

How my fully vetted, carefully screened, law student/unicorn girlfriend was secretly a prostitute and how a watch saved my life.

TLDR; Read the title again.

First let me say I think it's extremely important we men share our horror stories, pics, memes and keep talking here on MTGOW about how awful women are, whether seriously or with funny stuff. We have new members daily, younger members with questions and advice concerns and I think hmwe need to keep the fires and the anger stoked... keep fresh in our minds how women, their stupidity, selfishness, and hate can ruin men's lives.

Too often we can be red pill but forget how monstrous women can truly be, or we harbor a little space hoping we can find just one that can make us happy, if we could just find her. But let's keep. reminding other members, it doesn't exist, it never did and it never will....

Here is my story as more proof.

The Setup I was a red pill reader and follower on various forums, but not yet fully MGTOW. I knew red flags to watch for, not giving in to a woman's silly childish needs, and staying alpha and strong. At this point in my life I was more or less subscribing to the PUA community and mind set; playing on women's weaknesses to get laid and have fun. Then entered Lisa...my first, only, and last "unicorn".

I met Lisa on the Bumble dating app. She was a law student, pretty, and into motorcycle riding, crossfit, video games... every single hobby I loved. She was basically a dude mindset in a hot girl with a nice rack. She didn't exhibit all the bullshit needy things most women did, she seemed strong, independent, self sufficient and intelligent. We went on a few dates and she never showed any signs or warnings that I had read about or experienced in my past, things were as good as you could ever dream of and we really cared for each other. As time went on, our feelings grew.

We dated for about a year, and she never brought up love or needing more than what we had. Things were just good and she let them be what they were; she never wanted money, would often split the date costs or sometimes treat me, and was damn near everything a guy would describe as perfect.

Her lease on her apartment ran out and we mutually discussed her moving it with me. We had been together for about a year so far. To me, it felt like living with a guy best friend except I had access to the hot pussy and half my rent covered. I knew I had strong feelings at this point, and she said the same, but I'm a smart red pill, I never showed it, didn't white knight or have any blue pill habits. I figured she could move in, I'd save half on rent/utilities, I'd be living with my best friend and sexy times were still going great... so I said "fuck it" and she moved in with me.

Over the course of the next few months, things were amazing. We went to the gym together, cooked dinner, hiked, rode motorcycles, and just enjoyed life as best friends that fucked and slept in the same bed...again everything you could want from a woman. There were no new red flags or warning signs and the sex didn't taper off, she wasn't a party girl, always wanted to hang out with me and our mutual friends, and let me do as I pleased without nagging... nothing gave me any warning for what was to come. We were even sharing I love you's at this point but not too mushy, just a few here and there.

The Escalation She had a conference in NYC for school and was going to be gone for a week. She was from NYC so she mentioned she would be tacking on a couple days to her trip to see her mom. No problem, off she went and I'd see her in a week. She messaged and we talked like normal and she said she missed me and couldn't wait to get home and wanted to maybe take our relationship to the next level as being apart made her realize how important I was to her. Not sure what next level was, but I was happy to hear it from her, it validated the feeling we had was mutual.

After her return, things were still great, we were happy, and life was looking up. Many in the PUA community say that if you are careful, maintain a strong frame and make it clear you're the man and are controlling the direction of your relationship, you can still find a girl you can marry or be happy with. My mind started imagining this girl could maybe make me believe in love again. I started to consider proposing.

The Mountain Garmin watches make a model called the Fenix 3. It's an activity watch my girlfriend owned and had purchased one for me for Christmas. One feature it has, is connecting to your phone and notifies and displays incoming texts. She and I would often message words of encouragement to each other when we were doing marathons and the other wasn't able to participate.

One evening about a week after her latest visit to NYC, her watch starts buzzing like crazy next to me in the living room while she was upstairs. This can happen when the watch goes in and out of the phone Bluetooth range so I grabbed her watch to turn off BT since it was driving me nuts. that's when I saw the latest text message she had received on the screen, she had forgotten turn off her texts to the watch...

"I can't wait to fuck you again too!" wait... what? I thought.

that fucking word was a nail in my eye... .. "again"

Gents, let me tell you, I've heard the expression "my world was spinning", but son, a fucking mountain just... leveled... my... ass.

I had to sit back down my head was swimming so hard. I was smart enough to grab my phone from my pocket and snap a pic of the watch face for proof so I couldn't get gaslit later, but everything after that was like I was in a dream, I was in shock so deep. I recovered in a few minutes so I may have missed some back and forth texts, more convo followed about when she was out of town, but no specifics. (Later I found out this was an ex of hers who was married now but they wanted to re-live some old fun in a hotel she got for them while in NYC. Bitch even paid for the room to get some ex-dick.)

It was late. She came down to kiss me goodnight to which I had enough sense to play it cool, and I said I wasn't too tired so would stay up, watching TV downstairs. She went to bed and I just sat quietly crying and raging for the next 2 hours, so angry and frustrated at myself for getting fooled and thinking she was different, even with all the teachings of the red pill community. All my reading and research... feeling I was smart and superior enough to not let this happen to me...all for nothing. I got played.

I was heartbroken. I lost my best friend, my love, my roommate and someone I wanted to spend so much of my time with... someone with whom we had every passion, hobby and goal exactly the same in life. Fucking gone in 1 text. Later that moment hurt me so much because I also new... finally knew... from then on, I could never love or trust any woman ever again.

I felt alone, stupid and worthless.

After she was asleep, I snapped in to action. Again, knowing women light to gaslight, I went to grab her iPad.

See, women may say they are crafty and smart, but men are smarter when we aren't being lied to or being too trusting. I remembered she had an iPad she had let me use, and since she had an iPhone, I knew her messages from her phone would sync with her iPad if from another iPhone. I dug around in the office and found it, but it was pass code locked. 6 digits. surely she couldn't be stupid enough to use her day, month last 2 digits of her birthday could she?

Yup. Dumb bitch.

I started reading all her texts she'd sent over the time we dated and saw not only 3 other dudes she was/had talked to, 2 of which she fucked in the last few months, but an odd message from a guy saying how glad they had met on S.A., and where they could make arrangements to meet for coffee, to discuss allowance. I knew she had an uncle that helped her with money for insurance since she was a borrowing college student so maybe this was him. I was grasping for straws.

Not knowing what SA exactly was, I Googled "S. A." and the sugar daddy website Seeking Arrangement" popped up. Still confused but now forming an idea of what was up, I created a quick fake profile and did a search for her age within 1 mile of our zip code.

Nothing.

Checked within a mile of her parents zip code in NYC where she visits and stays when there. Bingo. My girlfriend was a sugar baby, photo and all, and apparently was making arrangements while away from home to score some quick cash. Lads, I actually started laughing and crying at the same time I was so blown away from the craziness I was discovering. Talk about her being completely opposite from everything I knew about her. It was complete Jekyll and Hyde shit here. I can honestly say I have never been so blown away about what I thought she was and who she really was.

On day 3 I handed her the binder with the screen captures I printed at Staples, told her I was going to stay with a friend and to have her shit gone by the weekend or I'd send copies to everyone she knew. She was gone quickly and quietly.

Never heard a whisper from her again thank God... but the damage was done, I was wrecked. The depression took months and months to recover from, the experience I never will. In hindsight this is good because when you get burned and fooled this well, you don't believe any woman, ever again.

So guys, I consider myself very intelligent and knowledgeable in red pill theory, being smart about dating, women and not getting hurt, yet I got leveled. What scares me to death is, had I not seen that single text on her watch, I'd still be with her and perhaps married or even further tied financially with her. This was a woman I could have thrown my life away on... a fucking whore for fuck sakes. Without that one slip up by her, I'd have never known, and it's thanks to her watch and 1 text that saved my life.

MGTOW gents. MGTOW and AWALT, and never forget it.

#1 Rule with women: She's not yours, it's just your turn.

Life Rule #1: If it Flies, Floats, or Fucks, it's cheaper to rent than purchase (renting is fully tax deductible, depreciation is too, however you're paying insurance, maintenance, disposal, etc).

RiimoH • 135 points • 1 February, 2019 03:18 PM

So you say we should rent a boat?

1st10Amendments • 159 points • 1 February, 2019 03:35 PM

When I was in the USAF, my last supervisor was a female of about my age who was a single mom with a mixed-race daughter of about 6 years of age. She (my supervisor) was either divorced or in the process.

I was nearing 30 and found her attractive, so I would talk to her every chance I got.

In the course of those conversations I found out that she had been a prostitute in Pittsburgh, PA.

newstartinvegas • 152 points • 1 February, 2019 04:30 PM

Your comment isn't even boat related

Women are like boats. They float where ever the current takes them, and if you poke a hole in them they squirt.

How about this? She was a little bit dingy.

jacketguy • 16 points • 1 February, 2019 06:03 PM

sometimes i think thats why we find them attractive, because their whoredom gives them some type of intangible edge.. same w/ porn stars.. they have so much illicit sex that after a while they r just sexually attractive even if they arent really pretty or cute

red_matrix • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:17 PM

This is great, and why we are always instantly attracted to sluts!

empatheticapathetic • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:20 PM

Could you elaborate on this?

jacketguy • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 08:43 PM

good question, this might sound crazy at first so please read it to the end before stopping well umm..... i once heard someone say some ancient women used to attempt to ask beings of lust to embody them because they would essentially make them more attractive to men.. maybe this was early geisha? i dont remember so dont quote me but it was something like that but that is essentially what i believe happens today except we are now detached from this type of esoteric knowledge

so like.. today, if a woman is a whore she will unknowingly be filled with demons of lust.. these will then “reward” her by somehow making her more attractive to men thereby furthering the kingdom of darkness i.e. whoredom, prostitution, infidelity, abortion etc etc so i believe this sort of thing happens to us today.. like i said, its intangible but people can harbor spirits or demons or beings or whatever u want to call them and they have certain influence or “help” in certain areas

i think oftentimes this is why porn women are so alluring, i dont think its just makeup and boobs, i think they harbor the more (and stronger) spirits of lust.. which essentially enhances them to us and calls loudly to our lower nature an athlete could call a being of athleticism to embody them and receive aid on the field.. its the same for sex appeal..... however these beings just attach to people imo without having to be invited.. if a girl is a whore she will attract them automatically.. which in turn attracts us especially if we operate in base desire the most tangible way i can say this is... have u ever been able to tell a man is gay without immediate evidence? have u ever been able to tell a female is a slut without immediate evidence? if the answer is yes, u are seeing the spirits they carry seekfart • 2 points • 6 February, 2019 03:16 AM

Nowadays, the trickier thing is to tell a female that isn't a slut

PlantsAreAliveToo • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:39 PM

So you're saying they get pretty good at what they do after they do it for a while? Makes perfect sense.

[deleted] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 06:48 PM

In neuroscience there is a term called sexual demand that is part of the trio that creates overall significance of a specimen. The other two terms are dominance and food/resourcefulness. So a porn star or any popular star would have the overall significance equalized extremely high due to extremely high sexual demand. We are talking about actual biological terms in layman's words. All these three blocks are part of the complex that calculates biological significance- this mechanism has actual physical areas in paleocortex and the significance is always compared and calculated constantly by each vertebrate animal when dealing with another. Hence any extremely popular slut or a mega smart scientist or a banker all will be high in overall significance but not equally significant. But all will be attractive to opposite sex with less significance than them.

Yes - maybe join a boat club where you pay a monthly fee and checkout a boat. My dad was in a sailing club and we did this often:

massy525 • 24 points • 1 February, 2019 04:37 PM

Boat clubs can suck worse than buying FYI. You end up paying for lots of stuff and never get to use it due to overbooking. Just some real world experience info. If they have lots of rules and a minimum contract period there is probably a reason and its not in your favor.

EvilPencil • 12 points • 1 February, 2019 06:15 PM

Same with timeshares. People often pay money to GET RID OF THEM. Worse is inheriting one.

