

Norwegian "male feminist" gets raped by a refugee immigrant - then feels bad when the rapist is deported.

Summary: Feminism is the political ideology equivalent of a vise tightening around your scrotum. Keep your balls intact, reject feminism. Otherwise you'll be like this guy.

Full article here.

Okay, any Scandinavian redpillers here? What the FUCK is going on with your country and culture these days? What is happening to your men? Case exhibit A: The guy below. Basically, he's a self-identifying male feminist who was raped by a Somali refugee. When he learned the refugee was to be deported... he felt bad and cried out racism.

Yes, this is a serious article. Honestly I'll just copy it below, it does more justice than any of my commentary could ever do:

A Norwegian man who was raped by a migrant has said he felt "guilt" after his attacker was deported.

Karsten Nordal Hauken, who describes himself as feminist and anti-racist, was sexually attacked five years ago.

He said that although the incident caused a spiral of depression and substance abuse, he felt bad about the fact the man had been deported to Somalia when he had already served his prison sentence.

Writing for Norwegian broadcaster NRK, Mr Hauken also said he wanted to break the taboo over male rape.

His comments accompanied a documentary on people with mental health issues, in which Mr Hauken appears.

Mr Hauken said that following the attack, he was treated well by police and medical personnel. After his attacker was caught and sentenced to over four years in prison, he was "a bit taken by surprise" by how he reacted to the news he would be deported.

"The tears, they came the moment I sat in the car," he said. "I felt a relief and joy that he was going away forever. I felt that the Norwegian government took on the responsibility to exercise the ultimate revenge, like an angry father confronts a child abuser.

"But I also got a strong sense of guilt and responsibility. I was the reason why he should not be left in Norway, but rather to face a very uncertain future in Somalia.

"He had already served his sentence in prison. Should he now be punished again? And this time much harder?"

Mr Hauken said the worst effect of the rape was that he had "lost so much time" to "depression and cannabis use."

"It is scary and taboo to talk about young men's emotional life," he wrote.

"I feel forgotten and ignored. But I dare not talk about it, I'm afraid of attacks from all sides.

"I am afraid that no girls want me and that other men laugh at me. Afraid that I'll be perceived as anti-feminist when I say that young men who are struggling should get more attention.

"Men and boys must learn that it's okay to talk about their feelings. Boys and men are ignored.

For me it resulted in years of depression, abuse, loneliness and isolation.”

This man has one thing right, that no girls want him and other men laugh at him. But it's not necessarily cause he was raped (though honestly, that does demonstrate weakness and could have been avoided by being physically strong / lifting). The disgust he feels from women is because he has no backbone whatsoever. Dude, you literally got raped. By a refugee your government invited into your home. Your first reaction should be to want to tear that guy's eyeballs out, and then kick the asses of the legislators who made this situation possible.

But alas... feminism. This man has been so thoroughly brainwashed because he's been brought up in a lumpy, naive culture that stresses the virtues of "nice guys". A culture that applauds men for being childlike and soft, not hardened and strong like their ancestors used to be.

Today, it's the Norwegians and Swedes who are rapidly being pussified. Watch out, Western Europe and America... you're next.

TL;DR: Feminism destroys men's souls completely and turns them into stuffed teddy bears. While this is nice on paper, it's a recipe for disaster in the real world.

He will not be welcome in Valhalla and his ancestor's are forever shamed by his existence.

It would have been more honorable to die fighting his rapist than to die of old age or sickness. actual Viking belief.

El_Diablito • 37 points • 25 August, 2016 05:46 PM [\[recovered\]](#)

Anything is more honorable than everything that he did. Even if he was overwhelmed, subdued and raped as soon as he had the chance he should have killed his rapist.

Magnum256 • 11 points • 26 August, 2016 10:42 AM

Exactly, I don't know how someone can even call themselves a man if they don't go personally kill someone that rapes them. It's an unforgivable crime and this guy seems to think 4 years in prison is somehow suitable.

RobertCarraway • 8 points • 26 August, 2016 05:23 AM

No, he did what was natural. Getting fucked is very natural for a man like that. He's such a bitch I almost want to fuck him myself.

PaidToSurf • 17 points • 25 August, 2016 09:53 PM [\[recovered\]](#)

It should be that way now. People are so sickeningly brainwashed into believing it's better to be a victim and remain alive it almost angers me.

PowerMasterLord • 15 points • 26 August, 2016 02:04 AM

To SJW's, the worse the victimhood, the higher on the hierarchy you are.

Ggrrrrreathhhhhh • 1 point • 27 August, 2016 10:59 AM

Which is one of the reasons why male sjws are so pathetic. Even in social circles amongst the most angry and least feminine women in the western world, these men are at the very bottom of the totem pole. Men can never be true victims, because when you wallow in victimhood, you're longer being a man.

[deleted] • 1 point • 5 September, 2016 10:27 PM

Like the other reply said, being a victim scores you points if you live in a particular progressive community. If you happen to be a white male, and therefore inherently "privileged", the best way to move up the social ladder is to be a victim of some stripe, as it enables you to ante up when other people talk about their oppression.

Know what I like a hell of a lot more than stories about oppression? Stories about people being victorious overcoming oppression. Stories of people kicking its ass and helping others to do the same. Don't think the fag in the OP is going to be a stellar example of that.

Gym culture is the one thing Australia has going for it. It instils self-worth and discipline that immunises men from leftism which is why there is such a strong correlation between physical strength and individualism.

