

Rape charge dropped against USC student after video surfaces. Thank technology for making data abundant.

November 15, 2018 | 518 upvotes | by SKRedPill

---

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vQvSEGqwiUI>

<http://www.uscannenbergmedia.com/2017/08/14/case-dismissed-for-usc-student-charged-with-sexual-assault/>

Thank the stars for the age of technology and data, otherwise there'd be no way he would have managed to get out of this one. In fact, if it weren't for data, none of us would have woken up in the first place. Information and the internet has given us far more knowledge of men, women and intersexual dynamics than at any other point in human history.

The bigger question is -- are those 2 girls going to be charged and punished? In fact, their faces are not being shown, while he has to defend himself on live TV. He seems to hold his frame very well given what's happened to him. Hopefully the university won't expel him (most academia just wants to keep their hands clean at any cost).

And as you can see in the comments, not a single woman's come out to condemn the whole incident. It's all from men.

In particular, you watch any kind of videos about women, the comments section shows you one thing -- people are in fact quite well aware of the hard truths of life, TRP and relationships more than we expect, but it's only Youtube's anonymity that allows them to say it publicly. And nearly all the women in the comments stop with claiming "Not all women are like that".

And another lesson, even more than the woman you have your eyes on (or vice versa), it's the women next to her whom you should be scared of. If you have any inkling that her friends don't like you, or secretly want to be in her place, you've gotta be careful -- in this case it was her friend who reported the guy. Women do a lot of passive aggressive competition, sabotaging and Machevilian games with each other even in very close relationships (as a guy with a large extended family, consisting of 75% women, I can vouch for the fact that relationships between women are outwardly more intense, but also quite fickle, jealous and tempestuous). It's yet another reason why women give each other bad relationship advice in general.

When a question is pointedly asked by women as to what men to stop themselves from getting assaulted, while women have to do so much (in the usual dismissive tone reserved for men's concerns), the answer is -- a lot in fact. And especially with the culture of accusations that can't be proven or disproven and the potential of accusation rape (oh yeah, that IS rape because of what it can do), men are being very cautious indeed. When my neighbour insists that his wife or daughter accompany him to drop off her friend or her daughter's friends at their places, I know what's on his mind. When my dad tells me never to get within 4 feet of any woman at work, I get it. Hell, I myself remember the time when I had a secret recorder running 24x7 inside my PC buried underneath at least 30 other open apps to keep myself safe from my (now divorced) ex, and backed up the recording every night on google drive and cleaned out my hard drive to avoid discovery, cause once in a fit of rage, she threatened me that she'll lie to our families, and there'd be no way to prove my story.

All in all, the ability to read non-verbal communication and figure out what the person in front of you might really be feeling about you is an extremely valuable skill set. When a woman's emotions turn against you, there's literally nothing she won't do to win. An ability to sense her emotional state (or even the ones of the women next to her) and read a potential threat can get you out of a lot of trouble before it happens. Sometimes, when facing an enemy, whether on the battlefield or the college library, you have only seconds to act.

"... The woman's roommate said she often used alcohol and marijuana and described her behavior to Gamino as "out of control"..."

EDIT : Someone informed down that the university kicked him out and he had to put up a $100,000 bail to get out.

Moral : As a man, you alone are responsible for your safety. Be careful and keep crazies far away. Ignorance is no longer an excuse. Just like high level sports, you can't get away claiming that you didn't know what was in your food. You know you value yourself when you go from chasing women to filtering them.

And EDIT 2 Moral #2 : Women weaponize sex all the time.

---

Archived from theredarchive.com

---

Comments

---

russian_nigger • 170 points • 15 November, 2018 09:03 AM

"hoes get horny, niggaz die" - 2pac

[deleted] 15 November, 2018 09:05 AM

[permanently deleted]

ProFriendZoner • 70 points • 15 November, 2018 07:02 AM

Wait ... why do we know the victims name but not the perpetrator?

MattyAnon • 71 points • 15 November, 2018 10:20 AM

Because protection is nothing to do with victim and perpetrator and everything to do with special treatment for women.