HelmutHoffman • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 10:44 AM

That's only if you're stupid enough to buy a scam timeshare.

CiceroVoltaire • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 08:59 PM

this. if you're after convenience, don't have space or not into taking care of a boat maybe.

I found a good boat, in good shape, for a good price, needed some minor work and maintenance services. I need to replace a tire on the trailer which I just noticed. Nothing too expensive. I can use it anytime too.

idontevenlift37 • 19 points • 1 February, 2019 04:30 PM

Neutral_User_Name • 8 points • 1 February, 2019 03:49 PM

You can rent a plane, too.

FwoGiZ • 6 points • 1 February, 2019 04:53 PM

I was thinking exactly that lol...

Boats keep their value alright... I just bought a 20yrs old boat for more than I ever paid for any of my cars ... Prolly will sell in 5yrs for just as much as I paid with minor upgrades.

74374471 • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 07:49 AM

Power or sail?

I had a lot of fun with a sailboat for two years. But between the marina fees being $2800 a year, and an incompetent marina mechanic (ended up being a bent propshaft causing a water leak which I finally found a decent mechanic to fix this simple problem) I was glad to be rid of it.

But fixing her up, and spending weekends on it with my nympho Asian girlfriend were brilliant.

TheRealF00l • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 05:51 PM

Those items are hard to maintain, expensive, and are not used often so it is a better investment to rent them.

generalissimo_jones • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:33 PM

Depends what you are going to use it for. If you buy a boat, make it one big enough to live on and buy a decent one you can look after. Boats are a shit load of work. If it's just a small boat for fun? Rent it. Or build it yourself like my grandfather did. He actually sold his for more than it cost to build it after he had 20 years out of it.

TheNeedToLabel • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 02:48 AM

Or play Azur Lane, in which case you can oath those boats to your heart's content.

My mgtow response to your comment:

I have always HATED that sentiment (the #1 rule with women one). I always thought, "no, that's bullshit, I'll find one who is loyal to me." I still get an electric shock of anger every now and then up my spine when I see it, but being a rational man no longer given to thinking through the filter of ideology, even though it gives me an icy shudder, i have to say that the evidence shows that it is a true statement. God dammit. But this is the way of the world, and I cannot change nature.

So how will I deal with this anger? Well I used to drink or smoke weed and play video games until i fell asleep in order to numb it. "Someday, I'll find one that proves them wrong." ... but the evidence....every one o had been with was either cheating on me outright or behind my back with one or multiple men. .. the evidence of not only what other people say but multiple, repeatable experience. ...

Finally, I dropped my pack. Realized no woman was worth the misery of it, and went mgtow.

Now, seeing your point #1 still annoys me because it's a point I truly wish were different. But it is a true point. So how do i use that tiny push of anger that it causes me? Nowadays, i use any anger i feel as a tool. I recognize all the anger I've felt in the day, and c ok msciously decide that if anger will be there, then by god it will work for me or gtfo. So it gets me one, maybe two more reps on the bench press at the gym. It makes me choose an extra 30 minutes of study time for my IT certifications, and it helps me choose the grilled chicken salad conn salad with bacon and bleu cheese crumbles instead of a 6pack and a costco pizza.

As for your second point, yup it's absolutely true. Now if I find myself really wanting some pussy, I rent it. Because shes never mine, its just my turn.

deathtocontrollers • 9 points • 1 February, 2019 05:22 PM

It's only an ideology because men have let it become one...

Disbursed-operant • 10 points • 1 February, 2019 06:00 PM

Hmmm I think there is some truth to that. Strong father figures are becoming less and less a force in family dynamic, which opens the doors to having a generation raised that is conditioned into believing it. After that inertia is in place and it just keeps going on and on until the guy wakes up or accepts it as "just the way things are"

deathtocontrollers • 14 points • 1 February, 2019 06:02 PM

Men have the power to turn this world into whatever they want to be except a peaceful one because peace between human beings is impossible.

[deleted] • 1 point • 1 February, 2019 10:52 PM*

well in committed relationships women are the disposable sex, considering they only bring their womb/bodies to the table whereas men bring protection and providing which are necessary to survival, not just to reproduction or even companionship.

you want a substitute for loyalty? That's easy. Just remain the only/best deal she can get and be willing to let her go at any minute knowing she's just keeping your attention away from her 3 billion sisters.

she is not your mom. Her love and loyalty are dependent on what you provide her with. Your attention is the prize of the relationship, its creative agent. You're the torch bearer, she's just a womb bearer among many. You can light your own way and live off of your own abilities and resources. She couldn't eat for a day without male support, in fact she wouldn't survive an hour.

i really think we males have the better end of the stick but hey go your own way why would you need a loyal woman in the first place?

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 10:48 PM

just like "she's not yours, it's just your turn" you can be ready to replace her at any moment by two other ones half her age civilization is built upon putting limits upon female whoring. Dont expect a dog not to eat a steak while you're not watching him. Keep women under control or know what you're in for.

BTW they themselves crave control, maybe because they know they need it more than we know it ourselves.

Why is it that you need loyalty so bad that you decide to go mgtow when you realize you cant have it? Loyalty is a male abstraction. Females are not males. You can use them or be used by them in various ways, see them in various ways and choose to relate to them in various ways.

And yes you can go monk as well. But how is this gonna work if it's based on negative feelings?

Disbursed-operant • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 10:57 PM*

Largely based in how I was raised and society reinforced the image of the traditional family and "till death do us part" being a real thing, and Disney and movies going thick with "and they lived happily ever afters".

It's a bitter pill when you realize that none of that is true. But life moves on.

Dont misunderstand this isnt something I brood over on a daily basis that takes up my time. It's more like when I see it it's a reminder of the great lie I was told and how much time I had committed to believing that lie.

Anger in and of itself is not a negative emotion. It's what you do with it that is either positive or negative. It's a tool. Same as a hammer. If you give a hammer to one man, and he goes and starts smashing up cars and windows and peoples skulls, that doesnt make the hammer a negative tool.

Likewise if you give a hammer to a man and he builds a house with it, the hammer was just a tool. It's the motivations and actions that are positive or negative.

Bring back at-fault divorces. Require blood tests for a marriage license as used to be before the 80's. Remove alimony and make child support an expense reimbursed transaction. It'd still be a shit deal for men but it would change women's behavior over night.

empatheticapathetic • 16 points • 1 February, 2019 08:22 PM

They'd find another way to fuck you over, even if just for the drama. That's all it's about at the end of the day.

CBDOnMyMind3 • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 09:36 AM

True, but at least they'd be recognized for the powerless disloyal hoes they are

TyrannicalWill • 8 points • 2 February, 2019 01:52 AM

Remove alimony and make child support an expense reimbursed transaction.

This is genius.

Also there should be a cap on marital assets for divorce even if the husband was at fault. No bitch deserves billions of dollars for being a housewife.

newMGTOW • 3 points • 2 February, 2019 05:36 AM

What's the blood test for?

teslaistheshit • 4 points • 2 February, 2019 02:05 PM

STD proof. Women (and men) knew that if they had an STD show up in their blood test prior to marriage their partner might have a change of heart. Simply put it made casual sex much riskier if you wanted to get married.

markus_brutus • 22 points • 1 February, 2019 06:41 PM

This is only because men have decided on this

That is very true.

What happened when men lifted all restrictions and started writing laws specifically to favor them? They showed us their true nature, they are whores.

We can continue on the road of being "equal" which means the death of the family and marriage or we go back to the old ways, full control over their lives and societal shame.

deathtocontrollers • 13 points • 1 February, 2019 07:57 PM

I forgot the name of the philosopher who said this but once a society has become this promiscuous, there is no going back. It will just collapse into oblivion. And then a new society will arise.

henvictor • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 07:31 PM

Check out the "4 horseman of the apocalypse" documentary. Part of that discusses the role promiscuity played in the fall of each empire.

henvictor • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 07:36 PM

That;s kinda fucked up. If society didn't reward bad behavior, it would not be a problem. It's the lack of social conditioning that allows them to regress into their base/animalistic mentality.

There's a similar argument for men, where they're be a lot more killing if we weren't taught better.

Women are more likely to conform than men, which is why social constraints/shaming would have more of an impact on them. An example of how women conform to societal expectations is the arbitrary "must be over 6ft" rule.

tchower • 5 points • 2 February, 2019 03:01 AM*

I saw a post on the red pill calling this a complete loser mindset "she's not yours, just your turn". But after reading this guy's story and all the other stories in the comments section and everything I've leaned about woman "Alpha Fucks/Beta Bucks" I think this point is quite valid and well taken. If a hot girl can have her cake and eat it too with sprinkles and toppings, she'll get it because so many men are dumb enough.

deathtocontrollers • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 03:02 AM

LOL at the red pill sub.

tchower • 4 points • 2 February, 2019 03:11 AM

The Red Pill sub has some interesting posts, but some of those guys are still blue pillled.

deathtocontrollers • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 03:12 AM

Their minds are still focused on pussy. They swallowed red pills but they are still gynocentric.

tchower • 3 points • 2 February, 2019 03:49 AM*

A lot of them are red pillled to a certain extent like you said, but because their minds are so enthralled over the pussy, they still believe in the idealism, and I honestly wonder what guy has the time to always be dating multiple woman and fucking multiple woman throughout the course of their life 24/7?

A hot girl has the time if she has a sugar daddy/beta bucks because she doesn't have to work or have any really cool or interesting hobbies except the gym to look hot and wear mask up, and then set up a Tinder account or just stand around at a club and wait for men to approach her. Bottom line: don't trust a bitch ever.

I think the person's point above is red pill because he admitted that he violated the precondition of being outcome independent, so that's the lesson to be learned.

Sir_manalot • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 09:20 PM

Yes and no.

Men do enable the bullshit (and started it) and have abandoned the brotherhood in hopes of getting more pussy, but even if you did marry her and she never left you, your turn would still end.

deathtocontrollers • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 09:27 PM

Makes no sense because men could get more pussy if we stripped women of their rights. And our turn would never end.

Sir_manalot • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 11:51 PM

Men hate easy pussy and always have, they then turn around to complain about how awful it is to work so hard to get pussy. While wishing they didn't have to sacrifice so much to get pussy.

It is pretty dang silly honestly and most of it stems from men's innate desire to be slaves, to serve, worship and provide for a women whom doesn't give a fuck about them.

Life would be so much better if we allowed easy methods of getting pussy at the very least (get rid of incels and help build up the brotherhood again). But nah, you cannot brag about getting more pussy (even if it is worthless) or control others if pussy was sold for what it is actually worth.

deathtocontrollers • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 11:53 PM

I think it's because a lot of men are indoctrinated to think that being a real man means being able to get the hard to get pussy. I think a man free of such garbage inside his head, would appreciate all the easy pussy in his life.

If you're going to steal a bad ass quote from Ballers, at least quote it right....

"Trust me gentleman, never buy a depreciating asset: if it drives, flies, floats or fucks - lease it!" - the motherfucking Rock

RoboMandrake • 7 points • 1 February, 2019 10:03 PM

That phrase is quite a bit older than the Ballers movie. I first encountered it in an excellent little tome called "The Predatory Female" - and that was 25 years ago. The form there was "if it flies, floats, or fucks its cheaper to rent".

74374471 • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 07:57 AM

Leasing a car is not cheaper than buying, I only buy used, 2-5 years old.

Puig_Destroyer • 6 points • 1 February, 2019 09:30 PM

1 Rule should be: Just don't.

CBDOnMyMind3 • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 09:39 AM

This is something I struggle with as a MGMOW. On one hand, I've written off women. On the other hand, sometimes I'm pretty horny and have a couple spare bucks. I see the value in buying a hooker. In all my research, I really haven't heard too many horror stories, surprisingly. I also respect the transactional dynamic. They have something that i'd like to rent, and as long as they're not a pain in my ass, they can make some honest money off me.

okaybody • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 06:12 PM

Do you know where i can get the rest of these rules?

