There was a time when my bluepill self thought "shit like this can't be real" then I started dating with a six figure salary. Hoo boy.

After ghosting the first two women who acted like this, I just ended a date with the third. Walked away, paid my half of the bill, and left. Blocked her number and never spoke to her again.

That's the only way we as men will ever come even CLOSE to correcting this behaviour.

SilverGryphon • 153 points • 6 October, 2017 11:26 AM

That's the only way we as men will ever come even CLOSE to correcting this behaviour.

True, so fucking true. We need more men to act like this and show women true equality. Women who want to be considered equal to men should shoulder some responsibility like men do.

HumanSockPuppet • 198 points • 6 October, 2017 02:18 PM

Spoiler alert: women do not want equal responsibility or equal treatment. Real equality makes life difficult and they understand that, which is why they talk like they want equality but act like they want privilege.

Never forget what this sub says about words and actions.

A wise man humours women's need to feel self-important when in mixed company, and then belittles them in private for sex and profit.

Galactic-Unicorn • 40 points • 6 October, 2017 04:00 PM

A wise man humours women's need to feel self-important when in mixed company, and then belittles them in private for sex and profit.

Truer words have never been spoken.

LateralThinkerer • 133 points • 6 October, 2017 01:55 PM*

That's the only way we as men will ever come even CLOSE to correcting this behaviour.

It's a losing battle: All media (driven by advertisements) targets irresponsible spenders so that they will spend impulsively and irresponsibly, preferably using someone else's money. It's done by creating a villain. You.

If you're an intelligent, financially responsible male, you're (paradoxically) represented as an insensitive, stupid man-child, and this is how women are taught to treat you, so that you can purchase their forgiveness with consumer goods, mortgages and a life of indolence, impulsiveness and irresponsibility.

This has been normalized into our society because it's endlessly profitable, and is hell to deal with.

Edit: Once you realize what's in front of you, it's endless fun to not play the game, as /u/WorkingClassRPh has come to realize, but it's not your responsibility to correct it - don't waste your time.

You can't fight a lifetime of indoctrination.

thestingray1 • 14 points • 6 October, 2017 05:25 PM

This is quite possibly the truest thing I've read in a long time

quansaul • 11 points • 6 October, 2017 05:52 PM

One crazy thing is watching TV and seeing the non stop bs pushing you to get married.

Cozc • 19 points • 6 October, 2017 06:12 PM

Mostly what I see as far as marriage is concerned is non-stop anti marriage/family shit.

Most shows when you see a married couple they're fighting, bitching about not being able to do anything cause of kids, dont have any money, jealous of the single characters freedom, etc.

The last thing the powers that be want is for there to be strong marriages and families. A strong family is the only parachute that can save us from the fall off the cliff that is big government sponsored nanny states and narcissism.

sigma272 • 29 points • 6 October, 2017 06:32 PM

Don't forget the best media trope: "blundering idiot husband and sassy, intelligent wife who has to put up with him".

jav253 • 9 points • 6 October, 2017 10:18 PM

It's nothing new either. All communist states tried to dismantle the family unit. Their end goal is they want the children to be raised by the state.

dr_warlock • 3 points • 6 October, 2017 08:08 PM*

This has been said before, but that was well written.

rossiFan • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 08:22 PM

Holy shit that was concise. Razor sharp.

Oxdada • 1 point • 8 October, 2017 03:18 PM

This statement should be a red pill axiom.

biggerbetterjobs • 42 points • 6 October, 2017 05:42 PM

I went out with a girl the other night from tinder who makes FAR more money than me and she still had the nerve to tell the bartender her $1 diet coke would be on my tab. I told him "No I'm not paying for that, I didn't tell you to put the diet coke on my tab".

I think he wound up giving the girl the drink for free since it didn't register in my bank statement, but after I finished my beer I just got up and left without even saying anything in the middle of her sentence lol.

Sure I did it slightly from an egotistical perspective, but mostly because she was a rotten vile person I just wanted to get away from (mostly from the conversation, not the diet coke incident.. Telling me about her cocaine induced orgies and all these guys she hooked up with after knowing me for literally 5 minutes).

DickRulez • 19 points • 6 October, 2017 06:52 PM

Cocaine confession within 5 minutes... coke whore!

AbsurdistFTW • 1 point • 7 October, 2017 07:56 PM

I met one of if these. I still smashed.

You should encourage the whore-ness in every bitch. The reason men don't like women is because of what you put us through for pussy. The fact is, you could fuck me now but you're not, just because of the "unwritten rule" of not fucking on the first date. If a chick says she doesn't know me before we fuck, you don't know me any better if we talk for a year. Patrice O'neal

Hjalmberre • 2 points • 9 October, 2017 04:01 PM

Wow. That was an easy bullet dodge.

D0initbig • 2 points • 13 October, 2017 04:45 AM

It's like that scene in the matrix where time slows down and neo does all that crazy shifting around the bullets, but instead of that he just walks out of the room.

sadomasochrist • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 07:12 PM

Well what exactly do you expect man? Either accept being AF or not.

You don't get to jockey for AF and be treated like BB.

RunawayGrain • 31 points • 6 October, 2017 05:19 PM

then I started dating with a six figure salary

My favorite part of that was how some of the girls I went on a couple of dates with back in college suddenly realized I was the perfect guy for them.

Rian_Stone • 19 points • 6 October, 2017 05:29 PM

My brother is a Chad in this bracket now. Finding himself some THOTS on the far end of 'wasted my 20s'

I just hope he has the sense not to keep them long term.

