

Conclusive Proof of AWALT and the REAL Female Sexual Strategy...

This is required reading for understanding the WHY of "AWALT".

https://toqonline.com/archives/v7n2/v7no2_Devlin.pdf

Highlights;

Biochemical research points to a natural four-year sexual cycle for the human female. This apparently allows enough time after childbirth for the average mother in a state of savagery to regain her ability to survive without male provisioning. In the absence of any system of marriage, a woman's natural tendency is to "liberate" herself from her mate after that point. When her hormones prompt her to reproduce again, she simply takes a new mate. 2 Vol. 7, No. 2 The Occidental Quarterly Langley cites Helen Fisher's Anatomy of Love and Burnham and Phelan's Mean Genes in support of this account. According to the latter, separation and divorce are most likely to occur in the fourth year of marriage "across more than sixty radically different cultures."

This is why marriage is ALWAYS a losing proposition. You cannot fight biology.

Feral female sexual behavior is governed by a number of chemicals. The euphoria of infatuation is associated with the stimulant pheylethylamine, naturally produced in the body by erotic attraction. As with other drugs, it is addictive, and people gradually build up a tolerance to it, requiring ever greater levels to achieve the same effect. Over time, it loses its power over us, and infatuation is replaced by a calm feeling of attachment to our mates. There are neurochemical factors at work here as well. But the feeling of attachment or bondedness is akin to the effect of a sedative or narcotic rather than a stimulant

This is why sleeping around ruins a woman's ability to pair bond. She becomes numb to the stimulant pheylethylamine and must continue in riskier and riskier behavior as with any addiction.

Next there are hormones to consider. The sex drive, in both men and women, is linked to testosterone levels. These are, of course, always higher in men; but the difference is greatest in early adulthood when people have traditionally taken their mates. As men age, their testosterone levels gradually decrease; women's levels rise. Going into their thirties, women get hairier, their voices deepen, and they behave more assertively. And, in the author's words, "it's also quite common for them to experience a dramatic increase in their desire for other men

This is the reason why men get cucked.

Women are more likely than men to confuse sexual attraction with love. The sexes speak differently of the feelings associated with the early stages of a romantic affair: Most men I have talked to call it infatuation, but most of the women I have talked to call it being in love....Women in particular may believe that, if they find the right person, intense feelings can last. They've been taught to believe that they should only want sex with someone they love. So when a woman Summer 2007 / Devlin 3 desires a man, she thinks she is in love, and when the desire fades she thinks she is out of love.

This is why they cannot love. They do not understand what love is. To them love is merely infatuation. For Men, love is a choice, and a commitment. Many Men in love die for their partners. This is a result of this commitment, not infatuation.

Women often speak of seeking “commitment” from men, but this would seem to imply a preference for marriage-minded men over others. Langley observed the very opposite tendency in her interviewees: They often form relationships with men who are emotionally inaccessible. Instead of choosing men who are interested in developing a relationship, these women choose men who make them feel insecure. Insecurity can create motivation and excitement. Women who seek excitement in their marriages (and many do) will often forego the possibility of real relationships for the excitement of fantasy relationships.... It’s not uncommon for women to pine for men who shy away from commitment, while they shun the attention given to them by men who are willing and ready to make a commitment.

This is why they go for Bad Boys, and get tingles from them. They are chasing infatuation, and mistake excitement for something that can last in the long term.

Much uninformed and superficial commentary on the sexual revolution assumes that “men want sex while women want marriage.” Langley draws a valid distinction: women want to get married, not to be married. They often love not so much their husbands as their bridal-fantasy in which the man serves as a necessary prop. Females want to wear the dress and have the wedding. Many women have looked forward to that day their whole lives, which ultimately sets them up for a huge crash.

This is why marriage is guaranteed to be a disappointment for them. You are nothing but a prop to them. Their completely unrealistic expectations for life guarantee them misery.

Women, says Langley, enter marriage assuming they are naturally monogamous. “Trying to be faithful doesn’t seem natural to them.” They recite the wedding vow in much the same spirit as they wear “something borrowed, something blue”—it is simply what one does at a wedding. Of course, a vow is no very serious undertaking to one who assumes she will never feel any temptation to break it. Accordingly, over time, most women begin to rationalize their extramarital erotic interests. If women simply want to be married and are not naturally inclined to be attracted to other men, “any unhappiness or infidelity on the part of the women is assumed to be due to the men they married.”

This is why they will grow to hate and resent you. Why they treat their Husbands with abject disgust and revulsion.

I highly recommend reading the entire paper. Red pills galore. Eat up boys. It's war out there.

There's more knowledge about female nature in this one post than in a $200,000 gender studies degree program.

cjENTusBLAZE • 13 points • 31 July, 2018 02:02 PM

Gender Studies is pretty much paying to get brainwashed with feminism.

Itisforsexy • 6 points • 31 July, 2018 09:22 PM

Are they really $200,000 now, or is that hyperbole for effect?

succubist • 12 points • 31 July, 2018 09:35 PM

It's not hyperbole. Yearly tuition at Duke University, for example, is currently at $49,575 with a projected four year degree price of $276,676 □

Itisforsexy • 12 points • 31 July, 2018 10:00 PM

Anyone stupid enough to pay that or take out loans for it, well as they say, a fool and their money...