Only a matter of time until the progressives go after gyms the way they are in Sweden with the muscle-police there.

same goes with anything pertaining our own self... yet again here we are failed by either our baby boomer parents or stripped of freedom by the propaganda machine, that machine is led/fed by back boneless men who choose to reside in their petty castles of suburbia instead of fighting for more or at least to maintain what they have. Who am I or anyone else, or even a government entity to tell me what I should or should not do with my body, if I wanna shoot snort, and smoke til die so be it. Why would the elite powers that be want drugs to be illegal? I don't believe that is a product of their desires but one of spineless men that bow to their feminist wife's who also have to power to vote. the elites would rather have half the men rot in holes of decadent abuse to remove possible competition. making it illegal extended the lives of possible competition.... just my two cents on who is really behind policing the bodies of the populace, it is the populace and its societal hive mind. monkey see monkey do!

ah yes those true feminists who lobby for SO much for men as women have every advantage and the better part of every stat /s

Stormhammer • 4 points • 26 August, 2016 02:47 AM

lol they don't lobby - mostly because of how much fucking misandry that has propagated that culture - including the whole non-binary gender stuff. When you start hearing about how married men have open relationships for wives to sleep with other men because they're a feminist and the patriarchy was locking down their sex drive in their prime, and their wife goes on the cock carousel while he might get laid here and there, that's when you know shit is hitting the fan in a weird, weird way.

I used to think that ultra-liberal ideologies were the result of some kind of mental disorder, or just an overall lack of life experience.

But now that I'm older and wiser, I've noticed that nobody actual believes ultra-liberal ideologies. They just pretend to as some kind of status symbol. A guy gets raped (or a girl for that matter), and his first thought is, "How can I play this to gain some publicity and some cred with my ultra-liberal social circle?"

He doesn't actually believe this bullshit, but he relies upon these nutjobs for validation, and thinks that if he demonstrates enough dedication to the nutjob cause, they'll all love him and approve of him and have sex with him and then he can finally be happy. He'll be famous for changing the world somehow. He'll matter. All he has to do is commit to this nutjob ideology a little harder.

nodoxsavefreespeech • 113 points • 25 August, 2016 03:45 PM [recovered]

To me, this is all wrapped up in the PC movement. Which is 100% about making sure you fall in with the herd. Constantly looking left and right to make sure you are in line with what is approved and acceptable behavior.

It took me a LONG time in life to fully grasp and accept that this is the most prevalent mental framework being utilized by humans.

What will my peers think of me?

Will they approve?

Will this behavior be applauded?

Logic is NOT often applied to social situations by humans.

This is a feminine mode of thinking. Group harmony at all costs. Men have apparently adopted it. Something I find weak and pathetic. What makes a true "bitch" of a man.

I have rarely, if ever, thought like this. Adopting "think as you want but act like others" has been good for me. Highly recommend it. Exploiting this flawed mode of thinking is gold.

Leviticus59 • 19 points • 26 August, 2016 12:56 AM

Political correctness is soft totalitarianism.

Solzhenitsyn got clapped into the Soviet Gulag for writing derogatory comments about Stalin's war strategy in a personal letter to a friend. That's the hard kind.

The soft kind is what's currently happening on college campuses. Kids have been cowed into silence by "microaggressions" and other assorted horseshit by the Thought Police. Professors who dare to express an opinion that isn't hard left are fired.

vandaalen • 6 points • 26 August, 2016 10:42 AM upninthem • 9 points • 25 August, 2016 11:49 PM

How do you distinguish the "true bitch of a man" from others like you, who have adopted, "think as you want but act like others"? Maybe the real weak and pathetic true bitch men are those who don't say what they really think, allowing the bullshit to spread unchecked. That's how fiction becomes fact. History is replete with examples of people sacrificing their lives or murdered because of a myth. What good is freedom of thought in a vacuum?

Magnum256 • 5 points • 26 August, 2016 10:49 AM*

Don't you find it difficult or degrading to act like everyone else though, even if you think differently? I mean is that enough to actually separate you from them? If you're mimicking them then how is it really any different?

It's like those people that act like douchebags and when you get sick of them and call them out its all "brah I was just joking brah learn to take a joke brah" but if you're acting like a douchebag for 12 hours a day even if you're "just joking" you actually are just a douchebag.

Having secret mental reservations that only you're aware of don't really separate you from the crowd if you're behaving just like them 99% of the time.

upninthem • 11 points • 26 August, 2016 01:03 AM

Marxism is philosophical theory. You're confusing it with the what we know is the reality of communist States. Read Marx and you'll see he is essentially criticizing herd mentality, group think, whatever you want to call it. Same with the cultural marxist. Read Adorno's criticism of pop culture creating a "herd mentality" in essence. These critical theories are reversed engineered in a sense like in the case of Edward Bernays, the father of PR and marketing, using the theories of his uncle, Sigmund Freud, to tap into the base desires of consumers. Communism has functioned more like Fascism. It has to because most people don't want to live like that. So it becomes authoritarian, anti-critical thought, heavily reliant on propaganda to maintain dominance and control. All backed by the threat of physical force. The fall of communism has proven that hegemony is maintained more effectively by controlling cultural norms of the "herd" rather than with the iron fist of the State (see...PC police, social media shaming, the manufactured "sides" of mainstream media debate and politics). All that's required is an illusion of freedom to keep the herd in check. As long as you agree Catlyn Jenner is a hero, you're free to choose, without fear of being shamed, what kind of person you're going to be by what products you choose to consume. So get out there and express yourself--Go buy some shit!

Virtue signaling is the liberal mantra

iLLprincipLeS7 points 26 August, 2016 05:10 AM [recovered]

Virtue Signaling

The thing to understand about the people who support the narrative I described is that their intention is not really to help the needy. How could it be? It's been proven a hundred different ways that most of the people coming in this crisis aren't the ones in need, and that money spent on them would benefit far more people if it were spent in other ways. If your goal was to be a moral utilitarian and help as many people as possible, building camps in Germany to house unemployed twenty-somethings from Africa is not effective at helping those dying in Syria, how could it be? No one is dumb enough to think it is.

