

Men and patriots are fighting, trying to save France. The Thots on the other hand....

1632 upvotes | 4 December, 2018 | by iamnotfromtexas90

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

jimjames1967 • 296 points • 4 December, 2018 01:04 PM

This pic is a metaphor for modern intergender relations. Now she'll claim oppression or some shit and the guy in the beret will apologize. Wish I was kidding.

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 01:08 PM

[deleted]

Chill-BL • 87 points • 4 December, 2018 03:01 PM

This is why MGTOW because MGTOW ain't nowhere to be found on these pics.

wildfireboat • 11 points • 4 December, 2018 08:44 PM

If I were in France I'd be protesting Macron too. Do you think the high taxes go to help French people or the EU leaders? Globalist faggots. All of them.

Chill-BL • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 08:42 AM

I dunno why the other dude disagrees, But I do agree with you in that regard. Yet burning other people stuff down doesn't help you and doesn't affect them. you're just being an annoying cunt. You either get to him or you starve the system (of your tax money).

renovatio93 • 0 points • 5 December, 2018 01:01 AM

I completely disagree with you regarding the taxes and globalism but its amusing to realize we'd be probably throwing explosives at each other while the thots are laughing at us.

wildfireboat • 0 points • 5 December, 2018 05:33 PM

Damn you like paying higher taxes because the Government says it's the best solution??

Would you suck a priest's dick because he says it pleases God??

renovatio93 • 0 points • 5 December, 2018 09:57 PM

because the Government says it's the best solution

No, because taxes pay for public services and for the government to function. That's basic education. Tax money in Europe goes back to the people, not to global imperialism and building prisons like US tax dollars.

wildfireboat • 1 point • 6 December, 2018 03:47 PM taxes pay for public services and for the government to function

Yeah this is high level, feelgood, shit.

The French are slapped with a tax that almost doubles their gas bill, unnecessarily.

Tax money in Europe goes back to the people.

Oh yeah? Then why are the French vehemently protesting higher taxes if it gOeS bAck tO tHE pEoPLE...

idealcastle • 21 points • 4 December, 2018 03:14 PM

Wow this is so accurate

Fearless_Ser • 9 points • 4 December, 2018 03:19 PM

Just one dilemma, what is he (guy on picture) holding?

realChebz • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 05:13 PM

nothing? Do you mean the part of traffic light that looks like a lunch bag?

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 05:19 PM

[deleted]

realChebz • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 05:23 PM

zoom in, pretty sure it's the yellow crosswalk button box thing

RedRageXXI • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 03:39 PM

I'd agree with this.

TontoKemosabe • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 06:00 PM

Outright violent rebellion is our best chance. All of us together at once. This is man's world and always will be.

VadeRetroLupa • 223 points • 4 December, 2018 12:34 PM

Since France elected Mr Macaroni, I have not been paying attention. "You wanted this" is my only opinion.

guacheSuedespare • 66 points • 4 December, 2018 04:51 PM

I mean just look at Macron and His Wife, he looks like a man child who gets fucked in the ass by his wife and cuckholded everyday

[deleted] • 29 points • 4 December, 2018 04:58 PM

Can a corpse fuck somebody in the ass?

[deleted] • 17 points • 4 December, 2018 06:37 PM

With a solid background in Necromancy, you sure can

HauntedPrinter • 13 points • 4 December, 2018 08:28 PM

Most politicians are expert in necromancy. Their speeches are so inspiring that many of their votes come from seemingly deceased people.

BattleBoi0406 • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 08:51 PM

I laughed so hard at this shetoldmeto80 • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 05:48 PM

While her daughters look very much like her... They are very much in his age range and I suspect he might be getting some action from them on the side...

Hugeknight • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 06:55 PM

I doubt that I don't think he has the balls.

Farhandlir • 44 points • 4 December, 2018 04:02 PM

They elected him because the mainstream media told them that Marine Le Pen is a racist, truth is she would have been the lesser of two evils.

shetoldmeto80 • 26 points • 4 December, 2018 05:44 PM

Every time Le Pen (or some other party than the stereotypical and frankly boring right/left) gets anywhere close to being elected, suddenly out of nowhere the media just bash them into oblivion.

Right before Macron was elected during the second turn, many damning emails from/to his staff were leaked (bribes, drug use etc). Not a single word in the press...

EnduringLiberty • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 06:06 PM

Actually, while it is true, and french media is indeed far left, Marine failed not because of them, but because she is an horrible person and would make Hilary look for a self made brave and intelligent woman.

Marine Inherited her political party from her father and pushed her relative in position of power.

She couldnt hold her nerve and failed spectacularly against macron, becoming more and more angry as he stayed calm to her provocations.

You should watch her debate, with Macron. She kept interrupting and enraging and passed for a fool.

Anixelwhe • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 07:12 PM

"horrible person" sounds like you have been getting your info from alt left activists (msm). Can you provide a better source?

aVarangian • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 06:26 PM

it was nearly impossible for me to find english-translated footage of the debates back then, I think I only found something like 40minutes of excerpts, did you find any?

EnduringLiberty • 4 points • 4 December, 2018 11:00 PM

I watched them in french. I am afraid there isnt much material in English as she did not attract many international coverage.

shetoldmeto80 • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 09:30 AM

Oh I know that, however, I am open to her winning elections merely as a "fuck you" statement to the political landscape.

[deleted] • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 07:38 PM

Åhh finally men with an actual sense of what happens in the media ultra_reader • 10 points • 4 December, 2018 05:21 PM

What would you expect from jew mainstream? They wouldn't let someone who loves their country to get to power!

How is someone who is against the EU better?

Farhandlir • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 12:42 AM

The EU is an unelected government mostly composed of industrialists and technocrats, people who have a lot of money and the power to sway things one way or another. The EU is no more democratic than China or Russia in that regard.

It's not what the EU was originally supposed to be about. It was originally supposed to be about creating economic interdependence between old enemies, the idea was that countries wouldn't go to war if they had strong economic ties.

The EU was never about ruling those countries, it was never about this shadow unelected government at the top having the capacity to overrule countries' decisions, the EU was never supposed to have a central government.

The EU and corrupt countries' officials used sneaky ways to get where we are now. French people were asked by referendum about ratifying the Lisbon treaty some 10 years ago. Even though the 'no' overwhelmingly won, Sarkozy did sign it.

Even when people vote against increasing the EU's power and influence, either their opinion is plainly disregarded or they are asked again and again until they agree with it, that is not how democracy works, the EU is not democratic.

Poland, Hungary and a bunch of other countries have now elected nationalist governments and are refusing to listen to the EU. With each new election more and more EU members are turning nationalist, the EU is about to implode.

The EU not being a physical entity and not having any territory of its own, its survival entirely depends on transfers of money from its members to Brussels. If enough countries stop playing the game will be over for Brussels.

They brought this upon themselves, if the EU had been an elected government by the people for the people then we wouldn't be where we are today. Being ruled by unelected people just because they have money is unacceptable.

fenbekus • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 12:47 AM

Poland, Hungary and a bunch of other countries have now elected nationalist governments and are refusing to listen to the EU. With each new election more and more EU members are turning nationalist, the EU is about to implode.