BoyWhoreWithASword • 27 points • 6 October, 2017 05:53 PM

Don't do it to "correct behavior".

There's an army of simps and desperate men out there who will play these games.

Do it because you value yourself, your time, and for your own integrity. Don't do it to "teach a lesson" because these women aren't learning a goddamn thing.

fellowchild • 1 points • 6 October, 2017 09:22 PM [recovered]

There's an army of simps and desperate men out there who will play these games.

Honestly, with the way TRP has grown, I think we're going to see real change soon.

People are openly discussing issues that would've been swept under the rug 5 years ago. They aren't afraid to march for issues they care about.

You have to believe in our ability to bring real change. Its happening, just give it time and do your part.

BoyWhoreWithASword • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 09:39 PM

Oh trust me I'm doing my part.

cashmoney_x • 57 points • 6 October, 2017 12:07 PM

They'll just move on to the next.

Buncha_Cunts • 8 points • 6 October, 2017 06:43 PM

Which is why the next needs to do the same too. Then we begin to correct it.

nazis_are_socialists • 14 points • 6 October, 2017 03:29 PM

Also raising your daughter(s) properly

timodmo • 12 points • 6 October, 2017 04:13 PM

Hate to bust your bubble but you won't change them. They'll rationalize you as an asshole and find the next chump sweetleef • 15 points • 6 October, 2017 05:42 PM

No, you won't change their nature. They'll go as far as they're allowed to go.

Unfortunately, we've set up institutional rules that allow them to go much further than they should, discrimination laws, divorce and custody rules, campus rape courts, media hysteria, etc. - these things are extremely difficult to modify once installed, so getting back to the sane point would be a very long process.

jav253 • 7 points • 6 October, 2017 10:47 PM

Yep it's going to take quite a bit more than just refusing to date/marry broken Women at this point.

Western Men as a whole will have to go after the source of the propaganda that brainwashes them and remove it.

BluepillProfessor • 19 points • 6 October, 2017 03:48 PM

Unified actions like this and absolutely refusing to accept shitty behavior from women should take us even further than MGTOW. I am not sure it will work with all the simps but I guess it is worth a try.

BubbleGas • 1 points • 8 October, 2017 04:30 AM [recovered]

MGTOW has more impact than all other men's movements combined. Other movements still give women attention. MGTOW doesn't give them shit. And that fucking terrifies them.

You can't save women. If you disagree you aren't red pillled enough. Only women can save themselves at this point.

BluepillProfessor • -2 points • 8 October, 2017 03:38 PM

I don't want to save women. I do want to save and restore the actual institution of Marriage 1.0.

Rian_Stone • 3 points • 6 October, 2017 03:52 PM

Pft, I like to keep it simple.

Enjoy the decline. You can be a cunt, not with me tho. If I wait and recruit guys who get their shit together, I'll be in for a world of disappointment. We used to cull them off occasionally with a mass war. Nowadays, it's too hard to kill weak men, so we have to get used to them

Ruhkov • 28 points • 6 October, 2017 05:33 PM

I disagree with the war statement. That's far too cynical a statement to be close to reality. Indeed war, among disease and lack of resources, culled the population and killed off men but the idea that war killed off only weak men is misguided and disrespectful to the memory of those who died in combat. Death on the battlefield is indiscriminate.

CoupDeGrace22 • 6 points • 6 October, 2017 06:51 PM

True, that argument circulates quite a bit given how stupid it inherently is.

If anything, wars gave the "weak" non-military capable men a carte blanche for mating back home while the able-bodied were sent off to fight, and for the most part, die.

Additionally, if the "weak" were culled by being sent off to war, then it is the same "weak" who fucked the enemy's women and left bastards all over the places they triumphed at. cough nazis at paris cough.

rossiFan • -1 points • 7 October, 2017 01:19 AM

I think the war statement is 180 out. Take Germany for example. A 90%+ beta male population. Most of the alphas were taken out in WWII.

Rian_Stone • 2 points • 7 October, 2017 12:35 PM

you're thinking aristocrats, and it was WW1

BusterVadge • 31 points • 6 October, 2017 01:03 PM

That's the only way we as men will ever come even CLOSE to correcting this behaviour.

Their problems are not ours. I don't agree that we should be trying to correct their behavior.

The only women's behaviors we should be correcting is our LTR's and our own daughters'.

TheRedditGod • 20 points • 6 October, 2017 01:22 PM

I agree, negative reinforcement by leaving will probably make them more pissed at you instead of themselves, but with an LTR or daughter who looks up to you, then you should absolutely instill the values you believe. I'm not saying force them, my dad did a great job teaching me to come to my own conclusions as a kid, without forcing me to prescribe to any ideology. Same thing with my little sister (9 years old). She competes in a type of gymnastics, practicing probably 15 hours a week for two years. She's worked harder at that than some people ever have in their lives. They don't force her to do the sport, nor would they be upset if she wanted to finish out the season, and move on.

destraht • 3 points • 6 October, 2017 08:08 PM

Its probably more about a next generation thing than a woman in her 30's being able to change.

Children do learn from the negative examples of others, especially when they have something else to compare it to.