Although unfortunately these days, it's a fool and the taxpayers money (productive men's money).

[deleted] • 16 points • 1 August, 2018 02:05 AM

It's dumped on 18 year olds who have no concept of how much money that is. It's just evil.

There's no other way to put it.

Itisforsexy • 19 points • 1 August, 2018 02:08 AM

Precisely. $200,000, most people never even save that in their entire lives. Which is in of itself sad, but a different topic. Even to millionaires, 200 grand is a reasonable fortune.

They're loading this debt onto young people who've only had a communist-style life (that is essentially the family unit until you're 18), have no understanding of finances (as this is conveniently enough rarely ever taught in public schools), and the debt cannot be erased through bankruptcy.

That last point is perhaps the most insidious aspect of the whole scam.

newcapical • 9 points • 1 August, 2018 10:30 AM

In Europe, Its free (maybe 1k-2k euros a year max) but still women don't take STEM courses and we have so many arts and fine arts graduates.

batfish55 • 178 points • 30 July, 2018 07:32 AM

Normally I blow past posts as long as this one. But for some reason, I read through it all.

Great insights. Got to save this page.

They don't know their own natures.

To be fair, I believe that the majority of people (though probably more females than males), don't know themselves. Very few people sit back and analyze themselves, their desires. They never make hard choices. They never leave their home towns. They just let life blow them along like a leaf on the breeze.

It takes some kind of trauma to make people reassess their life choices. Trauma, say, like a divorce. Now, seeing as how the ex wife gets cash and prizes and support on her way out, she's probably not going to do a lot of soul-searching. The ex-husband tho...he just lost his car, house, kids, and had everything society ever told him proved wrong. That dude's gonna do a looooot of introspection.

Ibanezguitarocks • 66 points • 30 July, 2018 03:52 PM

Maybe not. I'd say most men would chock this up to, "she just wasn't the right one".

Most men live in denial because they can't cope with the truth about female nature.

Yashugan00 • 20 points • 31 July, 2018 10:16 PM

Sure, before. but the price to pay has increased. Generally, unless you start a successful business after the divorce, there isn't going to be family 2.0 because you wouldn't have the means. In recent times, households with 2 earners are struggling already. Wages haven't increased in over a decade. Whilst inflation keeps going on year on year. (i'm no economist, someone correct me if i'm wrong on this please)

It takes a special kind of person to burn themselves to the point of losing a finger, and still want to touch the stove.

[deleted] • 13 points • 1 August, 2018 01:08 PM

I was In a weakened state mentally/emotionally and was easy prey for the predatory post wall single mother ... this was the one that woke me...

520ThirdStreet • 44 points • 30 July, 2018 11:55 AM

The hardest journey one can make is the one that leads inward. Can you imagine the shit women would find out about themselves if they did that? They don't want to do that. That's why they have a hole in their psyche and they're going to try and fill that hole with the entire world. Once you figure out who you are and what you want you'll realize that you're pretty fucking awesome and you don't need much.

Mygtow • 39 points • 31 July, 2018 12:01 AM

Absolutely. The journey inward reminds me of this passage from 'The Matrix':

Morpheus: What you know you can't explain, but you feel it. You've felt it your entire life, that there's something wrong with the world. You don't know what it is, but it's there, like a splinter in your mind, driving you mad.

The journey (MGTOW) eventually leads you out of your existing comfort zone (ie. societal conditioning) and into a new place of being.

figyg • 19 points • 1 August, 2018 02:06 PM

Ex: I want to apologise

Me: ok, what specifically are you apologizing for?

Ex: oh, uh...

A therapist told her to apologise to me after I dumped her for being shit, but she never went so far as to think about what she was actually apologizing for. She was just doing something someone told her to do to feel better. I know it's anecdotal, but I've heard many similar stories. Women hate humility, as do most people

Natsume25 • 35 points • 30 July, 2018 11:08 PM

The issue with your assessment is that even if a man starts to look introspectively on his situation, the sheer fear and lack of purpose from his potential realization would lead him back to his blue pill, comfortable tendencies.

It's one thing to see the truth. But to apply it is another scary step.

[deleted] • 13 points • 31 July, 2018 11:43 AM

That's why they traditionally have kids during that time frame, to further trap you.

A part of the now high divorce rate is that people are not getting married because of pregnancy as often (abortion and lack of social shame) and married couples are waiting longer into the marriage to have kids. This results in more marriages exiting the "honeymoon phase" while not having kids to bind them. So, they "fall out of love" and "the spark is gone" and they look for another because they are unimpeded. Rinse and repeat. They don't realize what they are doing.

genericlatino • 1 point • 24 October, 2018 04:04 AM

"women want to get married, not to be married. They often love not so much their husbands as their bridal-fantasy in which the man serves as a necessary prop." ----- This portion reminded me of a post on here not to long ago. It was about a couple that were taking wedding photos and the man stood in one spot while the woman moved around and around. He basically was just a prop for her and her "special" day. It was a very sad sight. I am extremely glad, I am the age I am, and I didn't fuck my life up by marrying or knocking up some whore.

Women love weddings because it's ultimate social orgasm.

They HATE marriages.

