August 6, 2018 | 877 upvotes | by cappadocianhawk

In this modern era we live in I see a lot of newspeak. Even in this very forum I see people use terms incorrectly, presumably to make themselves feel better. However, reality should be your best friend and you should embrace the reality of all things to know where you stand and how to improve. Here is a short reminder to know where you stand with a bitch to complement the excellent bitch management guide on the sidebar:

You are giving her attention beyond the initial contact but you aren't fucking her: You are an ORBITER.

You are giving her little to no attention and you are fucking her and several other chicks: She is a PLATE.

You are giving her attention and both of you are fucking others: You are FRIENDS WITH BENEFITS.

You are giving her attention and fucking only her and she is also only fucking you: She is your GIRLFRIEND.

You are giving her attention and fucking only her, she is fucking others: You are a CUCK.

You are giving her attention but she is a long distance away from you: You are an ORBITER and a CUCK.

Bonus round:

You think she is special in some way and different from the other bitches: You have ONEITIS.

You post a long story about her in asktrp: You have ONEITIS.

Didn't read the sidebar because you don't think it covers your situation?: You have ONEITIS.

Oneitis is what you feel when you don't think you can do any better

Youngyoda89 • 56 points • 6 August, 2018 05:11 PM

Oneitis can be simple as getting too caught up on one girl. It doesn't have to be that you think you can't do any better than other; simply too much thought into her can also be oneitis.

TrenGod37 • 22 points • 6 August, 2018 07:22 PM

Too much thought usually means. You don't think you can do better. Bc if you did. You wouldn't be thinking too much about her. You'd be thinking about the better ones. And once there becomes more than one. You don't think about any of them

SelfTaughtPiano • 7 points • 7 August, 2018 03:14 AM

Oh, this describes all my oneitis.

enola_yay • 2 points • 14 August, 2018 04:20 AM

I have a genuine question, and I will mention that I currently have severe oneitis for my ex-gf. What if I actually cannot do any better?

PM_ME_UR_NAKED_TITS • 3 points • 23 August, 2018 10:26 AM

Work on yourself until you can.

Morphs_ • 0 points • 6 August, 2018 10:20 PM

I think this is a rather failed attempt to explain oneitis in a short sentence. Heck it doesn't even mention women.

womans_algorithm • 333 points • 6 August, 2018 02:06 PM

You don't have romantic feelings for her and you enjoy each others company: You are her FRIEND.

nzjbruh • 174 points • 6 August, 2018 02:10 PM*

Important to remember that if you're trying to sleep with every chick you come across, you're lowering your value until you're average. Not only that, it's very insecure and a form of validation seeking. Glad someone pointed out that in some cases, arguably most, a chick will just be your friend.

LiveAFTSOV • 48 points • 6 August, 2018 02:40 PM

Important to remember that if you're trying to sleep with every chick you come across, you're lowering your value until you're average.

Are you suggesting men shouldn't be trying to sleep with every woman they meet and find attractive? Why do you say that?

nzjbruh • 76 points • 6 August, 2018 02:54 PM

To answer your question, yes.

I think it's a question of what you want to do vs. what you should do. It's nature to want to have sex with all women you're attracted to and given the way society is, it might not be your best bet.

Imagine it's a chick who has a BF and you ruin any chances of a relationship with him. Keeping in mind that hot chicks know their worth and aim for higher value men, surrounding yourself with him as opposed to sleeping with her might yield more benefit in the long run.

TRP is sexual strategy oriented but a large part is also self realization which often happens through your connections in life.

This is a topic that goes deeper but this is the jist of how I see it.