Jigsus • 15 points • 6 October, 2017 02:17 PM

You don't correct anything. You get what you want. If you want a nice LTR you make it happen. Don't put up with her shit. Call her out on it. But keep a happy dynamic in the relationship.

smirk_addict • 5 points • 6 October, 2017 04:15 PM

But he's ghosting them to teach them a lesson. If you are looking for a LTR and you're out with a woman that acts like this, what other option do you have? She isn't going to be your girlfriend, and you aren't going to see her again. Why do you disagree with what he's saying?

BusterVadge • 6 points • 6 October, 2017 05:10 PM

I disagree with the motivation behind it. A woman that does this is beyond "correction". I definitely agree with his action, just not his motivation. He should be doing it to enrich his own life by removing the bullshit, not to attempt to teach her a lesson.

nadolny7 • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 09:21 PM

How do we go forward in correcting our daughters mistakes? I have a sister and I struggle with this, since her actions can have a direct impact in my life and well being

BusterVadge • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 11:53 PM

I have daughters and they respect me. They don't want to let me down because of that and all I really have to do is to let them know I'm disappointed if they make a bad choice. That's enough to get them to wake up and see that what they've done is wrong.

I feel like if more fathers were involved with their kids lives we would be way better off. My dad wasn't a good dad but he did teach me right from wrong, unlike a lot of these pussy fathers out there now.

Main thing to remember, is that they're your kid, NOT your friend. Sure, they may "hate" you for a while but they're going to respect you for it, and want to do right by you way more than if you simply try to keep them comfortable or give them what they want

KyfhoMyoba • 5 points • 7 October, 2017 06:30 PM

Your mistake was letting your dates know enough to figure out how much you make.

A neurologist posted here a year or two ago how when he would go out with another MD friend to pick up women, he would tell them what he did, and he could never get the SNL - they'd always try to wait and make him "relationship material". When they started telling women that they were "bartender" and "bouncer", the SNLs started like magic.

Women want you to stay in your lane, and they will treat you accordingly.

WorkingClassRPh • 1 point • 7 October, 2017 06:53 PM

I learned that very quickly. My go-to became mechanic, because that's what my grandpa did and I knew enough to BS it.

D0initbig • 1 point • 13 October, 2017 04:52 AM

Heh, I'm going to try this. I don't like outright lying in general because I feel like it slowly corrupts your soul, but every time I tell women about my business I get a shitload of this behavior. If I don't say anything (hard to always do this since usually the topic comes up eventually) then it typically goes way better.

Part of me is just curious how they'll hamster the fact that this bartender has a nicer place than anyone she knows. I guess I'll just say I inherited the property. Shrug.

MrAnderzon • 3 points • 6 October, 2017 04:26 PM

We men in general are the ones that allow this to happen.

You handle this perfectly. Kudos! What absolutely horrible human beings some women are.

Shaman6624 • 2 points • 7 October, 2017 12:58 AM

Why do they even know you have a six figure salary?

WorkingClassRPh • 0 points • 7 October, 2017 11:15 AM

I used to put it on my online dating profile, but given that I work in healthcare it's a pretty safe assumption most of them make.

menial_optimist • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 05:19 PM

If I'm ever in your situation, I'd feel like helping these women out. Such as I'd pity them for acting so childish that although I would know guaranteed I'd never see them again, I'd go out giving a big speech essentially teaching them how to improve their game for the next sucker they hooked in to a free supper. I would owe them nothing it's true, but a lot of these bitches probably never had anyone say "no" before and they might live their entire lives with a warped mindset and no manners. Again yes I don't owe anybody anything, but it would feel powerful to be so high SMV, knowing I'd never see them again and giving them tips/education as a teacher to a child.

LuckyLuke23 • 1 point • 9 October, 2017 06:43 AM

More for OP than you, but she's not even saying gal. That's just how they pronounce girl in certain parts of England, and probably where the US term gal came from. Interesting from a linguistic POV.

summersss • 93 points • 6 October, 2017 12:20 PM

Guy dodged a bullet. Dude is handsome i guess, won't take him long to find someone better. But its situations like this where paying for the date is such crap. Cause basically there is a high risk of paying a bunch of cash to get walked out on. Just like divorce, "oh took the kids, house, and most of my youth; here is another 10,000$"

PotRoaster • 68 points • 6 October, 2017 01:32 PM

That why I started using coupons on first dates. I got sick of shelling of $70 for happy hour sushi and a couple of drinks. Most girls don't mind as long as you own it and inject some humor into it. Usually when it comes time to pay, I will whip my coupon out and get a response like "Oh, you were being serious" and I usually respond along the lines of "You bet your ass I was. If you play your cards right, I might use my good coupons next time".

vandaalen • 36 points • 6 October, 2017 06:56 PM

Stop doing diner dates as first dates. Cup of coffee to see if it's even worth the hassle. Second date in private, escalate, fuck.

Dinner dates are reserved as rewards for exceptionally good behavior of long term plates and up.

SilverGryphon • 18 points • 6 October, 2017 02:13 PM

It's clear that she wasn't into you. If she really wanted your D, she would have paid for your food and begged you to ram her hard as a thankyou. If you took this girl to a high class restaurant, you still would have not gotten any as she felt zero tingles for you. The kicker is that she would have banged chad later on, after he raided her fridge.