Yeah, I know, I'm Polish and it's terrible here, the current government is terrible, breaks the law and is overly religious... And believe me, even with the problems the EU has, I'd still rather have it than not. I'm planning emigrating to the UK next year because wages in this country are a joke, and with Brexit I'm now very uncertain whether it will be possible or not. With the EU, I can at least move and work wherever I want. Also, being in the EU makes smaller countries more visible and powerful, because the EU will negotiate all the treaties with other countries, and other countries cannot just simply ignore a market such big as the EU.

Farhandlir • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 01:25 AM

Not everyone can be satisfied with the state of things, obviously not everyone was satisfied with a pro-EU government either, else the current government wouldn't have been elected in the first place.

fenbekus • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 01:37 AM*

Well then that's why it's good that we still have the EU to guard the law, like it recently did and fortunately the ruling party had to back down on their attacks on the supreme court.

And the failure of the previous party doesn't have to do much with the EU, they just were in power for very long and had a few scandals so people were fed up by them. Although they were very pro-EU indeed, their prime minister is now the president of the European Council, Donald Tusk you've probably seen the guy.

EU is a good thing, not a bad thing. It brings more freedom to the people of Europe. Fortunately even though the ruling party is mixed on the EU (they aren't really strictly against it completely, that sweet EU money is hard to pass on), the people of Poland support the EU in the majority seeing the effects of 14 years of the EU.

Farhandlir • 0 points • 5 December, 2018 01:57 AM

Interesting, I read and respect your opinion, which is something EU technocrats hardly ever do. The great thing with democracy being that everyone has the right to express themselves.

It's great that you can still access information to support your point, if only French people had such opportunity before the second round of the 2017 presidential election. Macron's emails containing sensitive information about his policy were leaked, but not a word about it in the media, and the DGSE (French CIA) went after websites hosting the documents.

I would respect the EU and pro-EU politicians if they respected democracy, which they usually don't. Referendums results are disregarded, the mainstream media demonizes the opposition (anti-EU parties), the mainstream media also censors anything that makes pro-EU politicians look bad, etc... etc... This is not how democracy was meant to be.

But anyway, the current protests in France are neither pro nor anti-EU, they are libertarians demanding lower taxes, less government, less market regulations and more freedom to enterprise, people are just fed up with socialism.

Itisforsexy • 0 points • 4 December, 2018 11:02 PM

The fact that the mainstream media has any sway over the minds of even one person proves to me that Churchill was overwhelmingly correct. Democracy is a mistake. But then, there's no government that is ethical. We need a voluntary state that serves to only protect the NAP, nothing else, and literally cannot be voted any larger or to have any other function, because the lowest common denominator cannot be trusted with that power, nor can a Monarchy or dictatorship.

shetoldmeto80 • 45 points • 4 December, 2018 05:38 PM

I didn't vote for him.

He reeks of banker "attitude" (I spotted this when he was out campaigning, as my father used to work with such "assholes" as he put them, when he worked as a banker)

The current situation might settle down soon as the government decided to finally give people a break with tax hikes BUT most of the population still isn't satisfied because a lot of public spending is still very questionable (recently, buy a museum for Louis Vuitton because it is "art", and renovate conference room at the Elysée with fairly outrageous costs)

To be honest, last Saturday had a near civil war vibe to it in Paris; cops didn't want to be there or hurt anyone for that matter but they had to, they had orders, some even complained that the government was putting them in a personal moral dilemma.

Things in Paris did go too far in the sense that some attacked property (setting cheap small cars on fire, but strangely not expensive gas guzzling luxury cars... very odd); attacking random small time shops, but NOT Cartier and the like... It is almost as if some were hired to destroy property for show but to avoid at all cost destroying things belonging to the upperclass...

As far as the role of women go... Some were out there really protesting (or protecting on the cops' side); but indeed most complained about not being able to do their Xmas shopping in peace.....

Ironically that same Saturday a woman in my building was more concerned about the speedy renovation of the intercom system than the state of France and its government...

SilverGryphon • 27 points • 4 December, 2018 06:04 PM

I used to think that most French are pussies and wimps but after seeing this week's events unfold I have a new respect for them. They sure know how to take direct action and protest against absurd tax hikes and force the government to backtrack on such policies. Now if only men somehow wake up and demand that paternity testing be made legal again.

Urishima • 19 points • 4 December, 2018 06:16 PM

I know a few Germans who are envious of the French for going out there and airing their grievances. It's not something you see here in Germany, even though the situation is similar enough. Seems that that sort of 'passion' is not in the German 'nature'. The French are not pussies, their leadership is, and they aren't shy to tell them.

We also have a joke here in Germany regarding that: What do you call a roundabout with 4 burning cars? A French advent wreath.

[deleted] • 10 points • 4 December, 2018 08:11 PM

When Germans are passionate about something they really get shit done.

Urishima • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 08:15 PM

Well, have you ever slept with a boxer in the same bed? Even a puppy boxer can suddenly weigh as much as a small car, impossible to be moved even an inch from where they have plopped themselves down. Getting Germans moving to tell the man off is kinda like that. Especially since they for some reason still largely believe the MSM.

t353tfb • 10 points • 4 December, 2018 08:29 PM

Germans are SJW pussies. The next time Germany grows a pair will be in 20 years when they become majority Muslim and Muslim Germany establishes a caliphate in Muslim France.

Zwartehond65 • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 09:16 PM

You should look into the actions of France in WWI

gprime • 8 points • 4 December, 2018 09:19 PM*

I didn't vote for him.

This is precisely why I try and avoid the impulse to go "fuck them, they're getting what they voted for" when I see countries with terrible, democratically elected governments. That attitude, which is rather widespread, seems to overlook the significant number of people who didn't vote for whatever government we're discussing. And, in the case of countries with really elaborate multi-party systems that are highly proportional, like the Netherlands or Israel, it can sometimes be the case that an outright minority of the country is satisfied with the government, as the coalition formed may well be opposed by a large share of even the voters who supported the participating parties in the election. So I'm happy to laugh at the misery of people who've voted for terrible leaders like Trudeau or Merkel or Morales, but those who actively opposed them but are still forced to live under their incompetence have my ongoing sympathy.

shetoldmeto80 • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 09:23 AM

It is even more tricky when "blank" voting isn't taken into account.

Many people simply cannot pick a candidate in the second turn and put in a blank ballot. If blank ballots were taken into account Macron wouldn't have been elected. (I didn't vote blank though I wanted to, simply because I knew it wouldn't matter)

[deleted] • 4 points • 4 December, 2018 05:56 PM

Thank you for taking the time on this; very interesting to have this perspective.

TheComedianGLP • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 09:08 PM buy a museum for Louis Vuitton because it is "art", and renovate conference room at the Elysée with fairly outrageous costs)

This seems quintessentially French.

shetoldmeto80 • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 09:26 AM

Yes sadly it is very french and a waste of public money.

In a way it is a very materialist view of things. A lavish debauchery of luxury when more pressing but indeed less glamorous matters need attention...

