

What Have Women Ever Done For Men To Demonstrate Their Love For Them Besides Spreading Their Legs?

You don't love a man like a man loves woman. Men die in war for women, write songs for them, make art for them, cross seas for woman. Men work 10 hour days and spend it all on their woman. I sure you "love" men in your own way, but it's not a man's love.

Maybe it's time to just stop loving women. This means stop protecting them too!

ABrokenBeing • 193 points • 11 December, 2018 01:02 PM

Listen to the women, they don't want our protection anymore!

If they think they are strong enough to do it all then let them try!

TheLastMgtow • 119 points • 11 December, 2018 01:27 PM

They do need your taxes to keep our cucked society going.

busterninjasnake • 7 points • 12 December, 2018 02:17 AM

☐ not when the men keep dropping out of the work force.

TheLastMgtow • 5 points • 12 December, 2018 06:37 AM

There are always players for the game. Even if they need to import them

IoSonCalaf • 70 points • 11 December, 2018 01:12 PM

If men didn't need or want to have sex, they would form deep meaningful relationships with each other.

fasterfind • 79 points • 11 December, 2018 01:43 PM

I read about a bromance between two straight guys that realized they'd be happier with each other than any chick, so they crossed that line as an experiment, and it actually worked out.

omg_ppl_are_stupid • 67 points • 11 December, 2018 04:39 PM

Actually, i have my red pill boys (well all but one, but we're working on him) and we tell each other that we love them. We do things for each other. Every single of of them will, and has, dropped everything they were doing at the drop of a hat for each other at one time or another in different cases. We each have our strengths and our weaknesses and we all know about them and we don't prey on the weakness and we accept and encourage our strengths. It's truly fucking awesome, It's incredible how much love i feel with these men. We go backpacking, vacationing, We've built homes together. I mean this shit is insane, I have two children from my wife.... soon to be ex, and i can't wait to live the rest of my life with my boys. I move in with two of them this February. It looks like sooner or later we will all end up living together. We're looking at 600 acres right now to build out for ourselves. It's truly beautiful! No love of a women has ever been as strong as my boys and I. I just can't get over it.

summonblood • 36 points • 11 December, 2018 06:12 PM

You know this mentality is the crux of fraternity values. To love other men like your brother. Take care of them and they'll take care of you. That's the kind of mentality we should have and aspire to be like.

MarkAurelios • 27 points • 11 December, 2018 07:42 PM

Men have been in groups and fraternities for millennia. Jesus had a whole crew of Brothers that followed him that where closer to his heart (even the traitor Judas) then anything else.

flee_market • 3 points • 12 December, 2018 06:12 AM

I mean in fairness the dude could literally turn water into wine and had infinite party snacks with that whole bread and fish trick, you mean to tell me you wouldn't follow him anywhere???

Also he could probably cure hangovers with a touch so

Demiacus • -4 points • 12 December, 2018 02:41 AM

You know this mentality is the crux of fraternity values. To love other men like your brother. Take care of them and they'll take care of you. That's the kind of mentality we should have and aspire to be like.

Which women know very well how to exploit for their own purpose and ultimately breakdown. It can be both a strength and a weakness.

When people think of women as just manipulative i feel ...

I don't care what you 'feel' honestly.

Nowhere did I say in my reply, that I think of women to be just manipulative. I guess you have your own assumptions to consider.

thewalrus43 • 5 points • 13 December, 2018 06:40 PM

You said women use fraternal bonds and manipulate them.... Whatever my point was that you can make these same bonds with women.

summonblood • -1 points • 12 December, 2018 04:28 AM

Of course they do, most women power comes from social manipulation. Just be aware that this is how they do it and you'll be able to resist.

Tsukikoselenia • -12 points • 12 December, 2018 02:57 AM tl;dr, it's called loyalty.