New rule: it's their turn.

CiceroVoltaire • 1 point • 1 February, 2019 08:42 PM

I don't know about flying, but I bought a boat.

Much cheaper than my ex, even if it sinks and is a total loss. I'll be buying more boats in the future.

MGTOWManofMystery • 1 point • 1 February, 2019 09:21 PM

Does that apply to drives? Cheaper to rent cars and motorcycles? I guess probably so. But still cool to buy vehicles if that is your thing (hobbies that you like to spend money on).

beenthere789 • 36 points • 1 February, 2019 05:38 PM

Well said sir! Gotta look at the longterm and big picture.. Based on my last relationship have made the full conversion to mgtow.. And getting rid of Old as well. It hard, but worth it.. Loving myself was the hardest thing I have done.. Was not brought up that way and suppose to take care of women and be a prince.. All bs.. Doesn't mean you have to be an ass hole... But the epiphany is who is going to love you more than yourself??? Who?? No one!!! Freedom and peace follow my brothers,

[deleted] • 33 points • 1 February, 2019 09:36 PM

Can't think like that. Think of all the heartache he saved himself for the future.

And the expense as well. Dating a lawyer would be one of the riskiest things a man can do. She's a professional liar, she either knows a myriad of ways to screw you over legally or has easy access to people who will help her do it pro bono, and if she's pretty like OP said, she probably comes with an ego and attitude that'd fill a small stadium.

Didn't sound like she let her behaviour slip at all in OP's story, she just carelessly left her phone-linked watch out. If they'd gotten married and had kids, he'd be so, so fucked right now. The way she just casually up and left without an apology or some attempt at an explanation... that is the epitome of being cold and heartless.

r1chten • 11 points • 1 February, 2019 09:53 PM

Paladin2903 • 305 points • 1 February, 2019 02:45 PM*

Sorry you had to go through this, brother. I know it's devastating. Nowadays, you simply just can't trust women. And ESPECIALLY ones you meet through dating apps or websites.

If she has an online presence on dating apps, then you can be assured that she's always talking to tons of guys. That's just how it is.

Women love (and are addicted to) attention. Once they get a taste of that monumental volume of attention, there really is no going back.

Those things are just the devil's playground. If she wasn't bad before she got on them, she certainly will be after. They just bring out the worst in women.

If any blue-pill is lurking....before you move in with her, it would be wise to have a private eye dig into all of her affairs and stake her out for at least a month.

Sound extreme? You bet your ass it is. So is moving in with someone and sharing your life with them.

fmanly • 87 points • 1 February, 2019 03:51 PM

Agree. In a lot of ways it is like any kind of exposure to variety.

Imagine if you had to pick your one favorite meal, and eat that exclusively for years/decades. Nobody would want to do that.

Well, that woman you're wooing is being wooed by dozens of men, or more, she's getting deluged with a variety of attention. Sure, a lot of that appeals to the superficial for her, but I bet a lot of it is also genuine interaction/etc. Imagine having dozens of people just going out of their way to help you out any way you can. You want to buy a new car, and you have 4 mechanics offering to take you shopping and give you advice, and 2 lawyers offering to just buy the car for you. Once you've had a taste of that, why would you want to forego that for what only ONE person can offer? Why not take the advice from the mechanics on which car to get, and let the lawyer pay for it, and then drive it to some hunk's house for sex? And then the next morning why not let the guy who is a chef make you breakfast?

Honestly, I'm not sure I'd even have a problem with it if they were honest. The problem comes when a woman implies that a guy is getting exclusive access in exchange for his attention, when he is not.

HipsterNgariman • 43 points • 1 February, 2019 04:30 PM

They should almost live with you stating "I live in your house but you have to understand at any moment I can get heavily aroused by one of the fifteen guys I hang out with everyday and just cheat on you like that. Oh and sometimes I'm not even aroused, it's just to get a free meal"

I have a dream. Fuckin' red pill for everyone to grow the women a brain in the mean time.

fmanly • 13 points • 1 February, 2019 09:01 PM

If they've living with you then you're already making a mistake. She can instead just call the police and have you evicted. Sure, it will get sorted out in a few months and then you'll get your house back and by then she'll be working on evicting some other guy from his house...

massy525 • 24 points • 1 February, 2019 06:23 PM

That was an excellent telling of how daily life is for any young girl that is 5/10 or above. Most guys even on MGTOW really don't understand how good girls have it.

[deleted] • 15 points • 1 February, 2019 09:39 PM

Most guys even on MGTOW really don't understand how good girls have it.

Most girls don't understand how good girls have it. It's just normal and expected to them, hence the rage and desperation at the world bowing down at your feet drying up when the years stack up and the youthful looks fade.

massy525 • 6 points • 2 February, 2019 05:01 AM

No joke. People give me shit sometimes about dating younger girls. I always say well they are prettier and don't have attitude problems with unrealistic expectations like older women. Then they proceed to tell me that's because those girls have been mistreated or some other BS as if that is my problem to deal with. The real reason is as you just stated. They are finally getting a sample of what real life is like and as they realize it will only get worse they start to take it out their anger on anyone stupid enough to be around them.

[deleted] • 5 points • 2 February, 2019 07:24 AM

I always say well they are prettier and don't have attitude problems with unrealistic expectations like older women.

Spot on, exactly how I feel. At 20 a girl is generally sweet and cheerful and even though she's a materialistic little thing, she's only looking for dinner, a pretty dress or two, etc. Fast forward to 30 and they are jaded, have 10+ years of baggage, "don't have time to waste" and want a man who has a high status job, a nice car, a house, etc etc. Gee, I wonder why men prefer younger women...

jacketguy • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 06:50 PM

Sandbagicus • 85 points • 1 February, 2019 03:04 PM

If she has a online presence on dating apps, then you can be assured that she's always talking to tons of guys. That's just how it is.

Man, this needs to be understood by everyone that uses dating apps. After I got divorced in 2013, I used these as it had been 17 years since I'd dated.

At one time, I was juggling 7 different women. I'd be on a date with 1 and the others were texting me or trying to call. Ugh - major pain in the ass! I ultimately ended up with 1 for awhile because dating more than 1 woman at a time is very difficult. For women though, they love it because it's the attention they all so desperately seek and require.

So yeah, she ain't just talking to you - she's getting validation all the time. The hotter she is, the more men she's dangling.

massy525 • 50 points • 1 February, 2019 04:41 PM

dating more than 1 woman at a time is very difficult.

This is only true for men. Another reason why there is not and can not be "equality." Women have always had advantages over men that men can never have.

I prefer Chris Rock's version "Dick is free, pussy costs money"

themanmohr • 9 points • 1 February, 2019 06:30 PM

If she's ever been on a dating app and especially if you met on a dating app she's not worth a relationship hell if she's not a Virgin she's not worth commitment dating apps and most women are only good for casual sex anything else and you're asking to get fucked over

Sandbagicus • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 07:24 PM

No man in his right mind would want to deal with some starfish virgin, who's gonna be clingy AF after you pop that cherry. If I'm gonna stay single and pump & dump (which I am), I want a woman who knows she better blow me or I'm leaving.

Plus, a woman who's still a virgin at a certain age (I'm over 40 btw lol) is going to be a fat whale that no one wants to touch.

themanmohr • 0 points • 1 February, 2019 07:49 PM

Yeah you've got a good point but I'm a young guy and I'm just going to have casual sex with women who aren't virgins and if I find a Virgin I like and think is worthy I'll pop her cherry and if she's clingy like that that's the only woman I'd consider marrying because I want kids and I don't think it would be right to raise kids knowing they'd be in a broken family and if they're clingy and submissive then they'll do whatever you tell them to do and you can teach them to have sex and they'll continue to have sex with you unlike the used up women who marry betas and aren't that attracted to them like that(that's how you get sexless marriages)

Sandbagicus • 4 points • 1 February, 2019 08:14 PM

No, those clingy virgins will just turn into nagging wives and eventually cheat on you.

AWALT, my friend.

But good luck - Unlike many here, I do appreciate that you want kids. We need more good fathers today.

generalissimo_jones • 4 points • 1 February, 2019 09:37 PM

Yeah. In my bluepill days it wasn't that hard for me to do some digging and find out my oneitis was being dicked by the useless hipster unemployed pretty boy she was always complaining about. Can't say i was that surprised. That was the straw that broke the camels back which caused my mental breakdown, blackpilling and MGTOW ascension.

Any non MGTOW's reading this should know everywhere your woman goes and everything she does and all of her communications. She doesn't have to know but there is no such thing as trust. Sincerity is always subject to proof. With the technology around today it isn't even that difficult...

blind_sypher99 • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 08:05 AM

I wonder if most ex-blue pillers had a moment of explosive revelation that shattered the carefully crafted illusion. I remember the moment I became redpilled. Not on women, but none the less it led me here. It was some emotional shit.

That is some fucking unforgettable wisdom right there

My last "gf" I met on tinder. Banged her out a bunch, it was awesome. Then I dropped out of grad school and decided to up and move to a new state, b/c living in that new state has been my goal for a while, and now I had the opportunity. The only reason to stay would have been our relationship (I was redpilled enough to say fuck that noise, one person ain't holding me back). Within 2 weeks she was already fucking a new dude, and planning a road trip with him.

Apparently they had been texting while I was still dating her. (Ironically enough, a few months later I texted her that I wanted to bang her still, and she told me that he found my texts to her, and demanded she stop contact with me. Smart dude, lol, I should have done the same thing-- gone into her phone. I guess crazy cunts like that kind of domination where you demand access to their comms)

Made me wonder about when she had cancelled plans on me during a 3 day weekend to supposedly visit her mom in a nearby state. She was 90% probability just banging some fucker on the side.

Also, before we met, it seemed like she had just broken up with a different guy about a week before.

She was one of those codependent women who always tried to be in some sort of relationship b/c she can't handle being alone.

Definitely opened my eyes.

descenceX • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 02:51 PM

I agree with this, OP was way too naive for a red pill. I'm currently with a girl (been together for 2 years). I have cameras at home, security system for when only she's at home (only I can disable it), location sharing, icloud access, and remote laptop access.

Now you might think it's too much, and I understand, but I started doing that as soon as I discovered "it's only your turn" several years back, I wanna know the second my turn has ended. She has knowledge about all of it, and she 100% understands that if something doesn't add up, she'll be out the door, also, no trips (and no social media) I don't care if you will go meet your god in that 1 hour away city, it's not gonna happen.

OP was way too trustful.

Misogynes • 203 points • 1 February, 2019 02:42 PM

A very similar story happened with me, but I was with her for nearly 3 years and we'd lived around the world together (great sex daily, best friends and business partners for all of it).

I don't know if I'll ever get over the trauma of that betrayal. A year after bolting and taking more than a few months to overcome the depression, I still seethe multiple times each and every day.

I can't even trust my own mother after that, red-pill-aware as she may be.

Thank you for sharing your story. You're so right in that men need to continue to share their stories so that those new to mgtow can see what can happen. I'm glad you made it out without further damage. Sometimes these kinds of things can be a blessing when it finally opens your eyes and you say enough is enough. Your story further clarifies that even when you do everything right "hold frame" etc, it doesn't protect you. Even Chads get wrecked by women.

jacketguy • 21 points • 1 February, 2019 06:13 PM agreed.. you could be duke nukem level masculine and it wouldnt help.. a bad woman is just a bad woman period... and thats what i hate about pua.. they tell men that we can control women if we hold frame etc but thats not true because no matter how alpha or how good or rich u are, if she wants to play you then she can.. puas like to pretend women dont have free will

"if i act this way then she wont betray me" good luck with that lol covfeifeismylife • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 12:03 AM

I think we need to make sure to these stories are actually real. Or at least don't take every post at face value. People posting fake shit on here and getting to the front page is leaving me not wanting to read this sub anymore. We have become to much of a circle jerk.