But the "REFUGEES WELCOME" types have a different motivation, known as "virtue signaling." Social Justice is the new religion, and diversity and multiculturalism are now Jesus and Mother Mary. Refugees welcome posters are the new rosary beads. They are showing what upstanding citizens they are by displaying their loyalty to their new Jesus. It actually has nothing to do with a desire to help the refugees because if this was the desire, they would want to take measures to make sure that resources are used effectively and on people who are in real need. They don't want that.

But this "narrative" that the establishment has constructed, to which the left has sworn its allegiance, is extremely useful to the establishment. Because it's got people arguing about islamophobia, white privilege, and other fake bullshit instead of talking about the real question – which is why the fuck do the governments of Europe want to fill the continent with hostile Islamic ghettos?

jb_trp • 67 points • 25 August, 2016 03:56 PM

It all stems from their culturally Marxist worldview. In order for that worldview to function, they always have to be the "oppressed" underclass fighting against the "privileged" class.

It's also where intersectional feminism gets its footing: Feminists benefit in a perverse way from identifying with other "oppressed" groups to legitimize their arguments (e.g. blacks, LGBT, fat women, etc.).

And it causes some screwy side-effects. For example, you almost never hear feminists criticize the blatant sexism/objectification of black rap music ("From the window! To the wall! To the sweat drop down my balls! All these bitches crawl!" and "ASS ASS ASS ASS"). I'm sure if more white rappers had lyrics like these, you'd see articles complaining and people like Anita Sarkeesian piling on.

Another example is Muslim culture in the middle east. Because Muslims are seen as an "oppressed" group in the west, you almost never see those pesky intersectional feminists criticizing Islam. Instead, they'll argue that hijabs are a symbol of female "empowerment." Like literally in these countries there are instances where a 10 year old girl can be sold to pay a debt, or a girl like Malala Yousafzai will get shot in the head for suggesting women should go to school, and yet western feminists are too busy either defending Islam or complaining about some scientist's shirt or men sitting with their legs open on the subway. It's stupid.

It would be terrible for most men as well. The sexual marketplace in those countries is further skewed towards the top by polygamy and enforced restrictions on promiscuity creating a huge underclass of men that will never get laid. That's why they have all those restrictions on women, it's just not safe for women there.

Leviticus59 • 13 points • 26 August, 2016 01:06 AM

Yes. All that bottled up sexual energy has to go somewhere. Part of it gets channeled into suicidal Jihad, so they can get to their 72 virgins.

Magnum256 • 1 point • 26 August, 2016 11:23 AM

I think he's saying that if enough Muslims enter the country, and bring their customs with them, eventually there will such a presence that feminists won't be able to do anything about it without also appearing racist, and that would go against their imposed values, and so if they can't do anything about the Muslim customs then they can't do anything about white men that adopt some of those customs. At least that's how I understand it.

The funniest part is that a lot of minorities that have their shit together are moderate-conservative and actively write off large portions of their cultures, which is an inconvenient truth that runs counter their narratives. It's fucking belittling to these people to hear the worst excesses of their culture/heritage be excused when they've managed to rise above it and prove that they have agency. But the extreme liberals need their pets for their causes, that's for sure

UCISee • 8 points • 25 August, 2016 07:24 PM

The Malala case is particularly interesting. Fems cant sit idly by and not say something about a young girl getting shot in the fucking face, but they likewise have to tread lightly around islam. So what happens? They blame the patriarchy. Funny that they should blame that since islam is arguably the most patriarchal bastion of old timey thinking still prevailing in the world today.

An interesting thought just occurred to me while reading nodox's reply. Immediately I thought to myself, I don't give a fuck what others think. Then I asked myself why that is. It goes back more than 35 years ago to answer why.

I haven't cared what others thought of me since 7th grade. At a new school I had to deal with almost all the older guys fucking with me, got beat up a lot. Part of it was my older brother being an asshole to everyone because he is the most insecure fuck I've ever known. Another part is he started a rumor that I'm gay.

I tried to do things so everyone would like me and stop fucking with me. Nothing worked. So I gave up on them all. Had the alpha mentality but not the body to back it up. I kept to myself, and any time someone hit me I'd go apeshit on them. I broke noses, ribs, arms, knocked kids out and took many beatings until at 16 I was strong enough to hold my own and stopped losing. Hard won battles, hard work on the farm lifting heavy shit, hard work in wrestling practice. It paid off. I was still not respected by most due to my brother's asshole behavior, and my outrageous explosions fucking people up over insignificant things, but I was feared by all and had gained friends that I still have today with older guys who used to fuck with me.

That life made me hard, changed my paradigm from everyone else, knowing that rolling over only invited more shit, but beating the fuck out of them ended it for future engagements as well. Never back down.

This pc bullshit is rolling over before it starts, acquiescence to authority in the hope they will do the heavy lifting for you. Taking the feminine path and praying you don't get noticed by the wrong people. Don't offend anyone because they might kick your ass rather than stating reality after earning the ability to defend yourself. It's a fucking tea party in fancy dresses, not the rough world of boys learning to become men.

Becoming a man is fucking hard, it requires effort, discipline, focus, and they double down on pc bullshit with the intent of not having to become a man, while assuming they will be admired for rolling over.

Strength is considered stupid, weakness a virtue, capability reviled and incompetence celebrated in this pc world. You're stupid if you build yourself up rather than only dive into books, even if you educate yourself. Muscle means low intelligence, meat heads, and the idea of an intellectual jock is unheard of and loathed.

It's feminine thinking in its entirety. Genteel, placid, and unobtrusive. It's frightening for them to be anything else.

These people were fucking vikings. Terror from the north, killers who were nearly impossible to defeat. Now they're ruled by sniveling bitches. What the fuck happened to cause that?

Overkillengine • 2 points • 26 August, 2016 05:34 AM

Simple. One just teaches adolescents in the throes of the natural hormonal urge to throw off the rules of the current generation in order to assert their own the following: that discipline, independence and self control are evil. Critical thinking is to be punished and dissenters are to be alienated from their peers.