IamBili • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 11:50 PM

It is almost as if some were hired to destroy property for show but to avoid at all cost destroying things belonging to the upperclass...

It's not the first time . I won't go too much into details, but the name of some famous bankers, their families, and the history of "revolutions" in France is really suspect, when looked at what hasn't been touched

shetoldmeto80 • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 09:18 AM

Yes it is a common thing to hire "casseurs" to shift an otherwise peaceful protest towards violence or towards a certain political bias.

[deleted] • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 07:37 PM

Brother, I didn't elect him, but I cry everyday seeing what he does to my nation

Harrybud07 • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 08:37 PM*

History repeats?

If one understand the history of "french females", NO one would lift a finger to help them...

french females branching to the "SS" during WWII, in the mean while... Alliance forces 'men' dying, trying to "save them"... save them from what?

<https://www.warhistoryonline.com/war-articles/78558.html>

[deleted] • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 08:15 PM

Word up, my nigga!

EvilPencil • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 02:12 PM

You seem to forget just how dangerously close we were to a Hillary presidency. Thank all that is holy that a constitutional convention would be required to actually abolish the electoral college.

lestrategie • -10 points • 4 December, 2018 04:46 PM

Don't come bitching about Trump or Obama then...

guacheSuedespare • 18 points • 4 December, 2018 04:49 PM

Trump though has his flaws is very much someone who fights for fairness

aVarangian • -1 points • 4 December, 2018 06:27 PM

...he sold arms to Saudi Arabia...

guacheSuedespare • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 06:29 PM

What Trump said was right.

It was either the US sold arms to SA or Russia and China did it which nobody wants due to allowing them to earn money and continue their corruption.

I rather Trump did it than lets say Putin or Xi Jinping

aVarangian • -1 points • 4 December, 2018 07:16 PM

Doing so is immoral no matter who does it. And the reason you gave doesn't change the morality of it.

VadeRetroLupa • 12 points • 4 December, 2018 05:13 PM

Who mentioned them?

Curgan1337 • 7 points • 4 December, 2018 05:33 PM

It is just typical reddit "whataboutism."

801735 • 177 points • 4 December, 2018 11:53 AM

But, but, it's raining outside!

BTW, how are things going in France? Haven't been following, only caught wind it's almost guillotine time again?

ppanthero • 210 points • 4 December, 2018 12:30 PM

Well, France has the highest tax wedge in Europe. And while the plans for tax increases got postponed by Macron due to public pressure, he still has the lowest approval ratings of any french president ever. France is indebted to an enormous degree, social security programs are inflated to a point that work isn't paying off for some people any more and in some areas there are serious problems with islamists. So all in all, situation is not too rosy.

Obio1 • 218 points • 4 December, 2018 01:17 PM*

Taxes are wealth transfer mechanisms from males to females.

Men pay more taxes.

Women receive more in social services

Women don't give a crap about higher taxes or bigger government. They're the direct beneficiaries of both.

They will always and forever vote predominantly for socialism.

...and socialism will always and forever destroy nations.

Ergo: Women destroy nations.

Sir_manalot • 73 points • 4 December, 2018 01:39 PM

And the problem is irreversible at this point.

There are too many single mothers that depend on welfare, too much division, women have too much power (as does the government) and men have been spurned too much to turn things around really.

The taxes will keep going up and up to pay for welfare as it gets more expensive, wages will stagnate more and more, men will get less and less and because women are free from all responsibility now (they didn't use to be) they won't ever consider the consequences for their actions and just keep fucking more deadbeat cock.

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 02:02 PM

[deleted]

Sir_manalot • 34 points • 4 December, 2018 03:23 PM

The west really.

generalissimo_jones • 25 points • 4 December, 2018 04:24 PM

France is a particularly advanced case but the cancer has already metastasized everywhere.

NewLifex • 19 points • 4 December, 2018 02:04 PM

You always have good comments. I was just going to say France is a shit hole not worth saving but you said it better lol.

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 02:51 PM

[removed]

Sir_manalot • 23 points • 4 December, 2018 03:11 PM

Men in control?

Historically, most men were never in control of there lives at all.

And there are many, many instances of women being in control. Including times when it looked like men were in control, as women control men whom control the world.

Including Sparta, Rome, Byzantine Empire, etc.

Docbear64 • 9 points • 4 December, 2018 03:36 PM*

I'm always curious about people who think throwing women at societies issues would have faired better... why ? The society and world YOU live in is the product of hundreds of years of mens labor, efforts, and planning ... somehow a magical woman could have done the same if not more in every position ? how so ?

rockorbe2002 • 46 points • 4 December, 2018 01:20 PM

Which in itself wouldn't be a problem, except that women aren't holding their end of the deal. Now it's gimme gimme, I'm a girl! Which is why I don't blame men for not wanting to pay taxes, even if it means infrastructure collapse.

Docbear64 • 29 points • 4 December, 2018 03:40 PM*

Infrastructure collapse is what we we need . There are too many lazy political hands in too many working mens pockets. If men do not have reason to work then the society that they support should starve for the lack of labor .

my job should be to feed myself, my family, and possibly pay for a few shared public services to benefit the society as a whole... but those services need to benefit me DIRECTLY . roads? I use the roads that is a direct benefit . Police forces? I enjoy having a law enforcement group that helps maintain the peace (I know not everyone agrees) that is a direct benefit ... food stamps?

I've never used a food stamp to purchase anything in my life... why does my money go to something I never use ?

DogsOfParadise • 11 points • 5 December, 2018 12:50 AM

Food stamps are needed to feed people that will make more people that will need food stamps.

CritSrc • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 09:42 PM

I've been thinking for a while: Feminism, the expression of extreme femininity will lead to Enuma Elish. A complete destruction of the world only to be rebuilt from the ashes by guess who: the men.

NotMyWomen • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 04:50 AM

Yeah, and the next world will not have the female in it.

Look what happens.

CritSrc • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 06:42 AM

The female isn't going anywhere, but the femininity in power... I don't know what will happen to that.

NotMyWomen • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 06:48 AM

Artificial womb technology, advanced IVF, creating pseudo-ovum; I wouldn't be too sure of that my friend.

shermanstreet • 17 points • 4 December, 2018 03:40 PM

This Ponzi scheme is okay, until 20%+ of men lose their jobs to automation. I hope this prediction is wrong, but we'll see soon.

IamBili • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 11:38 PM

They won't lose jobs to automation, because their government is too stupidity to put too many taxes on the production and sale of these very machines that could increase the productivity of the companies

Rather, they'll lose their jobs because their companies got outmatched by more productive companies of the east asia, where governments heavily pushes for more automation, and as such, the local companies will close the doors

To add insult to injury, eastern industries also don't have to deal with western bullshit such as "affirmative action", "gender quotas", and so on

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 11:39 PM*

[deleted]

Oohhthehumanity • 6 points • 5 December, 2018 01:30 AM*

Based on what extensive research has made you come to this conclusion? I think what you are trying to say is that technological progress contributes to overall economic growth....you are 100% right with that. However any neoclassical economist will explain to you that "technological progress" while increasing overall productivity generally lowers the relative demand (and therefore power) of the production factor "labor". That last production factor "labor" is the only thing the large majority of the people has to offer. Don't you think it is strange that while productivity has gone up massively since the 1980's the real average hourly wage has barely been going up.....yes, it has been going up but that is because management and the owners of capital (one other production factor) have been doing extremely well for themselves and are pulling the average upwards. 5/6 of the world have not "profited" in real terms from the post-1983 economic growth. This means that in purchasing power they earn the same as they would in 1983 despite productivity being multitudes higher.