CensorThis111 • 8 points • 15 November, 2018 05:03 PM

When facts need trigger warnings.

giantsrockers • 5 points • 17 November, 2018 12:28 AM

Here you go. Dont want to post the name for legal.purpose but the news did the job. Check her facebook pics. She doesnt look like a victim. This is all very fucked up.

https://www.indiawest.com/news/global\_indian/i-did-not-rape-arshia-states-usc-student-accused-of/article\_072cec36-7e24-11e7-8cff-6fda3ba038cf.html

Also, her pubic eyebrows are deadly.

Fromfame • 71 points • 15 November, 2018 12:10 PM

University still kicked him out, men really are expendable

[deleted] • 2 points • 17 November, 2018 07:09 PM

Why would they kick him out? Are they still claiming he did it?

Fromfame • 1 point • 17 November, 2018 09:00 PM

They didn't want to be tied with the story anymore and for it to end in way which seems neutrally good.

Can't imagine this happening to women.

universalabundance1 • 135 points • 15 November, 2018 05:16 AM*

And if he wasn't able to find that video? Would he have been fucked?

Guilty until proven innocent?

And what about the girl who accused him? What happened to her?

obi2kanobi • 131 points • 15 November, 2018 06:37 AM

Same like that 9 year old kid recently with his mother at a NYC bodega. His school backpack brushed some womans ass. She pitched a fit, screams sexual assault, calls the cops. If it wasn't for the "clear as day" video of that moment, that poor kid would have been totally screwed.

And nothing came of it. The woman ultimately had to apologize (prob due to all bad press), the kid and his mom accepted it (prob to minimize the trauma and just get on with their lives). This one didn't get nearly the press coverage it deserved.

TheRealShafron • 34 points • 15 November, 2018 01:55 PM

The kid actually did not accept her apology.

[deleted] • 3 points • 17 November, 2018 06:55 PM

Good. Time to start calling these fucking women out. Sanity will never return to the west until women are on their knees in a submissive state.

Bruchibre • 29 points • 15 November, 2018 07:21 AM

Wow do you have a link to that story? A 9yo kid?

[deleted] • 26 points • 15 November, 2018 07:38 AM

Just search on the web "9 year old kid sexual assault", there are a lot of posts.

SKRedPill[S] • 55 points • 15 November, 2018 08:35 AM*

<https://www.news.com.au/world/north-america/woman-apologises-for-accusing-9yearold-of-sexual-assault/news-story/5eb7f093e8633d2d28a1c1d398e04b13>

Dang, I just saw it now. Total BS. First of all, it's a 9 year old kid. Second, the boy has to move out of the way because two ladies are walking down the aisle. He has no option as he's out of space. His backpack touches her as he goes on. She then looks up and shit happens...

And third, he's black. Looking at the way things unfolded, in this case there's racism in there for sure.

The worst (and funniest) part is that after claiming a child assaulted her, she even claimed she was a police officer, which she was not (impersonating a police officer is a crime btw). She didn't really make that 911 phone call either, it was all for attention. You know what, that is some serious brain damage. Ok, I agree not everyone's this retarded, but today's society has given power to anyone to accuse, regardless of how dumb they are.

Meanwhile there's a funny video of a 1 year old infant on a stroller accidentally patting a woman's butt next to him. I hope that 30 years later, that's not metoo...

obi2kanobi • 23 points • 15 November, 2018 10:53 AM

Wow, I wasn't aware she faked the 911 call. Pure evil....

"Not only that, but a brilliant local journalist Zainab Iqbal, found out that she never even called 911. She just did all of this to harass and humiliate this young Black family. This can't be allowed. We have to bring an end to this behavior. She scarred this family, causing the two little kids to think they were about to be arrested for nothing whatsoever."