From this dudes post history he has been in Asia for a year. Not saying he is a liar, just saying there are people posting fake stories. This one just makes me suspicious.

I'm not putting down op, or any of you but we don't need men on here manipulating us like women do.

jkarovskaya • 173 points • 1 February, 2019 03:13 PM*

OP wrote this make it clear you're the man and are controlling the direction of your relationship in Western countries right now in 2019, that's not really possible.

Men really can't control a relationship unless the woman is brainwashed level submissive

Women from the second they meet you have an agenda, based on your SMV and her age.

Once you are out of college age and are moved in together, there's only one place a "relationship" is headed as far as the woman is concerned, and that's marriage.

Women (most) are dreaming of the big day, center of attention, fairy tale big dress wedding, as they are taught by BP parents that girls are princesses. Princesses need that affirmation.

Media, movies, and peer pressure elevate weddings to the ultimate achievement socially, and big points for all the Insta/Snap/Twitter photos & vid

You can hold frame, bulk up, and be macho as hell, but she's got an agenda to get you to sign that legal document binding her fate to yours.

Just say no to cohabitation

Paladin2903 • 46 points • 1 February, 2019 03:18 PM

+1,000 on this. Exactly correct.

[deleted] • 45 points • 1 February, 2019 05:48 PM

It's worse.

Brainwashed level submissive women are fiercely loyal to their abusive relationships (I mean genuinely abusive, not the watered-down term that gets used these days). It is interesting that women respond so strongly to hybristophilia (e.g. the positive response to the Ted Bundy bio pic is an interesting phenomenon).

They breed the part of humanity with the least humanity, and love it when men work outside the system... look at the no-go zones, for instance, or the above mentioned hybristophilia. They love being manhandled and being the plaything to an alpha brute.

They'll settle as a last resort, but alpha fux beta bux is core to their being.

I'm just glad to be done with it all. Good luck to them all and good riddance.

massy525 • 16 points • 1 February, 2019 06:26 PM

Yep the only power a man has anymore in the US is to reject complete and total subjection/slavery(for now). No marriage, no co-habitation.

themanmohr • 12 points • 1 February, 2019 06:35 PM

Exactly they need to be next level submissive for a LTR to be considered meaning she was a Virgin when you met she's completely dependent on you for everything you're the center of her universe she does whatever you say everything in her life needs to be dependent on you she has to need you on a physical and psychological level and she can't have had any other attachments like that to any other men she also needs to know that you don't need her otherwise something will go wrong

jkarovskaya • 1 point • 1 February, 2019 07:38 PM

The way things are going I reckon women will be allowed to cheat on men with impunity soon. In the UK it's already gotten to the point where you can do jail time for snooping on her messages if you suspect her of anything. There have been cases where the 'controlling' boyfriend gets his picture plastered in the news for checking her messages. Admittedly, there does tend to be more intimidation going on in these cases but they still set a dangerous precedent in already dangerous times for men. That thing where you threatened to send the evidence to her friends etc, you would lose the moral high ground here in UK for threatening behaviour or blackmail and she could take legal action. Even looking at her phone can get you in hot water legally. Women in the West are gaining increasing amounts of power it's no wonder there is a huge surge in MGTOW. Peace bro, glad you dodged a bullet in more ways than one.

Besides, getting cheated on can be fun if you also cheat on them (e.g. Charles and Diana).

[deleted] • 124 points • 1 February, 2019 02:27 PM

I wish I could say this surprises me, but it doesn't at all. If you want to really know who you're dating, sneak a peak at her phone. I did with a 21 yr old I was dating, and also a 38 year old I was dating. Both times we had been together for months, and both times there were multiple other men they were fucking. Now I just don't date anymore. It's all just too sickening.

MikeRocksBoat • 60 points • 1 February, 2019 02:49 PM

Essentially, if you are dating exclusively, I think always available consensual access to each other's phone messages is an absolute necessary. Won't stop it of course, but makes it easier to get caught, because setting up a second phone, or deleting messages tends to stick out.

The old saying when dealing with children works here, "trust but verify".

fmanly • 58 points • 1 February, 2019 03:31 PM

Seems like it makes more sense to just not go there.

Don't expect any relationship to be exclusive. If you have fun with somebody then have fun with them. If you don't mind sleeping with somebody who sleeps around, then by all means feel free (just know your risks). If you want to agree on making a relationship exclusive, I guess you can, but don't expect that the other person is keeping up their end of the deal.

Ronin Man said something on YT that resonated with me - he used to keep half a dozen women in his harem at all times, and he was open with them about it. That was the only way he found that relationships could be fairly stress-free. They'd enjoy time together when they wanted to, and when either he or the a woman got tired of it she'd be off. I imagine he didn't expect them to be exclusive either. Obviously if he can pull that off he has something going for him, but even so he maintained that women simply got bored after a while. Trying to cling to that long-term relationship is just setting yourself up for failure.

Personally I'm doing the monk thing. I haven't ruled out relationships entirely, but not only would it have to be the right person, it would have to be something I could keep light, forever. It couldn't be somebody I was truly intimate with, in the sense of baring my soul. It would be more of an activity partner, where sex is just one more activity. Honestly, I'm not sure how much I'm interested in that kind of relationship, so it just isn't a priority for me.

I think that is the only way relationships can work in this day and age. You can't be attached. It is just your turn. Nothing wrong with things that don't last forever - you pay $10 to watch a movie and it ends and you go home. Nothing in life lasts forever, but romantic relationships are among the less durable.

DeMeza • 31 points • 1 February, 2019 04:33 PM

If you're attached today, you lose.

[deleted] • 5 points • 1 February, 2019 10:37 PM

I think that's a big part of the monk philosophy-- detachment from possessions.

Desire -> Attachment -> Loss -> Suffering.

Simply cut out the desire/attachment, and you limit suffering.

MikeRocksBoat • 10 points • 1 February, 2019 07:17 PM

I agree that it is best not to go there. Simply because the risk-reward ratio is not in my favor. Society has ensured that a woman gets the best deal, and that I get the raw deal. The same as with the government and my income, and mega corporations and my personal data. In such an environment, I refuse to be the patsy, as much as is possible.

A relationship when made exclusive is a trust contract between two parties. If you do your due diligence when entering into a contract for other things in life, why aren't you doing the same here? If AT&T commits something to me in a contract and doesn't follow through, I need to be savvy enough to pick up on it, and then ensure that the contract is abided by, or receive punitive damages. The same in an exclusive relationship with a woman. At least you should do your due diligence if you want to go down this road. Forget the punitive damages, since most states have decided to cuck us here. You can accept that Facebook is trustworthy today (based on their Xth PR response 'to trust us'), but if you do believe them, it is on you. Same with a lying woman. Facebook will get away, and the woman will too, but you can at least get out of the bad faith relationship. Want to completely lock out the internet based on facebook? Be my guest. Only you can decide the appropriate pain point.

I'm not familiar with Ronin Man, but sounds like a PUA. People like him are part of the problem, where they validate the ridiculous open relationships that these women want. He is of course stress free as he is looking at hook ups. Many PUAs like that. Until he gets hit with a #metoo

The problem is turning everything into "romantic" relationships. Used to be that a relationship between a man and a woman was not just romantic, but was meant for more than that. It was a support system built on loyalty and trust, not just monkey sex. This is the environment that produces a grounded next generation, because the idea that everything in life has to keep you 'excited' is the massive gaslight that corporates, society and feminist twaddle would have you believe. Discipline and compromise make up a long term relationship.

Take us regular workers who have to work morning to night. We aren't doing work that excites us ALL the time. There may be moments of joy but mostly not. I'd be switching jobs every 2 weeks, and at a certain point people will realize that I'm a flaky worker. Time to tell them not to "work shame" me? (Same analogy applies to sluts and slut shaming, and it explains why so much is messed up today).

If we all bought into this narrative of not being attached and 'renting' stuff, we have bought into this retarded subscription model that big business likes to sell. A subscription model has only one objective, to milk you today, and tomorrow, and the day after. Even if the product is trash after day 1, and slightly improves on the day before renewal. Sounds like a woman, who changes after becoming LTR and then tries to clean up before shit hits the fan.

The idea of not being attached is great. Can I have all your stuff?

I do want to come back to your point about the kind of relationship you envision. Your going monk mode is fantastic. Sometimes the monk gets tired and if you should find your personal possible-unicorn, again the idea would be to do your due diligence before and during any relationship. Trust her but verify. Same as with any other relationship with your accountant/doctor/lawyer/priest. Trust him but verify. If you don't, you have only yourself to blame right? And let them know right off that you intend to do so.

fmanly • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 09:00 PM

Trust but verify is part of it, but a lot of it is understanding the reality of romance and not drinking the Kool Aide. If you can keep it light and mutually enjoyable, then I think it is a win-win. Sooner or later one party of the other is going to want out, and then you just have to let it go. You don't deserve her eternal loyalty, and neither does she deserve yours. Don't get entangled legally in any way that would have the government force your continued provision once either one of you wants to walk away.

I think Ronin Man was a former PUA. I'm not sure how much he does it. However, I'm pretty sure he is MGTOW these days. That doesn't preclude relationships - just entangling ones, and it sounds like he tried to keep them light even in his PUA days. He claims that when girls used to start getting clingy or making demands he would just give them a break for a few weeks until they either went their own way or came back around to keeping it light. I don't really have a problem with that as long as everybody is up-front about it.

He also has warned that you have to be careful about managing breakups so that women don't start creating drama. If you want them to go away you need to start making yourself unattractive to them, such as by acting more clingy/etc. You want them to cheat on you or whatever and make it so that leaving is their idea, and you don't want them to be upset that you're kicking them out. Sounds like a lot of work to me though...

In all cases the key is to not become dependent on others for validation, and to not let others become legally entitled to your ongoing support.

i think my cuckery during my beta days was so powerful i think it made me break through to the other side, i agreed to host a chick who we also agreed on was poly, not for long thought, but she kept to her word about the poly agreement, it was heart-wrenching every-time, and then i understood everything these subs speak of its crazy but it worked perfectly as far as remedies go, and im happy i didnt invest emotionally from the start honing in on a mono relationship. the key really was to get roasted slowly by the fire from the start instead of burnt all at once like this poor fella was.

if youre a brainwashed beta, date a poly chick it will prepare you well while partitioning the pain

Svartanatten • 74 points • 1 February, 2019 02:47 PM

Well written, truly terrifying for someone who isn't MGTOW, yet I guess.

I'm kinda expecting my GF to stray sooner or later, it's been clear to me for years that women ain't capable of loyalty (my mom left my dad after 30+ year and he never recovered) and don't feel love the same way as men do.

I'm ashamed to admit that I'm in love and hoping that my unicorn won't betray me, but I do expect it and tbh, I just try to enjoy the good parts while never forgetting that it will end when her affections shift.

Women can't be trusted but I don't think that makes them evil. I just view them as children, entitled without the concept of responsibility. If I need support I turn to my friends since I wouldn't trust my GF to not use it against me one day.

Thing is, some might say I'm a misogynistic person, but I don't dislike women, I just don't trust them since I've seen what they do with trust. So when the day comes I will just accept that, ye women ain't dogs, they don't understand the concept of loyalty, or rather they don't understand that unless it's unwavering your not loyal.

So, most likely I will be writing my story in a few years, maybe sooner maybe not. Untill then I will allow myself to be happy, but never naive.

[deleted] • 42 points • 1 February, 2019 03:33 PM

Accepting the end puts you ahead of the curve, it probably won't hit you as bad. Remain detached brother.