RedsideoftheMoon • 12 points • 7 August, 2018 06:34 AM

Yeah, and honestly if you're trying to fuck every girl you meet, EVEN if you're succeeding, I'd consider it an unhealthy relationship with sex. It's not organic and it can even be an obsession. I mean I had that one year post-breakup where I fucked about 20 girls. That was not fun in retrospect cause every interaction with a girl I found remotely attractive was "OK HOW DO I ESCALATE THIS CONVERSATION TO A NUMBER CLOSE AND INVITE HER FOR A DRINK HURR DURR DURR"

Nowadays, I put my focus on my work projects and my fitness. And if I find a girl attractive I have a conversation with her and I make sure to tell her I think she's attractive and I'm free on fucking Tuesday night, come join me at this place at this time and if that doesn't work, sorry kind of have shit to do.

LiveAFTSOV • 25 points • 6 August, 2018 02:56 PM

My male friends, and my female fuck buddies are two completely separate aspects of my life. You said it's nature of doing what you want vs should, and what I should be doing by natural demand is fucking, or trying to fuck all the hottest girls around me, and that's exactly what I wanna do.

IDK what you mean about society today, it's the perfect pleasure paradise. Sex is abundant and obtainable.

nzjbruh • 38 points • 6 August, 2018 02:59 PM

If I have a choice between a hot chick for a single lay or connecting with her BF who can help me advance in career/business/fitness/etc., then that's where I'd stop and think twice. My argument is more of a simple pleasure vs. delayed benefit. You have to play your cards wisely.

Also this is assuming the chick is hot. Originally I only mentioned trying to sleep with every chick you come across, not necessarily hot.

LiveAFTSOV • 5 points • 6 August, 2018 06:19 PM

Also this is assuming the chick is hot. Originally I only mentioned trying to sleep with every chick you come across, not necessarily hot.

Interesting thought. We agree on that! I used to fuck "every" girl, terrible time. When I start going after girls I thought were hot things went way better.

p3n1x • -22 points • 6 August, 2018 04:30 PM

In fitness ...

WTF are you hamstering about?

You wont fuck a woman because HER BOYFREIND can show you how to do a better pushup or eat blended greens to detox your faggotry?

You won't bang the girl of a man you think is superior to you. If he can "advance" you , that means you put him on a pedestal. This is like some Proto Cuck thing. Would you let a superior man fuck your woman for 'advancement'??

nzjbruh • 27 points • 6 August, 2018 04:52 PM

Spare us the edgy teen hormones my man. Notice how the rest of the people in disagreement actually discuss it rather than pout like a chick.

You literally summarized the logic in your other comment, others can read between the lines and don't need it spelled out for them. If you think advancement is as simple as slaying pussy then that's your choice.

TRP is a framework/guideline to apply to yourself as you wish. No one here is giving you literal procedures. You do you and I'ma keep up with my "faggotry" as you put it.

NeedingAdvice86 • 15 points • 6 August, 2018 08:03 PM

Dudes who think that way are the ones who rarely, if ever, see a pussy, so their entire mind is obsessed with that over everything else.

When you have experience and abundance of girls then you are more selective and can actually pass up a piece of pussy for any variety of reasons.

The more adamant that a particular poster is that they are going to fuck something\everything over every other consideration in the world or life is usually a pretty good sign that said poster doesn't have a chance at said pussy nor have much other options at pussy either.

nzjbruh • 4 points • 6 August, 2018 08:34 PM

Very well put. I'd go a step further and argue that men should have experience voluntarily ending relationships.

p3n1x • -20 points • 6 August, 2018 05:01 PM*

Boohoo I didn't speak to you with a tone of your approval. You didn't answer a single issue being questioned.

If you think advancement is as simple as slaying pussy

No sweetheart, you don't even need pussy for advancement. Pussy is the reward of intellect and hard work.

I think your advice sucks, that is all. I think it is a harmful frame of mind to suggest for those crawling out of the mud. Then to have the sadness to call it "an advanced form of thinking".

Cucks exists because some people like it. Not all cucks are accidents.

Some people are here because they absolutely need shit spelled out for them!

nzjbruh • 15 points • 6 August, 2018 05:19 PM

There's no reason for me to address your comment fully when all you did was pinpoint "fitness" and go down the rabbit hole. How many logical fallacies did you hit there?