ResistAuthority • 9 points • 6 October, 2017 07:14 PM

Omg. That sounds like my divorce. She already had the house, the kids, and 70% of the assets. The court ordered me to pay her another 10k to seal the deal. I wanted to fucking kill myself. If I'm on a date and the women in anyway alludes to the courts not favoring women when talking about her divorce, I get up and leave. Fuck you you entitled cunt. I see that you work a 50k per year job and own a house in an area where starting prices are 600k. Tell me again how you didn't walk away with way more than you fucking earned because you have a pussy.

chilibreez • 17 points • 6 October, 2017 01:51 PM

This is exactly why you have face to face dates like dinner early on. You're forced to talk, interact, and observe.

Going to movies, live theater, or light activity (carnival, mini golf, etc.) puts too many distractions into the date. You aren't really getting to know someone.

Sitting down, looking right at each other for a couple of hours, while being able to see how they treat you, wait staff, themselves, and your checkbook is priceless.

yes_we_can_t • 19 points • 6 October, 2017 02:09 PM

... and as you give her the red rose after the candlelit dinner she will tumble and fall deeply in love with you ...

Nah, you want to plate her early on, not LTR her. Only if she turns out to be a really great plate should you consider upgrading her to a girlfriend.

Until then, skip boring dates, dinner dates in particular.

HumanSockPuppet • 34 points • 6 October, 2017 02:20 PM

If you're aiming for the dinner date, then every date will go this way.

Go for the one night stand.

[deleted] • 18 points • 6 October, 2017 02:30 PM

Yep.

At least never agree to dinner dates.

Do shit you like to do and bring her along, right? I have an annual pass to the very nice local botanical gardens, and they let you bring a bottle of wine in.

The most I spent on dinner was $150, beautiful view over the Pacific Ocean, subpar food. Give me a picnic area and a grill, and I'll turn out much better food...never mind in my kitchen.

"I'm way too good of a cook to waste money at restaurants"

As long as it's true, have at it.

askmrcia • 8 points • 6 October, 2017 04:10 PM*

I get what you're saying. Dinner dates or drinking can be hit or miss.

You're forced to talk, interact, and observe.

This can be good, ONLY if the woman can hold a fuckin conversation. And sadly a lot of them can't. Another thing about dinner dates is that's what they are "DATES."

And lets be real, these women say they want dates and shit, but they really don't. Dates makes it come across as if you're aiming for a LTR. Yea women will say they want that shit, but they don't (least the ones in their early years).

Why? Because after they get done with the date with you, they have several others lined up. So they want to keep their options open. What I'm getting at is dinner dates puts some form of "pressure" on the woman to get ready to commit. Because at the end of the day talking a chick out to dinner is an actual DATE by definition. And everyone knows this.

Going go karting, mini golf, walk in the park, those are not considered "dates." Those are considered "hanging out" and whatever happens happens.

Also unlike dinner dates, when you do these other activities, you are not having conversations on getting to know that person better. You're not asking too many questions about their families, their future, or any of that shit because you're focused on said activity.

Dinner dates are a thing of the past and the only time I would do a dinner date is if the girl is committed to you like a LTR or close to being one. I do notice a shit ton of men in their 30s and 40s doing dinner dates. And yea those may work in those years because they are most likely doing it with post wall or near wall women. So those types of women know its a date and they may be open to it. And we know why these types of women want an actual date.

Last point because I'm coming full circle.

Your point is correct. Dinner dates are good for LTRs because like you said you're forced to talk and get to know one another.

But I already told you the cons of that.

On the otherhand, when you do activities, such as mini golf or whatever, you're not really getting to know the person. So after like three weeks or so with said woman (if it lasts that long) you'll start seeing what she is really about. And that mask that she wore while you guys were at the carnival will slowly come off and it will hit you like a hurricane.

[deleted] • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 07:15 PM

first meetup is drinks, 1 hour max. never extend it. never move it to another place. if you're actually lifting and reasonably attractive, you have enough girls coming in that you can meet 1-2 new girls every night, followed by a plate.

ONS is bad because you have to put in so much effort for a single fuck. most girls feel like shit after an ONS and fucking disappear. so if you don't bother to close on the first, where you're just checking whether she's a crazy person, she's disarmed, and not putting up her anti-slut defenses. then relentlessly escalate on the second date.

using this strategy, any guy who is an 8 or above can build a whole harem of plates.

Hillarysdilddo_2016 • 69 points • 6 October, 2017 01:35 PM

You might as well post an episode of cheaters because this "reality tv" shit is completely staged.

But yes there are entitled bitches out there.

Just split the bill 50/50 (every self-respecting feminist pays her own way amirite??) or do a cheap date drinks, coffee, a walk in the park.

chauncy_popperstein • 41 points • 6 October, 2017 02:01 PM

Exactly.

This is "reality tv". This is the STAGED and SCRIPTED fake drama crap that melts your brain into mush. This is "story time" for women. Why are people watching this?

askmrcia • 23 points • 6 October, 2017 03:59 PM*

Even if its scripted, this kinds of stuff happen all the time.

It happened to me literally last week.

Chick and I met up to go see the movie "IT." First off she was ten mins late, but whatever. She then asked if I had already bought the tickets. I said "no."

She proceeded to buy the tickets, but kind of had an attitude. I told her to not worry about buying mine, I'll buy my own.

In the theater, during the previews, she asked and I quote "did you really think that I was going to buy your tickets? Also why didn't you buy my ticket?"

I looked at her with my eyes wide open and said "ummm I didn't buy the tickets because I didn't know you were going to show since you were late. Also You have a job and you can buy your own tickets, so why do I need to buy the tickers especially when seeing this movie was your suggestion?"

I said all of that in a very calm matter, mind you we were in a theater.

