

Why Did She Smell So Good?

April 2, 2020 | 105 upvotes | by Nofapislit

So, yesterday I was feeling lonely and this girl my friend introduced me too has been in my phone for awhile. So anyways I hit her up and went to her house(which was fucking huge).

We talk and then start making out. Before I know it I start smelling this sweet amazing smell, that I've never smelled before. It made me high, and feel great. Bro I fucked her brains out. Then I actually cuddled with her(usually I just leave or rush the cuddling).

I mean what does this mean? Have you ever had this happen? I want her to fall in love with me now.

You'd like to think that, but man do so many men not ever learn from this...

Ill_mumble_that • 1 point • 3 April, 2020 04:48 AM

Statistically speaking at least half of men are below average intelligence.

I like to think that people here are at least self aware, and hence why they are here.

iwviw • 31 points • 2 April, 2020 08:14 PM

Dude was mesmerized by her house. The whole thing sounds like a troll . He is going to put her on a pedestal and that's either a) going to scare her away or b) that's going to be the power dynamic for the whole relationship till he decides she's not worth it.

PachoHerrera0 • 12 points • 2 April, 2020 09:01 PM

You mean till she decides that he is a bitch

dontbeanasshole777 • 6 points • 2 April, 2020 07:33 PM

Probably, but who gives a shit. It's a beautiful experience once you find someone like that.

There are plenty of someone's like that. This is why we call it oneitis.

Biological smells, pheromones and what not. Don't simp, hold those emotions back or you'll regret it. Let her chase, don't forget. But yeah, women you're attracted to smell amazing

LethalShade • 61 points • 2 April, 2020 06:25 PM

My ex could not shower for three days and she still smelt great. Just smelling her would get me horny.

Biology is a crazy thing.

Ill_mumble_that • 5 points • 3 April, 2020 04:50 AM

Women also smell better (to men) when they are ovulating.

Actually, women who smell amazing seem more attractive.

It's how mammals sense whether or not the immune system of the offspring will be robust.

rockyp32 • 1 point • 3 April, 2020 09:37 AM

If it's natural to kinda simp in that moment is it bad? Have u done it? If so does it always bite you in the end?

linkschode • 4 points • 3 April, 2020 11:36 AM

If you're looking to settle down do so with a woman that smells good, that you want to cuddle after sex, and who is of slightly above average looks.

If you're not looking to settle down then don't simp

Nothing more rewarding than a LTR with a woman you love, trust, are friends with, and are chemically attracted to.

I'm in one now, and it's fulfilling in a way RP plate spinning can't touch.

superomar13 • 2 points • 3 April, 2020 08:09 PM

Difference between showing your desire very intensely, and simping. If she's my girl or even a girl I'm just banging, i'll make damn sure she knows I want to bang her brains out. I'll say things like "fuck you smell so good", "i cant keep my hands off of you", or I just pin her against the wall and just take a giant whiff. But I don't do this for her, I speak my truth and do it for me, and she just gets it, you get me? After doing something like that, it gives her emotions a little spike and right when she expects me to start chasing, I pull back and go slightly colder. It's all in the fun!

A great quote I once heard from someone more experienced than I: "The most powerful of men show complete desire knowing with certainty that nothing will come out of it, but do show desire anyways because it's their truth." It's outcome independence at its core.

Simping is validating her because you want her to notice you, or you want sex and expect sex if you shower her with compliments or desire. Simping is expecting something in return. Simping is saying "damn you smell amazing" then trying to fuck her and if she declines (which she's only doing only to test aka flirt), you ask her why she won't fuck you or you pout. THATS simping. Simping is chasing her, instead of just expressing raw desire.

Get it?

Drawman12 • 24 points • 2 April, 2020 07:56 PM

If you never picked up the smell of someone, the smell i am talking about here is not shampoo/conditioner or perfume/deodorant, you either have a shitty sense of smell, or you didn't got laid enough to be able to tell the difference. This guy speaks truth, i had a LTR whom would smell like, well, her ownself. It doesn't smell like anything, its a smell of its own, and it is really good.