It's just that it's a foreign concept for women. They just love to think they get it (when, in fact, their "loyalty" usually means "being dependent") because they've seen (not read, opening a book is too much) somewhere that it's supposed to be a good thing.

AvailableGuava • 11 points • 11 December, 2018 07:46 PM

Man that is awesome, I especially resonated with where you said we each have our strengths and weaknesses and dont prey upon them. That is just awesome

IoSonCalaf • 3 points • 11 December, 2018 07:27 PM

It's mine. Just something I noticed over the years. But I thought it applied here too.

FuhkReddit • 2 points • 11 December, 2018 06:49 PM

SO TRUE

[deleted] • 7 points • 11 December, 2018 07:05 PM

Maybe it's time to just stop loving women

this comes all too naturally with increasing understanding rodrigosuarez2k1 • 1 point • 12 December, 2018 05:58 AM

^This. The more I understand, the less I'm able to love women.

[deleted] • 1 point • 12 December, 2018 12:53 AM

Emotions aren't something that a mentally healthy man can just turn on and off like a light switch where as women can usually do this with ease.

flee_market • 4 points • 12 December, 2018 06:13 AM

I'm not convinced women actually experience emotion - it really seems more and more like they just simulate it when needed.

[deleted] • 1 point • 15 December, 2018 01:53 AM

You might be right. I suspect they experience petty emotion but nothing along the lines of what men tend to feel.

[deleted] • 220 points • 11 December, 2018 01:13 PM*

Men are willing to die in war to protect their women and children.

Women are willing to drown their own children and then fuck the invading soldiers for a chance to be their war brides. And the evolutionary reason is because that's what's best to ensure the survival of her offspring. That's all that matters to a woman, that her offspring survive and that they are attractive.

[deleted] • 77 points • 11 December, 2018 02:01 PM

That's all that matters to a woman, that her offspring survive and that they are attractive.

Recently, I have come to the realization that women are the ones who dream about children and family life; we do not. We never fantasize how our children will turn out nor do we plan on the theme for our weddings. Yet we are expected to finance these fantasies of the female-kind.

For this reason, I have come to the conclusion that MGTOW is the only reasonable way to live life as a man

Reinhard23 • 32 points • 11 December, 2018 06:10 PM*

I actually do fantasize how my children will be. I usually fantasize myself teaching them about life.

AnimeKhadir • 7 points • 11 December, 2018 09:20 PM

^Interestingly enough, women do not think about that at all. Imparting wisdom is the role of not just biological fathers but father figures to men in general. Women are only really necessary for the first couple years. Once kids begin to form their egos a good, strong father is integral to future stability. In Roman times, it was common for young boys to seek out very intelligent, well-read experienced men to learn about the world from since knowledge and experience was hard to come by. However, in exchange usually the kids would submit sexually to the men since pedophilia was acceptable in ancient Rome. Now you don't even need to throw that ass back for wisdom. All you have to do is a simple Google Search.

Tsukikoselenia • 5 points • 12 December, 2018 03:06 AM

https://www.huffpost.com/entry/are-men-more-romantic-tha\_b\_796099

I love the " Women, in general, tend to have more pragmatic views of love. " . Even something full of BP crap like the huffpost says it (...well, of course, it says it BUT it tries VERY HARD to make it look like a GREAT thing...)

As another study said, "men tend to think about the future, because to them the one they love is the one and only and it will stay this way". For women, the person is just one step in their life. They are more realist." Nice way of hiding hypergamy in plain sight.

The man wants to build the future, which includes teaching things to his children. The woman doesn't give a fuck as soon as the little thing is out of the womb and want to gather some more Chad DNA. Once their hormone rush is over, their children are tools for them anyway. They are unable to conciliate hormonal love (and this is something they can't even contradict, since they LOVE to use hormone as their excuse during their periods or pregnancy) and cognitive love. Which makes them terrible when it comes to raising a family.

