

This is a new one... woman goes out with the man who tried to rob her

1 upvotes | 22 September, 2015 | by InscrutablePUA

---

[removed]

---

Archived from theredarchive.com

---

Comments

---

[deleted] • 10 points • 22 September, 2015 08:10 PM

Sometimes when I hear about these incidents I feel like life is some post-modern film I don't understand and never will.

friendlysociopathic • 1 point • 22 September, 2015 09:00 PM

Life is always way more bizarre than fiction when you seek out the hidden bits.

[deleted] • 4 points • 22 September, 2015 08:15 PM

He displayed enough hard dominance at the start of their 'relationship' to last for months, then balanced it out with lots of comfort, and finally raised his SMV with a job and education. Game, set, and match.

Did we read the same post? Nobody should strive to be this fucking guy.

Immediately, he began to comfort me. He began to apologize. He put my TV back on the table and told me it wasn't damaged.

Two days later, I came home from work and he was sitting in front of my door.

Fucker is clingy already. Loves to explain himself too.

He told me that he told his mom what he did, and his mom made me some soup.

Giving gifts / kind, sensitive mommas boy...

We slowly began to grow together as people? ....After a year of maintaining communication and learning about who he was, he enrolled in a local community college and began taking courses to earn credits before applying to university. I helped him study for his history class a lot. He's great at math and science, though.

Friend Zone...

On a whim, I decided to invite him to my apartment. After picking up some things from the grocery store, he came over. I was so nervous that I was shaking. He noticed, he squeezed my hand, and then he made dinner. It was amazing. We talked, we laughed, we sat in the floor and watched a movie on the TV he tried to steal. We made jokes about it. And then he told me that he missed his mom. I gave him a hug. Then he left.

Never escalated (always be escalating), and got emotional / opened up...

/s (weird fucking story, most likely fake)

InscrutablePUA[S] • 3 points • 22 September, 2015 08:21 PM

Nobody should strive to be this fucking guy.

lol no shit.

If you start things off by robbing and physically threatening a woman you can then be a lot more emotional and vulnerable than the average guy who is always an overemotional bitch. I'd be willing to bet they fucked during that movie.

[deleted] • 2 points • 22 September, 2015 08:25 PM

<https://archive.is/xTXdY>

You should do a post on this article too, I would but I don't have the time today.

Lots of good laughs in this one.

MentORPHEUS • 4 points • 22 September, 2015 09:09 PM

No general lesson or value to be derived from such an extreme outlier case. Frankly I don't think this crap belongs on here.

trpfieldreport • 2 points • 22 September, 2015 09:18 PM

It doesn't.

Please use the report button when you find this type of inane, irrelevant, low effort garbage posting.

alclarkey • 1 point • 22 September, 2015 09:23 PM

Except this is not an extreme outlier:

<http://www.theguardian.com/world/2003/jan/13/gender.uk>

Notice how the one convict receives "bundles"? AWALT.

trpfieldreport • 5 points • 22 September, 2015 09:17 PM

Guys, stop taking everything that reddit upvotes and turning it into a Red Pill Lesson.

Someone posted about the "Alpha" schmuck who is upselling a medication by 5500% the day after they bought exclusive rights to it. The dude was not an alpha, and there was no TRP relevance.

Same story here.

This shit probably didn't happen, and if it did it happened in a different way than it was told. It's a reddit karma grab, meant to string you along- it's a narrative story with a purpose.

This is a garbage-post. Nothing more.

MentORPHEUS • 1 point • 22 September, 2015 09:43 PM

My sentiments exactly! This sub has enough image issues with misunderstood but legitimate RP content, to put up with people trying to stretch every bizarre, extreme case that comes through the newsfeed into their misunderstanding of RP or "Alpha."

[deleted] • 2 points • 22 September, 2015 08:16 PM

Future FRs: "I tried to rob this woman and before I could turn around and talk about my feelings instead, she maced me and called the cops! Now I have a trial! This stuff doesn't work for me!"

fundude1 • 1 point • 22 September, 2015 08:49 PM

Another example of red pill in action.

How can BP rationalize this decision?

KyfhoMyoba • 1 point • 22 September, 2015 09:46 PM

I think that it was in Sperm Wars by Robin Baker (should be side-barred) that I read that about 40-50% of women that were "raped" ended up having some further sexual relationship with their "rapist", but with men that attempted rape that did not culminate in consummation, there was no degree of ostracism high enough for the attempted rapist.

[deleted] • 1 point • 22 September, 2015 08:20 PM

Don't believe it, throwaway account, only one post.

[deleted] • 0 points • 22 September, 2015 08:13 PM

Lolling at the people sympathizing with the guy who tried to rob a bitch with a crowbar

[deleted] • 1 point • 22 September, 2015 08:20 PM

Well, he could have had a free television, if only that captain saveaho wasn't in the way