Your advice of get more skills and not stop working on them sounds a bit too much like "you need to lift and keep frame bro!".....you want to improve your skills and climb the corporate ladder. Good for you and I hope you succeed but please do it for yourself or your sense of fulfilment. Please don't chase it for the almighty waddle of cash and don't tell me to "git gud" so my boss can use the extra productivity to buy his fourth trophy wife another house or designer bag while me and Joe Average (with 1.85 kids) behind me get a sixpack of beer at the Christmas party for our "outstanding performance".

[deleted] 5 December, 2018 01:48 AM*

[deleted]

ChadeepThundersheet • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 07:31 AM

Yea because your average truck driver is going to have great success picking up data structures, algorithms, and mastering a new javascript framework every year.

NotMyWomen • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 04:53 AM

Automation contributes to a net increase in human capital; since all of the jobs once done by people are now being done by machines, those people are free to pursue other interests and produce other goods and render other services.

Automation, by definition, consists solely of labor saving devices.

Automation being bad is the stupidest lie of the modern age next to “Hypergamy is a good thing.”

Oohhthehumanity • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 11:25 PM

I fear you are right on the money with this!

BoskOfPortKar • 34 points • 4 December, 2018 02:06 PM*

Exactly. They dared have a quite young black woman (single mom) with 5 children complaining about her purchasing power and earning the minimum wage (while not talking about all the welfare she received...)

French are complaining about taxes being too high so are willing to decrease welfare too.

I might be part of Act IV.

My revenues almost tripled since I work but my purchasing power is the same than 20 years ago. I can't stand that shit anymore.

The aim is to cancel the debt (and interests of course), stop immigration (welfare), have a direct democracy.

Profitglutton • 9 points • 4 December, 2018 02:49 PM

I propose a democracy+meritocracy. In a democracy, eventually women will make up the majority of the vote since they will end up outnumbering men. So keep the balance of power with the males and then that should solve the problem of single mothers gaining power and taking over.

BoskOfPortKar • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 03:41 PM

Unfortunately 0 chances to happen at this time.

misandrists_hate_him • 28 points • 4 December, 2018 02:14 PM*

Comment removed because the mods of /r/MGTOW got cucked!

/u/ss_camaro

/u/Mojo_666

/u/ThatCard

boytjie • -13 points • 4 December, 2018 04:13 PM

...and socialism will always and forever destroy nations.

You can't be allowed to get away with a glib and facile dismissal of socialism like that. Your criticisms of socialism are true historically and while fallible, weak and corrupt humans ran the show, democracy was the better option. But that (probably) won't be the situation for long. If disinterested, efficient, incorruptible AI ran the show under socialism, it may well be able to introduce the utopia socialism promises. There's nothing wrong with it in theory – it's just when dull, inefficient, biased, corruptible, etc. humans enter the equation that the wheels fall off.

Obio1 • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 07:32 PM*

LOL.

You're probably in the wrong sub.

boytjie • -4 points • 4 December, 2018 08:16 PM

You mean because I didn't join the chorus of attributing socialism to women?

Obio1 • 3 points • 5 December, 2018 04:12 AM

Nice try. I see what you did there.

boytjie • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 08:03 AM

I don't think you do. You believe I am an unthinking, insensate supporter of socialism without me applying any rational thought and because it benefits women it must be bad. Women benefit from welfare at the expense of men WITHIN A CAPITALIST SYSTEM. If socialism was implemented correctly, all would benefit. And with AI running the show, even taxation wouldn't be that high. I don't know what you would do with all your untaxed money – roll in it I suppose. Wallpaper? Firestarter?

Obio1 • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 08:37 AM

Yeah. That's actually been the argument every time.

ThirstySasquatch • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 05:40 PM

Name one time socialism has worked on a large scale. One damn time.

It's a rhetorical question because it never has worked.

boytjie • -3 points • 4 December, 2018 08:13 PM

If you care to actually read my comment – I quote:

Your criticisms of socialism are true historically

If you minus the bluster and don't extrapolate from historical precedent...

[deleted] • 53 points • 4 December, 2018 01:25 PM

Economics is what the media is saying, this is 90% about immigration, the most important issue in any country at any time. You can rebuild from a nuclear bomb (see Japan) with the right people. You can survive ANYTHING with the right people. But if you bring in the 3rd world, guess what your country becomes the 3rd world.

that_nast • 39 points • 4 December, 2018 03:01 PM

Bringing in 70 IQ street shitters and patting yourself on the back has its consequences? Im shocked!!!

BoskOfPortKar • 13 points • 4 December, 2018 03:42 PM

It is about to happen even more with the ONU migration pact planned in Marrakesh next week.

Migration will be legal : ie all shit from Earth can go anywhere, except the US.

pnwhomebrewer • 5 points • 5 December, 2018 01:20 AM

Any articles about this? If this is true then Trump has seriously saved America for the moment.

ppanthero • 9 points • 4 December, 2018 06:09 PM

It's both. Socialism was going to crash France sooner or later. Anyway, immigration certainly is a huge problem. But the problem is not only immigration in itself but the way its done. Immigrants can be an enrichment for an society. But you have to set standards. Letting everyone in your socialist country, where they can live off public money is just a very very bad idea and doesn't even help the country of origin in the slightest.

TontoKemosabe • 7 points • 4 December, 2018 06:06 PM

The right people are the white people.

T0000009 • 4 points • 4 December, 2018 11:45 PM

The right people are the white people.

BINGO!

IamBili • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 11:47 PM

And guess who is leading the charge for opening the gates?

gprime • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 09:32 PM

That stupidly simplistic. See the above example of Japan. Are you really going to tell me that Germany would be suffering if, instead of being flooded by people from MENA, they were getting citizens of Japan? Or South Korea? Or Taiwan? Or Singapore?

TontoKemosabe • 1 point • 8 December, 2018 06:37 AM

Fine lol. The right people are the light-skinned people.

basedmillennial95 • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 10:21 PM

"Asgard is not a place never was. This could be asgard. Asgard is were our people stand."

A nation is it's people. Diversity destroys nations as America is finding out.

lunar2solar • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 12:54 AM

Nope. NYC, LA, Chicago, Houston, Miami, etc... the best cities in America have very high immigrant populations. Also, the shittiest cities are the ones that have meth and heroin problems that are pretty much exclusively white or black.

pnwhomebrewer • 5 points • 5 December, 2018 01:21 AM

Chicago one of the best cities in America? ☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐☐

Yeah Chiraq would beg to differ.

lunar2solar • 0 points • 5 December, 2018 01:34 AM

Obviously there are neighborhoods in Chicago that are gang infested, which, coincidentally have very low immigrant populations (very high African American population or Hispanic American population). But no one goes there because of its reputation. The north side, west loop, downtown are extremely diverse and have a very high immigrant population filled with people who are professionals.