StuLax18 • 2 points • 15 November, 2018 04:10 PM

I've had someone tell me she was a police officer as well (after telling me she was a lawyer, which was true). She showed up at night about some BS. Got her license plate when she wouldn't tell me who she was and called the neighborhood patrol officer so he could look her up. I told him about her saying she was a cop, but he said it would take more than that. I think she would have to commit a crime. So maybe saying I'm a cop I need to come inside your house and then stealing something would work.

maxrp • 1 point • 22 November, 2018 07:28 PM

where is the line drawn on the cop thing, like if they showed a fake badge or uniform?

StuLax18 • 1 point • 22 November, 2018 10:31 PM

I think it had to be in commission of a crime. So for example people dressing up as cops for Halloween is fine. But if they tried to arrest people or something that would be different.

TheStoicCrane • 2 points • 16 November, 2018 04:48 AM

Probably a mentally ill nutcase.

[deleted] • 1 point • 17 November, 2018 12:50 PM

I don't think there's any probability here. It's an absolute certainty.

[deleted] • 2 points • 17 November, 2018 06:57 PM

Why aren't these fucking women ever held accountable for anything? I'm pretty sure if I pretended to be a cop, they would take it pretty seriously. The bottom line is that men are evolved to care for and feel bad for women. That's why in an advanced society bigger than your basic hunter-gatherer family unit, every woman must be under the control/protection of some responsible male.

maxrp • 1 point • 22 November, 2018 07:26 PM

the battle descends into deeper ridiculous accusations of pedophilia and claiming to be a cop. anything is justified to win the power and escalate the situation in to a scuffle.

that is how they get their way. chaos, unreasonableness.

MattyAnon • -5 points • 15 November, 2018 10:20 AM

And third, he's black. So there's racism in there for sure Careful with this thinking. Don't buy into "something bad happened to a black person so it must be racially motivated".

SKRedPill[S] • 18 points • 15 November, 2018 10:22 AM

I'm not generalizing. But reading about this case in particular, it's quite likely to be another factor.

RedHeimdall • 1 point • 15 November, 2018 07:12 PM

Because middle-aged Jewish liberal feminist cat ladies are anti-minority somehow?
Based on what?

chadwickofwv • 2 points • 16 November, 2018 02:14 PM

Don't discount racism among feminists so quickly. Racism was a core part of feminism historically after all.

zyqkvx • 0 points • 17 November, 2018 11:38 PM

Maybe, but acting upon a factor with no evidence is no different than accusing a guy for rape because we know it's likely a guy would want to have sex with woman in her 20s. Stay with the hard evidence. It was enough to fuck her under. No need to speculate what she deserves beyond that.

zyqkvx • 2 points • 17 November, 2018 11:32 PM*

Ironically, the downvotes you received is evidence that the people who are quick to defend the protected 'classes' (children, bankers, blacks, women, police) are a subset of the witch hunters. Hope that made sense.

MattyAnon • 1 point • 18 November, 2018 03:13 AM

If that made sense.

Not really, but I think I get the gist :)

SKRedPill[S] • 1 point • 15 November, 2018 10:22 AM

I'm not generalizing. But reading about this case in particular, it's quite likely to be another factor.

dulkemaru51 • 1 point • 18 November, 2018 08:02 AM

Yeah... that bitch's behaviour sounds more stereotypically like that of someone who'd be more excited to frame a white 9 year old than a marginalized black kid IMO. Could've been a derailed racist though.

Bruchibre • 9 points • 15 November, 2018 09:40 AM

OK found it thanks. "Cornerstone Caroline" is such a crazy feminist paranoid bitch!

Andgelyo • 6 points • 15 November, 2018 08:52 PM

A fucking 9 year old? Jesus fucking Christ. I would understand like a 14 or 15 year old, but a 9 year old? Really? I hope she walks her head in shame for a very long time, realizing that she accused a child who doesn't even know what sex is, for assaulting her.

MattyAnon • 36 points • 15 November, 2018 10:18 AM

And if he wasn't able to find that video? Would he have been fucked?

Socially fucked for certain, often imprisoned.

Guilty until proven innocent?

A crying woman is considered proof.

And what about the girl who accused him? What happened to her?

Women are not held responsible for their actions in this society.