Also, they LOVE babies, because it grants them a special status and attention, but they HATE children.

gargantualis • 35 points • 30 July, 2018 12:29 PM

They love being the center of attention, and the assured meal ticket.

Only hardships of the past and limited options kept marriages pre sexual revolution going. Imagine if women werent ignorant of their own biology and realized as they are human, they are fallible. One of Stardusks old videos suggested that the human doing-men/human being-women dichotomy has left them shielded in the domesticated world from the truth. Now they seek to lead and rule society still under the same spell of ignorance.

Sir_manalot • 33 points • 30 July, 2018 08:34 PM

I bet if men stopped taking agency away from women, that they will stop being shitty.

At first they will be complete messes, but they would adapt in a year or two.

I mean just look at what women did in ancient times, you cannot tell me that women are incapable of anything when they scrubbed the house clean on their knees, prepared food without a stove, gathered food everyday, washed clothes by hand, etc.

Men are just obsessed with pedestalizing women as trophies that need to be protected.

gargantualis • 20 points • 30 July, 2018 09:23 PM

Oh btw just a minor clarification if you could. Did you mean agency by itself or more specifically the responsibility that comes with agency? They've got a lot of freedom nowadays, but it seems the shielding from responsibility is what men keep giving them.

Sir_manalot • 9 points • 30 July, 2018 10:45 PM

Both.

Because women weren't shit in the past, when they had little agency. Right. And things will just go back being the utopia that they were pre-1950. Right. Aham. I see.

NoThirst • 5 points • 31 July, 2018 07:41 PM

Is knocking someone up today still a big fuck up? Worse than marriage or cohabitation?

Because I want kids and don't want marriage. Knocking someone up is looking like the lesser evil. "Co-parenting" we'll call it.

There have been advances in social awareness at how family court treats men. I feel like 50/50 no CS could be achievable.....unless you made more money....

Without stable marriages, men get increasingly competitive with each other to the point that they:

Start destroying their fellow men's opportunities so they no longer have to keep pushing so rigorously to be in the top 20%

Start settling for worse and worse options (to not have to compete as hard) until it is impossible to satisfy women's desires due to how badly they have been spoiled.

Start turning the goal of manhood into being the best sex toy over the best man. The embodiment of manliness is now what women find manly over what men see as manly.

Start creating a culture of foeness and lies to try to reach the ever rising standards.

Start to work against the goals of the country by withdrawing or acting out violently. Especially as men start trashing there fellow brothers in all areas of life.

The end result is the societies eventual death.

Geleemann • 5 points • 1 August, 2018 05:57 PM

the_unseen_one • 29 points • 30 July, 2018 07:43 PM

I got that feeling when the author talked about monogamy being unnatural and women being naturally polygamous. All this was just a long winded appeal to nature in favor of being whores.

Sir_manalot • 36 points • 30 July, 2018 08:45 PM

No matter how people try to justify it, it doesn't work.

Men live to breed and raise there own children.

If they allow women to sleep with whoever they want, harems will eventually form.

Leaving four out of five men disinterested in anything but themselves...and these men are more powerful then the few alphas in charge.

Slavery can help curb this problem, but slaves do the bare minimum and this eventually leads to everyone living in poverty. Plus eventually some talented slaves will realize that the master isn't as powerful as he tricks them to believe.

PuzzleheadedDoughnut • 6 points • 2 August, 2018 01:47 PM

polygamous

Sorry dude Im gonna have to pull you up the incorrect use of that word.

Women are hypergamous. Men are polygamous.

Many women will happily share one man among them if that man is high status and the other option is having their own man who is weak/lower status/poor etc.

They are the exact opposite of polygamous.

The only reason they "enjoy" multiple lovers is because the Chads they want, won't commit so they are forced to hop from one to another.

Biologically they want to secure one high statuses male resources but thanks to Tinder and a forgiving culture Chads can just smash these deluded bitches without committing (unless they fuck up and get her pregnant).

Thotsithinknots • 22 points • 31 July, 2018 11:42 AM

Can confirm to the incel community that this is a recurring theme with partners who were in love and then all of a sudden things "just fizzled" and it's literally like you never meant nothing to them. I've had this happen 3 times in the exact time frame. 3 1/2 - 4 year time window. The problem is men are used to the companionship and are completely broken down and traumatized that somebody's heart could turn to stone in such a fickle manner. After this happens enough the natural conclusion to take is that they are fickle. Which is what lead me to mgtow. I always knew if I was in a relationship it would lead to heartache and depression. This confirms everything and should be something every man understands. I trade in the markets. Knowing risk / reward is what I make all my decisions on.

rationalthought314 • 45 points • 30 July, 2018 04:17 AM

Very accurate which I think a lot of guys especially older ones can attest to.

Many Men in love die for their partners. This is a result of this commitment, not infatuation.

very true. I would say men actually love their partners whereas woman love the feeling they receive from the infatuation - which is fleeting. You can see this is their romance literature. Often it's a "whirlwind" romance of heady passion which is what you get when you first meet someone and is not a sustainable feeling. Rarely is it about long term romance down the road.

Instead of choosing men who are interested in developing a relationship, these women choose men who make them feel insecure. Insecurity can create motivation and excitement.