And give them a participation medal every time they parrot their lessons like a good little drone. Do it long enough and they end up like veterans or convicts that have been part of their institution for so long that they literally cannot function outside of it.

Standard cult doctrine applied to the secular religion known as social justice.

Whisper • 27 points • 25 August, 2016 09:48 PM

This is all inherent in the basic structure of Marxism.

Marxism's basic paradigm is that of a struggle between two rigidly defined, mutually exclusive, classes: a universally evil oppressor class, and a universally virtuous oppressed class.

This causes Marxists to organize themselves into two castes. A ruling caste composed of those whose demographics identify them as "oppressed" (and therefore virtuous), and a servant caste who are part of an "oppressor" demographic, and are therefore branded with the taint of original sin, which must be constantly apologized for, but can never be expunged.

The ruling caste Marxists compete for status amongst themselves in two fashions.

By arguments that their demographic is the most oppressed (and therefore the most virtuous).

By engaging in ritual denunciations of the oppressor.

This second activity is where the servant caste of Marxism becomes valuable to the Marxist community. By active acceptance of that ritual denunciation and whatever other humiliations the ruling caste can dream up, the servant caste validates the oppression narratives of the ruling caste.

Without this validation, the oppression narrative would be revealed as transparently self-interested and status-seeking. But by having servant-caste Marxists to validate a narrative that does not serve their personal interests, the ruling-caste Marxists can hide this self-interest. In fact, ritual denunciations of the oppressor as a class often skip right to this step by emerging as denunciations of the servant-caste Marxists themselves, or even of a particular servant-caste Marxist.

What do the servant-caste Marxists get in return? Very little. They are controlled not with rewards and incentives, but with hope and fear... fear of being targeted for ritual denunciation, and hope that they can avoid this fate by being diligent and proactive in their self-criticism. This last, of course, in a vain wish, for the more effective a self-flagellant the servant-caste Marxist becomes, the more useful he is as a means of validating the Marxist oppression narratives, and thus a more useful target for ritual denunciation.

This is why, for example, feminists' worst opprobrium is always reserved for male "allies".

So why do servant-castes Marxists participate in Marxism at all? Because, like any oppressed class, they have been isolated, disenfranchised, and psychologically beaten down. Like any victim of relationship abuse, they believe that if only they appease their abuser, the abuse will stop. But it won't. Servant-caste Marxists can never become ruling-caste Marxists, and will continue to suffer abuse until they leave the relationship.

Phenomenal summary.

The only way to free self is to realize that one chooses to be offended OR not be offended by things.

That's when you see the shame games for what they are

IllimitableMan • 9 points • 26 August, 2016 12:44 AM

This is an excellent insight into the mechanics of the victim olympics, bravo, you've eloquently articulated something a lot of people in the sphere can intuit but not verbalise.

Leviticus59 • 9 points • 26 August, 2016 12:44 AM

They just pretend to as some kind of status symbol.

This. Feminists and SWJs don't do anything or accomplish anything. It takes zero effort to claim you're feminist, or whatever cause célèbre you want, then take upon yourself the mantle of moral superiority and begin bossing/complaining/marching or what-the-fuck-ever.

Feminists and SWJs don't study any arithmetic in college, don't get tough degrees, don't start and/or run successful businesses, worry about making payroll, take care of themselves or become a supportive and loved wife, mother or grandmother. Just bitch, moan, complain and yell about the Patriarchy, meat eaters or whatever else.

upper middle class white girls can claim the victim card, because beta cuck white knights are going to come to the rescue.

this beta's feminist ideologies make him think that he too can play the victim card. but he doesn't have a vagina, so no white knights come running. then he has one of two options... let this shit go, move the fuck on, and improve himself... or double down on the victim card and claim that by being victimized, the perp got deported against this beta's wishes, which will now "haunt him til the rest of his days" or some manic emo bullshit, victimizing him even further.

he doesn't understand "the rules" and he doesn't understand that doubling down on this shit will not bring good attention to him. he only looks like an even bigger pussy. feminism is a cultish ideology. it doesn't apply to men, and it breaks down when even tested under basic and simple facts.

destraht • 3 points • 25 August, 2016 05:55 PM

After taking some anthropology classes in university I became convinced that most groups have some crazy and obviously wrong ideas that require one to exhibit dedication towards preserving and that even if the ideas are harmful to the group in some way they can benefit the group overall by testing loyalty and commitment to it as to weed out people who are only there to receive the benefits.

I think the same thing with most ultra-religious or any ideology. You might have 10-20% max hardcore

I also look at it as not fully developed human brain. Their mindset is "I exist, therefore I deserve". That's how children think.

They are children.

By sheer existence they think they are entitled of respect, adoration, social security, health care, privileges.

When they don't get it, they don't change themselves, but blackmail by crying "oppression".

What they lack is a crucial point in their lives of becoming an adult.

The blue pill people would say I just described The Red Pill. That we're all internet blowhards who don't really believe 9/10ths of what we type, but we pretend to and try to turn normal things we experience into big, important Red Pill posts to impress each other and gain status in our little circle.

It's human nature to try to be a part of something larger than you are. And it's also human nature to think that the way you think and feel about something is so clearly and obviously correct that anybody who clings to a very obviously wrong opposing viewpoint can't be serious -- they must be sick in the head, an attention-seeker, a manipulator, etc.

Just want to say that he is from a very small political part called Socialist Left Party (SV) which are, imo, a bunch of bully victims. I do not take them seriously at all and this is another reason to laugh at them

His thinking is that his rapist cant be blamed because he is the product from the society which he comes from, where there is war and chaos and they use rape as a way to power themselves. He sees it as a cultural thing and he still wants to help these kind of people.

His political party want more immigration! He just got raped and he wants more of these people!