Are you even reading the comment chain? No one wants your approval or cares if you have theirs. We're strangers that will never meet.

You think that pussy is a >reward< of intellect and hard work. In other words, you're invested in pussy rather than yourself which is missing the point entirely.

My advice could be garbage for you the same way yours is for me which is why this stuff has to be applied rather than mentally masturbated. It's not some universal constant.

Regardless, here's a tip: At the end of the day no one will remember you or pay you for how much pussy you got.

offbeast • 8 points • 7 August, 2018 12:28 AM

Pussy is the reward of intellect and hard work.

Tell that to the mongoloids who get pussy with ease. Pussy doesn't reward shit, its just pussy. You can get it, or you can hamster around about not being hardworking or intellectual enough.

NumerousImprovements • 6 points • 6 August, 2018 10:20 PM

If you don't have any friends who are girls, for the sole reason that you only want to fuck them, you need to reassess where you're at.

wheelchairdom • 6 points • 6 August, 2018 06:08 PM

This seems very manipulative and just weasel like... maybe you should have better friends so you wouldn't have to find hot girls with boyfriends, kinda weird imo. It's like you're trying to climb a ladder of dicks

nzjbruh • 9 points • 6 August, 2018 06:18 PM

I agree it's sociopathic in a sense. I'm not suggesting finding hot girls with BFs, but I am suggesting finding people (men and women) who have the things you want and associating with them.

Climbing a ladder of dicks is common in the corporate (public and private) world.

wheelchairdom • 5 points • 6 August, 2018 06:47 PM

Dial down the utopian best advantage BS. By time you figure out the value of a RANDOMS BF, you have wasted your time.

And use common sense with the rest of your reply. Don't fuck the the bosses wife, that is a no brainer. Don't fuck the SO's of people you are close to or hold "current" value, duh.

OR Fuck them all and be OK with the consequences.

A "Boyfriend" means jack shit in Western society. You fuck her and they don't get the Disney ending? GOOD, you just saved his ass.

Alfred5150EVH • 8 points • 6 August, 2018 06:00 PM

It seems like a new tendency in this sub. Trying to subtly promote WASP morality as a sort of revealed truth. Similar to using TRP to get this or that unicorn to have the traditional life one didn't experience at home and feels entitled to. Kinda misses the point of "TRP is amoral".

hufreema • 3 points • 6 August, 2018 09:18 PM

Amoral? Sure. Objective? Nah. This sub does well in some regards, but is willing to ignore large parts of the human experience for sake of a low resolution, actionable philosophy and lens.

hufreema • 9 points • 6 August, 2018 09:16 PM

Sex comes with risks. It is also a distraction. Chasing sex can come between you and your own goals and self actualization. It's not the goal; it's an indication you're doing well.

Also, many people enjoy monogamy. Companionate love is a thing. Having a partner in crime is appealing.

ChaseThisPanic • 1 point • 7 August, 2018 08:07 AM

CaptainBW • 2 points • 6 August, 2018 09:30 PM

This is honestly the most blue pill comment I've ever come across on this forum. Being honest with one's desires shouldn't be pursued out of fear of damaging one's perceived status? That completely bends to the Feminist Imperative. Women guard their status like that. If you're worried about appearing as a thirsty beta, you need stronger Frame. Why this has the upvotes it does....what is going on with this place

nzjbruh • 8 points • 6 August, 2018 09:41 PM*

If passing on easy lays with fat/ugly/low status women makes me a blue pill feminist beta then so be it. This isn't even about frame at this point, you don't have to fuck every woman that gives you the slightest bit of attention. Value yourself.

Edit: Ask yourself, would you say this to someone who has a master's degree in STEM and doesn't apply to minimum wage jobs?