Svartanatten • 16 points • 1 February, 2019 03:51 PM

I hope not, I'm quite sensetive so I really need to remain somewhat prepared for the end to make sure it won't break me. Tbh I have this feeling that she isn't completely over her ex. I do believe that she thinks she is over him, but there has been some weirdly phrased sentences that makes me think she hopes he will return (she was the one dumped). I'm not happy about maybe being the second choice, if I get any reason to suspect that they are in contact I will probably see how far she is willing to go to prove her self declared love, sexually... If they meet again she will be gone from my life instantly. But currently I got no real red flags.

teslaistheshit • 10 points • 1 February, 2019 05:54 PM

I have this feeling that she isn't completely over her ex

Oh brudda. Trust your gut. Not sure how old you are but over the years my instincts were 100% spot on and I didn't listen to them (tits and ass do that). Call her out on it and see what happens. Good luck.

Svartanatten • 7 points • 1 February, 2019 06:30 PM

I never will, I'm agnostic and marriage is kinda out of fashion in Sweden. Neither mine nor my gfs parents are married (ok mine split after 30+, hers are still together after 40). There is no pressure in our society to marry.

fmanly • 29 points • 1 February, 2019 03:53 PM

Nothing wrong with getting temporary enjoyment out of a temporary relationship as long as you know what you're getting into, and you're protecting yourself from risks.

However, I definitely urge you to try to avoid getting your sense of personal validation/etc from the attention of ANYBODY, but especially a woman. You need to be in a place where your girlfriend can tell you one day that she wants to break things off and you're completely fine with that and just wish her well.

Svartanatten • 14 points • 1 February, 2019 04:04 PM

That's what I'm trying. I got no intention to have children or get married or anything that will make the ending harder.

massy525 • 26 points • 1 February, 2019 04:44 PM*

That's the sad truth about women. The second they feel they have advantage they will relentlessly abuse it. It is part of the reason of the increasing collapse of society due to women in power positions. Women cannot be given power and act responsibly with it period.

The most depressing this for me is the best relationship I ever had. I treated the girl like shit and never loved her. Yet she was the closest thing I've ever experienced as to what a real relationship should be like. She cooked, cleaned, fucked, was attentive and took care of me. I'm absolutely certain had I ever given back she would have turned on me like any woman. She even frequently complained about my treatment of her but yet she never left.

[deleted] • 5 points • 1 February, 2019 06:51 PM

If you would have given her validation she would have been out that door in a heart beat or started monkey branching.

massy525 • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 07:00 PM

100% agree.

blississolitude • 9 points • 1 February, 2019 04:26 PM*

I'm ashamed to admit that I'm in love and hoping that my unicorn won't betray me, but I do expect it and tbh, I just try to enjoy the good parts while never forgetting that it will end when her affections shift.

Same. I don't trust her one bit, but I love her and enjoy what I can while I can, knowing it will explode eventually, and never too far ahead in time. [EDIT: about a day after this the whole thing blew up. It happened! I'm freeeeeeee!]

Just remember: There is no such thing as "wasting her time". Just as being friendly and supportive does not entitle one to sex, sex (and support, if any) does not entitle one to marriage. Everything is a transaction in the present moment: she is not owed future commitment from you by being with you now.

In my case, I'm never having kids and I'm never getting married. She may want both those things, but her decision to be with me for now doesn't reflect the planning of a reasonable adult who knows what she wants. She is essentially a child, just like you said, and has the vague dreams of a child, the shallow emotions of a child, and may throw a tantrum like a child.

ramfex21 • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 11:52 PM

Same.. I'm in 5 year relationship. I think I'm in love and to some degree psychologically addicted and attached to her. Not good. But I tell myself AWALT and that NOTHING would surprise me. Women will tell you that you need to "let go and give yourself completely", but I don't think that's wise at all. It's a shame feeling like I need to be detached to a degree. But you have to. You can't fall to in love unfortunately once you understand the true nature of women.

Svartanatten • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 07:58 AM

It's difficult since you can't rly control those feelings. Thing is I still feel my life is better with her than without currently. And since there won't be kids nor marriage and I own my own place it's not like I will get stuck due to practicalities.

DaveC111 • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 12:11 AM

I was the same way. In the back of my head I always expected it to happen. When it did, the friends I thought would be there were part of it. I was fucking her, the other knew and didn't tell me. His wife encouraged it. She was living under my roof while they were relocating. Just be careful. It'll suck whenever it happens.

Svartanatten • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 08:00 AM

[deleted] • 59 points • 1 February, 2019 03:31 PM*

I am going to say something controversial here

A WOMAN YOU LOVE CANNOT BE YOUR BEST FRIEND!!!

That place is reserved for another guy!! Women cannot be in that role and provide you with the male comraderie you need from a best friend.

I do not know WHEN that stupid concept came about but you have your guy friends and you have your female relationships- you CANNOT mix the aspects of the two together!!!

I made this mistake and regret it. And I went through my own hell and hurt myself in the process.

The old school methods WORK for a REASON!! Women play a specific limited role in a man's life

Consider the Fred Flintstone model - he had Barney for a best friend, Wilma was his wife, and the roles were never mixed.

There is a reason why men would join outlaw biker gangs: for absolute freedom from control and brotherhood.

Men need these things like breathing air. A woman cannot give you these on any level.

[deleted] • 33 points • 1 February, 2019 03:49 PM

Not controversial at all my friend. I always think of Finding Nemo when the shark says “fish are friends not food”. He was going against his nature just to live the lie. Men do this all the time by letting women and their brains convince them that pleasure = friendship.

[deleted] • 25 points • 1 February, 2019 03:51 PM

The media forces this narrative

Ross from Friends is the perfect example

It took me a LOOOOOOONG time to figure this out

[deleted] • 25 points • 1 February, 2019 03:55 PM

Very true. It’s disgusting really. And they make horrible friends. Selfish, egocentric, unaccountable.

[deleted] • 31 points • 1 February, 2019 03:58 PM

I’m 45 and just started realizing things recently.

The only thing they helped me was the MGTOW community.

No amount of therapy did anything for me. I spent too much money on counseling over the years and just needed this. But the Internet was not around when I was young.

Better late than never I suppose.

[deleted] • 12 points • 1 February, 2019 03:59 PM

[deleted] • 11 points • 1 February, 2019 04:50 PM

And video games. The worst chameleons are “professional” women. They know they have to act balanced and honorable to continue to sell the lie. They sell you on partnership. They sell you on a “higher class” of woman. It’s all bullshit

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 11:10 PM

And as soon as he got a whiff of blood, his instinct kicked in instantaneously.

jacketguy • 5 points • 1 February, 2019 06:48 PM

i like that, good points here... it also makes me look at my ex differently now because she always used to say she wanted me to be her friend and i kept saying i dont need another female friend just focus on our relationship.. so now i see it as yet another manipulation to have me let my guard down and accept her as a friend which would let her get away with more crap since friends overlook things that partners don’t... its the same as how people say u shouldnt be friends with your child because then when u need to be a parent u cant hold that role, ur negotiating as opposed to laying down the law

[deleted] • 4 points • 1 February, 2019 07:23 PM

There are a handful of cultural norms I DESPISE and this is one of them - expecting men to be “best friends” with the woman he is with.

And the whole “WE are pregnant” phrase: no -SHE is pregnant!!! HE is NOT!!! I hate that bullshit.

If I had a wife in labor I would NOT be there with a camera filming that shit. As far as I am concerned let the doctors and nurses do their job. I will be at the bar doing shots.

Men have become pathetic spineless wimps. They allowed this to happen.

Any guy who says “WE are pregnant” deserves to be laughed at.

Wow man, that was great formatting of story, you’ve got some good writing skills, as I was reading through the whole post, I felt immersed like I was in your shoes, like it was a book, but I’m really sorry to hear that you had found out the true nature of women in a very hurting manner. No matter what, you have seen the truth for yourself, and now you can focus on yourself, it will be hard at first as you can see with your sadness, but it’s just you discovering the truth. Even Neo in the matrix didn’t realize his true power until more towards the end of the first movie. You know what sucks? None of this needed to happen if we didn't have a culture that lies to us about human sexual dynamics/biology.

The idea of a monogamous ltr is not congruent with human biology (especially female). Just think of all of the heartache, suicides, murders, domestic assaults, etc that has been caused by this one lie.

Fuck.

teslaistheshit • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 05:51 PM

So sad that society some how thinks being monogamous is even beneficial. I truly don't fault women for being whores but I do fault them for expecting commitment.

WOW, what a story. I'm always amazed how TheRedPill men believe they can "control" a woman. The ego they have, that they think that. A woman will do, what she will do. You can't control her behaviour. You can only protect yourself, that is it. For any MGTOW still doing relationships; a man falling in Love with a woman is extremely risky for you. You should not go further (mentally speaking) then liking a woman.

I loved a woman once. I ended up broke financially; and it left a pain (feeling of loss) behind I carry with myself.

To me, it felt like living with a guy best friend except I had access to the hot pussy and half my rent covered. I knew I had strong feelings at this point, and she said the same, but I'm a smart red pill, I never showed it, didn't white knight or have any blue pill habits. I figured she could move in, I'd save half on rent/utilities, I'd be living with my best friend and sexy times were still going great... so I said "fuck it" and she moved in with me.

God help me, I'm so close to this right now. We've been planning to move in together, and I've been resisting for a while. She's trying to wear me down and I don't know if I can actually say no.

Nagi21 • 8 points • 1 February, 2019 04:10 PM

Moving in isn't a problem... provided that you both provide evenly-ish, kind of like roommates.

MarqNiffler • 4 points • 1 February, 2019 04:14 PM

Yeah, we have a contract written up and are making tweaks to it as the date gets closer. We each have our own private rooms, and then shared space, splitting the rent accordingly, splitting utilities accordingly, retaining ownership of our own personal property, etc.

Nagi21 • 6 points • 1 February, 2019 04:56 PM

Just remember the lease trumps your personal contract, so if she leaves you high and dry your still on the hook for everything (technically you both are but collections don't care about who pays).

MarqNiffler • 1 point • 1 February, 2019 05:01 PM

Yeah, I know. And I refuse to move into a place I could not cover myself if I absolutely had to.

The contract is for us to be able to say to each other "This is what you promised to do", and we don't have an opportunity to fight about what each person "thought would happen".

WinterEcho • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 05:45 PM

flee_market • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 01:30 AM

Moving in isn't a problem

It never is... for the man.

For the woman, she has to deal with seeing him when he's not fucking her (smashing her dopamine button) and that tends to make a lot of women lose interest after a while. He's not "new" or "novel" anymore. She wants tingles.

It's easier to maintain tingles when you only see each other occasionally.

Absence makes the heart grow fonder. Familiarity breeds contempt.

"But if you don't move in maybe she's fucking a bunch of other guys" - she's fucking other guys either way, so you're retarded if you buy her bullshit and commit.

Bro, holy fuck dude.

Someone take the gun out of this man's hands, he's about to hurt himself.

[deleted] • 19 points • 1 February, 2019 04:05 PM

That in itself is a red flag. Trust your instincts, I learned that the hard way with my ex and suspected the same thing. Her ex was a super Chad who cheated and dumped her, her feelings for him were always there and it was apparent in how emotional she got whenever they came in contact.

If you want to stay with her that's fine just stay detached man, you're on this sub for a reason. You already know what the outcome is.

sexdroughthelp • 20 points • 1 February, 2019 04:09 PM

It really blows my mind how many guys are here with basically the same story.

Mgtow_troaway • 17 points • 1 February, 2019 04:51 PM*

Another fucking betrayal, sorry you had to go through this. Similar story here too man, completely blindsided. I bet a lot of guys here were completely blindsided after doing everything right.

It's not that we don't know the risks right? It's that it really really doesn't seem like it's a risky thing. This isn't our fault, she carefully crafts her reality to make you believe her con. One thing that I struggled with for a long time was blaming myself for not seeing it sooner, but how could I? I don't have omnipotence, she targeted me with a con, she actively tried to fool me. At some point you gotta give yourself credit, it's ok to get conned, it's entirely the fault of the con artist for preying on you.