[deleted] • 33 points • 11 December, 2018 05:56 PM

And the evolutionary reason is because that's what's best to ensure the survival of her offspring.

I've begun to realize that this assumption is slightly off the mark in the sense that it's about fundamentally selfish behavior not because they have a truly selfless love for their children. Their phenomenal capacity for selfishness does in fact benefit their offspring but that's merely an unintended evolutionary benefit of their inherent narcissism.

Jonnywest • 15 points • 11 December, 2018 08:06 PM

I completely agree with this. Their self-serving nature would brutalize their offspring if they didn't care so much about their socially-perceived image of being "a hardworking, loving mother". They fake it very well. But trust me, only about 5-10% of child support is ever spent on the child.

[deleted] • 8 points • 11 December, 2018 08:14 PM

But trust me, only about 5-10% of child support is ever spent on the child.

The welfare state still exists, it's just being privately funded in the form of excessive child support payments.

t353tfb • 1 point • 12 December, 2018 07:41 AM

I think it's one of those occasions where the evolved function has a redundant side effect, but the side effect isn't harmful enough to get bred out of the gene pool. Like nipples on men.

[deleted] • 13 points • 11 December, 2018 05:42 PM

that her offspring survive and that they are attractive.

Hence the female obsession with making their newborn baby boys sexier by forcing them to undergo cosmetic surgery on their genitals.

trenos89 • 4 points • 11 December, 2018 06:59 PM

The sad thing is. Hes right. History has shown women do this time and time again. You have three as many female ancestors as males. And that is the reason.

Zambeen1 • 5 points • 11 December, 2018 08:42 PM

drown their own children

that's all that matters to a woman, that her offspring survive

I suspect you haven't thought this out very well.

[deleted] • 3 points • 12 December, 2018 01:04 AM

If their children would have been killed anyways, then freeing themselves up ensures that at least some of her children survive,

Natsume24 • 1 point • 11 December, 2018 08:50 PM

This is precisely why women have made issues with sperm banks allowing men under 5'9 to donate sperm: because they want their kids to be attractive.

JamesMercer1 • 2 points • 11 December, 2018 09:25 PM

Is that actually true?

Natsume24 • 4 points • 11 December, 2018 11:09 PM

It is true that sperm banks have height requirements. The criteria they have is based on profit and that is based on what women desire physically in their children.

Natsume24 • 3 points • 11 December, 2018 11:27 PM

<http://www.spermbank.com/how-it-works/sperm-donor-requirements> here's a breakdown.

Tsukikoselenia • 2 points • 12 December, 2018 03:13 AM

Wrong. Well, the whole thing is supposed to be right, but thinking that humans juust follow natural laws without any change is stupid, and if we did, women would still be bad, but not to this point. Indeed, the offspring is important for a woman. Because it will still have half of her genes. So you have to add the statut part, the solipsism part, and the narcissist one to the whole survival angle now. Their tingles still lead the whole thing, ultimately; not just the survival probability (whose factors can change depending of the context) of the children.

Natsume24 • 1 point • 12 December, 2018 03:17 AM

How can it be fixed?

Tsukikoselenia • 3 points • 12 December, 2018 03:31 AM

You're asking to change human nature here. This asks for thousands of years of manipulation in order to teach people to change themselves willingly by believing that they'll gain things from it so that they're doing it willingly (like, I guess I'll be downvoted by religious people for this but whatever, it's a good example, juust replace religion by anything else if you don't like it, how religion can be seen as something used to "bring some virtues" to people in order to control chaos by making them fear the afterlife.)

I guess them stopping to see children as a "thing" rather than a person would be a good start. But given how a lot of woman are about abortion when it comes to morality ("the state tells me that I have the right under x months, so whatever, it's just a THING and I can get rid of it without a second thought!") it's pretty much impossible. It's pretty much the mindset of anything that is in "high demand".

JamesMercer1 • 1 point • 11 December, 2018 11:31 PM

That's actually pretty crazy.