CarnelianCore • 3 points • 7 August, 2018 08:36 AM

It's not about perceived status, it's about personal standards. If you always settle for less than you can get, you're lowering your standards. If you pass on the low value women, and go for higher value, you're increasing your standards. Over time, 7/10s will become the new standard and you won't even consider low value women as an option anymore.

ghdoragnic • 2 points • 6 August, 2018 05:07 PM trying and wanting are too different things.

> it's very insecure and a form of validation seeking.

My dick is insecure than? WTF man I can feel and do whatever the fuck I want, that is what red pill is, the fact that women want to fuck just as much as men, they just have more options, if you have a lack of options conducting yourself with tact is fine

nzjbruh • 8 points • 6 August, 2018 05:21 PM

Water seeks its own level. If you fuck a fat ugly chick just cause, then you're insecure about your own value.

Heathcliff-- 1 points 6 August, 2018 08:13 PM* [recovered]

Men and women can't be friends. Women don't understand friendship the way men do. Women can't even be proper friends with each other.

She can't fill the spot your male buddy does, she doesn't have the capacity to respect you as an equal like he does, nor will she come to your help at a time of need, or care about your emotional turmoils. You are a convenience to her, entertainment, an accessory. But not a friend.

If you're not fucking her, you're her orbiter.

Lib3rtarianSocialist • 10 points • 6 August, 2018 08:39 PM

I have been thinking about this idea quite a bit before about women being incapable of friendship similar to their incapacity to love. At least those terms are defined differently for women compared to men. So, I see girls writing very long birthday wishes on social media for their "besties" which include many proclamations of loving them. I get the feeling that the reason behind them typing huge "love letters" really is not a legitimate feeling of friendship but it has a customary ritualistic base. One is 'supposed' to write a very large birthday message for their besties. I have a question unanswered. Why do women have "friends"? What's the psychology behind it? Maybe it is purely conditional.

Heathcliff-- 1 points 6 August, 2018 09:40 PM* [recovered]

I was speaking to a plate about this literally today. We were talking about how all hot girls form cliques with similar hot girls.

She said "It's an ego thing. It's lame to be seen with ugly girls. And we do it so we don't have to compete with each other. Secretely we're just bitches to each other in subtle ways. Like always fighting with words and smiles. It's all fake."

How does the old saying go? Keep your friends close and your enemies closer.

Girls have a word for this. "Frienemies".

Otherwise for all other girls "friends" is a convenience thing, people to put up with them, and mutually avoid crippling loneliness. Often they will stick with the first group that accepts them and they don't vet their friends, or even bother seeking new ones afterwards. Once they have their "group" and comfort zone they call these people their "friends", even if they don't really like them, preferring to keep the losers and toxic girls in the group and bitch about them rather than kick them out or find new circles.

Girls dont have friends the way we have friends. They hang out with each other to avoid being alone, not because they really enjoy each others company. Loneliness is a death sentence for women, they cannot imagine a life with no attention and no one caring about them. They cannot cope with, nor enjoy solitude, the way we do. They feed off social interaction to live.

The incels are 100% right when they say "if a stacey lived just a few days as a short ugly incel she would kill herself immediately".

AIQWEffos239 • 8 points • 7 August, 2018 08:16 AM

It's crazy that u mentioned this, I work at a high end bar . Most of the chicks that attend this bar by themselves seem bothered by the fact that there lonely compared to guys who have no problem being alone and forming friends at the bar.

dr_warlock • 4 points • 7 August, 2018 04:19 PM

Hot women have one hobby: attracting male attention from a safe distacne i.e. instagram or in the form of a stare in public. They buddy up with other hot women because they can increase this hobby by orders of magnitude together as opposed to alone. Great for taking pictures together, great for fake online image.

banthrow • 9 points • 6 August, 2018 09:04 PM

I've had girls writing me long love letters just to leave me a couple days later. I suspect the love letters were ritualistic too, they had zero feelings but she was "supposed" to write the letter. Damn confusing bitches.