This why being a simp is a losing deal. Women say they want a kind man who will respect them but it's just another shit test.

they shun the attention given to them by men who are willing and ready to make a commitment

Shun? Sometimes outright ridicule them if they don't use them. However, later they come to those types to settle. In the past such guys thought they won out in the end but now more of those guys are waking up to the fact they are being used and ending up with damaged goods so they rejecting this "win."

Much uninformed and superficial commentary on the sexual revolution assumes that "men want sex while women want marriage."

This is a blue pill lie that we are told that makes women seem virtuous and men pigs looking just to root. This is why so many guys have a hard to time seeing women's true nature.

They often love not so much their husbands as their bridal-fantasy in which the man serves as a necessary prop...Many women have looked forward to that day their whole lives

It's their day to be the absolute center of attention which is more important than the actual marriage itself. Girls want to be brides as soon as they understand the concept. It's the culmination of their life goal. I think most would be happy to die after the wedding day.

They don't know their own natures...This is why they can be completely truthful, and why it all turns to shit later on.

I said something along this line comparing certain women to the sleeper agents from the new Battlestar Galactica show. They believe they are human up to the point a switch is flipped and suddenly they become the enemy. These girls believe they're NAWALT but either gradually or all at once she flips and the man she professed so much love for she now resents with a level of passion that is disturbing or she has a cold robotic detachment towards but in either mood she doesn't bother to self reflect why she feels this way, she just does and that's enough for her.

[deleted] 30 July, 2018 06:09 AM*

[deleted]

rationalthought314 • 36 points • 30 July, 2018 06:54 AM

They genuinely DO feel in love. This is why it is SO CRUCIAL to understand their nature. If you don't understand it, you will be deceived and taken in by their very real feelings.

This is what trips up a lot of guys because when they get with these girls they are legitimately a NAWALT. This is what makes them more frightening than chameleons. With chameleons there's always a chance of it coming out or word getting around but these sleeper agents are quiet ticking time bombs no one can predict when and where their switch will flip. A constant refrain from many divorced men is "she wasn't the same person." You'd think it was from the script of a horror movie - "something took over my wife!" except instead of demons or ancient ghosts, it's just her hypergamy kicking in and rebooting the software.

For people who play games, i strongly believe that's where the idea of Miang comes from in the RPG Xenogears. Every woman has the chance to become Miang. It's like a 180 degree flip. Once she turns into that, she no longer recognises herself as the same.

onemanfortress • 13 points • 30 July, 2018 09:16 AM

Sounds more like walking dead walkers, that turn when you least expect.

geturcrafter • 21 points • 30 July, 2018 11:42 AM

"I said something along this line comparing certain women to the sleeper agents from the new Battlestar Galactica show. They believe they are human up to the point a switch is flipped and suddenly they become the enemy. These girls believe they're NAWALT but either gradually or all at once she flips and the man she professed so much love for she now resents with a level of passion that is disturbing or she has a cold robotic detachment towards but in either mood she doesn't bother to self reflect why she feels this way, she just does and that's enough for her."

THIS. ALL OF FUCKING THIS.

I'm going through that with my ex(sons mother, been working on reconciliation). I'll have to post the text she sent on Friday. Gotta screen shot it.

rationalthought314 • 21 points • 30 July, 2018 12:29 PM

yeah I've noticed a common theme with many husbands current and ex who complain about their wife becoming someone completely different. I've only had it happen with girlfriends and friends but it's a whole different ballgame with a wife I imagine after so many years thinking you know someone so well and she turns out to be a fracking toaster!

TyrannicalWill • 20 points • 30 July, 2018 10:56 PM

This is why all romance movies have two major scenes - the icebreaker scene and the wedding scene. Those two scenes compose most of the movie. Wahmen just want excitement and the social validation of locking down a manslave (ideally who was non committal).

Women want provisions not marriage. Marriage was the old way of getting provisions, but you had to work for it and keep working for it. Most people don't want a job, they just want an income. If they could continue to get an income without showing up for work they will definitely do that.

if your'e alive today, it's for a reason, your genetics have already outcompeted others for 10s of thousands of years. You think humans have any real capacity to evaluate gene quality. Just because you're short and dont' look like a model doesn't mean your genes aren't better. alot of you need to read up on evolution more carefully. It's no accident that the smartest men on the planet don't look like models and are under 6'. don't be defeatist, you have the capacity inside you to win or your ancestors wouldn't ahve survived.

didiflex • 3 points • 1 August, 2018 07:58 PM

Yeah but wars helped a lot where constant wars and high rate of male deaths ensured that unattractive men could procreate. My grandad was average looking at best but he was slaying like crazy after ww2, widows and single unmarried women where everywhere. 70% of male population aged 15-40 was killed. We dont have these things anymore so we see ultra high competition amongst males.

bob13bob • 1 point • 2 August, 2018 12:44 AM you're operating under the assumption that attraction is fittest to the environment. if attraction was what mattered in the past, men would be more attractive than women, like peacocks.

RadicalAsceticMonk • 3 points • 2 August, 2018 12:37 PM

We are stupid monkeys

Every time I hear this shit, I remember Anatole France: "The wonder is, not that the field of stars is so vast, but that man has measured it."