Dank-of-ENGLAND • 111 points • 11 December, 2018 01:09 PM

See that's my point. I have basically nothing to blame upon women, and I'm totally apathetic to their cause and reasons. But Men, since the primal age, bears this incredible responsibility of providing. They fo everything, in their capability to provide and love their female counterparts. They, more often than not, are the ones who are supposed to protect by whatever means necessary, hell we even lay down our lives for them. And fuck what everyone says, we deserved to be loved in the same exact reciprocating manner. World isn't fair, and not everything works out as planned, men and women both have through some inexplicable shit. People who say that women have always been tortured and deliberately shitted upon specially by men can get fucked.

FatChopSticks • 21 points • 11 December, 2018 10:43 PM

I read this somewhere

When a woman has a stay at home husband, then she married a lazy man

When a man has a stay at home wife, then the husband is very financially capable

busterninjasnake • 6 points • 12 December, 2018 02:16 AM

I second the getting fucked. These women are going to have to work for my affection, and the funny thing is, that just turns them on more. □

satchelmqueen • 87 points • 11 December, 2018 02:17 PM

At this stage in my life I think women do nothing for men to show their love for them. I do everything for mine and yet I cant name anything meaningful shes done for me that wasn't held against me at some point or brought up in an argument. When a man does things for a woman its because he wants to and that's the end of thw matter. When a woman does something for a man she does it as leverage for her use later at the time she chooses to use it against him in some fashion.

HarshTruth69 • 20 points • 11 December, 2018 06:24 PM

Why do you still put up with this obvious abuse lol anonymaccount666 • 4 points • 12 December, 2018 03:09 AM

Its difficult to cut a relationship if you are emotionally and financially involved. Give him some time... She will monkey branch soon or later, and then that will be the good time to breakup. That is what happened to me and im free now...

busterninjasnake • 7 points • 12 December, 2018 02:20 AM

Man, I'm still in the angry phase, and reading this make me want to make some sort of nonprofit for divorce abused men. Can I get a hell yes?

Fantoche_Dreemurr • 80 points • 11 December, 2018 12:49 PM

Love is an entirely foreign concept to women. What they feel is a sense of security. She knows that particular guy will take care of her, until she feels another will do it better.

NoThirst • 77 points • 11 December, 2018 12:59 PM

Women in relationships provide sex on a reward vs. punishment basis. Been a good boy? Bought me something pretty? Installed those cabinets? Come and get it...however disagree with her, hold her accountable in any way?...well...if you've ever been married...you know what comes next.

I_ysk • 41 points • 11 December, 2018 02:09 PM

Don't marry and you're legally free to outsource Sex if she tries to use it as leverage.

originalSpacePirate • 7 points • 11 December, 2018 08:10 PM

And dont live together. If you do the court still views you as a de facto marriage and punishes you just as if you were married and dont have children because that makes you virtually married in some courts eyes.

BumKnickle • 3 points • 11 December, 2018 11:10 PM

originalSpacePirate • 1 point • 12 December, 2018 11:31 PM

Keep_America_Free • 11 points • 11 December, 2018 05:16 PM

This sounds more like nice guy syndrome than how sex actually works with them. Nice guys do that shit because they THINK they'll get laid, meanwhile she's fucking chad upstairs while you're busting your ass only to get a thank you, if that

NoThirst • 5 points • 11 December, 2018 09:01 PM

Well...have you been married? Once kids show up she will loose much of her libido...happened to me...happened to some of my friends...sex then gets used for...other...purposes.

Tsukikoselenia • 3 points • 12 December, 2018 03:24 AM

The mistake of a lot of people here is that they think that being a Chad (in regard to one particular woman) is a sustainable thing. It isn't. Even if you are a Chad, if you try to have a LTR that includes children, and if you aren't the one to throw the towel first, that's what it'll come up to. A woman's respect and a man seriousness and time are inversely proportional. And since men are providers and, despite what the cliche says, caretakers (being good isn't being nice and an hypocrite, sometimes), he's always screwed in the end. Always.