She got pissy and said "guys are supposed to pay on the first date."

After she said that I told her I was leaving because I no longer wanted to see this movie. I got up and left. The movie didn't even start yet. Sad, because I actually wanted to see the movie lol.

She texted me ten mins as I was driving on the road saying "thanks for being an ass."

Like really? I'm the asshole? Women are messed up in the head, but yea my point in all of this is, women do act like what is shown in that clip and what is shown on reality TV.

Why? Because women watch reality TV and are influenced by how those on those shows act. I can watch reality TV and know its entertainment. Can't say the same about women.

chauncy_popperstein • 24 points • 6 October, 2017 04:04 PM

You went to a movie on the first date?

Common man, you can do better than that. Next time a chick gives you grief over paying just give a sly smile and say something to tease like:

"You're a big girl, I knew you got it" Make it a fun tease. She was shit testing you.

Sativa_Dreams • 13 points • 6 October, 2017 05:00 PM

Eh, still though, shit test or no, she sounds as unpleasant or even more unpleasant than the girl in the video. "Guys are supposed to pay the first date." Shit test or not you can fuck right off

askmrcia • 7 points • 6 October, 2017 05:32 PM

"Guys are supposed to pay the first date." Shit test or not you can fuck right off Exactly my thoughts. That's just being a cunt. And the way it was said, it came across as if she was trying to get me to pay her to see a free movie.

itsmehobnob • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 08:17 PM

That's nonsense. Everything she sees in the media, social or otherwise, is that she's a special princess who deserves a knight in shining armour. Most men are happy to comply, so it's reinforced.

Smarter men have 2 options: disabuse her of this notion by using frame, or bailing. The first option leads to success with women, the second anger.

Think about it another way. If you were brought up being told you were special, and 99% of women seemed to agree and gave you everything you wanted wouldn't you come to expect it? The 1% have to deal with this created entitlement.

Sativa_Dreams • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 10:10 PM

Are you agreeing with me? Can't really tell, seems like you're criticizing but also reinforcing what I said.

To be perfectly clear, a girl like this, I don't care if I can pass her shit tests or not, I don't want anything to do with her, in any way. I don't want to pass her shit tests, I don't want to fuck her, she is completely labeled as "BONER REPELLANT" the second those words leave her mouth.

There's plenty of girls that have this mentality, but like you said, being so god damn spoiled and privileged in her life that she'd have the nerve to spout that nonsense publicly to your face, when women want jobs, and equality, and are always bitching and whining about feminism, that makes her completely different than a girl who may have opinions about those things but chooses to shut the fuck up about it.

Bitch I'll buy your movie ticket if you suck my dick and make me a sandwich. Oh I'm sorry you want women's rights? buy the fucking movie ticket then you god damn tramp or shut your ugly trap.

You can't win with girls like this. Like I said BONER REPELLANT.

itsmehobnob • 1 point • 7 October, 2017 06:35 AM

What happens when all girls are like this?

Sativa_Dreams • 1 point • 7 October, 2017 05:24 PM

askmrcia • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 05:31 PM

You went to a movie on the first date?

Her idea, not mine. I agree, I tend to avoid movies at all cost on the first date.

Nah, she wasn't shit testing, she was being a bitch. She was entitled. Honestly, I lost no sleep over it.

whuttupfoo • 3 points • 6 October, 2017 06:23 PM

You've gotta be doing something wrong if this happened to you. Girls will only try to pull something like this if they smell beta on you.

itsmehobnob • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 08:09 PM

You overreacted. She doesn't know better. Everything she is taught tells her you were supposed to pay. That doesn't make her a bad person, spoiled and naive maybe. But that's modern women.

The best ways I've found to deal with who pays are tit-for-tat (you buy the tickets, she buys the popcorn) or some form of competition (paper rock scissors). You give her agency and remove the devil's voice in her head saying "the man should pay."

All that being said: Don't go to the movies on a first date!

askmrcia • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 09:49 PM

The best ways I've found to deal with who pays are tit-for-tat (you buy the tickets, she buys the popcorn) or some form of competition (paper rock scissors).

This is not my first rodeo. I've done that before where I buy the tickets and she buys the popcorn and drinks.

I know when a woman is trying to get something free out of me or is simply wasting my time. And this was clearly one of them.

She was late as hell despite her being only three mins away from the theater where I had to drive 20mins to get there.

As soon as she got out her car and walked up she already had bad body language. Bad enough to the point I could not even get in close enough to greet her and give her a hug.

I know how to read women and people in general. There was bad vibe from her from the start. And her poor nasty attitude didn't help.

It was no shit test and if it was, she was def not hot enough to act the way she was acting.

All that being said: Don't go to the movies on a first date!

As I stated in an earlier comment, I know. But I was giving suggestions at first and she wanted to see the movie. So I was opened to it and figured we could talk a little bit before the movie started and went on from there.

thedude213 • 26 points • 6 October, 2017 02:48 PM

I wouldn't paint with that broad of brush, but she's totally a chav that watched some makeup contouring tutorials on YouTube, but her heavy cockney accent is pretty much the equivalent of a really trashy southern accent in the US, it really advertises how trashy she is.

DevilishRogue • 17 points • 6 October, 2017 05:02 PM

Her accent is Estuary, not Cockney, but it 100% does advertise how trashy she is.