One "hindsight is 20/20" type of thing though, I wouldn't have shown her your discoveries. Just let her freak out and blame you for "randomly" leaving. Had you kept it cryptic she wouldn't have clarity with the situation, she'd be unable to adapt, and thus she'd become sloppier with her next boyfriend. You protected her from the chaos of not knowing.

By showing her your cards and what you know, she gets to go back to the lab and figure out how to hide it better next time. I get it though, you wanted to show her how much of a lying con-artist bitch she was, you wanted to show her how heartless she was. Trying to influence her in some way. It doesn't matter, she'll just hamster it all away, she doesn't see reality like you do. In her mind, at the end of the day it's never her fault. If it's never her fault she can live with the cognitive dissonance of hurting people she purports to love.

You didn't deserve the pain and betrayal, but look at the bright side, now you're free.

[deleted] • 15 points • 1 February, 2019 03:21 PM*

WOW. Way to start my day, sitting at the breakfast bar, zoned out of reality. Thanks for your story. Saved for a future kick in the balls. Hope you recover from this brother! My ONLY question is: why? If she had everything she needed and didn't struggle for money...why do it? I once asked a Vegas escort why she does what she does: attention.

When I was in the USAF, my last supervisor was a female of about my age who was a single mom with a mixed-race daughter of about 6 years of age. She (my supervisor) was either divorced or in the process.

I was nearing 30 and found her attractive, so I would talk to her every chance I got.

In the course of those conversations I found out that she had been a prostitute in Pittsburgh, PA.

That relationship went nowhere, thank God.

deathtocontrollers • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 05:30 PM

In the course of those conversations I found out that she had been a prostitute in Pittsburgh, PA.

It's a lot more common than you think, considering the economy in the USA has been shit for a long time and college and university is so expensive.

Nagi21 • 14 points • 1 February, 2019 04:08 PM

Unorthodox opinion: aside from the almost marrying her bit and forgetting rule 1, it doesn't seem like you did much wrong. You and her split the rent, you had some good times, got to bang a hot chick people were paying for for free. Up until forgetting not to marry them, I say it went about as well as possible until the inevitable end.

boy_named_su • 13 points • 1 February, 2019 05:33 PM*

Jesus, man. This is the best MGTOW writeup I've seen.

There were red flags, you just didn't see them:

1. Lawyer
2. Big city girl
3. Met online

And probably others you didn't mention. You also should have known better than to move in w her without being engaged

I have a sneaking suspicion that the Great Recession hit millenials so hard that every single one of them is a sugar baby or has fucked for money

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 4 points • 2 February, 2019 02:52 AM

I agree although here is the biggest red flag I ignored.

She's a woman. ;)

richbeezy • 14 points • 1 February, 2019 06:45 PM

Getting into a relationship is like doing a bunch of cocaine.

It feels so damn awesome when you're on it (beginning), but then it makes you feel like dog shit when its ending (coming down).

And THAT folks, is why I don't deal with EITHER.

What I've come to ponder over and realize, is that the deception men have fallen under is that the relationship between sexual partners is a substitute for the relationship of Brotherhood.

This is not true. The only truly fulfilling relationship a man can have is with his brother in arms. People who act towards the same goal as you.

Thinking back on my life, it becomes remarkably clear how true this is. I've never found it meaningful or worthwhile to "socialize" with people. But you get me and my gaming buddies together as we play and train to become national contenders? The bonds are real, which is why they're still my only friends ~10 years later.

/u/Liquid_Leopard I don't know you, but I understand and empathize with your struggles. "MGTOW and AWALT, and never forget it" indeed.

I don't regret it because I have fully custody of an awesome 4 year old boy. And I learned more knowledge from that experience than all 4 years of college combined.

Disbursed-operant • 9 points • 1 February, 2019 05:28 PM

Man I feel for you. I really do. I've been in nearly the exact same situation and it suuuuccckks..

It sucks because the three things we innately value about women is

1. Youth and beauty. (You get one like this, and you're happy because you got that nice pussy. And you get validation for being the guy who got the pretty girl)
2. Kindness. (Because shes not worth staying with if shes a total bitch, we want to be treated well and be around someone we like)
3. Loyalty. (That shes ours. We're both satisfied and enjoy eachother so much that we wouldn't stray. I'm yours, you're mine kindof thing)

Those are the qualities that make your "unicorn".

Man you got number one for sure, and what sucks is that you had every reason to believe her. And found out that it was all a lie. You're right, it feels like being slammed by a god-damned mountain.

I'm hoping that you're doing better now, and moving past that. You now have immutable proof that truly all women are like that and unicorns do not exist.

So tell us man, what are you doing to improve yourself and be satisfied walking the path? How do you mgtow these days? What's good with you?

Drawtist123 • 8 points • 1 February, 2019 04:50 PM

Dude.. There's the red-pill, and even black pills. The pill you took here though... It's a pill that has no description.

Yet you seem to be doing fine (dear god man, I really hope you're able to move forward for yourself now, and hopefully telling your story here has helped). How you explained your world spinning hit home for me as I went through a partially similar experience. One tiny fight and a lie about who drove her home later sent my world crashing down around me. AWALT. Every. Last. One. Only consequences can stop it - and women don't have any.

[deleted] • 10 points • 1 February, 2019 05:17 PM

She already established that she was untrustworthy. I might have held back the binder to see how she responded (you suspected she'd use gaslighting). I think it'd be interesting to see if she at least tried honesty as a last-ditch effort, or whatever other gambit she would have used. Honesty, at that point, it would be too little, too late, but... You might get to see a chameleon try on a shade of male virtue. It's sometimes interesting to see women try on the truth (before they decide it doesn't look good on them).

But, a note on holding frame: I was just brutally red-pilled toward this woman (actually a few women) for our relationship(s)... They called me a misogynist but they agreed with my estimation of female nature... You know, it's like the story of the frog and the scorpion: you know they're going to sting you, you tell them you know they're going to sting you, and they sting you... but they knew what they were doing, I knew what they were doing. They're bad people and they know they're bad people when you confront them... She admits she's a hypergamous bitch, but it doesn't change anything. It's just too integral to their person. You'll never find a woman who doesn't have a woman's nature, despite all the trappings and appearances. You might find a woman who's still discovering herself, but deep down, AWALT.

It'd be nice if scorpions made better pets, but it's just better not to let scorpions into your bed. Best case scenario: you have a grateful scorpion who stings you. Worst case scenario: you have a vengeful scorpion who stings you. Leave them outside to kill pests and don't fuck with them.

TruthSeekingPerson • 4 points • 1 February, 2019 06:04 PM

If you are going to get involved with women you have to stay indifferent to them. If you hand your soul to them you can be destroyed.

There's something to be said about the benefits of traditional values that modern society scoffed at. Limiting the access women have to men is one of the only ways to ensure fidelity. When you have men and women working side-by-side you can usually forget about fidelity. When you give women access to the internet to find men through Facebook and Tinder you can forget it too.

I don't know what the solution is. It seems like dating is going to die out as men stop trusting women in any romantic situation. We truly are entering a new era where chaos will reign until men restore order to things.

markus_brutus • 4 points • 1 February, 2019 06:17 PM

I feel that in order to truly swallow the red pill you have to experience 'true love' at least once. Otherwise you'll always wonder "what if".

Your wound will leave a scar and the scar will be a reminder of the true nature of a woman.

Stay strong brother, i know it's hard but in the end you'll come out a better man.

massy525 • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 06:27 PM

N19864 • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 06:00 PM

We have new members daily, younger members with questions and advice concerns and I think we need to keep the fires and the anger stoked... keep fresh in our minds how women, their stupidity, selfishness, and hate can ruin men's lives.

I thought MGTOW is not about anger which most likely would lead to hate. We would become like feminists. Indifference is the way. If one lucky guy gets married to a Western Unicorn and lives in union until death, then I would be happy for him (and her). There numbers are rare in the West. In countries where the laws are not so lopsided, where prenups are actually valid and patriarchy rules, marriage still works.

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 02:47 AM

Anger can be constructive too. I don't hate women, and I'm not currently angry at a single thing in the world, but I had to eat anger when first going MGTOW to keep the emptiness and hate for the system at bay until I learned. Once cooler heads prevail and we get our feet under us, we can circle back to the young angry guys and give sage advice. This happened to me almost a decade ago, but I share the story to let new members know they aren't alone and that my stories and advice come from a place where I know what they are going through.

i love how u protected yourself against the inevitable gaslighting, that is CRUCIAL Watermelon_Soldier • 6 points • 2 February, 2019 03:07 AM

Saddest part of this story for me was the part where you said how mad you were at yourself for “being fooled” and “falling for it”

IMO that’s the worst part. Because I’ve been there. And I’ve hated myself for “being that stupid” which is really a shame because we are not the ones at fault in this situation. She is the terrible person who did the terrible thing. The fact that women have the power to make men feel bad about themselves is I think a woman’s most dangerous weapon. I've, in the past, let women tell me how I should feel about myself. Ive had moments where I've been in such dark places, hating myself for being so foolish and falling so blindly for the trap. But lesson learned. I will never allow a woman to try to make me feel that way again because I won't put myself in that situation anymore

MesaBoogeyMan • 5 points • 2 February, 2019 01:52 PM

Sweet Jesus man. Its posts like yours that will help people understand exactly why we choose ourselves over the plantation. Thanks for your post. My weekend just got better knowing I will never allow myself to be fooled again or a slave to anyone.

I'm glad you got out before getting married or having kids or anything.

She would have taken you for all you had

Dmapguy • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 06:10 PM

I was more or less subscribing to the PUA community and mind set; playing on women's weaknesses to get laid and have fun.

You mean RMG, DDJ, Rollo, and 21 Studios way of life.

LFC90cat • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 06:42 PM

always wanted to hang out with me and our mutual friends,

What happened to them? What did they ask?

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 02:33 AM

I just said we broke up. They were mostly dudes we rode motorcycle with so they just said they were sorry to hear about it then we went riding. Men are so simple in comparison to women haha.

thearmchairwarrior • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 07:10 PM

My only other friend a female was a law student, now a lawyer and went to a very expensive school for it. She told me alot of female law students are escorts and strippers. and they don't hide the fact. Oh my friend is over weight lol. So she spilling the beans on the females to me since college LOL.

JaeWolves • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 08:15 PM

Thanks for sharing OP. I'm sorry this happened to you; but at the same time glad that it did before you got further down that poisonous hole. I shared a somewhat similar experience in thinking I found a unicorn. Especially how our interest lined up so perfectly. She quickly became my best friend because none of my guy friends even shared that same amount of interests and hobbies. After 5 years of hell and seeing her ride the Cock carousel, I realized her only real hobby was mirroring the things that the men in her aim have. Never thought anyone's interests right down to their Spotify playlist could change so quickly.

It all helped me in retrospect. My best friend of 25 years doesn't share half of my interests and hobbies, riding in the car together sucks because we can barely take legate each other's musical interests, but that dude would take a bullet for me and I for him. The loyalty is real, and the conversations too. There's no bullshit or manipulation, no hidden agendas. Just real people always keeping it real. I wouldn't trade a boatload of 10's for my best friend.

red_matrix • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 08:21 PM

Instagram girls constantly get PM'd over dates, sugar daddy arrangements and all kinds of strange offers for freaky sex, pay for play, etc. if your girl is moderately attractive she will get hit up with all kinds of offers for paid sex, guys will fly these women to NYC, Dubai, Rome, etc. And a lot of young girls end up taking these offers (they just keep quiet). Instagram is a giant escort website and most girls know this. Have you noticed how many girls travel solo these days? Look at all those Instagram girls in Dubai, Bora Bora, Bali, France, etc. How do you think these broke ass girls can afford to travel and stay at these Five Star resorts?

Goddamn bro. Sorry that that cunt played you like a fucking worthless, low, amoral snake.