NotMyWomen • 3 points • 5 December, 2018 04:57 AM

Every city you just listed is either bankrupt or a shithole, or both.

lunar2solar • 0 points • 5 December, 2018 12:09 PM

NYC alone has approximately a $1.43 TRILLION GDP. The rest of the cities I've mentioned are also the TOP cities in America by GDP.

<https://www.visualcapitalist.com/map-economic-might-u-s-metro-area/>

NotMyWomen • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 02:20 PM*

Awesome.

Now what are their deficits?

Their debts?

You understand that New York as a state has the highest per capita debt than any other state in the country besides California?

You're deliberately omitting debts/deficits.

That's like looking at a balance sheet and screaming how massive your assets column is, while ignoring the liabilities column.

Or looking at an income statement and screaming about your income while ignoring your expenses.

Once the deficits (annual) and debts (long term) are factored in, all of those cities are by definition bankrupt.

[deleted] • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 09:32 AM

Yes. USA & Canada used to get immigrants from productive countries with compatible values aka most of Europe. Now we are bringing in Somalians, Middle Easterners etc....BIG difference.

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 01:53 PM

[deleted]

throwmyaccountaway99 • 27 points • 4 December, 2018 02:35 PM

Exactly. more taxes for the poor but less for the rich. It fanned the flames even more.

LuvMeTendieLuvMeTrue • -7 points • 4 December, 2018 03:11 PM

The rich pay more taxes than the poor so it's logical to start slashing them from there.

kittyclaw200 • 11 points • 4 December, 2018 03:20 PM

Which is why they have the riots duh... Hope they cut the head off that little mommy fukboi

Itisforsexy • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 11:05 PM

Taxes shouldn't be based on income at all. Flat tax is the only consistent tax, though no tax is the only ethical tax.

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 11:28 PM

[deleted]

Itisforsexy • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 01:11 AM

If we are to have an income tax, it should be applied to all people the same way, that's consistent. Everyone should be treated the same under the law, including tax law.

the_unseen_one • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 11:36 PM

I'm fairly certain they pay more because of more income.

throwmyaccountaway99 • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 03:20 PM

Are you sure that's the case in France? Plus, a lot of them can just get tax cuts through donations or whatever else so it's not necessarily the case. Or maybe you mean they pay more taxes as quantity and not percentage wise, which is only natural if they pay the same percentage or even a lower percentage.

prime • 0 points • 4 December, 2018 09:30 PM

That, itself, is not only fine, but something I'd agree with entirely. But when you couple tax cuts for the rich with tax hikes for the average member of society, fair or not, it is naturally going to inspire severe backlash.

Farhandlir • 17 points • 4 December, 2018 03:50 PM

Yep, the gilets jaunes is a libertarian revolution. People in France are more than fed up with socialism, especially when the big guys and corporations are generally exempt from such high taxes. 40+ years of leftist policies have pushed people over the edge and they are now saying stop. It's history repeating itself, the French Revolution of 1789 also happened because of heavy taxes and duty that the royalty and nobles were exempt from.

When the gilets jaunes movement began Macron was laughing his ass because the people were naive enough to believe that the situation could be resolved peacefully and that the leaders would listen to them, they did not. Now they've had enough, they took it to Paris. As of now they have surrounded the area of Paris where the Elysée and other government buildings are located, and the only thing standing between them and Macron are some 3000 soldiers and police officers.

I think France may well change regime within the next few days or weeks, the gilets jaunes have support from 76% of the population according to recent polls while only 9% approve of Macron's policies. Their revendications are simple, lower taxes, less government, less interventionism, let the markets regulate themselves. And of course most of the gilets jaunes are men, there are very few women out there risking their life for the nation's future.

8lackJack8lack • 10 points • 4 December, 2018 04:26 PM

But but but but... the nice couple interviewed by Michael Moore explained how good their exorbitant maternity leave benefits are ... So socialism must be good right?

gowithflow192 • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 06:02 PM

If they are fed up with socialism then how do they propose to change?

I've worked for companies with French branches and it's a running joke about how their hours are less, they are not pushed as hard, they strike a lot, getting work done from any supplier takes twice as long as anywhere else etc.

I'm not judging them but they seem to enjoy the socialist lifestyle. If they don't want it, are they suddenly going to work longer hours to capitalize on opportunities in an entrepreneurial way the way the Americans and the British do?

Farhandlir • 3 points • 5 December, 2018 12:50 AM

The people protesting right now are not corporate drones, they are workers, laborers, people are the bottom of the ladder, they are those being crushed by ever increasing taxes. Many small entrepreneurs among them, mechanics who opened their garage, restaurant owners, farmers, etc... these people don't want more benefits, they want more freedom to thrive and make money, they want to be able to sell their products and services with fewer restrictions and at lower prices, they want to be able to work on weekends and work as many hours they want to, they want to be able to compete freely and unrestrained by tons of nonsensical regulations that only serve to line up the pockets of the government.

[deleted] • 12 points • 4 December, 2018 12:53 PM

So the states in ten years

801735 • 11 points • 4 December, 2018 12:40 PM

social security programs are inflated to a point that work isn't paying off for some people any more Probably welcome to Europe in general.

[deleted] • 7 points • 4 December, 2018 03:35 PM*

Are you sure France has the highest taxes??? I thought it was my country Belgium.. Which is somewhere around 42-50%

WATASHI_NO_CRESTA • 13 points • 4 December, 2018 04:10 PM

somewhere around 42-50%

That is just on work. If you add all the other taxes it's over 70%.

ppanthero • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 06:05 PM

Yes, all taxes added, France is the number 1. But Belgium is up there too.

voiceofpersonality • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 03:36 PM

Here's a question that I've been thinking about that maybe you can answer. In America, we have a sizable Muslim population but we don't seem to be plagued by any of the issues that France or other European countries have when it comes to Islamic extremists. I know that the standard answer is European countries like France roll over and give their culture up but is that really the case? Or is it something more complex and nuanced?

WATASHI_NO_CRESTA • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 04:14 PM

It's hard to migrate to the US and you have standards so you get the educated/rich ones that can afford that, who can actually enrich your society.

EU gets the illiterate religious muslim version of hicks 'cause we can't keep them out.

drunkguy691 • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 03:58 PM

You mean highest taxes in the world, right? Even higher than communist countries, it's ridiculous.

Rescuedbeta • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 12:47 AM

Go back to work slaves while we prepare for next time we try to tax you to third world status.

kaolin224 • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 04:37 PM

And he has the gall to call out the US president after his UN speech and promote more globalism? I'm with the guy who posted earlier. They wanted it, they got it. Sucks for the French, but them's the breaks.

Reap the whirlwind, Murphy.

[deleted] • 35 points • 4 December, 2018 12:06 PM

High school kids are vandalising the city where I'm at. Buses and tramways are shut down. Got a 50 minute walk back home from work waiting for me.