Observable universe measures:

Diameter: 8.8×10^{26} m (28.5 Gpc or 93 Gly)

Volume: 4×10^{80} m³

Mass (ordinary matter): 10^{53} kg

Density: 9.9×10^{-30} g/cm³ (equivalent to 6 protons per cubic meter of space)

Age: 13.799±0.021 billion years

Average temperature: 2.72548 K

Contents: Ordinary (baryonic) matter (4.9%), Dark matter (26.8%), Dark energy (68.3%)

Now, do tell me: how could stupid monkeys measure Universe itself, from a small blue point inside that Universe? The real stupid monkeys are flinging shit at each other on top of trees. We're building wonders and works of pure beauty and preparing to crawl from Earth towards Mars. All while the real stupid monkeys will just keep on flinging shit at each other until they are no more - they they'll probably be no more because we casually caused them to go extinct, just because we can.

BalancingVices • 35 points • 30 July, 2018 07:42 PM

This was explained in the Predatory Female ages ago, but the good Reverend also mentioned another thing: it's generally young, inexperienced women who can mistake their infatuation for love, while older women predate consciously.

That doesn't make the young ones less dangerous, because the most effective lie is often when the liar herself believes the lie.

Married a virgin, can confirm all this paper says. Either society sanctions their destructive actions as a whole, otherwise a lasting relationship with a woman is impossible. Happiness is not part of this relationship, since women are not capable to develop a capacity for happiness. That's why they chase it trying to consume it

Sir_manalot • 29 points • 30 July, 2018 08:48 PM*

Women can definitely be happy, it is what patriarchy was designed to do.

They just do not chase happiness, they prefer better genes. So they long for drama, excitement and fighting to make men fight each other until only the strongest men are left.

[deleted] • 20 points • 31 July, 2018 12:35 AM

I agree. Its like a type of sexual selection mechanism. All over the animal kingdom, you find these type of sexual competitions, where two or more males have to fight and the female pairs off with the winner to mate. It's just instinctive.

hkl8324 • 3 points • 2 August, 2018 01:21 PM

I dont think so, it is just brainwashing, cause they dont have rape laws. The males dont have to compete with each other to have a fuck. The Elite make you to believe you have to fight to get a female but infect no need to do so in real wild world. It is open world, not the on like we human. You just fuck and run. No consequence when you give a woman EVERYTHING she needs, she will fall out of love, and line up the next seed carrier so she can maximise genetic diversity. You are just playing into her Optimal sexual strategy.

If she were fighting war, starvation, social unrest, she would cling to the man for protection.

We built this matrix too perfect, there's no reason for her not to move on. That is what women mean with sexual liberation. The ability to go spawn with a series of alphas, without restrictions.

[deleted]

Yashugan00 • 6 points • 1 August, 2018 11:11 AM

Yes. The bars that chain you are invisible. Biological drive is powerful. And that is why we have civilisation. It is used to ensure cooperation of men.

Society is a system, systems are alive in the sense that they will try to perpetuate themselves. This particular system works by offering all men a choice: work within the system and you will help build a stable society with protections and you will be able to perpetuate with offspring: one woman for every man and this boundary will be respected. Eg: no warlord will come riding in and take all your women and kill your children.

However, that contract is breaking down: women are no longer loyal, they will all chance the top 10 only, cheat with impunity, marry and divorce, convince their friends to divorce and encourage their infidelity. Don't hate me for stating this, I'm just observing.

Therefore, in an equal reaction, men are no longer choosing to contribute in equal numbers as before. The brand is tarnished, and the product is staying on the shelf

Doc_Sithicus • 3 points • 1 August, 2018 08:35 PM*

Yep, officially divorced for nearly 2 years now. Realistically I'd say close to 5 - my ex-wife simply didn't bother to let me know when she divorced me in her mind 3 years earlier.

You know - the really funny thing is only when my lawyer sent her divorce petition she realized that shit got real, she thought that she can just swing back into my life, said she wants to go to see a marriage counselor with me. She assumed that I'll just accept everything and it'll be business as usual.

It was a hard year, had to move and start over but it was worth it in the long run. It gets better after 2 years. Now I am free.

[deleted] • 5 points • 31 July, 2018 09:30 PM

People now marry and wait a comparatively long time to have kids. The kids bind them so it is a bit harder to leave and divorce. Without kids, a marriage is like more serious dating. Any serious bump in the road and they split. That is woman reason for higher divorce rates: delayed parenthood. Connect is that since women aren't in a hurry to have kids, they marry a bit later as well and fuck a bunch of men that they have no plans with. This limits pair bonding as you note.

[deleted] 1 August, 2018 12:12 AM*

KyfhoMyoba • 1 point • 22 September, 2018 06:17 PM

Have you seen the graph showing adoption of oral contraceptives with the divorce rate? Divorce is about a 2 year lag after oral contraceptive adoption. Great correlation. Fits perfectly with mate preference change across the ovulatory cycle.

That last point...

It reminds me of something else...

It's about modern philosophy that believes human nature is naturally good. With that they believe any evil deed is someone else's fault; e.g.: the society, white people, men, poverty, etc. Women today are taught they are naturally good natured too... Damn this world is done for...