Swede here. It's true that the notion of being a "real man" is vilified here and almost all boys born in the last 30 years have been raised to be like this dude.

And this story goes to show that no matter what happens to you, the ideology is so firmly ingrained that nothing will shake it. Just recently there was a big free music festival attended by tons of refugee (male) children, and Swedish girls. Over 30 police reports of groping and every offender was from MENA. Don't think the girls change their general opinion still, though.

Henemil • 42 points • 25 August, 2016 03:45 PM [recovered]

Everyone keeps posting this story, claiming that this guy represents the average norwegian male. He does not do that in the sligthest. The average norwegian is not some fat neckbeard pushover closetet homosexual. There is a reason we dont look like sweden in terms of our political landscape - our men has always pushed for equality of opportunity rather than equality of outcome. When the femenazis tries to push us further to the left they get nothing but shit on in the comment section. When stories about refugees gets postet, the entire comment section is filled to the brink with men calling them rapefugees and opportunist scum that are leaving their women behind whilst searching for their own fortune in the west.

Norwegian men are not pushovers, the liberal commentators might give people that impression but it is far from the truth. Interestingly enough our labour party, which is the traditional left and working class party is the second most hard party on immigration. They know that their main group of voters, namely blue collar workers, are leaving them unless they have a harder line on immigration. Their problem stems from the fact that in order to get power they often have to form a coallition government with smaller, more left leaning niche parties. These parties draws them further to the left than they want to be.

All that said, norwegian politics are at least sensible. Most people ignore feminists, and debate issues rather than the party which promoted it.

Clarification: I'm of the opinion that if you use one word to describe everything you don't like, the value of that word soon deflates, it loses it's meaning.

A case in point would be the word 'fascist' which originally signified an adherent to a totalitarian Italian ideology, but today is used to describe anyone who is against BLM, made up fantasy genders, or who thinks that being morbidly obese is unhealthy.

the uncuckening is in full swing, like packing a musket. People's secret beliefs are rapidly changing, but they are still afraid to speak out. Eventually enough people will be fed up. They will whisper among their close friends and family. They will understand that people around them share similar beliefs. the fear will dissipate. An atrocity will occur, someone will speak out on the news, and the people will erupt and fight to reclaim their homeland.

If there's one thing I've noticed living in Western Europe for the past two years, it's that no matter how far right Europeans go now, they will never return to Nazism and Fascism. The effect WW II has on the psyche here is kinda like what happens in "A Clockwork Orange". People are reduced to quivering heaps at the mere mention of a return to fascism.

But the bigger problem here is the decline of society that has gone on in Western Europe and Scandinavia steadily over the years. Last year I was in Copenhagen and saw exhibits of women in skin-coloured full-body suits showing pregnancy. It was meant to celebrate femininity and the message was to encourage more Danes to have kids. Is this what we have as a species come down to? Are we pandas, that we have to be coaxed into procreation, that most basic of human and animal behaviours? It is THIS what is driving the West further and further in a corner against the onslaught of Islam. Your countries have come at critical growth rate of population which, if not maintained (or rather, increased) will irreparably damage your demographics and the fight against Islam will be lost even before it inevitably starts. Islamists in the West do not want direct confrontation because they don't need it. They know that within 10 years they can make your countries into Islamic Republics using sheer numbers.

andhakanoon • 0 points • 26 August, 2016 11:04 AM

This is only a problem if the Muslim minority turns into a majority, which is a dangerous possibility in it self. Other than that, a population decrease is only good. We don't need to field massive armies with small arms. We have the economy and industry to create weaponized drones.

This is not about Muslims. This is not about keeping a huge standing army. This is about preserving your culture. You need people to preserve and carry forward your own culture. How will you do that when you're net population is declining, the ones being born either not interested in having and raising kids, and openly criticising your customs and culture as racist and oppressive?

Our economy isn't contingent upon production thru (sic) people because of automation.

Your economy is contingent on consuming, and production of technology. The rise of China and India among others have taken most production facilities out of the West. Automation is not going to bring those facilities back because the cheapest machinery the Euro can buy is still costlier than the labour cost Chinese and Indian companies can pay out.

Countries with population growth are only negatively impacted by that. Just look to Africa.

Africa is the continent with the most countries with the fastest growing economies. Have a look. The only major western country I see in it is Ireland.

Hjalmbere • 6 points • 26 August, 2016 04:11 AM*

This is some serious virtue signalling. This guy is trying to parlay his victimhood into celebrity.

OP asked what's up with Sweden and Norway, and as a Swede I'll have to try to at least describe what is up with Sweden. Below is a list of circumstances that have created the perfect shitstorm of feminism and identity politics:

-Swedish culture is consensus based. -Swedish politics tend to focus on one or two questions at a time. -Swedish politicians love international careers in the EU and the UN. -Sweden has not been in a proper war since 1814. (Sending a couple of hundred soldiers to peaceful northern Afghanistan doesn't count.) -Sweden has enjoyed prosperity and the social democratic welfare state was in many ways a success. -Over the last 15-20 years the two dominant political questions have been immigration and feminism. -Private sector entrepreneurs and SJWs are milking the state trough creating socially engineered needs and by housing 'refugees'

A shrill minority of immigration extremists have managed to silence all critics with a platform in media or politics and forced them out of the public eye by accusing them of being fascists/racists/nazis. People have lost their jobs and/or been thrown out their political party. Pretty much the same thing goes for feminism. Don't get me wrong, you're not going to lose your job if you criticize immigration or feminism if you're a male construction worker or software engineer in a private company, it's only if you're in any kind of position of power.

Also, Swedish politicians have kept a high profile internationally in order to get nice high status jobs in the EU. One way to keep a high profile is by accepting a lot of refugees. This has worked out well for the Swedish political establishment, but not so well for Sweden as a country. Rising crime, falling HDI and collapsing welfare is the result. But hey, who cares if you're Deputy Secretary General of the UN, an MEP, or a European Commissioner?