801735 • 15 points • 4 December, 2018 12:09 PM

Sounds "exciting". They probably don't use the transports themselves (no school, no jobs, and I guess theft is easier on a scooter), I presume?

[deleted] • 19 points • 4 December, 2018 12:18 PM

Exactly my thoughts. They claim to be protesting the final year exams' structure and Macron's rule. If they closed the roads for a day, I'd be fine with that but the damage they induced is going to bite each one of us in the ass once the transport fares rise. A total lack of anticipation of future consequences just like the women who conceive social programs. At least I see that I have less tolerance for the actions that kids carry out and am more forgiving for women's stupid shit. I still have a bit of gynocentric brainwashing to undo.

801735 • 12 points • 4 December, 2018 12:19 PM

Men and children. Men, and children.

throwmyaccountaway99 • 9 points • 4 December, 2018 02:38 PM

TBH women can't do anything without other men helping them, meanwhile kids do it to spite the men who work and have to then fix what they damaged so of course it's less tolerable. Not like they're gonna pay for the damage they caused. I'd really break their arms if it was me. Fucking wankers destroying what normal people need in order to work. But you'll never see them go on a rich guys' estate and wreak havoc there because then there will be consequences.

[deleted] • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 02:47 PM

They did try to wreak havoc with Antifa in those kind of places but the task was difficult when these are gated communities. So what Antifa did instead is beat up anyone who didn't dress up like an antifascist

Busancel • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 04:07 PM

I find it funny that it isn't the typical rioting blacks or muslims you hear, these are white people causing violence. Goes to show how true enemies aren't other men but our own women modern_rabbit • 16 points • 4 December, 2018 03:25 PM

Macron pulled a Hillary and called protestors thugs... so they protested harder, so Macron sent in pd, so pd joined the protestors, so now Macron is threatening to declare martial law because that'll totally calm everyone down.

BoskOfPortKar • 11 points • 4 December, 2018 03:50 PM

Last Sunday, people in the street were shouting "A mort !" (Kill him) to Macron protected by the police while others were applauding him.

Looked like 200 years ago.

Farhandlir • 12 points • 4 December, 2018 03:59 PM

The French Revolution of 1789 happened for very similar reasons, too many taxes for the people while the royalty and nobles (today the elites) were exempt from it.

History always repeats itself.

guacheSuedespare • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 04:52 PM

History repeats itself to Weak Men, Not Strong Men

801735 • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 03:37 PM

Wow, talk about chess... Sounds like it's an interesting game they're playing.

839027364 • 11 points • 4 December, 2018 12:01 PM

tax increase won't come, for now, and Macron showed that he is blackmailable. so the problem got postponed

georgesoyros • 17 points • 4 December, 2018 01:51 PM

This goes further than higher taxes.

801735 • 4 points • 4 December, 2018 12:05 PM

Ah, I see.

bft2 • 8 points • 4 December, 2018 02:02 PM

Well you know the saying....Stronk indypyndyt wymyn!

801735 • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 02:28 PM

HU-WAH-WAAAAAH!]=)

WATASHI_NO_CRESTA • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 04:38 PM

1. Feminism lowers birth rate to below sustainable level by killing the traditional nuclear family model.
2. Government lets immigrants in (who have a traditional family model) to sustain the population.
3. Immigrants outbreed native population because compound growth, gradually replacing them.
4. Immigrants reach majority, islam takes over insha'Allah.
5. Muslims kill feminism but not before they take western Europe down with them.
6. Western Europe serves as a example of what not to do.

[deleted] • 140 points • 4 December, 2018 03:37 PM

So Battlefield 5 wasn't accurate?

AcrobaticAge • 20 points • 5 December, 2018 12:52 AM

It was in 1945.

<https://i.kym-cdn.com/photos/images/original/001/376/749/461.png>

Global_MGTOW • 3 points • 5 December, 2018 08:30 AM

The Labo is a nice touch.

[deleted] • 7 points • 5 December, 2018 12:19 AM

Lol, not too sure you would want any French fighter on the cover of your WWII game. French got fucking steamrolled.

bama79rolltide • 97 points • 4 December, 2018 01:06 PM

There's actually a massive lesson in this photo.

Northern-Breeze • 13 points • 4 December, 2018 08:07 PM

Germany, England, And France are run by cucks

EloquentBarbarian • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 12:55 AM

No. It's that Burger King has the burgers for you during protests.

analogic-microwave • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 03:40 AM

That having a stinky fish sandwich between your legs give you equal lefts, different rights and conflict-proof privileges?

[deleted] • 76 points • 4 December, 2018 11:59 AM

Whether she's taking a selfie while enjoying the shelter, or making fun of the dude's hardship outside, this pic is metaphoric af.

[deleted] • 65 points • 4 December, 2018 01:24 PM

Laughing. They dont realize that if their men dont succeed these hoes wont be sitting in burger king in the near future, they will be eating kabab and practicing the koran.

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 01:57 PM

[deleted]

throwmyaccountaway99 • 43 points • 4 December, 2018 02:40 PM

Exactly. It doesn't matter to them if Louis or ahead puts a baby in them as long as they get to breed. This is another reason why they should never get to vote. They should have no say in a nation if they don't care about it's culture or people (i'd say this about anyone though).

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 04:41 PM

[deleted]

DIG_ROOKIE_DIG • 3 points • 5 December, 2018 12:43 AM

This behavior spits in the face of civilization. That's the whole point of having a civilized society, so that we recognize our animal instincts, and grow beyond them, because they only benefit us in "wild" setting.

There is no place for that kind of mindset in a civilized world, and people who willfully abandon thousands of years of effort to keep us polite and successful, will be the first ones complaining the very second it impacts them.

They're fine with it so long they get to fulfill narcissistic desires and retain their sense of entitlement. The second things go tits up, they'll want to blame someone else.

We may be animals, but we've evolved past having to act like them, if we'll just take the three goddamned seconds of critical thinking required to recognize it.

Sp0kySc4rySk3l3t0n • 12 points • 4 December, 2018 05:34 PM

They'll just spread their legs

VerdantFuppe • 12 points • 4 December, 2018 03:41 PM

It's like you have no idea whatsoever about what these people are protesting about.

[deleted] • -1 points • 4 December, 2018 11:30 PM

No, it is you who has no clue. Go back to CNN.

VerdantFuppe • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 06:21 AM

They're protesting higher gas prices.

But you just had to make it about "hurr durr dem muzlims hurr durr". Go back to watching interracial porn you dimwit.

[deleted] • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 09:32 AM

No. It is about hurr durr muzlims.

VerdantFuppe • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 09:41 PM

Sure it is honey.

[deleted] • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 04:15 PM

Isn't this about gas prices?

[deleted] • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 11:29 PM

Says the media. It is about immigration first and foremost. Have you seen pictures of France lately?

Sp0kySc4rySk3l3t0n • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 05:34 PM

No

[deleted] • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 08:23 PM

I actually really like kebabs but not exactly for the whole religion thing. Are terrorists cool with nihilism. I live in the UK but still need to be prepared for the invasion

[deleted] 5 December, 2018 06:43 AM

[deleted]

[deleted] • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 09:30 AM

No. They are not just protesting gas prices. That is what the MSM would like you to believe.

generalissimo_jones • -1 points • 4 December, 2018 04:25 PM

I don't eat them but kebabs are a guaranteed case of the shits or worse.