[deleted] • 10 points • 2 April, 2020 09:38 PM*

Yes, people smell different. This should not be a surprise. It does not imply any inherent compatibility between you two. Poets, the original simps, would write about how wonderful their oneitis' smelled as she was getting taken to Knight GigaChad's estate to get plowed.

This. Pheromones don't exist in humans.

Edit:

So many people here believe in pseudoscience.

<https://www.scientificamerican.com/article/are-human-pheromones-real/>

But there is no evidence of a consistent and strong behavioral response to any human-produced chemical cue.

<https://www.sciencemag.org/news/2017/03/do-human-pheromones-actually-exist>

A new study throws more cold water on the idea, finding that two pheromones that proponents have long contended affect human attraction to each other have no such impact on the opposite sex—and indeed experts are divided about whether human pheromones even exist.

<https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/books/NBK200980/>

The unfortunate side of such generalizations <from insects> is the tendency to think of mammalian communication in terms of simple stimulus-response systems. For example, it is now relatively common usage to refer to “aggression-promoting (or “eliciting”) and “aggression-inhibiting” pheromones in mice (e.g., Lee & Griffo 1974; Mugford & Nowell 1972). The obvious implication of this terminology is the existence of two simple urinary compounds which unequivocally either release or inhibit a stereotyped aggressive response. Mammalian social behavior simply does not work that way except at the purely reflexive level. As described in great detail in my book (Doty 2010), attempts to identify mammalian pheromones have been generally unsuccessful, regardless as to whether such agents are viewed as releaser pheromones, priming pheromones, modulating pheromones, or any other type of putative pheromone. Such attempts fall prey to a number of conceptual, operational, and practical problems that go beyond issues of semantics, including assumptions related to innateness, chemical complexity, and the nature of perceptual systems in general.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Human_sex_pheromones

No study has led to the isolation of true human sex pheromones, though various researchers have investigated the possibility of their existence.

Sorry that you bugmen have to work for attraction instead of hoping girls will fall in love with your stench. Maybe in another life you'll be reincarnated as insects.

Pimpcool420 • 33 points • 2 April, 2020 05:06 PM

Don't get oneitis lol.

I had a similar experience too. A girl's kisses and smell gave me a rush that I haven't felt since my first high school girlfriend; and then she was pretty bad in bed.

aDrunkenWhaler • 7 points • 3 April, 2020 03:14 AM

99% of the time bad in bed means small n count or no man trained her how to be good in bed. You can be that man.

Pimpcool420 • 1 point • 3 April, 2020 05:53 AM

I'm afraid she was a short-term visitor to my area.

In any case, I think you gotta determine if the "training" is worth it (based on your schedule). If I'm seeing 3 girls in a 2-day weekend, I don't want to have to train one of them.

LateralThinker13 • 14 points • 2 April, 2020 05:31 PM

Maintain frame. But yes, some people will just smell really good to you. Not to alarm you, but it's also quite possible she was ovulating.

It goes both ways. My wife finds my natural odor irresistible - like, she actually can get a buzz from it. Some people are sensitive to scents, and some have very, very naturally appealing ones. It just is.

thoroughlythrown • 4 points • 2 April, 2020 08:16 PM

It goes both ways.

Yup, I've never been with a girl whose natural smell made me go nuts, but a lot of women I've been with in the past have mentioned how much they liked my smell (a lot of girlfriends would want to keep shirts I had worn and sweat a bit in to wear to bed).

This is called "histocompatibility" and has nothing to do with the bullshit pseudoscience of pheromones. Genetic distance between you and a partner typically induces the sensation and there is at least 1 very strong peer reviewed study on the subject I know of Edit it is called HLA in humans and has been studied rather extensively. Basically a genetically distant person enhances MHC (MHC is the animal version) heterozygosity of an individual's offspring.