LuvBeer • 3 points • 6 October, 2017 06:08 PM

Agree, not cockney, sounds more like Hampshire to me, not sure if that's Estuary

segagaga • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 10:33 PM

That is NOT Hampshire. She's not classy enough to be a Southerner.

nazis_are_socialists • 19 points • 6 October, 2017 04:24 PM

LuvBeer • 5 points • 6 October, 2017 06:10 PM

But on the flipside non-white British ie UK-born black, indian/pakistani ("asian") and other non-white British are super classy compared to their US counterparts and they love the US accent, which is looked down upon by many white English women.

This is a basic hoe that knows what she wants. Either a rich BB or AF chad.

To be fair this guy can't handle a hoe like this girl, it's obvious she's dominating him.

She immediately has put him in the possible BB provider category because he's nothing like Chad and can't get a hoe like this just for fucking. Trust me, this girl acts differently when she puts you in the Chad category, usually 10 seconds into seeing you.

Props to the guy for not giving in.

MattyAnon • 22 points • 6 October, 2017 01:34 PM

Luckily he had strong frame and was able to shut her down before falling in her trap

No he didn't. This is not what strong frame looks like.

He stood up to her, and fair play for that.

But he smiled. He negotiated. He asked questions. He speculated. He laughed nervously. He tried to get her to agree with his point, rather than "nope, this is how it is".

Fair play to him for standing up to her, but he could have done it better. She's terrible, but she's also reacting to him. Had she detected strength, she might have behaved better.

empatheticapathetic • 18 points • 6 October, 2017 02:01 PM

Everything she did was a shit test. He may have applied simple boundaries but he didn't show her he can give it back to her as good as she can give it. He was too polite aka boring. If he didn't fall into her alpha spectrum, and refused to fall into the BB spectrum, he is of no use to her, so she'll create her own fun and leave in the middle of the date.

rebuildingMyself • 7 points • 6 October, 2017 07:11 PM

To be fair (assuming this wasn't staged), there were cameras all over him and her, not to mention a full camera crew. He was trying his best to be polite.

max_peenor • 11 points • 6 October, 2017 02:32 PM

Yeah, you can see he struggled. And despite knowing she was a titanic cunt and clearly better off with her gone, he looked oddly disappointed at the end. Fuck that. I would have asked the waitress for a bourbon and her number.

Er.... or do they shoot people for ordering bourbon in limeyland?

MattyAnon • 7 points • 6 October, 2017 03:45 PM

he looked oddly disappointed at the end

This looked like it was for the cameras. ie the film crew say "just sit there and look sad". Framing him as the jilted victim, making him look sad... even though it was clearly her being a cunt.

Women watching though.... will think "hmmm she could have played that better". They'll decry her actions, but they all do exactly the same thing when they marry. They're just playing the long con rather than the quick buck.

BluepillProfessor • 9 points • 6 October, 2017 04:00 PM

they all do exactly the same thing when they marry.

I haven't been on a 'first date' in 25 years but I was sure I recognized this behavior.

MattyAnon • 17 points • 6 October, 2017 04:41 PM

THIS is what almost all of them act like within a couple weeks of saying the vows

You have to realise what marriage looks like for women.

"So.... I can lose my job... stay at home... get fat... and you have to support me.... and then if we get a divorce... you have to support me ..... and for my part, I have to do .... absolutely nothing right? except not get caught cheating? I DO!!!"

empatheticapathetic • 4 points • 6 October, 2017 06:04 PM

Perfect marriage summary really

BluepillProfessor • 2 points • 7 October, 2017 04:53 PM

In most States it makes no difference if she gets caught cheating. The Husband/ex still has to pay even when she is living with her rich Chad in your house that you continue to pay for because the rule is still the same. The man has to pay.

If the situation is reversed, as in my case, where the woman makes most of the money do you know what the rule is? The man has to pay.

MattyAnon • 1 point • 10 October, 2017 03:33 AM

I wish more men could understand that equality only applies to women.... reverse the genders and the rules reverse too. They don't get it.... probably wishful thinking.... the gullible fools.

You're wrong criticizing her for not "standing up for her own actions".

Women are very rarely confrontational with men for obvious reasons. You don't realize that the cuck society we live in right now is very recent in terms of evolutionary behavior.

Before that, bad things were likely to happen to women who spoke up to men. They developed other strategies to show disapproval. That's why they're flaky.

Remember the story of the turtle & the scorpion? Don't blame the scorpion for being a scorpion.

"[to intervjuer] Past exes have been mean to me"

Never met a woman who didn't have an "abusive past relationship" story to some degree or another.

They can't distinguish between emotional state and reality, are completely self-centered, and avoid personal responsibility at all costs. So once the relationship fails they have to justify it by concocting a negative depiction of the guy - if they feel bad it's because someone else caused it so the guy must be bad, if the relationship failed it's because someone else failed so the guy is at fault, etc.

CHAD_J_THUNDERCOCK • 9 points • 6 October, 2017 01:49 PM

The waitress is the real villain here. His date is a bitch sure but thots gonna thot. But that waitress was immensely disrespectful to her customer by choosing not only to get involved but to side with Thot and start asking her what sauces her blind date wanted. They both created a frame where the polite young guy was being treated as a fucking child.

Poor lad likely had never received such nuclear shittests out of nowhere before. He was physically out of her league too so working to blast those shittests out of the water was a waste of time and energy as it would be building attraction to somebody he is repulsed by.

Only winning move is not to play and to leave. But he is on TV and there is an unwritten rule that he should go through with the date. Then the slut does it anyway and bails on him. LOL. The entire Frame was rigged to destroy him from the beginning.