All is not bad though: Divorce rape is less common in Sweden than the USA for instance, since most women work, hence most couples tend to have shared custody. We don't have alimony either, but we do have extreme gender politics and a war on boys that has turned a lot of Swedish men into total pussies. When immigrants from Afghanistan or MENA commit gang rape in public, the official narrative is 'toxic masculinity' and 'all men' are to blame.

As of recent, things have begun to change, probably because the traditionalist anti-immigration right wing

Sweden Democrats party is the biggest party in Sweden. Coincidentally this is the only political party which does not describe itself as feminist. But it's too little and too late.

[deleted] • 5 points • 26 August, 2016 05:06 AM*

Swede here, we probably have some of the worst immigration policies I can think of. Firstly, Sweden is constantly trying to take in as many immigrants as possible AND give them welfare. This is ridiculous consider our immigration service admitted we couldn't afford it. Also, lately our socialistic government seems to be trying to raise any tax they can so they can come close to affording welfare for immigrants. They even raised the taxes for seniors. In Stockholm (Capital) I think they were trying to push a policy that would mean any immigrant under the age of 30 would count as a child and be eligible for welfare. It is also considered racist by a lot of people (including the current government, I think) to try to medically determine the age of the immigrants. Anyone who opposes these policies are called racist by a lot of people.

This Scandinavian bloke has transcended to a whole new level of cuckery. Not everyone can be saved, and that number increases day by day. Part of the reason this nu male got raped by another man is because he must have been effeminate. Look after yourselves, build your body and mind, and reinforce your masculinity.

I can still identify with this guy on some level, grew up smurf blue; which is pretty sick to me now. I lived in a city that took Somali refugees in the '90s and nobody liked them. To the level of being mean though, talking about how they stink and wash their feet in the sink and got to go pray at noon and they should get a smoke break then--I wasn't down with that. Some tried to acclimate, most kept to themselves.

I never had a problem with them, not one of them ever approached or bothered me in an unwelcome way. In retrospect I was in advanced classes for everything so I never really dealt with dumb asses, everyone was tolerant and well behaved including the Somalis--still public schools, most of my friends had decent families but a few of us were from shit holes. I knew I wasn't like those kids so have always been for giving underprivileged people some extra help, because I got it and I'd probably be dealing drugs or dead on foreign soil by now if not for that.

But to protest deporting a non-citizen rapist because he's not white, that's fucking racism right there. I might even think citizens can be rehabed in some way, but if you're not paying into the country and you fuck with us then go home. I fully welcome legal immigration and legal asylum seekers, until they wear out their welcome. I think that's the fair and non-racist position to hold.

sd4c • 7 points • 25 August, 2016 04:26 PM

I'd welcome legal immigration if we could afford it. But for some reason we redistribute money from couples who can't afford to have kids, to immigrant families who spawn willy-nilly and have nine kids without a plan on how to pay for them

[deleted] • 3 points • 25 August, 2016 06:15 PM

Fair and TBH I've not looked into the issue from any other angles than the feelz based one. The system helped me to some degree, so I've got a bias for it. It eventually let me down as these programs were cut in the late 90s and I was left to my own through high school. I was somewhat aware of certain realities which I was still in the BP elementary school system and fully sheltered. Sink or swim, I swam pretty well but have a hard time when I bump into reality through joblessness/legal problems. If I really analyzed it again I might have similar concerns.

My life is currently a net drain on society given how much government aid I've taken. Over the long term it'll be a massive net win in taxed paid and money I distribute through society. It might be a gain already, I've made multiple 150k+ above board salaries. I don't know how things like that are taken into account by policy makers.

Well, why shouldn't non-Muslims get a break at noon?

[deleted] • 1 point • 25 August, 2016 06:10 PM

I don't have an answer, but I didn't complain because I didn't care. If I cared I guess I would have found one. It was at noon and we had three lunch periods where upper class people could leave campus, it was just the under class while I was there. 16 year olds, probably legal reasons. I think people just like to complain about whatever they can, because they hate their own life... grass is always greener style.

A danish folksong sung by a faroese band, that's about how a band of norwegian men slaughtered an invading scottish army.

The Vikings came from Scandinavia. Odin must be puking his fucking guts up in Valhalla.

[deleted] • 5 points • 25 August, 2016 04:12 PM

You're overthinking this too much. These low testosterone feminist "men" are one hair away from being women. The fact that he went public about feeling bad about his rapist shows this. Unfortunately their kind and feminists are what ruined EU and if Trump and other stronger folks aren't elected we will end up with what EU is going through. EU literally is a glimpse into the future.

fuckpcpolice • 2 points • 26 August, 2016 01:19 AM

Well, this is the post that sold me. I thought you guys were anti-Trump and everyone would avoid the fucking obvious answer to this retarded feminist nonsense. I don't know how "red" of a redpill I am, but I hate feminism so much that I'm subscribing.

[deleted] • 1 point • 27 August, 2016 07:29 PM

There are more people out there that are tired of this shit like you are. Our EU and AU bro's are fucked since they don't have the same freedoms as we do to speak out. Unfortunately the fat pink haired loser chick has more rights in an office setting than you do if you speak out the truth so we'll have to wait until sanity gets restored sometime.

Another case of how victim blaming is ok if it's a man, even for the exact same crime of rape.

Not really, plenty of feminist women up there are doing the same.

[deleted] • 2 points • 25 August, 2016 07:30 PM

Sometimes I play a game in my head called "How much crazier does this shit have to get...?"

In this case, the only worse thing would be a gang of refugees raping his woman and children while also raping him, and he still advocates for the poor rapist refugees. I guess if they were also murdered in front of him and their heads were put on spikes in the town square that would be pretty epic too.