[deleted] • 73 points • 11 December, 2018 12:01 PM

[deleted] • 46 points • 11 December, 2018 12:41 PM

Red_Pill_Dynamics • 5 points • 12 December, 2018 01:57 AM

Unconditional, sacrificial love for women will slowly diminish; however, it will increase for our brothers as we continue to see women for what they are and most aren't.

DangZagnut • 51 points • 11 December, 2018 12:35 PM

They nag.

They spend your money.

Oh right, according to feminists and other child rapists, they slave away pressing a button on a washing machine.

True love.

ThirstySasquatch • 35 points • 11 December, 2018 01:54 PM

My ex used to get off earlier than me most days even though I went to work earlier (shocker, I made more money) and she'd always expect praise when I got home for all the chores she did.

I responded one day something like this, "Ill say thanks, but Im not praising you. You didn't go out of your way...it's stuff everybody has to do and I did it all on my own before I met you. It's not hard work...it's required work. I didn't ask you to do any of it."

The reason women do shit like that is because they want to be built up by you and then they think you owe them something. Usually that something is worth a lot more too.

Like congratulations, you worked a washing machine and swept/mopped the floors. I can teach a fucking ape to do that.

DangZagnut • 19 points • 11 December, 2018 01:55 PM

and this is ignoring the fact that at work you have to kowtow to those who hold your strings be they those above you or your customers. there is always the impression/realisation that you are required to please person X.

women today seem to think they rule the roost and answer to nobody they dont have to satisfy or be order by anyone if they are a housewife, infact they become the "customer" and they become the "Boss" of the child, and when the man comes home he is bossed around by her again.

basically the female ego in one of these relationship never has to accept they have to satisfy and please an authority or group above them.

fuck that shit.

No, just that they factually DID exist... massively different society/era.

Still do... among the Amish.

J_the_Assassin • 13 points • 11 December, 2018 03:23 PM

With every "unicorn" I found that a large majority of them in fact did jump ship for a bit when there were strain in the relationship. Sure, they realized the err of their actions (probably by being caught) and the guy took them back. Or they played with fire for a bit behind the boyfriends back.

AWALT brother.

With every "unicorn" I found that a large majority of them in fact did jump ship for a bit when there were strain in the relationship.

Not talking about women YOU might have found.

Not even talking about women of my own (old fart) generation... rather I'm talking about SOME women (but not ALL women) born in the Great Depression era (circa 1930's) and prior.

Some, probably even MOST of it... was that it was relatively IMPOSSIBLE "back in the day" (we're talking rural farm life women here). Where they lived there were literally NOT that many available men to begin with; plus everyone pretty much KNEW everyone else (at most 1 degree away) within the general area/region that they were even able to travel to or have the least knowledge about.

Add to that women married young, and were generally either pregnant or nursing (yet another) infant child... often about a half dozen or more total, and typically about two years apart; beginning at age 16 or 18, and commonly NOT ending until their mid 30's (by which time -- given the hardships {actual ones, not illusory modern "first world" bullshit} they weren't exactly "prime catches" anymore).

Sure, they realized the err of their actions (probably by being caught) and the guy took them back. Or they played with fire for a bit behind the boyfriends back.

Possible... but generally improbable.

You simply have no concept of just how dramatically different that life was. (And again no, it wasn't like that everywhere -- women in cities were definitely able to "whore it up" -- in ways that the country/farm gals couldn't.)

AWALT brother.

Doesn't mean what you think it does.

born in the Great Depression era

Yep my maternal grandmother had 12 children with my grandfather and they were together their entire (rural) lives and my paternal grandmother was with my granddad until she died in her sixties.

It was a completely different time.