VenusHypergamy[S] • 6 points • 6 October, 2017 03:47 PM

No I genuinely think waitress was just put between a rock and a hard place. There's tension at the table and as the 3rd party she is forced to mediate or as she puts it "compromise". She's not RP so she's not thinking about frame and power. She's just thinking "she wants to order for him, he doesn't. Let's meet in the middle, she can order his side that's a fair compromise right?". Plus, women logic is generally more heavily taxed under stress

max_peenor • 7 points • 6 October, 2017 02:30 PM

The waitress is the real villain here.

But you can tell she had it with that cunt to about halfway through it, particularly when she whipped out her phone. The look on her face.

Anyway, I would have tried to pull the waitress right then and there. Far better looking, a voice that does make you want to take ice picks to your ears and that ass. Her: "Are you ok?" Me: "Do you think I was being too polite by putting up with that thing as long as I did?" ...

V_M • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 03:42 PM

You make good points in general but not specifically WRT this individual waitress. If you think of this waitress as a /trp/ reader and believer, then the whole narrative you gave, has to flip. Consider:

Waitress is a 8/10, maybe higher under those clothes and hair, and she knows it and even when her employer forces her into a uniform and hairstyle that desexualizes her so as not to intimidate the lower value female customers, shes smoking when viewed next to the somewhat overfed 4/10 date-girl. I'm not into boys so I have trouble estimating boys level but his hair is WTF and he commits weak non-alpha behavior so I'd have trouble giving the boy more than a 7/10, and that's being nice. The waitress may very well be riding the CC and knows in just a few seconds that date boy is below her level, but date girl is worse, she's "insulting community standards" by being so incredibly below the date boy's level. The waitress is /ourgirl/ because she sees date girl shit testing date boy, and she sees non-alpha 7/10 date boy doesn't know how to play the game as well as she does, so RIGHT out of freaking /TRP/, the waitress puts on the "hey little brother this is how you agree and amplify in response to a shit test". This also means there's no way 7/10 date boy is taking 8/10+ waitress home tonight. The waitress is red pill'd and if date boy were a little more alpha and correctly responded to shit tests without his "big sister waitress" showing him how to be a man, he could totally have gone home with the waitress. The waitress is not bad looking from what I saw in the video, much hotter than date-girl. Maybe she looks terrible up close, I donno, but at first glance, not bad.

I mean, let's say the waitress was an alpha male waiter who reads /trp/, and he demonstrated for the weak date boy an example of agree and amplify in response to a shit test. He'd really be a bro then, right? However in reality the waitress is just as /trp/ but is also a fairly hot woman, but her gender and hotness isn't her fault...

At least that's the way I saw it and interpreted it. How you assume the TRP status of the waitress initially, colors how she looks thru the whole video. In summary I got the feeling she's reading this subreddit right now, which gave me an entirely different interpretation of her.

Here's an interesting strange alternative theory about the whole video: Waitress is on the prowl and wants date-boy but doesn't know if he's up to her power level, so the true meta story is SHE the waitress is shit testing date-boy to see if he's alpha enough to let him bang her, so waitress is egging on ugly date-girl and kinda showing off for date-boy. The real "romance story" isn't the ugly ducking with prince charming and the ducking flies the coop, the real "romance story" is date-boy was just a little too beta to end up banging the smoking hot waitress. It's not a romance story about an ugly chick at all, it's a story about a slightly too beta boy missing out on a hottie. I mean, come on, at the end of the video the waitress is practically asking date-boy to flirt with her. Think of the last seconds of the video if the waitress were an alpha male waiter ... clearly the waitress kinda wanted the D but wasn't sure.

Lol posting reality TV shows as proof of anything. It's on TV cause people find this appalling. Not only that the main reality TV viewer is a woman. So they are literally talking to their fan base.

This show is literally doing a skit to women saying "this is so fucked up we had to hire actors to try to make it a touch believable be appalled" and you think there is actually a real woman out there that would do this hahahahaha.

Also the "analysis" of this is hilarious. If anyone acted like that in real life it would legitimately be a mental illness.

I'm of two minds about this. 1) She is annoying, and I think, clearly lying the whole time. Seems super insecure and disingenuous. Bottom line I don't think she was attracted to him, at all. I mean, look at the marks all over his pale weak looking face. I think she was on TV and had decided to bail the moment she saw him. Everything she did and said was a half ass act. 2) He seemed like a class act. Strong, confident, etc. Even though he isn't a good looking person I'm sure he'll be fine and go far in life.

segagaga • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 11:06 PM

He's just young and has acne, as all young people do. That passes, he'll be fine.

destraht • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 07:58 PM

Hilarious shit is hanging out with a late middle aged man who is poor physical shape and a few women sent him their drinking bill. Fortunately he declined.

oldslut • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 08:34 PM

i would never have taken a chick out to dinner on a first date anyway, but, with that said, if i had been there, i would have bailed before the food even arrived. a hb5 that thinks she's an 11

fromthecrypt8 • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 08:43 PM

What an absolute disgrace of a human being she is. Your interpretation of her statements is spot on. Thank the heavens the chap had strong frame. What a fuckin cunt she was, so damaged.