But THAT is how bizarre this would have to get to be any worse. Read what I just wrote one more time. This scenario is already so twisted and sick that if it were to get any worse it would be, well, just as bizarre!

aazav • 2 points • 26 August, 2016 04:12 AM

This is what happens to your mind when the life you live is too soft.

You find all the wrong things to be concerned about. I'd want the rapist pushed down a cliff or fed to sharks, or pushed off a cliff into a pool of sharks, or alligators. As long as they suffer horribly.

StoicCrane • 2 points • 26 August, 2016 07:49 AM

A guy tries to rape you end his existence, period. Instead of demanding his government put down this filth like the scum it is this male feminist instead sympathizes with this trash for being deported. This guy is beyond redeeming. This is exactly why sjw and feminism must be rejected and opposed vehemently.

No, he is the reason why he has to leave Norway, for committing a crime.

This is like a murderer killing someone and then the victims family thinking that it was the victims "fault" that the murderer received a death sentence.

This guy is literally victim-blaming himself.

ozaku7 • 2 points • 26 August, 2016 10:47 AM

Sweden is already invaded by rapemigrants. Its a terrible place for women to live. This politically correct anti racism will be the downfall of scandinavia, because they fail to recognise that it's about behaviour, not color. But typically this kind of shit is done by immigrants of color and therefore racist. They must learn that when you deport someone it's because of what they have done, not what they look like. Thats not racism, but something like behavioralism. Not tolerating certain behaviour.

This guy is really a girlie man who probably likes it up the rear. I give the same credence to this "rape" as I do to any reported "rape" these days. Show me the blood and signs of struggle and I will believe it. As it stands, he is acting like a woman who decides later that the sex was "not consented." I bet he was kissing this Somali man, holding his hand, probably rubbing his schlong. No wonder he feels guilty. He led him on and probably deserved everything he got.

[deleted] • 4 points • 25 August, 2016 03:25 PM*

I couldn't agree more. That man should be deported along with the rapist.

This is absolutely disgusting.

[deleted] • 2 points • 25 August, 2016 11:12 PM

Okay, any Scandinavian redpillers here? What the FUCK is going on with your country

By order of His Majesty the King of Sweden, I'm pretty sure I am legally bound to avenge this transgression somehow.

For real though, we are in a macrocycle of marxism. We have 2 marxist parties, The Greens and The Left Party (formerly named The Communist Party of Sweden) that combine for around 15 % of the vote. Add to that the left-phalanx of the Socialdemocrats which are also marxists, and a good 25% of the country are full-blown-AIDS-communists. You can't feel our pain, You think Sanders/Obama are left wing. Try Sweden to top that, You will find that a municipality rented a Luxury Cruise Liner and built a special dock for it to permanently harbour so that it could house refugees. Meanwhile, millennial Swedes are looking at pension-cuts, lower standards of living and decreased home ownership.

This just the long and painful aftershocks from WW2, the anti-nazi movement has gone overboard. It wasn't just enough to eradicate Nazism through war, European elites concluded that Democracy was shit because it gave rise to Hitler, and therefore Democratic institutions such as the University and others had to be converted into agents of progressivism. I mean you can talk about this all day, but it's just depressing and fucked up, and in time this shit too shall pass. It's why I was so happy and proud of my Brit-bros, they took a real leap of faith and a courageous decision to leave the EU. Freedom still has a chance

yes, what you say is true (sad as it may be)

Of course, those "brilliant" elites (in both the EU and the USA) never quite seem to realize that the nazi party was the National Socialist party, and all the things the nazis did are about as left-wing as you can get (denying individual rights, more power to a central govt, banning guns, restricting freedom, etc.). Not to mention, the leader of the nazis was a vegetarian (which although not limited to ONLY left-wing types, is WAY more common in lefties)

[deleted] • 2 points • 26 August, 2016 12:19 PM

I agree 100%, but left-wingers have been conditioned to disregard any sensible discussion of politics and to dismiss unfavourable opinions as "stupid" or "hateful". Hitler has everything in common with the modern Socialdemocrats, except that he didn't think that the state should be concerned with certain subsets of the population. That really is the only difference. It's why the first thing he did as Chancellor was to ban the Socialdemocrats in Germany, he didn't want competition.

Lookin4SomethingReal • 6 points • 25 August, 2016 03:36 PM

The Scandinavians are disgusting. These were fucking Vikings for Christ's Sake. Europe would have never become so weak if Germany won, this is the problem.

There was a massive shift after the war to 'diversity,' 'open borders,' 'feminism,' 'multiculturalism,' etc.. all pushed for by (((the tribe))).

The last bastion of hope is Eastern Europe where men still fucking act like men

MyFifthRedditName • 6 points • 25 August, 2016 06:45 PM

The title of this post kind of manipulates what actually happened.

The raped guy said he was relieved about the guy being deported (which makes for a totally valid human response) but then also felt 'guilt' (read; EMPATHY) for the migrant having to go back to the supposedly shitty/inhumane situation he came from. .. Which is also a valid response for any human-being who dealt with severe abuse, but actually got PASSED IT somehow.

I think the only reason this post gets so much attention, is because of this type of homophobic-based fear of being raped among straight men... Because it's the ultimate humiliation for a "real (wannabe) manly-man".

This guy leads by example for having pity on the guy who supposedly took-away all that makes him a "real man" (HUUUUUR-DUUUUR). And makes a valid point about men being too afraid to come-across as pussies for having feelings/emotions/or opinions that aren't in-line with the "real-man philosophy".

Anyways. Guess I'd best disable this comment?... :/

kellykebab • 3 points • 25 August, 2016 09:05 PM

Guilt is not the same as empathy. Empathy is appreciating the struggle that the immigrant will face back in his home country and taking no special delight in that fact. Guilt is taking on personal responsibility for that hardship.