<https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/15777804/>

i-am-the-prize • 8 points • 2 April, 2020 07:12 PM

Yup, and similar to this, that "smell the t-shirt of guys with non symmetrical faces" study, the amazing hook at the end - when women smelled the t-shirts of guys with shit faces, their most common negative reason: "they smell like my brother" which is opposite of HLA, which implies bad offspring if you smell like a sibling.

BKLayer • 2 points • 2 April, 2020 08:36 PM

Interesting stuff. Mind linking that study?

i-am-the-prize • 1 point • 3 April, 2020 03:24 PM

hmm, heard it in an audiobook. one of the 'big 20' in the sidebar. so no 'link' handy.
but maybe this one?

<https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/abs/pii/S1090513899000057>

" A previous study by the authors showed that the body scent of men who have greater body bilateral symmetry is rated as more attractive by normally ovulating (non-pill-using) women during the period of highest fertility based on day within the menstrual cycle. Women in low-fertility phases of the cycle and women using hormone-based contraceptives do not show this pattern. The current study replicated these findings with a larger sample and statistically controlled for men's hygiene and other factors that were not controlled in the first study. The current study also examined women's scent attractiveness to men and found no evidence that men prefer the scent of symmetric women. We propose that the scent of symmetry is an honest signal of phenotypic and genetic quality in the human male, and chemical candidates are discussed. In both sexes, facial attractiveness (as judged from photos) appears to predict body scent attractiveness to the opposite sex. Women's preference for the scent associated with men's facial attractiveness is greatest when their fertility is highest across the menstrual cycle. The results overall suggest that women have an evolved preference for sires with good genes. "

[deleted] • 3 points • 2 April, 2020 05:36 PM

Interesting. So it could be because she has really different genetics than me?

itiswrltten • 19 points • 2 April, 2020 05:43 PM

You could just fucking read the link

The MHC is a highly polymorphic group of genes that play an important role in the immunological self/nonself recognition. Its products have been reported to take part on the variety of compounds and reactions that together build an individual's body odor. It has been suggested, therefore, that animals use body odor as a guide to identify possible mates as MHC-similar or MHC-dissimilar from their own genotype. Preference for a MHC-dissimilar partner enhances MHC heterozygosity of an individual's offspring. The possible adaptive advantages are clear: it is a mechanism of avoiding inbreeding and MHC-heterozygous offspring may have enhanced immunocompetence.

Innovative_being • 9 points • 2 April, 2020 09:44 PM*

I'm about to catch oneitis is by their smell, especially the pussy

Can confirm. This one chick I hooked up with, her pussy smelled and tasted like nothing. Literally her juices tasted like water and I was addicted. Most women's pussy have a definite "scent", some strong, some fishy, some bad. But this one was neutral.

I did catch oneitis and scared her off with neediness.

Do you think a neutral/good pussy smell is a sign of low n count? Or she's just particular about condom use?

HellSpeed • 2 points • 2 April, 2020 11:47 PM

I was just sleeping with this girl for the past month who I'm pretty sure has slept with a lot of guys. Probably in the 100's. Anyways her pussy had a really strong taste/smell. Almost like it was too acidic. So much so that a few times when I was hung over the smell made me queasy. But I was thinking the same thing, maybe they smell stronger because so much bacteria/germs/whatever has been inside. This girl was a party girl who drank, smoked and did a lot of drugs so I think part of it came from that as well.

Innovative_being • 1 point • 3 April, 2020 12:07 AM*

Yeah, the really bad smelling ones raw dog a lot of guys casually. Those ones usually don't even mention condoms.

Either the neutral smelling ones are low n count, or they're particular about condom use so their ph doesn't get messed up as much.