Ech0shift • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 11:04 PM

Video is gone can someone please link.

kingofshapes • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 01:44 PM

Look guys, I know it's easy to rally against bitches like this when it's so painfully obvious there is everything wrong with this girl, but you are all a bunch of morons to even consider this reality TV bullshit as authentic. Yes, "women" like this exist and have pulled this shit 100 times over, but when this makes the front page of TRP and everyone starts circle jerking about how women are terrible, that doesn't do anything to help the problem or help you evolve as a man.

segagaga • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 11:00 PM

Living in England, I can tell you right now there are not a few women like this around.

TimGuoRen • 2 points • 6 October, 2017 02:42 PM

This video is so scripted and they are not even trying to hide it.

[deleted] • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 01:31 PM

holly shit what a sheep she is...

LadyChelseaFaye • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 02:27 PM

I feel like she is the reason she's not dating someone. Instead of her exes not being nice to her she was probably so self absorbed that they ended it with her.

Dubalicious • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 03:48 PM

I would have told the waitress that I wasn't paying for her meal or sent a collection agency to her house after something like that.

Lmao come on now, this bitch doesn't deserve another thought. Small payment to be rid of her.

hodltaco • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 04:19 PM

AWALT this one is just a little more honest about it. He should have drawn the line in a serious manner and if she gave him any lip stood up and walked.

CaptainToday • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 04:48 PM

Gross! I would have ended this after the first minute.

Eltiah • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 05:03 PM

Lol i left a comment last bight on that /videos post. I referened the red pill and got downvoted to the second ring of hell ilikemychickenfried • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 05:19 PM

She was hit with the ugly stick pretty hard chernoelectro • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 06:02 PM

you understand it's television ? it's basically fiction

Enigma221 • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 06:58 PM

Women are cunts. End of story.

wickedogg • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 07:11 PM

His shock at the waitress was hilarious, it was like she couldn't figure out that there was no way that girl would leave her a tip.

Myc0n1k • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 07:47 PM

And women have the audacity to be feminists in the USA/England. Shit makes me sick.

bot256 • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 10:05 PM

I am going to fucking puke. She's like a 5 or 6 tops and that's when she's with makeup and everything. Her behavior though is disgusting. Shit, I want to punch this thing. Also, makes me sad to realize there are this sort of females out there and even though I am currently dealing with a more agreeable female, I still cannot take her shit any longer. But this, if it is real, jst no. I don't think the dude even had any expectations from this unfortunate encounter.

Sir_Distic • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 10:14 PM

Why is the waitress enabling her behavior? "a compromise then? Would he like the red wine gravy etc"

Simple. She is a fellow woman. At that point he should have stood up for himself and politely called the waitress out. "If she's ordering for me she can pay for me. So your tip comes from her."

joedevice • 1 point • 8 October, 2017 04:19 PM

Side note, the guy didn't actually have to pay for her meal.

TaylorWolf • 1 point • 8 October, 2017 04:32 PM

LOL the way she laughed gleefully after mentioning the guys that "treated her badly" Alpha Widowww

Limeycat • 1 point • 8 October, 2017 06:01 PM

I would say "poor lad", but to be honest he handled that very well considering there were cameras watching their every move. If only he had the confidence to be more assertive.

She, on the other hand, is an embarrassment to us all and would do well to think about what SHE can bring to the table. Given her behaviour, I would guess that she feels having breasts and a vagina are enough for her to be given the world on a plate. Sorry love, but that's not enough.

vwzwv • 1 point • 11 October, 2017 09:45 AM

Keep in mind this is a reality show.

My guess is it went down like this. They got this guy and girl in after an audition. They told her she was going to be an actress playing a part. Give her a script with all those cringeworthy shit lines. He on the other hand was told it he and a girl were going to have a date on camera (no mention of anyone 'acting').

So the girl thinks she's an actress.

The guy thinks he's on a legit blind date being filmed

The viewer (you) think it's a legit blind date being filmed.

The main 'mark' is always the viewer. He's a mark, but just a tool.

The script she plays is a carnation of shit traits we know people (in this case a woman) have.

TheVagWhisperer • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 02:55 PM

This is an absolutely ridiculous example to use to prove any point. This woman is flat out insane combined with a super low character. You could go on a thousand dates and never experience something half this bad

segagaga • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 11:04 PM

Live in Essex for a week, I guarantee them.

TheVagWhisperer • 1 point • 7 October, 2017 01:24 AM

Hah, I'll take your word on it crimsonkodiak • -1 points • 6 October, 2017 03:42 PM

What the fuck happened to this sub? What the fuck is the deal with all this bullshit whining? Who gives a shit if she's being entitled and why are we talking about correcting behavior?

If she's attractive enough to go on a date with, that means you think she's attractive enough to have sex with. Otherwise, why are you there?

Push it as far as you can. When you stop enjoying your time with them, next them. It's not that hard.

BluepillProfessor • 4 points • 6 October, 2017 04:05 PM

Who gives a shit if she's being entitled

Part of this subs purpose is to educate men. I guarantee if I showed most bloopers they would not recognize anything wrong and would be surprised that she left. It doesn't matter if it is staged. It is reality.

newName543456 • 1 point • 6 October, 2017 09:08 PM

Some people have enough self-respect to not bother dealing with such nonsense just to get laid.

BlackDog2017 • -1 points • 6 October, 2017 04:53 PM

This one video proves that all women are like that.

NakedAndBehindYou • 0 points • 8 October, 2017 04:28 AM

From the rules:

No examples from fiction or lyrics.

This video is from a reality TV show and thus is fiction. Get this trash out of here.