Lib3rtarianSocialist • 4 points • 6 August, 2018 09:22 PM

I was referring to girls writing to girls. In your case I think she actually was feeling attraction when she wrote the love letter, and the attraction was later lost.

Coroshi • 14 points • 6 August, 2018 09:14 PM

Big fan of your posts, but I believe here's where you're wrong. I have a friend who happens to be a girl, known her for 14 years now, never felt the urge to fuck her, talked to her about all the other girls I fucked, and she sure as fuck helped me get through some of the heavy artillery bullshit life sent my way. I won't say I would never fuck her cause that'd be a lie, but she's as friend as "friend" gets. I'm open for an elaboration as to whether I'm missing something here?

ex_addict_bro • 22 points • 6 August, 2018 10:48 PM

She's orbiting you.

Coroshi • 20 points • 6 August, 2018 11:54 PM

So investing your time in people who actively went out of their way to help you numerous times throughout your life ... is orbiting? Well sure, then I'm an orbiter.

If you believe that the only thing on the other side of a transaction process with a woman is sex, then you'll have very miserable relationships with women in your life.

womans_algorithm • 6 points • 7 August, 2018 01:04 PM

Men and women can't be friends.

She can't fill the spot your male buddy does.

Not the same thing for me. I have friends to have good time with, not to wallow and dump emotional diarrhea on them - be it male or female.

If you're not fucking her, you're her orbiter.

I'm not her orbiter because I'm not trying to fuck her. But put whatever label you want on it. I see her as a friend, she sees me as a friend, I don't need to complicate things.

DerpyPun • 7 points • 7 August, 2018 08:39 AM

I can be friends with a dog, a hamster or even a gold fish. Of course I can be friends with a woman.

[deleted] • 1 point • 9 August, 2018 07:24 PM

Spot on. I will say that you can have female acquaintances though. If you aren't giving her any validation, extra attention, or resources, and you sometimes hang out together as part of a larger group, I don't think that makes you an orbiter. You are just acquaintances.

You really can't have female friends though.

I have female friends who aren't my type who hang around hotter women who are. I don't get what the big mystery here is

nzjbruh • 37 points • 6 August, 2018 03:01 PM

To be honest with you this reeks of inexperience, dissatisfaction, and frustration. One of the best ways to get kills is having female friends that introduce you to their friends.

cappadocianhawk[S] • 8 points • 6 August, 2018 03:11 PM

Which is altogether different than "enjoying their company".

nzjbruh • 13 points • 6 August, 2018 03:17 PM

You're friends with people whose company you enjoy on a recurring basis.

cappadocianhawk[S] • 7 points • 6 August, 2018 03:43 PM*

That is correct. However I feel having female friends is advanced since many newbies will think they are friends with girls they want to have sex with and that is not okay (neither is that friendship). I always end up having sex with my female friends at some point and it goes downhill from there. I just stopped thinking about it your way.

edit: I still talk to chicks whom I don't want to fuck, but I wouldn't call them friends since I won't spend any moment with them if it doesn't advance my personal goals.

[deleted] • 5 points • 6 August, 2018 04:06 PM

Men and women can't be friends. From my experience, one of us always ended up liking the other one sexually. If it's platonic from her side, you get the fuck out.

womans_algorithm • 10 points • 6 August, 2018 04:19 PM

Because despite AWALT, she is still a human with whom you can have fun time with. I read your other comments here and I understand that your experience is different, but that doesn't invalidate my experience.

I'd advise you to think where you meet your women. Different caliber of women tend to socialize at different places.