SovietGrazoBazoOkdek • 39 points • 4 December, 2018 04:05 PM

May the wall damage her beyond return

Sp0kySc4rySk3l3t0n • 17 points • 4 December, 2018 05:35 PM

Amen

ndaloim17 • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 12:15 AM

Amen

renovatio93 • 3 points • 5 December, 2018 01:03 AM

F

realChebz • 33 points • 4 December, 2018 05:10 PM

it was always like this though, during ww2 they were laughing just the same while fucking german soldiers.

digitalEarthling • 23 points • 4 December, 2018 05:17 PM

they welcomed them with legs spread wide.

renovatio93 • 14 points • 4 December, 2018 10:04 PM

Women used to keep the house and children together. Women used to be more faithful. Women only care about their phones and a dick now. The house and kids be damned.

realChebz • 10 points • 4 December, 2018 11:05 PM

They just didn't have the options back then

renovatio93 • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 11:30 PM

Agreed

500dollarsinprizes • 32 points • 4 December, 2018 12:24 PM

“You never turned around to see the frowns

On the jugglers and the clowns

When they all did tricks for you”

Never again.

scared-of-girls • 25 points • 4 December, 2018 03:13 PM

This is like a political cartoon

pnwhomebrewer • 26 points • 4 December, 2018 05:26 PM

This is why universal suffrage is a terrible idea in one photo. The people who actually make society function like the military, emergency services, business owners, farmers etc. have to face the consequences of irresponsible thots voting.

Only women who own property have any clue how much men make society function.

When the west goes to shit only property owners should be allowed to vote. It’s about responsibility. A thot with $100,000 in student loan debt and 1,000 Instagram photos isn’t responsible enough to vote.

DIG_ROOKIE_DIG • 3 points • 5 December, 2018 12:39 AM

The argument will always be, "but if only the rich can vote, they'll make sure they stay rich and nobody can ever escape that". While at its core, and on paper, that sounds logical -it's not realistic. Sure, some people might vote that way -but overall they'll be voting for stability. Stability = money. Unless you're a certain ballsack eyes, then instability is how you earn, but I digress.

You can't have a business if your society plunges into chaos.

pnwhomebrewer • 5 points • 5 December, 2018 01:00 AM

It’s not just the rich. It’s the middle class as well. I know a guy who is an unaware MGTOW that owns property. He serves in a restaurant and is a volunteer fire fighter. He has lived very frugally and comfortably. He is 35 and just bought a cabin on some acreage. No college debt, no kids, no marriage. Just solid work ethic and living in a low cost of living area. In my ideal society a guy like him who has displayed financial and personal responsibility like that would be allowed to vote.

I don’t care if a woman who owns property votes either. Owning property shows you know how to manage money and understand the risks and liabilities that people who make society function run into.

Thots like the one in this picture and the soyboys who rrrrreeeee over the mere mention of Trump do not.

AnyGoal • 24 points • 4 December, 2018 02:40 PM

They're 'yellow vests' because most of them work in transportation, etc. and the fuel hike is cutting into their thin profit margins and affecting their livelihoods. These men do actual work that keeps the country moving and they have to fight to stop the government from stealing their money to giving it to sluts like that. When she complains that men are outperforming her and she needs free promotions the government bends over backwards to feed its female slave mass, whilst men have to risk their jobs entirely just to fight for the right to not have so much money stolen from them. If you are a man, you are an enemy of western governments. They hate you because they can't control you as easily as others.

Women have allied with these tyrants and have resolutely chosen to be the enemies of common man. This photo is no different to Macron standing over the city and laughing from his lush glass ivory tower at the commotion below like an evil villian. They both represent the exact same thing.

EnduringLiberty • 8 points • 4 December, 2018 06:09 PM

Actually, it is because having a reflective coat in your car is mandatory in France, so every car user had already one.

[deleted] • 20 points • 4 December, 2018 03:18 PM

Well she takes after Marie Antoinette.

Sandbagicus • 18 points • 4 December, 2018 03:38 PM

let France burn. These big phonies got all pissed that America backed out of the asinine Paris Accords and now they all riot over a fuel tax that is a result OF those same Accords.

Let ISIS take Paris over. Fuck 'em

bdog666 • 15 points • 4 December, 2018 02:26 PM

Real whopper of a photo

digitalEarthling • 15 points • 4 December, 2018 05:15 PM

This sums up life in general. Men doing the real work, while women(the leisure class) sit on their asses on Panera Bread all day and twiddle their thumbs on their phone chasing Chad.

GuitarGodV • 12 points • 4 December, 2018 03:53 PM

Everyone is so quick to write off France as lost already but definitely not. The French have a history of being BRUTAL when they have to be...see Algeria, Vietnam, African colonies.

All they lack is the will but once they get it things will turn around very fast and very bloodily. The US and UK not so much. Hope I'm wrong.

[deleted] • 7 points • 4 December, 2018 04:00 PM

The French are savages, read about Battle of Verdun. Iron as they come when it's time to fight yooshio • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 08:01 PM

Battle of Verdun

Which book would you recommend? I want the one with the savagery.

generalissimo_jones • 7 points • 4 December, 2018 04:26 PM

Dien Bien Phu. The French built a fortress in the jungle to engage the Viet minh in a set piece battle to destroy them and they lost... badly.

yolodd • 9 points • 4 December, 2018 03:19 PM

Awesome post. Amazing picture that "says a thousand words."

Harrybud07 • 9 points • 4 December, 2018 04:41 PM*

Thots have no loyalty! They will pick the winner despite if it's the enemy or alliance... it is known throughout history.

<https://www.warhistoryonline.com/war-articles/78558.html>

Undead_Chronic • 8 points • 4 December, 2018 05:07 PM

Throw her to the migrants. She is worthless

BlackBoxInquiry • 9 points • 4 December, 2018 06:21 PM

She's just so typical.

Probably gonna tell all her friends how she was resisting and how she'll suffer forever.

She thinks it's funny?

[deleted] • 8 points • 4 December, 2018 08:03 PM

Women are moral illiterates, when they see something disturbing they rather laugh and make fun of than a man gifted with moral abilities would do.

wildfireboat • 7 points • 4 December, 2018 08:40 PM

LOL you think France's political climate affects women???

Who do you think is paying for Sarah's grocery bill, gas bill, and luxury apartment in the heart of Paris? DAD.

[deleted] • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 05:05 PM

Women are children

Sp0kySc4rySk3l3t0n • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 05:35 PM

Children have at least some form of logic

PapaMGTOW • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 07:35 PM

Yes but children don't lie as much as women

Incognitroll • 4 points • 4 December, 2018 03:52 PM

She looks like a Muslim too. I thought they weren't allowed to use technology?

amer215 • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 05:47 PM

How about the Men do nothing and the women are being yelled at to deal with the problem while the men go to safety.

CrestfallenWolf • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 05:58 PM

Waiting for a winner.