[deleted] • 6 points • 11 December, 2018 07:10 PM

Being strict materialists, women cannot even apprehend a noble concept such as "love". When a woman says she "loves her man", what she means is that she desires his capacity to provide for her, protect her, and propagate genes with her. Her "love" is only a measure of her perceived material security, nothing more.

HatemTommy • 4 points • 11 December, 2018 09:08 PM*

Romanticism was created by women in the 12 century as a means to control men by this sinful idea at the time. Marriage/matrimony (notice the MA not the PA) was created by women for women. But was blamed on the evil patriarchy. Finally women love OPPORTUNISTICALLY while men love IDEALISTICALLY.

A woman love to a man is literally the same as a woman loves her phone, one that utility is no longer a utility, her so-called love dissipates. Ironically and on the absolute contrary, men love almost unconditionally, and are willing to sacrifice their lives for their women. Women are overpriced in every way, shape and form, but until we all have answer dolls for a reasonable cost, we may need the necessary evil occasionally.

you all sound like a bunch of romantics here, am i the only one who doesnt love a woman and further more actively doesn't let this shit develop in him?

I am not burnt, i am not rejected, i have no desire to be entwined with one on a long term basis, i find them physically alluring and sexy as fuck, like a beautiful steak when you see it you think "hmmm I want to physically be all over that" but i sure as shit dont want to build my life together and listen to endless reality tv and office problems about inane shite for decades.

I dont see a female long term partner ever being an asset only ever a liability, the feedback i always got from past girlfriends is i "never talk about my feelings etc" with them, because ultimately i never saw the point and it seemed like a chore.

seeing the same person day in day out for years and years cant only make you resent them, and they you. sign me out of that shite please.

The amount of truth in this post is astounding. Women have had it to good for way to long. It's like they say "you never know what you had until its gone" I'm no longer sticking my head out for these cunts. Fuck that offthegridinc • 2 points • 12 December, 2018 02:53 AM*

Men don't fight Wars for women bro. They do it for themselves and frequently just so they can kill all the other guys and then go fuck their women got nothing to do with love.

I don't think Braveheart would have been so bent out of shape if him and his old lady could just go on being mud-hut farmers. He didn't fight that fight for his old lady bro he did it cuz he was pissed the fuck off they killed her. He wanted that shit.

Men don't write songs for women they do it for themselves to get women.

They don't make art because they're so fucking in love with women. I would venture to say most male artists. Were completely fucking miserable their entire life.

You know what men do to show women that love them and vice versa. They listen to them. They live for them. Your sacrifice things that they have for the other person. And you make that other person feel better about themselves. So maybe working 10 hours a day would apply.. but other than that I would have to say it's all butthurt..

It's all butthurt and what the fuck war did you fight in? Cuz I don't see it being too noble to dick ride on dead Fighters one way or the other.

chart6653 • 8 points • 11 December, 2018 06:17 PM

You're not 'the one', you're just the next one. She's "currently" pleased with the amount of resources you are providing.

hageshii_panda • 4 points • 11 December, 2018 07:40 PM

I don't provide anything really as far as resources go. We split stuff 50/50, except gifts to each other. We give each other lots of love and affection, but calculating that is something a mentally ill person would do. Also, this idea of "the one" is dumb to begin with. We love each other lots, and if we grow apart then so be it. It'll be sad, but life goes on. If we don't then great we were one of the lucky couples. Currently we are 3 years into a relationship. Loving every minute of it. I'm so fulfilled and happy it's great!

banned_by_cucks[S] • 0 points • 12 December, 2018 11:04 PM

Your turn not your woman, and no — you clearly came here with a disagreeable tone. Everything "your" woman does for you is fundamentally very easy and requires little investment or sacrifice on her part. Oh, a "I love you text"? She must have taken a bullet for you for that one. You'll continue to be blind due to the neurotransmitters flooding your brain, which makes you exhibit schizophrenic behavior.

hageshii_panda • 2 points • 13 December, 2018 12:59 PM

That's not how that works. You're taking my tone as disagreeable, I'm just happy.