Marque01 • 14 points • 30 July, 2018 08:56 PM

> women want to get married, not to be married. They often love not so much their husbands as their bridal-fantasy in which the man serves as a necessary prop. Females want to wear the dress and have the wedding. Many women have looked forward to that day their whole lives, which ultimately sets them up for a huge crash. It's all about the social orgasm

247spyz4life • 12 points • 31 July, 2018 01:50 PM

I've always thought women needed constant drama, excitement, and often negative emotional stimulation. That's why they don't want a truly passionate and romantic man. Well here's scientific proof...

Wow bro. Best post in a while here. I will follow you. Keep posting stuff like this.

On the other hand there is a connotation to this post that opens certain questions in regards to relationships with women.

A question id like to make you and other mgtows...

If women have that timing you described...

You said 4 years right? So men must not exceed a certain time regardless of the context. So basically all flings with women, must always follow a script, where you dump them after 9 months maximum even if they are mirroring unicorns...

We are living great times. We will soon decode women nature fully. And since we are rational and strategic we will win everytime. Women rely on their instincts solely to manipulate men, they are not even aware of their ownelves.

It definitely happens. And i have failed constantly at that. Everytime dude. And its because im actually arrogant, i think it wont happen with me, or at some point in my life i feel again free and invincible and think it wont get to me. But it gets because its fucking chemical. So even if she is the biggest thot, if you keep spending time with her at some point you catch feelings. I literally asked myself before why am i thinking about this thot that i use to not give a shit about, and still dont give a shit, the truth is its not actually us, its our brain and the chemicals.

[deleted] • 2 points • 31 July, 2018 09:35 PM

Yep. Let's say your current GF is still treating you well and sexing you good at 9 months. Almost no men will carry out their pre-planned breakup routine. The best we can hope for is men that will leave as soon as it becomes a net negative.

onemanfortress • 9 points • 30 July, 2018 04:01 PM*

Dude you are right but relax. This is in the context of the post. I deliberately spoke in a purple pill manner. The post is scientific. If you want to understand something scientifically, you have to be impartial, and speak as if all possibilities can be true. The context is that, even if they are not whores, and dont have stds, AND even if they havent been in many other guys and are unicorns -> they still are biologically programmed to fuck with you after some time. So basically even if you find a unicorn the rule is to leave her regardless after some months. You understand my comment now? It means that if all things perfect at best you must dump after some time. Regarding everything you said about the dangers of sexual intercourse with women, there are some instances where that is not the case, so that cant be an argument, but female psychology and nature is real in all cases. Regardless of the dangers and diseases, men will still fuck women, but when it comes to relationships you do have an argument and there is a specific timing that all men must be aware they cannot exceed regardless if they are mgtow or not. So relax, and let the debate happen, thats the only way we learn more.

This was not supposed to be giving hope but rather to expose a fallacy. I need to edit it, bad choice of words. But its true i think i drifted a bit.

This is why marriage is ALWAYS a losing proposition. You cannot fight biology.

Correction, most people can't fight their biological urges. Both men and women.

Women have literally no incentive to fight their biological urges, while men have to fight with all the blue pill'd brainwashing force feed to them since birth from media and other sources.

But with a little bit of intelligence and logic men can overcome it and us here on MGTOW are the living proof of that.

rationalthought314 • 12 points • 31 July, 2018 09:16 PM

most people can't fight their biological urges. Both men and women.

yes and no. I'd say the difference is that men throughout history have confronted and discussed their nature and tried harness it so it would be more beneficial rather than simply animalistic. That's why we developed philosophy and spiritual teachings to try and steer us towards a higher path. We haven't always been that successful but in 5000 years of civilization we've gone from huts to space stations as compared to the 10s of the thousands of years we ran around in animal skins before we gain retrospect. I'd say we've made a decent effort. Women on the other hand have not done so and feminism is a failure in this regard because it blames men and shifts accountability and thus any chance for introspection is gone.

Can someone explain to me why women's testosterone levels increase with age while men's drop? What's the biological necessity for that? It never made any sense to me that they would develop a higher sex drive when they are way past their biological prime in terms of youth and fertility.

Thotsithinknots • 10 points • 31 July, 2018 11:59 AM

I'm assuming that its natures way of telling her to get as many children out as possible before the fertility window closes.

Yashugan00 • 4 points • 31 July, 2018 10:35 PM

it has been shown Cougars are particularly forward and pushy, possibly only so bold due to the hormones.

andrewscool101 • 2 points • 31 July, 2018 12:12 PM

I'm assuming to mature them a bit.

If they have kids, they should be much older now. So they can afford to be less 'fun' and more like fathers.

[deleted] • 5 points • 31 July, 2018 05:58 PM

very good article. This passage really stood out. The whole #metoo thing backs this up.

Like other observers of the contemporary scene, the author notes the pervasiveness of female anger. "It's impossible...to understand anything about women in this country today, unless you understand that a) they're angry, and b) their anger is directed at men. Women today aren't seeking equality. They want retribution—revenge.”

“Men want sex, women want relationships” is my most hated blue pill lie. It reduces men to primates.

rationed_male • 2 points • 2 August, 2018 04:21 AM

More like: men like sex along with many other enjoyable pursuits and hobbies. Women so often need men to fill their empty lives and pay for their vacuous consumer habits

36KarsOnMars • 1 point • 1 August, 2018 12:48 PM

And how is this different ? It does the same but the other way around xd Eh, i i find it hard to agree with this, I mean science is science, but I've seen too many counterarguments in form of real life experiences.