In this case, the rape victim's guilt is grossly misplaced as the immigrant is entirely responsible for having committed a heinous crime. The punishment is a result of the immigrant's actions, not the victim's. Even if you believe that the immigrant's deportation was unfair and that his prison term was enough, the victim should not feel personally responsible for this turn of events. The enforcement of law was out of his hands after he reported the crime, which any reasonable person should have done. (The alternative would be to let a potential serial rapist re-offend.) Guilt really shouldn't enter the equation here if one had truly moved past the incident in a healthy way.

Your criticism of the masculine disgust at male on male rape is also childish. Masculine ideals value individual strength. For heterosexuals who holds those ideals, allowing yourself to be physically controlled by another man represents a failure in capability and self-sufficiency.

I don't personally believe that men should let an experience like this ruin them. Instead, they should use it as motivation to become stronger and even do good in the world in the future. However, it is true that being raped as a man represents a failure in some aspect of masculine qualities and one should take a clear-eyed view at this failure to best improve and prevent it in the future. (By the way, this does NOT mean taking an unrealistically large amount of responsibility for the act. At the end of the day, it is impossible to fully prevent the actions of others. There will always be unpredictable crazies.)

Pathologizing masculine values (i.e. charges of "homophobia") is both cowardly and ignorant of that for which masculine values stand. Spend more time trying to understand traditional masculinity and less time caricaturing and dismissing it.

[deleted] • 2 points • 25 August, 2016 04:12 PM*

Y'know... animals don't know that bestiality is wrong. Are they "feminists" too?

Mentally ill people can attach any label onto themselves that they like. I think we need to start looking past that and just recognize them as mentally ill.

That said, I think we have group A, feminists, and group B, Islam, and both are infected with large numbers of mentally ill people. Sad that the ill in group A are on a collision course with the ill in group B. But I'm not going to lose sleep over this - even if "the Jews" set this all up, it's not my problem. Sad, yes, but it's just too fucking ridiculous. I mean if everybody is drunk driving on the freeway and somebody decides to play in traffic - yeah - simple math and population control.

sh*t like this is why i dont feel bad about what's going on over there. people who willingly surrender to their enemies deserve to be destroyed. same will happen to france,germany,sweden,probably the UK,and in the long run i'm guessing north americans will get a taste of it as well. this is what happens when you allow the left to seize control of media,schools and entertainment. without these,their policies would be rejected and people would revolt. instead they've been conditioned to cheer their own destruction.

Norwegian-American Thor lookalike here. Got a cousin native to Norway and still living there. He's a patriotic Scandinavian but he's about to say fuck it and come here if Trump's elected. It's god awful out there and the descendants of proud Viking warriors who took what they want; fought eachother for fun; valued honor and strength; and spent their days feasting, drinking, and fucking are now cucked pussies who bow down to feminists, terrorists, and liberals. Our family always taught us that Scandinavians are supposed to honor their family and especially their ancestors. There have to be some Berserkers crying in Valhalla right now over this shit. And after this guy, I know someone just got kicked out of the Hall of Heroes. Just goes to show that the male descendants of some of the best warriors in history aren't even immune to Bluepillling. [deleted] • 1 point • 26 August, 2016 03:10 AM he probably liked the feeling of a cock in his ass, but is in denial about his gay-ness (not that there is anything wrong with being gay, but if you're gay, own it, don't deny it to everyone including yourself).

As such, he was probably secretly hoping his rapist would come back and "visit him". Once he found out that the man he was in love (and lust) with was deported, of course he cried.

As for him being a "male feminist" can't blame that on his repressed gay-ness, no self-respecting man (straight or gay) would ever be a "male feminist" !

Sound like his real issue is that he hates himself for being gay, and can't deal with his conflicting emotions.

[deleted] • 0 points • 25 August, 2016 05:14 PM

And no one believes me when I say that liberals have a secret desire to be raped and murdered by Muslims. This little bitch is probably quite sad his attacker didn't cut off his nuts and force him to eat his own testicles. That's why he truly weeps, and also the fact it was the only time anyone has ever been enthusiastically sexual with him. Bitch probably needs to be a sissy power bottom and just surrender his last vestiges masculinity already.

Looking at a picture of this guy, if we shared a bunk in prison. I'd be raping that ass day and night, selling it for all the cigarettes and prison hooch I could get. Smacking the little bitch every time she spoke out of turn, and making sure she made her own prison rape wig nice and clean. Fucking sissy bitch ass liberal cunt.

Should have hit the weights and got into martial arts training after he couldn't protect his ass. Now everyone knows that ass is free to take and that he can't and won't protect it.

When it comes to it in Europe i give the following nations a chance of survival:

Switzerland - 90% chance of survival.

Finland - 70% chance of survival

UK - 20% chance of survival

Eastern Europe - Between 70%-95% chance

Most of Scandinavia and western Europe? No chance at all. They are going to be raped to death, eaten and their skins sewn into clothes. Those that aren't killed will be kept as a slave race.

On the upside i think if we did somehow prevail we would create a race of European warriors again. All the weak will have been purged.

Conceited-Monkey • 0 points • 25 August, 2016 05:35 PM

1) Conditions living in Nordic prisons can be better than living in "freedom" where they came from. They are certainly better than those in the prisons in their home country. 2) Integration into a new society and creating a life from scratch is hard, even between similar cultures. 3) Crime is easier that 2), and only sometimes leads to prison.

Given those three facts, and person demonstrably willing to commit crimes, just how exactly is being jailed again a threat?

I'm 3rd generation Swedish American, aka Viking stock. I've been following Scandinavian politics for a while and I'm damn ashamed of my brothers in the homeland, but they have been fooled by the media and feminist political parties very heavily. Not all of the men are like this and some police have had to come out anonymously to report the actual situation with immigrant crime and rape. Others have burned down immigrant centers. The real Vikings need to rise and take back their politics, land, and culture. It's an embarrassing situation. The men whom know who they are must crush feminism and tell them firmly, "NO!"