Thank you for the life lesson. I grew up with older sisters, several female cousins, and several aunts. I sure as fuck learned early not to trust these bitches because I learned that:

women have no guiding principles, and no integrity. They are predators without moral compasses.

Still, it's easy to want to believe that "Oh... This one is different. She's so <good quality>. Surely she's a special unicorn!". Especially when I meet women who seem to have morals and principles. What I've learned though is that women's entire life is focused on deception and secrecy. Women have two faces: their public persona, and their private, true persona.

Unless you're a female friend who they're close to, and who they confide all their juiciest gossip and stories... you'll never know the true private persona of a woman. (Even then it's suspect).

I remember one day, at my sister's house, hanging out... another of my sisters was there as well. And then our female cousin shows up, who is close to the other sister. I guess she was too excited to spread her gossip that she forgot I was in the room-- This female cousin practically immediately, and so excitedly tells my sister, "Oh my god! I have to tell you something! It's so crazy and gross! Julie (i.e. fake name of cousin's own sister, early 30s) just told me that she woke up today in the bed of a 70 year old man. She has been fucking this guy, and possibly this other 70 year old guy..."

She said all of this, either not caring that I was sitting on a nearby couch in earshot, or she just didn't give a fuck, because it was so normal for her.

Now, I had eavesdropped on women before, including family, friends, and strangers at restaurants. But still, I was fucking blown away. And I shouldn't have been... I should have known her capability. This person had no loyalty to her own sister, and she was so fucking excited to share her new gossip, and talk shit about her own sister, to my sister. Jesus fucking christ dude.

Women are all-- ALL sick. They're all fucked in the head. NEVER EVER TRUST THEM

Damn man. You seem like a bright and together dude. I sighed several times reading your story, reliving that same feeling of a mountain leveling me after facing a similar life-changing event when I was younger. Sorry this happened to you. You have a lot of potential and are obviously smart. Glad to see your defenses have increased to prevent this shit from happening again.

OddPhilosopher1 • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 11:01 PM

I am sorry that you had to go through this. Thank you for sharing though, I've had a rough past couple of days struggling with loneliness and needed to be reminded of why it is better to walk alone than to walk alongside someone carrying a concealed knife ready to stab you in the back multiple times, no matter how great of a man you are. It is just never enough for them. Again, thank you for reminding me, your goal has been achieved at least for one person.

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 02:09 AM

[deleted] • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 11:21 PM

your first real error was assuming there are women that are not whores. that falls under the AWALT tree of awalt-isms. all women are whores. not some...all. and it's only a matter of time. i've had girls tell me they'd never fuck and were verifiable virgins, but a few rightly places kisses on the neck and they were ready for penetration. It's in their DNA.

I've dated the most well raised, low n-count women and i've dated whores. there isn't a huge difference even when you take the extremes on both ends. especially in the modern age, even the good girls are just ticking time bombs, maybe you catch them before they fully whore out, but even the virgin strictly raised girls do eventually as its promoted by our culture.

I just think of women as like cats in heat. that meowing, moaning annoying call, just can't help it but call to be fucked type of animal. its just in their blood. I have good relationships with women as long as i follow one very strict rule, that is to only trust them when they are in my sight. physically that is. like i've had a few girlfriends i lived with and we spent most of each others time together, we enjoyed being together and were together so much it would be basically impossible to cheat in any concerning way since we were together so much. But if its something casual, it's the oh we meet on the weekends sometimes casual dating, you can assume she's getting trained deep orgy style when she's not with you.

uncle_hobo • 3 points • 1 February, 2019 11:22 PM

Wait, so she's a law student who has all these hobbies and runs marathons? She liked to spend all her time with you and your mutual friends? She had a conference for school in NYC? This doesn't add up. I've been through law school - it dominates your life. There's no time to train for a marathon, let alone have all those hobbies and time for hanging out. When did she have time to read, prepare outlines, and study? And I've never heard of having to attend a conference in another city for school. Wouldn't one of your red flags have been how she's paying for school, or the debt she'd be in if she was taking student loans? As a runner, why would she take off her Fenix and leave it lying around? I'm a runner, and every runner I know only takes off their Garmin to charge it, and otherwise wears it all the time. If she's such a sneak, why did she leave it lying around where you could see her notifications? There are plenty of actual stories of women behaving badly that justify contemplating MGTOW. Making up carefully crafted, perfect stories of betrayal that are easy to see through won't help the cause.

This is an anecdote, and it does not prove anything with regards to women.

ramfex21 • 3 points • 2 February, 2019 12:54 AM

It just amazes me how cold and calculating women can be. This is truly sociopathic behaviour. These days, this behaviour is the norm amongst women. All they value is attention, period. There is no limit to what women will do to gain her validation and attention hits.

XavierMalory • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 03:18 PM

Sociopathic behavior among women is normal these days.

Meanwhile a man's normal behavior is being labeled a mental illness by the APA.

The inmates are running the asylum.

Emailfarhad • 3 points • 2 February, 2019 01:22 AM

Dude that story was so fucking deep. That pit in your stomach feel is almost unbearable and I could feel your pain just reading each sentence. We must condition ourselves to realize there is no happy ending...just stack your cash and have some really good friends. I'd also recommend ending your relationships with woman when they are totally into you. They'll keep coming back so you'll have temporary companionship but never get too close.

Frantastiq • 3 points • 2 February, 2019 01:24 AM

Once I read that you met her in a dating app, I knew what was going to be the deal with. Women that are in dating apps/websites it's not most likely to actually get on a functioning date, but more of a sexual encounter.

I have friends of mine that have done the same bloody thing. Get on a dating site, get a match, see if it goes towards sex, if it's possible that this guy can give more than sex, then let's try to catch that, actually is a decent man with goals and wants to be successful, BAM, let's drain all of that but "smartly".

It's truly a shame that you had to suffer from all of that, but hopefully you'll stay more alarmed and probably start learning tricks to prevent this from happening.

[deleted] • 3 points • 2 February, 2019 01:30 AM

The irony is that she doesn't share your hobbies, women study men's hobbies and pretend to be interested to manipulate them.

There aren't words for your story. I probably would've passed out from a combination of anger, sorrow, anxiety, and despair, pure tunnel vision, heart pounding in my throat.

I went completely nuts just learning the last ex had gone on a date the weekend she dumped me.

When I discovered this on a social media post 3 months later, the dude in photo from her date was referred to as her boyfriend. We had been long distance for the last 3 months of relationship, so you'll never be able to convince me she wasn't already cheating on me with that guy before dumping me.

Im thanking god right now that u did not marry this woman. When u think of this story, make that the moral, you did not marry her. For all the hurt that u feel now she couldve destroyed ur entire existence had u married.

Godspeed

I emailed to mods for an answer as to why. Other than changing her profession and the dating site on which we met (I have rl friends here on MGTOW and would rather not oust myself) the rest is completely the truth. we shall see how they respond.

blind_sypher99 • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 08:25 AM you tried to hard to appeal to the community. that entire text is one fat brick of everything mgtow talks about. it cheesy, poorly thought out and never happened

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 08:45 AM

I don't give a fuck about appealing to any community, especially an online one. I'm not bothered by your disapproval and your right to feel about it the way you do is fair and your opinion.. however, if my story helps a couple guys who are in a similar situation see they are heading down the same track I did (which is what I gather from some of the original replies), then my time writing and sharing that was worth it.

I know the first time I heard about a woman giving birth to her child, then stuffing it into a trash bag and tossing in a dumpster... I had a hard time believing it too. Doesn't make it less real and that it didn't happen.

blind_sypher99 • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 08:52 AM

I know the first time I heard about a woman giving birth to her child, then stuffing it into a trash bag and tossing in a dumpster... I had a hard time believing it too.

You raise a fair point. I guess what I find so unbelievable is how good it was, at least from your perspective.

(There is no end to this struggle, is there. Not in women, possessions , long life. Nothing.)

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 08:58 AM

Man honestly that's why I was so blinded and never saw it coming. I considered myself wary and smart... "red pill", thought I was being careful, but you just can't let your guard down, they burn you time after time. I hold no ill toward women still, but you just can't get feelings for them, they will tear you up for it.

I think it's important to have struggle its what gives us strength and defines us, without it, we have nothing to strive for and that's a truly empty life.

If you're going to get a smartphone it pays to make sure privacy options are properly configured.

Going to law school is itself a red flag. If you're exceptional in some way it can be a good idea and a lucrative career, but for the average person law school is a trap. Too many graduates, stagnant industry. And most importantly, grossly overpriced degrees resulting in crippling debt. Although apparently your ex didn't have to worry about that.

Paladin2903 • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 01:25 PM

This is very true. It's an EXTREMELY cliquy, uppity, and snooty industry. You need to have major connections to get anywhere — while also being talented at what you do. It's not for the faint at heart, and that's why most new lawyers will fail.

It's highly stressful, and if you don't have the right connections, they will toss your resume in the bin. A regular person also needs to graduate from a top law school, in order to even have a chance at succeeding. It has to be a top 20 (nationwide) law school.

Also, another thing to keep in mind is that many legal jobs have been outsourced, which is why competition and selection has become more stringent and snooty. I looked into becoming a lawyer (when I was younger) and found all of this out.

DWShimoda • 3 points • 2 February, 2019 09:23 PM

I really don't see anything that I would call:

fully vetted, carefully screened

Doesn't appear that you actually did ANYTHING of the sort, you just fell for the bog-standard "chameleon" routine, that nearly every other guy does; you're just self-delusional in thinking that somehow your "character analysis" was of a higher level...

Clearly it wasn't.

Why do the best red pill lessons and stories such as this come from Chads such as OP?

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 02:52 AM

Because sometimes we all assume that if I had done "x" differently I could be happy, or if I was a Chad I could have a good girlfriend or whatev's. Truth is, if you can read about anyone (movie stars, musicians, people that are rich, handsome etc) and see they get burned too... it can help us realize that everyone sooner or later gets fried by women. I'm not Chad I dont think, but my N count is in the hundreds (I'm 46 now, the story above was from a decade ago) and I always thought I knew women. You can never know women.

NightOuts • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 05:58 PM

havnt read yet, but one thing to consider is the fact that many cam sites have thousands of girls stripping at a time (they can block their local counrty) and your popular local escort site has hundreds/thousands of ads daily. (new ads every minute) for a woman - stripping, fucking for money or getting a sugar daddy is easily the fastest way to make good $ - so many women may do it on the low. I know a couple women who had daily revenue's of $1000 - $1500.

will read the story shortly

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 02:36 AM

I'm new to reddit. I joined a year ago but just never read much other than stuff on crypto currency. I found MGTOW after scouring the web for red pill, PUA and men not dating and staying single which led to MGTOW. Buy some books or hit the web for covert narcissism and psychology books. Helped me a ton on understanding what happened to me.

SmrtMouth1 • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 06:48 PM

This actually just sent me on a wave of emotions and I say that as someone who isn't typically emotional when reading these things. You seem like a genuinely good guy with a similar thought process to me. You also seemed well versed in your technology and are smart when it comes to tracking people down via the Internet and you're very resourceful with what you did with the iPad. That's something I resonated with a lot and although it sucks that you had to go through with all of this you were at least you were blessed with the wit to protect yourself accordingly.

absolute_panic • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 06:52 PM

Fuck. This shit just triggered me. I just went through a very similar mind-destroyer breakup 2 months ago. I'm so fucking sorry you had to go through this shit, man. It's overwhelmingly devastating.

She was paying half the bills, buying you things, and giving you sex whenever?

You should have just kept that gravy train running. Most women will just fuck around on you without giving you any of those three things.

WachanIII • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:12 PM

I'm sorry buddy. That was devastating but you got out before the hole swallowed you into the abyss

Schwaggaccino • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:22 PM

What pisses me off more was the fact that you never heard from her again. Just like that. Gone. Not a single "I'm sorry" or "I fucked up" text. Complete unemphatic narcissist. At least when I broke up with my ex, she still called and texted me for a few months. I am somewhat emotional but I have no remorse for someone like that. That's the biggest form of betrayal. For women, it's not about a connection or feelings or friends, it's just to attract more resources even if things are going great. Everything she told you was a lie.