[deleted] • 2 points • 1 August, 2018 08:01 PM

My own real life experiences tell me that it's men that want commitment and women don't.

36KarsOnMars • 1 point • 1 August, 2018 08:04 PM

And mine tell me otherwise, guess everyone has it different.

Also, I've felt like cultural differences across the countries have something to do with that too, though.

[deleted] • 6 points • 1 August, 2018 08:32 AM

Accepting female nature is not hard.

However, accepting that your social programming to stick to a female partner is, for a man, as self-destructive as you can get in today's society, its like biting on a handful of turd covered by cactus thorns while believing that its a well cooked steak, and ignoring the pain, just for having that turd shit baby turds and then destroy you by abusing governmental assistance.

treble-n-bass • 4 points • 31 July, 2018 08:16 PM

Sticky this shit ASAP!!!

[deleted] • 3 points • 1 August, 2018 01:49 PM

It makes sense.....

I mean women check out and give lets fuck signals to other guys all the time and vis versa....

AND when I have been single - the women are no where to be seen; and the moment I am in a relationship - they are all throwing themselves at me - like flies on shit.

Which actually ANNOYS the fuck out of me.

Like where were you when I needed a partner, and was on the market and I wanted someone good to help me to build up my business?

No fucking where.

Soon as I have a partner, "The cunts pea brain goes, "I wana fuck, I wana fuck, I wana fuck, I wana fuck"" and the fucking cock sucking vermin start crawling out of the wood work.

How does that work?

[deleted] • 2 points • 2 August, 2018 03:17 AM

Because you're validated by another woman. You have "value" when you're single, they look at you as you are a failed product and offer nothing of value, cuz otherwise you wouldn't be single.

[deleted] • 2 points • 2 August, 2018 04:01 AM

Yeah... having been cheerfully single for a long time, pretty much all the women who hold that scumbag value system - kind of like leeches jumping off a branch when some fresh warm blooded animal walks past - they are not worth giving much thought too. It's partly that pack mentality that women run with - fresh meat to fight over - for themselves, and the festering networks of INDIVIDUALS who will fight amongst each other to get you, your cum, your money and all that.

look_in_the_mirror • 2 points • 2 August, 2018 06:29 PM

What do you think the reason is? I mean how they feel that you are in a relationship?

[deleted] • 4 points • 1 August, 2018 03:35 PM

Women are more likely than men to confuse sexual attraction with love. The sexes speak differently of the feelings associated with the early stages of a romantic affair: Most men I have talked to call it infatuation, but most of the women I have talked to call it being in love....Women in particular may believe that, if they find the right person, intense feelings can last. They've been taught to believe that they should only want sex with someone they love. So when a woman desires a man, she thinks she is in love, and when the desire fades she thinks she is out of love.

If they've been taught one thing, doesn't that mean u could potentially teach them something new?

[deleted] • 5 points • 1 August, 2018 03:46 PM*

This is REQUIRED READING right hurr.

Thank you OP. I feel much better and much more validated in life after reading this (just had an annoying experience with a female where she basically just deceived me... and herself. as is normal. their words are meaningless-- you have to figure out what they're really trying to say/intend to do while they spit a bunch of nonsense).

All the gas lights of my life are out now.

Women are so fucking incapable and mentally retarded. I literally see them as sadistic, boring, low value, low integrity retards.

They're like retards in the sense that they can't help themselves.

So fucking done with their stupid little idiotic brains. Wish I didn't want to fuck women :(life would be easier and simpler.

Thotsithinknots • 3 points • 31 July, 2018 11:58 AM

I am curious does is this apply to relationships with sex with 0 pregnancy?

Isopiestic • 3 points • 31 July, 2018 03:52 PM

Any suggestions on what I should do if I want children? Just have them without a marriage contract and expect on the mother to dip out after 4 years? lol

andrewscool101 • 3 points • 31 July, 2018 06:47 PM

Depending on where you live, single men can adopt.

treble-n-bass • 3 points • 31 July, 2018 08:16 PM

Oh my fucking god. Thanks, OP. The science surrounding this is staggering, yet explains the associated psychological and behavioral aspect to the "T", and solidifies the need to GYOW even further.

[deleted] • 3 points • 1 August, 2018 01:32 AM

So... conclusion is...? Women are biological whores?

[deleted] • 3 points • 1 August, 2018 05:21 AM

It's simple, we are animals. A pack of wolves has an alpha male and only the alpha male gets to breed. All the other males hunt and help supply for the pack and the females all get bred by the alpha male.

80% of men are born to work for the benefit of society and only the top 20% should be breeding. We think we are smarter than animals, but at the end of the day instincts trump thinking. We have destroyed the system where all men could benefit, so we are reverting to nature.

[deleted] 1 August, 2018 05:24 AM*

[deleted]

[deleted] • 1 point • 1 August, 2018 06:10 AM

I'll admit my knowledge on wolves predates 1999. More proof that public education is shit.

Anyway, my point still stands because lots of animals live in a hierarchy. Chickens even do.