L_darkside • 0 points • 11 December, 2018 05:17 PM*

I have also seen the opposite.

Crazy opinion: maybe you should stop dividing people in men and women, and starting to divide them as good people and bad people.

banned_by_cucks[S] • 10 points • 11 December, 2018 05:30 PM

I think you missed the point. Compare the lengths a man is going to go for a woman he truly loves vs. the lengths women will for men they "love". Even the best women will only go so far for their men.

L_darkside • 3 points • 14 December, 2018 12:46 AM

Last time i checked men went to war because other men ordered them to do so. Not for women.

CrazyPistachio • 2 points • 17 December, 2018 12:47 PM

Noo WW2 started because of a fine ass

Red_Pill_Dynamics • 5 points • 12 December, 2018 02:14 AM

And even the best woman isn't going to put her life on the line for her man, yet her man will do it almost always.

CrazyPistachio • 2 points • 17 December, 2018 12:48 PM

Then the Best woman is reasonable I guess. But also that's a statement without a proof, I believe women can be ready to sacrifice out of love. For a man or for a child.

Red_Pill_Dynamics • 1 point • 18 December, 2018 02:34 AM

And how many women do you know that are reasonable?

Ill believe it when I see it.

How many women sacrificed their lives when the Twin Towers were falling?

How many women went into those buildings to help survivors?

None.

How many ran off or watched from afar? All of them.

How many men sacrificed their lives?

I have yet to see one female "hero" who sacrificed her life for someone else, let alone a man. I'm not saying it doesn't exist, but I haven't personally seen it. For children? Her own perhaps.

I've seen a few female cops stand by as a male cop gets beaten down by a group of thugs or random people tho, and what the women did was pitiful during the fight taking place as grabbing someones arm or trying to swat at them doesn't count in my book.

CrazyPistachio • 2 points • 18 December, 2018 09:02 AM*

Ah, very quick Google search. Took me 5 minutes, here, little sample of women sacrificing themselves for others:

no women came to help in 9/11

Nope, not a one

Heck, some even sacrifice for a fucking dog.

Neerja Bhanot

Neerja Bhanot, Ashoka Chakra, Tamgha-e-Pakistan (7 September 1963 – 5 September 1986) was an Indian model and purser for the airline Pan American World Airways who gave her life trying to save passengers on Pan Am Flight 73, which was hijacked by terrorists during a stopover in Karachi, Pakistan, on 5 September 1986. Posthumously, she became the youngest recipient of India's highest peacetime gallantry, the Ashok Chakra Award, as well as several other accolades from the government of Pakistan and the United States. She was shot while helping passengers escape through the emergency exits. Her life and heroism inspired the biopic Neerja released in 2016 and directed by Ram Madhvani.

It's interesting because this statement is actually agnostic to the current social situation. Current social situation only brought this out into the light. This is a fundamental state of things. Figuring this out will determine whether 21st century West sinks or swims. Can we adapt to our own progress? Perhaps we just need more progress to deal with the existing problems? Male birth control, robots, AI, artificial womb, etc. would all contribute to a resolution.

joltek • 1 point • 12 December, 2018 02:45 AM*

It's all because men placed a value on the hole between a woman's legs and that decided what their hole are worth.

In the past, before MGTOW men have fought in wars, died in wars, civilizations moved forward because men thought that women's holes were worth all that blood and sweats.

Take away a cunt's value and treat it as just another meat hole and suddenly the cunts isn't worth all the blood, sweat and sacrifices. A meat hole is worth as much a gumball from a gumball machine.

RaptorDesign • 1 point • 12 December, 2018 03:20 AM

A man shows his love by doing anything and everything he can to please a woman. A woman shows her love by reminding a man how much he owes her for doing the bare minimum, interspaced with stories about what she used to do for other men.