Part of the blame is on social media and another part of the blame is on weak ass thirsty men. I'm perfectly fine with living by myself as long as I got close friends and family. I know they will be there in a heartbeat if I need them but the average 2019 female? Lmao yah right. They are only there during your success.

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 02:24 AM

I made it clear I did t want to hear from her, it's easier when you can start to heal immediately.

ChestyPullerton • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:32 PM

This brought up some strong past feelings for myself. My now ex wife came home from military training with a urinary tract infection. I took her to her appointment and she left her phone in the waiting room chair. Incoming text from some guy saying he can't believe how good she gives road head and can't wait to fuck her tight ass again. Those two things are very relevant because these are things she refused to do with me because she said they were gross. I had a 5 and 7 year old child with her at the time and as my mind and heart raced I tried to tell myself it was just some random miss-text. Once we got home I looked at the computer and saw in her search history that she wasn't smart enough to delete "urinary tract infection from new sex partners" "My world came crashing down. I've been divorced 6 years now. You dodged a hell of a bullet brother.

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 02:23 AM

Damn man. Sorry to hear that. When I was 21 I had a girl I thought was solid fuck a buddy of mine while I was training. He told me when I got home. Was pissed for him banging her but forgave him since it's not really the dudes fault, it's the woman that is the gatekeeper to her pussy. If it hadn't been him it would have been another dude and would have never found out since this was the days before cell phone (I'm 46)

Robin2Fast2Furious • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:39 PM

I would have not played all cards. Shouldn't have given her that binder of all the screenshots. Just kick her out and end it. Sometimes you don't need to give a reason to ending things. Closure is not necessary in every situation.

That way you won't be liable for blackmailing her since it is premeditated due to taking effort to print and create the binder. But either way, kudos.

PubliusVirgilius • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:39 PM

Every man who has doubts about MGTOW, should read this story.

There is no other option as going MGTOW.

vicsj • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:40 PM

What even is the point of women... Why are they still around? Are all of them evil? Every single one? If that's the case, then why the fuck are they still around FFS.

What can we do to fix this issue? It's not like they can stop existing either because or else there won't be any new children but it all seems so toxic... What are we supposed to do?

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 02:18 AM

Can't fix them... AWALT. Just walk away, MGTOW.

KosherMGTOW • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:40 PM

Crossfit? Really?

the_m3me_monster • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:41 PM

Think I'm the youngest one here lol

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:43 PM

Jesus Christ man. Fuck women.

the_m3me_monster • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 08:53 PM

Tell everyone she knows

LimousineLibtard • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 09:01 PM

All women are just different degrees of whore. They were biologically programmed to be this way. Never expect anything else from them and most importantly, never get attached.

Megitgud • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 09:03 PM

Oh boy how I missed a good cuck story, thanks mate. May this be a lesson to you married lurkers. What the female does to look like a unicorn (and bait even the "red pill") is called mirroring and it's just your turn. This whole strategy is similar to Bait and Switch fraud in sales.

fuxkingweirdo666 • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 09:21 PM

Where can I learn to be red pill?

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 02:17 AM

Right here on MGTOW my friend. YouTube red pill theory and MGTOW.

fuxkingweirdo666 • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 02:25 AM

Sweet as, i'm sick of these females living on recruit difficulty and acting like parasites.

Gerrard1649 • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 09:21 PM

I googled "S. A." and got Sexaholics Anonymous

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 02:17 AM

As I posted on another comment, I tried to cut my story down and so I left out some details. I dont remember exactly what I searched for but I came across that after 15 mins or so, and from the context of her messages I knew it was hookup related.

dark_kniggit • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 09:22 PM

Sorry mate, brutal. Good on you for handling it like a man.

Lessons for others - independent travel is a huge a red flag, in any context.

Often, the key sign is an outreach for connection. This is hypergamy in action. They'll seek to solidfy their emotional anchor before going to whore it up.

There's very few ways a woman can go out of town and be trusted, but encountering this is a five alarm bell.

PyroManiacxx • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 09:29 PM

TheGoldenStadium • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 09:59 PM

This right here, thanks for sharing this man because even as a red pill man I was still date here and there but this is my biggest fear.

U-94 • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 10:04 PM

Well you know she'd have never gotten pregnant because she'd lose that sweet hooker money.

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 02:15 AM

I had a vasectomy. If she said she was pregnant it would have been a dead giveaway she was cheating haha.

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 10:12 PM

This is so sad, I read most comment and all of us is just sad that most women cant be trusted. All we want is to have 1 faithful women in our life, witch is not possible. Yet people call MGTOW a brunch of disrespectful bad men.

Massgumption • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 10:25 PM

Dammit, did she even try explaining her position? Shocking.

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 02:13 AM

She did, I wasn't having it.

Revorob • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 10:26 PM have her shit gone by the weekend or I'd send copies to everyone she knew.

Were I in your situation, I'd probably still send copies to everyone she knew.

TheLightningMachine • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 10:32 PM

Hi. Thank you for sharing your experience with us. Did she destroy or damage anything on the way out?

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 02:12 AM

Nope. I have to assume she thought I would tell everyone what she did.

AncapGhxst • 2 points • 1 February, 2019 10:57 PM

You didn't mention anything about her childhood or how many sexual partners she had. You didn't vet properly dude. Its obvious the only thing that kept you guys together was lust. What are her values and virtues? Obviously we found out some of them here from finding out she's a prostitute but you didn't even search for all the other potential red flags. What is her Adverse Childhood Experience score?

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 02:12 AM

Very late in dating I found out her father was an alcoholic and mother a narcissist. She lied about that too.

Lots of red flags after the fact but I learned my lesson... And well.

DaveC111 • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 12:02 AM

That shit hurts to read. Mine is different but similar enough. The reaction has been almost the same, though. GL, brother! You're not alone!

[deleted] • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 12:16 AM always watch out for those "independent" and "smart" women. they think they own the fucking world. and our media reinforces that

LogansGun • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 12:44 AM

I'm so sorry, man. Very well written post though I followed the story very well. But man I'm sorry to hear it.

I am one of the younger followers that you mention in your post and I am wondering what signs or "red flags" as you mentioned should I look out for? 19 years old btw.

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 01:51 AM

Read through the chat on my other thread, a lot of good talk and info there...

flee_market • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 01:02 AM

All my reading and research... feeling I was smart and superior enough to not let this happen to me...all for nothing. I got played.

You played yourself.

Yeah she did all that shit behind your back, but it was your willingness to ignore what you know and engage in delusion that allowed it all to happen.

"This one will be different!"

This was a woman I could have thrown my life away on... a fucking whore for fuck sakes.

They're all whores. Every single last one.

Until no one will fuck them anymore, and then they're bitter ex-whores.

mercurg • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 01:08 AM

AWALT!

playitcooljack • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 01:31 AM

I'm so sorry to add to this dumpster fire because I've been there but you should know, she's also a cop. All prostitutes are informants. Shot in the dark but if her initials are LP fucking RUN!

zAnkle • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 01:37 AM

That hurt for me to read, I'm sorry this happened to your brother. Stay on your own path and take care of yourself.

This is some shit, man. Glad you made it out OK, though. I also dealt with a psycho bitch who's antics in the final days could sell a blockbuster movie. Let me tell you something. They're all whores. Every goddamn motherfucking one of them. You can quote me on that.

HelmutHoffman • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 10:41 AM

The internet has ruined monogamous relationships forever and aye.

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 10:56 AM

I think it is easier to catch them cheating, and easier for women to monkey branch, but the problem has existed for as long as I can remember (90's) ...that being said, the internet is definitely ramping it up ten fold theoracleofosiris • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 11:02 AM

You're lucky you both were only dating. I had one like that too. No shared hobbies but we had 4 very good years together.

We got away pretty easy though the emotional damage has been done. No kids. No alimony. No child support.

No contact. A clean break.

JohnQPubliq • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 11:36 AM

Should have sent everything to her parents and friends anyway. Shes just going to do this shit again to the next guy. If you nuke her entire life at least the guy after you has a fighting chance to catch wind of this stuff.

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 3 points • 2 February, 2019 11:44 AM

I SERIOUSLY dove in head first to about a dozen books on Narcissism (after googling and researching some of her red flag symptoms) and it landing me there...specifically covert, introverted and sexual narcissism (Who knew that was a thing?!?) and every book says the same; until a narcissist wants to fix themselves, their inner self is so damaged and vulnerable they MUST find a way to blame society, their family, a pet...their houseplant... they just don't have the mental fortitude to handle the criticism and face it head on. They are emotionally a 5 year old child pretending to be a functioning adult human being, and sometimes doing it well. Even if I nuked her, she would say to herself that there was something wrong with me, or if I outted her to family, she would say I was crazy and I made that stuff up because she broke up with me and I was upset, and they lie to themselves so well sometimes they even start to believe it themselves. They are very good at twisting truths to deflect and damage away from themselves as they can't handle how ugly they are inside.

The only to win, is walking away.

JohnQPubliq • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 05:18 PM

You know why you fell into a relationship with this whore? Because the last guy she dated never tapped you on the shoulder to give you a heads-up.

Dont be that guy. keep low key tabs on her which is easy as fuck since these cunts put everything on social media and if somewhere down the road she lands another chump and they announce an engagement and wedding plans? send that dude a private DM and ask to meet him in a coffee shop alone. When he shows up you tell him to order a coffee and when he sits down you pull out a flask of high quality liquor and spike that shit. Tell him to get a nice buzz and relax for a bit before you guys talk and then calmly explain to him that before he marries this woman he needs to know the truth and then pull out a binder with all the info you collected and the pictures of her texts and let him read it. When he asks you why you are doing this just tell him that when you were dating her you wish one of her exes would have done this to save you from being with this bitch and you felt the need to give the next guy a fighting chance before he ruined his life. If he wants to ignore all of this and marry her anyway then go right ahead but at least now he knows.

Liquid_Leopard[S] • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 05:55 PM

I would but part of me going MGTOW was deleting social media. I kept IG for my travel journal and here... that's it. Before I left FB I did check her page, she never had any posts of any guys... probably banging a few at once and doesn't want to get outted haha

Paladin2903 • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 08:03 PM

In theory, this is a good idea, but in the real world, not so much. If I were him, I'm moving on and forgetting the bitch ever existed.

The only reason it's not a good idea, in the real world, is these blue pill simps live and die by the woman.

Their entire world and happiness is built around their "pretty little princess." Even when presented with facts and evidence, they will deny it (cognitive dissonance)...

Or, they will think the other guy is just trying to ruin his (or her) life, and they will negatively react, and sometimes it will even be violently.

Never underestimate a blue pill guy that just had his whole world shattered by another guy — which is what he views a competition. It usually never ends well.

Most people can't handle the truth, and as much as they say they want it, they really don't.

badaboomxx • 2 points • 2 February, 2019 03:20 PM

Well, at least you didn't end divorce raped. I got out before getting married twice, and at the end of the day I lose my rage and I see the bright side of things, at least I didn't went deeper. Good luck.

guru_dimension12 • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 12:03 AM

I'm so sorry you had to deal with this bro. I'm glad, however, that you have a community of men here who understand exactly what you have been through. You are free now, and in a situation that countless men would kill to be in.

I have to ask though

Wasn't the fact that you met her on bumble already a red flag? Also, what is red pill about moving in with the girl? That is like...Day 1 stuff?

hagoonamatata9 • 1 point • 2 February, 2019 12:46 PM

This is why I come here. To read stories like this. Helps me stay true to my path. Also, the more of these I read the less I resent women. This is just their nature. Hating a woman for doing this shit is like hating a lion for killing a deer.

That being said, stay away from the lions den. If you know what I mean.