[deleted] • 1 point • 2 August, 2018 12:59 AM

Regardless, the more fit animals of any species generally get selected for mating more often. In social species, that is typically the dominant male. But sure he is wrong on the finer points of wolves.

stringedbeams • 3 points • 1 August, 2018 06:56 AM we're not simply animals, most of what's messed up today is failed nurture of imperfect nature

As men age, their testosterone levels gradually decrease

I consider myself a "lucky" person in general but the drop in testosterone has been the best blessing in my life. Losing the hormonal drive to go out and bang randos (and the ensuing drama this always results in) has brought calm and contentment I've never previously known.

MGTOWMusicMan • 3 points • 1 August, 2018 06:57 PM

Have it saved on my backup drive, the cloud, and printed it out. Hopefully this gets pinned permanently.

Light_Dark_Choose • 3 points • 2 August, 2018 05:34 AM

I'm not sure if there is an "increase in testosterone production at 30" for women - do you have a source? I have done some research and usually they point to a gradual decrease in testosterone levels in women as they age (below is one eg.).

This is clearly not scientific. There are no studies that show uniform increase in testosterone in women after 30. Michelle Langley isn't a scientist or an academic. She's a personal development coach peddling anecdotal data to cash in.

So what does the prototypical man that all women are attracted to looks like?

What can we learn from this and how can we apply it?

[deleted] • 2 points • 2 August, 2018 12:55 AM

He is a mix of contradictory traits (tough but gentle, etc) and satisfies the ever changing needs of a woman that she is not even aware of. In other words, this man does not exist.

[deleted] • 0 points • 2 August, 2018 01:09 AM

Horrifying in a way, but a sober dose of reality is better than living in blindness. I can learn to accept the former, but would hate to live a life not knowing the truth.

TacticalTamales • 1 point • 30 September, 2018 05:46 PM

As much as all of this has been true for me and my hound life (mid 20's) , I cant help but think about my parents who have been married for 30+ years. Sure they've had bumps and HUGE ups and downs in the marriage but there is no way I can deny that they BOTH selflessly love each other. They would die for one another and my mom has stuck with my dad when he was at his absolute lowest and I really believe that they have become more in tune with each other over the past 8 years than ever before. They are like one solid unit and I don't ever see that changing.

Camel-fingers • 1 point • 15 December, 2018 08:41 AM

This is pretty interesting. It seems to me that this is true but also true that women's nature as you described CAN be controlled.

BUT, it requires a few things in order to have a decent chance of success. These things are currently not present in society.

One would be self-knowledge. If more women understood their feelings and why they're having them they would be better equipped to make good decisions and regulate their feelings.

For example, I am sometimes hit on by a good looking woman at a bar or something. Sure is clearly keen and although my primal side says "you should hit that" I know that this feeling is simply my little head thinking. I know in my rational side that I love the woman I'm with and that I'm not a cheater. I can recognize this deceptive emotion and control it. Women without self-knowledge can't. They believe this fleeting vaginal tingle is a sign of true love so they go for it.

Secondly, societal mores and the legal system no longer encourages women to be faithful and good. In fact it's the exact opposite. Being a slut is praised and encouraged as "empowering" which as we know just further and further reduces a woman's ability to pair-bond and find any kind of sustainable happiness with a good man.

Third, religion and tight-knit communities have been basically destroyed. Women were very concerned with their reputation because being a slut and being ostracized from their community was basically a death sentence for their future. Nowadays, you have no religion, and you have welfare for single moms and no stigma and thus no incentive to control yourself.

If we can fix these things I think it can be possible again for men and women to have loving, harmonious, and healthy relationships. I totally empathize with MGTOW but the reality is we need to procreate, we need each other and neither men or women are going away anytime soon. I think we need to find a way to eventually get together, going your own way can be a part of that but it won't suffice as the ultimate end solution guys.

Marque01 • 1 point • 15 December, 2018 12:50 PM

> women want to get married, not to be married. They often love not so much their husbands as their bridal-fantasy in which the man serves as a necessary prop. Females want to wear the dress and have the wedding.

The social orgasm

SingleManDR • 1 point • 15 December, 2018 03:58 PM

Thing is, this is all true btw, but we did fight biology very effectively, for hundreds of years with one magical ingredient: social shame.

It was one of the most effective tools for keeping biological BS in check. If a girl indulged her hypergamy, she was cast out as a harlot. If she got pregnant out of wedlock, she was a dumb bitch who should be shamed.

Shame wasn't perfect, but it worked. Now feminism, the whatever-positivity movement of the moment, has attacked shame first. Without it, people are free to behave like animals.

[deleted] 31 July, 2018 07:03 AM

[deleted]

Gordyne • 5 points • 31 July, 2018 06:09 PM

The only solution is for society to acknowledge that women should obey and submit to their husbands.

It's not perfect, but it's either that, or pure chaos and suffering for almost everyone.

[deleted] • 3 points • 1 August, 2018 04:11 AM

Acknowledge that the female biological instinct to monkey branch exists than to keep going on with the 'women do no wrong' and then consciously make an effort to deny acting on that instinct to stay faithful to the man; acquaint themselves that one cannot be in a happy state all the time; raise kids with their own father and consider it a good life.

Would they do?
