, 2020 11:10 AM

Keep going guys. Soon America will be filled with Millennial women like this.

RatingsOutOfTen • 18 points • 29 December, 2020 01:12 PM

If these women want marriage, Divorce laws have to drastically change and women's purity has to change.

Many women will say smuggly "not gonna happen :)))"

They are wrong. Women will change. Men have always been less romantic at around age 30, and even if women in their 30s and 40s stop giving out sex willy nilly like they do, the market for women is still very competitive and most men still won't commit.

Women will begin to change after we are in our 90s or dead. Younger generations will likely look at what the people did before them and like our ancient ancestors, establish some cultural rules regarding romance, sex, and commitment.

I don't even pursue women at all anymore aside from actual friendship. When you actually do that, the women dry up a lot faster than when you were younger because any woman that knows you only see her as a friend might get confused at first, but also annoyed because every time you and her talk together, it's like a slap in her face even if she didn't want you to begin with because she doesn't have a power that she has over 80% of all the other men she meets. I have a few old lady friends that I talk to about gardening, and thats all I need. They can't find men either, and to be honest, at age 40-50 like some of these women are, I can't really find it in myself to tell them the truth that late in the game. They won't find anyone. It's over for them unless they find a 2 failed marriages, potbellied, lonely sad man.

houseoftolstoy • 4 points • 30 December, 2020 03:32 AM

Divorce laws have to drastically change and women's purity has to change.

It sadly is doubtful for these to happen, as women do not care about changing divorce laws (and often goes further than not caring but instead to complete agreement with divorce laws), and unless a woman is committed to the idea of abstinence before marriage, there is no hope for them to care about purity. So many women just demand that men still "man up" and marry them in spite of the divorce laws, not realizing or acknowledging that their lack of concern for what men fear with divorce laws contributes to the reason why men do not want to marry them. If you are pointing a loaded gun at me but tell me that you promise not to shoot me, you should not get livid when I tell you to stop pointing the gun at me.

Regarding women changing, I notice that so many of them only decide to change when it is absolutely necessary and not a moment sooner. At least, when they perceive it to be necessary, as it is often too late too change and get what they want (e.g. looking for a marriage minded man after they got knocked up from another man). It is not as if they were never warned, so many of them just refuse to think ahead or think that they can get everything they want without considering what men want.

PsyMonk- • 2 points • 3 January, 2021 11:14 AM

Women don't just ignore divorce laws or agree with them, THEY ACTUALLY DOUBLE DOWN AND WANT MORE FIERCE LAWS. It's batshit crazy.

As for the purity, well, men can beat biology through mental discipline. Women however..... Let's just say there's a reason monks and sages were all men..... A woman's brain is just too erratic to override her biological urges. They're cursed by their own nature. I see why Eve bit the Apple, why Lilith was a failure and why Adam had to be punished for nothing...

Ah yes, I was missing these posts, a victim and posting for validation and over the top sympathy replies.

How about, fuck you sweetheart you made your choices now live with them.

Did you honestly truly believe that when you're ready to settle down some white knight is going to ride up and be the man of your dreams or did you somewhere buried in the back of your mind realise when you've had more meat run through you than a butchers shop you become at best a fwb and at worst a quick hours entertainment.

Mods can we link a common red pill terms section please.

New guys with so much to learn can be turned off and turned away by the unfamiliar jargon and that would be a damn shame.

There is a bewildering set of acronyms and terms we use:

CC, WATGM, MRP, TRP, Rollo, RM, ROK, Poe's Law, are just a few of them!

I like to imagine that as she typed this post with her glass of box wine, a slight sense of realization set in that she's wasted her life and as such gets a bigger glass of box wine.

JZSquared • 8 points • 29 December, 2020 06:58 PM

I am running out of time.

Sweetheart, you've been out of time for at least the past seven years. No eggs.

Nequis • 7 points • 30 December, 2020 01:08 AM

This reeks of desperation, it would turn off just about anyone wanting to associate with this woman.

Asking someone to be in a committed relationship after just 2 months IS cornering, besides, if it's a family what she always wanted, what did she do in her 18 to 30s?

bgovern • 8 points • 30 December, 2020 06:21 AM

I have always wanted a family with traditional values. The white picket fence in the country side [sic] ...

Yet, she dates guys long term who can barely pay their rent and are trying to 'figure out what they want to do' at 43. Quite a disconnect there.

reignoferror00 • 6 points • 30 December, 2020 12:38 AM

Almost 37, If you want a family you better look for a guy that already has kids. If you wanted to have your own kids, at 37, you're for too late to the party; everyone has passed out or has gone home. When the music's over turn out the lights.

houseoftolstoy • 5 points • 30 December, 2020 03:16 AM

I have always wanted a family with traditional values.

Who wants to bet whether or not she herself practiced any traditional values in her approach to life and dating? I would bet she did not. The complaints about guys playing games just leads me to suspect she was sleeping with these guys fairly early on, which is not the traditional thing to do.

Most guys who are only looking for sex but choose to lie about their intentions tend to not stick around if they are not getting sex. In fact that serves as the perfect indicator that a guy is not traditional himself. Yes, that might mean that a lot of guys will be averse to wanting to be with that kind of woman, but that is exactly the point! You filter out the non-traditional types with actions and principles that leave you with only the type who is genuinely traditional. Yes it might be harder to do that, but you cannot just expect traditional values to be abundant in our current society. You are going to have to work for it.

But now she knows that it is too late for that, so she can serve as a warning to other women not to squander their time. That is, if they can figure out that this woman is going to be them if they waste their time not seeking the type of man they claim to want (only for later).

Andrzej11 • 6 points • 30 December, 2020 06:35 PM

Freezing eggs is soooooo sexy. I get a hard on when I hear a women saying that she froze her eggs and pays like $1K per month in maintenance costs. LOL

reignoferror00 • 3 points • 30 December, 2020 08:54 PM

Just tell her she can get frozen eggs a whole lot cheaper when they are served as part of an Egg McMuffin, and they are a lot more likely to meet expectations.

If it really turns her on, a kid's meal can be added to her order.

Why commit to a used, old, basically infertile 37 year old woman when I could date a college age woman?

kyledontcare • 5 points • 30 December, 2020 09:44 PM

It seems she knows the answer already. "I'm too old for men to invest in me." Yeah, no kidding.

reignoferror00 • 2 points • 30 December, 2020 08:44 PM

"I just want to make peace with my life and live it how God intended it to be."

reminds me of this joke: <https://truthbook.com/stories/funny-god/the-drowning-man>

You were given many, many chances for what you want now when you were younger.

God/nature/whatever has you much more likely knocked up and with someone at a younger age. Want to live "how God intended it to be"? Take a break from your baby madness and spend the time you can save from not pursuing relationships doing some charity work.