Since that chick's neutral smelling pussy, I haven't come across another one like it. It's been over a year and I still think of her

HellSpeed • 1 point • 3 April, 2020 01:01 AM

I know what you mean bro. I dated this one girl who tasted like a very, very light honey. Like you could hardly taste her and it was just a little sweet. Same with the smell, you could smell it but it was a very light fragrance. So light that it was pleasant. Coincidentally she was the best girl I was ever with in terms of relationship and sex. She also didn't smoke, did no drugs and only drank very lightly. I know she had sex but she was pretty inexperienced so I would say <30 guys. Still think about her all the time.

Payanasius • 1 point • 7 April, 2020 04:22 AM

silverreddi • 2 points • 3 April, 2020 05:14 AM

Well once i fucked a whore in the brothel and she smelled amazing, like honestly really good. I licked her pussy and it smelled amazing, kind of Sweet, super clean and fresh. Yeah, i know what u think about licking a whores pussy, but tbf i was very young and Most whores here are way more cleaner than some bitches u occasionally fuck, because they take care of hygiene and only use condoms. On the other hand i once fucked and licked a virgin, and her taste was literally disgusting. Tasted like a dead fish. So there is that..

Alzatorus • 3 points • 2 April, 2020 11:40 PM*

I'm a Social Science Research Masters graduate (UK) and came across this during my dissertation literature review. It appears very likely that we are turned off by a potential mates natural smell if they are genetically incompatible (aka will result in poor offspring) and turned on by their smells if copulation would result in strong offspring ☐ - funny that we are not so far removed from nature as we would like to think. Most people will fall in the middle though with no preference for smell or conscious awareness of it. But for those few instances... your babies would rival the gods! ☐

Payanasius • 1 point • 7 April, 2020 04:24 AM

momomotorboat • 4 points • 3 April, 2020 12:08 AM

Last girl I was serious with loved the way I smelled. I mean my literal scent, which you're getting at. Like, she would sniff my head. No one before or since her ever said anything about my smell. People have liked my cologne, complimented my hygiene. But this was something else.

So I guess you could say I kind of understand. It's a thing.

thickneck • 2 points • 3 April, 2020 05:07 AM

True, my first gf when I was in college loves the natural scent of me. She can't stop sniffing me even in public, tries to get in my arms or side hug to smell me.. loved it. She mentioned she love my smell during our second or third date.

Payanasius • 2 points • 7 April, 2020 04:25 AM

Who knows why, pheromones, perfume, shampoo maybe.

But, don't become a simp for this bitch or I'll hunt you down and slap you son.

Your in love. I'd enjoy it to the max.

Are there really no such things as pheromones? Because I've experienced it before, just knocked dizzy by the natural smells of a woman.

If you asked me to describe what it smelled like, I wouldn't have words for you. But I know how it made me feel -- and not all women have this smell.

There's a study on mht, which is symmentics for pheromones.

The study concluded smell has something to do with mate selection

Edit- there's a link somewhere in the comments a rp endorser guy showed me it Pheremones. Don't fall for it. What you were probably enjoying was the smell of some other dudes cum on her.

Like all above I agree, this will end bad for OP.

Some women are chemically more intense and enjoyable than others.

I always have assumed the better it tastes and smells, the more insane she is.

Enjoy the ride. But don't forget what you learned.

It was probably Noir from Victoria's Secret. I recommend to go buy it and jerk off to the smell to get rid of that oneitis /s Thats your body telling you that your DNA and chemistry clicks. In other words, smells steer you in the right direction for good baby making material. Similar, it is proven that subconsciously women can smell cortisol in men, making them appear less attractive.

Do what you want with that information...

nevalutionary • 1 point • 28 April, 2020 04:00 PM

She was probably ovulating.

I've been in a situation where I was living with two young women. One was on birth control and didn't ovulate, the other was all natural and ovulated every month.

When the natural would ovulate she smelled sweet and her behavior become much more inviting. I've never wanted to fuck a woman more. It was insane.

The situation was an unintended experiment, and confirmation of the effect and purpose of ovulation. I'm not sure it's something I'd ever recognized in the wild, but living with those women the difference was STARK.

Blew my mind... and my load.