While this is mostly correct, you left out one (albeit rare) group. Chicks who are super cool, and have your back, that may or may not want to fuck you, but you have no interest in fucking. These are FRIENDS

Charlie__Kane • 8 points • 7 August, 2018 03:16 AM

Legitimate question: What do you call it when a girl is only seeing you (somewhat believably) and you give each other attention, but you're seeing other women? What if you're giving her more attention than other plates?

deathsatan666 • 4 points • 7 August, 2018 12:41 PM

Sounds like you might be interested in BlackDragonBlog's more in-depth hierarchy of sexual relationships. See The 14 Types of Nonmonogamy for an article listing his terms.

You should add FRIENDS there... You give each other attention but don't fuck. You both fuck other people

cappadocianhawk[S] • 42 points • 6 August, 2018 03:46 PM

Thought about it but it's easy for someone to hamster their oneitis into friendship and slip into a "nice guy" orbiter status and think that is okay. I like my clear cut way of looking at things, another guy already defined friendship in the comments.

not-trp-questions • 2 points • 7 August, 2018 04:43 AM

When Harry Met Sally comes to mind. Her letting you give her attention might seem like mutual attention because she's receptive to the attention. Is that not an orbiter? If it's not mamihlapinatapai. Why would a guy (who isn't too bp/nice guy syndrome) just want to "hang out and be friends" with some chick?

Duderino should focus mission or escalate.

52andjacked • 5 points • 7 August, 2018 05:21 AM

Did that. She hooked me up with her slutty friends. She was my official pimp.

VillagersUnite • 8 points • 6 August, 2018 05:53 PM

Huh? Unless I'm incorrect I swear they have a nice list of terms in the SIDEBAR. I guess people don't feel like reading on their own.

beachbbqlover • 16 points • 6 August, 2018 02:12 PM

Just so you know, all of these words themselves are a newspeak. Most of these definitions didn't exist even 25 years ago, and are TRP defining the narrative, using the same tools as everyone else trying to do so.

cappadocianhawk[S] • 19 points • 6 August, 2018 02:52 PM

Some of them, maybe. However within the bounds of this forum, words have certain meanings as it is with every social circle. What meaning they might have outside this space has no bearing on my post.

ToiletPaperPringles • 3 points • 6 August, 2018 08:20 PM

As someone who started reading trp, this helps massively. Thank you chances_are_ur_a_fag • 5 points • 7 August, 2018 12:46 AM some slut tried to wife my ass up by saying "we can just be friends with benefits and be exclusive" .. in what fucking universe are friends with benefits exclusive? dumb ho got nexted hard alexjhargreaves 1 points 7 August, 2018 05:19 AM [recovered]

Honestly this is some pretty insecure beta shit. This is the heart of what's wrong with TRP. There's some great content here, but this isn't it. You can have female friends, if you can't have the self restraint to have any sort of platonic relationship with the other gender I'd hardly call that alpha. You can develop feelings for a particular woman, and pursue her, just don't put her on a fucking pedestal. Yes don't cuck and orbit etc, good advice, but don't rearrange the English language because you've taken to many steroids to keep in touch with reality.

ValarMorghulis90 • 2 points • 6 August, 2018 05:43 PM

This is just restating shit that's on the side bar. Don't hold these men's hands. If they don't want to read it (sidebar) then they need to learn the hard way anyway. Every dude does.

tchower • 2 points • 6 August, 2018 09:30 PM

My God, I have two friends, or should I say had two friends, only one of them I still talk to for this reason, who are in the Orbiter-Cuck stage with their girls. Even after warning them, one of them is still blue pillled and the other was hostile when I tried to point it out to him. I must say, I don't have much sympathy for either of them, one of them really actually thinks he is doing the right thing by being a beta orbiter cuck, so I befriended that guy friend. One of them is even getting his Ph.D and is smart as hell, so I do not know what the hell happened to his use of reason.