RevolutionaryPea7 • 6 points • 4 December, 2018 06:28 PM

Yes because the men are busy sorting out who is strongest. The women are waiting to bend over for whichever men win.

TURBOHEKTIK • 4 points • 4 December, 2018 05:09 PM

a picture does really speak a thousand words...

CiceroVoltaire • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 05:50 PM

" Social order at the expense of liberty is hardly a bargain. "

- Marquis de Sade

[deleted] • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 05:58 PM

And to top it off - she's posting from BK but is Vegan on Instagram, no doubt.

rothmans18 • 5 points • 4 December, 2018 03:40 PM

typical food slut

ovrload • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 10:19 PM

Women are always on their phones lol

smfuel87 • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 10:46 PM

They want their men killed so they can get some of that Nazi dick. Again.

Ohboohoolittlegirl • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 01:34 PM

soo.. who is which? The good guys are the protesters? Or the others? It's not really clear to me as I see so many videos of people just destroying other people's stuff and that doesn't seem OK to me.

bsutansalt • 13 points • 4 December, 2018 03:11 PM

It really is a mess. Left and right are fighting the govt side by side over this shit. We could very well see the end of Marcon's administration if this continues. That might be why he has snipers killing protesters in an attempt to quell the mobs.

Yes, snipers. Shooting protesters. Was caught on video last night and made its way to twitter. If you watch closely you can see the incoming fire:

<https://twitter.com/Saymyname8418/status/1068986870342795265/video/1>

DIG_ROOKIE_DIG • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 12:51 AM

Holy shit, I was expecting something super far off in the distance, to where it could be interpreted as nearly anything.

Tracer fire is hard to mistake for anything else. That was pretty clear and concise.

My sympathy to the men in France who are living under a rule they did not want. If that's not an isolated event, expect a civil war. Although I'm not sure what they're really going to fight back with. Bricks and 2x4's only do so much against an armed state.

[deleted] • 10 points • 4 December, 2018 02:55 PM

It's a cluster fuck. It's basically 1968 all over again. They say you could learn from history but here there isn't a real solution that can be applied. Tensions ceased once Charles DeGaulle resigned from office in 1968.

Today they want Macron to step down but the man is doubling down on his policies. In the US, politicians proudly say they don't negotiate with terrorists. As for Macron, you can read his slogan from his actions : we don't negotiate with "maverick" citizens.

Chill-BL • 9 points • 4 December, 2018 03:05 PM

The gubment is turning the country to shit and people start to feel the effect, alas it's dumb people so they think solving the problem is rioting in the street and burning everything in sight. Until they get their wishes, not realizing that their own behavior turned the economic situation in to a shitshow. So in essence Macron the globalistic idiot with all the virtue signaling is now falling in popularity because he probably couldn't promise what he promised to bring, and the state of the country is starting to die.
expected Sweden to be like this, guess the french wanted to have head start.

Mchoofer • 4 points • 4 December, 2018 03:35 PM

Swedes are more docile. And can take bigger cocks in their asses

LuvMeTendieLuvMeTrue • 3 points • 4 December, 2018 03:14 PM

I'm with you. The French riot so much and there is little respect towards other people's property. But that's how they roll. It's been a socialistic shithole way before the migrant crisis begun.

turtleh • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 10:37 PM

Worlds never black and white. But thots will always be thots faintingoat • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 06:21 PM

awesome picture

Jeff70100 • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 08:35 PM

This slut is smiling because that still have some men that protect them. Do not forget, nothing is forever. All these sluts will go to pay.

RRBeachFG2 • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 09:43 PM

That would require thots to understand and watch the news, something that doesn't bring them any attention.

renovatio93 • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 09:57 PM

Coming soon to a (U.S.) state near you

Lorenz99 • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 10:09 PM

The respect these wahmen want will never be achieved because of examples like this.

turtleh • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 10:35 PM

I'd like to put all of them in a giant blender and hit pulse.

y33tasaurus-rex • 2 points • 4 December, 2018 10:37 PM

What's going on in this photo, why is there a soldier, why is she filming and laughing? I'm so confused o0perfect0o • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 01:16 AM

Disgusting

NietzscheExplosion • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 01:40 AM

Who's winning ???I'll fuck him

KeithKATW • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 02:29 AM

She'd be the first bitch I'd slap in a warzone...

KeithKATW • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 02:31 AM

Power to the people...

eltonl • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 03:44 AM

There is no patriots in France, only middle class socialists who realize that the socialist government they loved so much is trying to take more money from them! Dont fantasize about french people, they most hypocritical people in the WORLD.

[deleted] • 2 points • 5 December, 2018 04:11 AM*

$6.28 USD a gallon of gas with this gas tax. Ridiculous. Americans would probably riot too.

At a time when the market price of crude oil is at a low.

<https://www.macrotrends.net/1369/crude-oil-price-history-chart>

MiserableCarry7 • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 02:55 PM

VIVE LA RESISTANCE

Logiman43 • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 05:17 PM

Hmmm. the guy on the left doesnt look like someone whos a riot police.

t353tfb • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 08:27 PM

The French love rioting so I wouldn't read too much into this. They'll be rioting for something else next year. I quite like the fact that they are rioting about a diesel tax hike. It's about time the world woke up to the fact that man made global warming is a scam dreamed up by socialist politicians as yet another way to tax us all to death.

TheComedianGLP • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 09:07 PM

Ahahaha!

That's perfect.

It seems Photoshopped, but it isn't.

Welcome to Crazyworld.

Weedsaswidedyyy • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 11:14 PM

Is that the same restaurant, but later? <https://youtu.be/wK8b4plAIJQ>

hapl_o • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 02:36 AM

But will I be on the right side of history? (Battlefield V) bobcatt • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 03:55 AM

So you expected something different?

NickTesla2018 • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 04:13 AM

Le Thot

NotMyWomen • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 04:17 AM

Make sure you all save this picture.

It is the single most significant image of the 21st century.

suhmydudeesssss • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 04:30 AM women are sick

thompsonh2 • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 07:46 AM*

I'd like to see that musty cunt try and use Facebook live while her dumbass is choking on smoke... If I was the guy, I would've went RIGHT to that fucking window and flipped her tf off. Men are out here risking their lives and these bitches have the nerve to play on their little phones? Society is such a goddamn joke it's not even funny.

NewMunster • 1 point • 5 December, 2018 08:07 AM

Are vandals who smash statues on the Arc de Triomphe "patriots"?

Wallaby_Way_Sydney • 1 point • 4 December, 2018 03:12 PM

Men and patriots, or members of Antifa? Because that looks like an Antifa member...

tymayfeld • 0 points • 4 December, 2018 10:29 PM

Always been that way and always going to be..sad really

ALongAssName • 0 points • 5 December, 2018 02:30 AM

Guy outside looks like a badass

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 03:36 PM

[deleted]

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 03:38 PM

[deleted]

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 04:12 PM

[deleted]

[deleted] 4 December, 2018 04:42 PM

[deleted]

axonMagnus • 4 points • 4 December, 2018 05:28 PM

why do alcoholic anonymous talk a lot about alcohol ?