We_Are_Legion • 7 points • 7 August, 2018 03:20 AM

Factual knowledge does not equal emotional wisdom.

tchower • 1 point • 7 August, 2018 04:31 AM*

I mean, I've been there with this one girl who was cheating on her boyfriend and I almost fell into cuck with her because I started to actually take her seriously, because she was giving it up and going full blown affair with texting and hangouts, and started catching feelings instead of going out and meeting other bitches, but finally I got out of that trap after my brother pointed out the situation, and this was obviously before red pill. However, what you described as orbiter cuck is the exact situation my two buddies are in and the smartest one is actually being the dumbest about it, paying money and flying all the way out of the country to see his girl and trying to do the rest of it from long distance.

iamango • 1 point • 6 August, 2018 09:08 PM*

Shit I'm an orbiter. I just exist in the background of women's lives without ever making any progress with them. Creeping on women is hard work. I stare at their pretty parts purposefully. I pay them hollow compliments like 'You look nice. Wow you read books! Nice.'

I turn a blind eye to rejection. I pointlessly and creepily hang around in their lives much after they have made it clear that I don't have a chance. I have been an orbiter my whole life.

How much creepy is too creepy? If I like a girl, I'll find out her birthday, wait for the right moment and then send her a carefully worded greeting that's flirtatious, but - get this - only slightly.

I'll read her whatsapp stories with dedication that's more suited to assigned homework. I'll come up with a reason to message her every 'once in a while' (that's different for every girl I stalk) and then engage in painful small talk. Hey! You read a John Green book! Guess what it's your lucky day cause I am a bibliophile. Wow you went trekking one time! We've got so much in common! etcetera.

I'll like her photos on facebook and instagram, but only a select few. You've got to show appreciation for photos that look like they took a lot of effort, or if they are candid. Stay away from appreciating photos where she looks too hot, because a lot of people are going to like those photos and you'll end being a part of the crowd. I may be a stalker, but I'm a stalker with standards. I make it known to my love interests that I am observing them from afar.

I'll exist indefinitely in the background of a woman's life. I won't enjoy it at first, but soon I'll get used to it. I'll live for that fateful day when she gets horny, is out of boys and finally realizes my true worth. Then she'll know where to find me.

Fuck! I'm an orbiter. What do I do? this is the only way I know how to be around women! Fuck!

chances_are_ur_a_fag • 6 points • 7 August, 2018 12:50 AM underground_gamblr • 7 points • 6 August, 2018 08:02 PM

From a social perspective yes, from a psychological/biological.. arguable.

uh okay well what about i'm fucking multiple bitches and they're just fucking each other and me what is that

TemplesOfSyrinx 1 points 6 August, 2018 02:40 PM [recovered]

I'm getting pretty tired of the word "cuck". When I actually hear someone say it, I can't help but cringe. It's become an insult word that's used by 20 somethings, living in their parents house who play a lot of video games. Kind of like calling someone you dislike a faaaaag.

cappadocianhawk[S] • 21 points • 6 August, 2018 02:50 PM

It's literally what the word means.

TemplesOfSyrinx 1 points 6 August, 2018 03:05 PM [recovered]

Yes, your definition is accurate. No qualms there.

ExaltedR3V3NG3 • 14 points • 6 August, 2018 03:27 PM

Then don't complain about it. Just because some autists on the 'net spit it 4 out of 3 times doesn't mean the word has lost its meaning.

truct0r • 3 points • 6 August, 2018 03:41 PM

Cuc means shit in vietnamese voxiqs • 2 points • 6 August, 2018 02:47 PM

Get over yourself, it's a word

Calling people fags is not acceptable today. Being overly aggressive in society will hurt you, not help you. I am happy people aren't using the word fag anymore. The word cuck is actually a great description of what most men are turning into today and I'm fine with it replacing slurs or prejudice remarks

If anything, we are getting better descriptive and more accurate at insulting each other

TemplesOfSyrinx • 9 points • 6 August, 2018 03:04 PM

I agree with you. I just think the word is being used by some (mostly younger) people as a "catch all" insult for anyone and anything. It bugs me that people casually use the term without understanding that it's a derivative of "cuckold" - it has a specific meaning.