Welcome to the red pill.

redpillschool • 11 points • 15 November, 2018 03:47 PM

Women are not held responsible for their actions in this society.

Hypoagency.

Men are held responsible for women and men's actions.

Hyperagency.

universalabundance1 • 3 points • 15 November, 2018 10:58 AM

And what about the girl who accused him? What happened to her?

I'm asking OP if he knew what happened to the girl in this story.

Overkillengine • 8 points • 15 November, 2018 12:04 PM

Most likely this: Nothing nearly as severe as what would have happened to that young male had there not been in existence an overwhelming preponderance of evidence otherwise.

LayingWaste • 3 points • 15 November, 2018 04:34 PM

nothing happens to these women. also. stop funding these armed thugs with your taxes.

Stop funding these people with no real authority to kidnap you.

[deleted] • 1 point • 17 November, 2018 07:07 PM

Um how do I do that? You ready to lead the rebellion?

LayingWaste • 2 points • 17 November, 2018 07:13 PM

i dont need to. decentralized technology like bitcoin does it.

[deleted] • 3 points • 17 November, 2018 07:16 PM

Lol oh, you're one of those.

LayingWaste • 1 point • 17 November, 2018 07:55 PM

im the solution. youre the problem

[deleted] • 1 point • 17 November, 2018 08:36 PM

Appart from trying to look cool, I don't see much of what you are actually doing as "solution"...

LayingWaste • 1 point • 17 November, 2018 08:42 PM

look cool? im glad i look cool to you but its about liberty.

blobbyghast • 56 points • 15 November, 2018 10:45 AM

He got expelled anyway: <http://dailytrojan.com/2018/06/12/former-student-sues-city-of-los-angeles-and-lapd/>

[deleted] • 19 points • 15 November, 2018 11:05 PM

You can be sure they didn't refund any of his tuition and the cost of attendance at USC is $70,000+ per year. So he's got an expulsion for sexual misconduct in his record and his name in the press. This will hurt him big time but the girl will suffer zero consequences.

giantsrocker • 14 points • 17 November, 2018 12:53 AM

Honestly surprised how the fuck there is no law against false accusations

[deleted] • 10 points • 17 November, 2018 07:11 PM

Of course there is a law against false accusations. Most places have some sort of law for making a false statement to the police (or FBI). Then there is also perjury, which is lying under oath and a very serious crime. We simply don't enforce it when women do it.

awalt_cupcake • 7 points • 18 November, 2018 11:09 PM

women are above the law

I don't like this reality.

SKRedPill[S] • 6 points • 17 November, 2018 03:25 AM*

He had to pay a $100,000 bail. Don't know if his parents sold the house to get him out of prison. Just imagine if he didn't have the money.

bsutansalt • 2 points • 20 November, 2018 08:56 AM

IIRC you only bond 10% of whatever it actually is. IF you skip bail then the remainder becomes due and whoever bailed you out is the one on the hook. Still, that's a $10K up front cost. Not a lot of people have that kind of change laying around. On the other hand I suspect his family is loaded.

bsutansalt • 5 points • 20 November, 2018 08:54 AM*

WTF?

In March, USC's Office of Equity and Diversity found Premjee responsible for policy violations after conducting its own investigation into the sexual assault charges. Premjee was later expelled from USC, according to Sarmiento and the brief.

USC was not mentioned as a defendant in this suit.

If this had happened to me the first thing I'd be doing is suing USC for the entirety of their $5B endowment as damages.

H0tTamal3 • 109 points • 15 November, 2018 08:55 AM

I was falsely accused of raping a girl when I was his age. The shit they wrote about me in the local paper made me look really bad. In the court of public opinion I was already guilty.

Then, thank God for my expensive lawyer, during my trial he caught her in a big lie about who was on top. If it wasn't for the thousands I spent on a good lawyer and PI, I would be a sex offender right now probably just fresh out of prison.

Did the papers write anything about being wrong about me? Nope, just a 1 liner saying I was found innocent and the jury deliberated for less than 30 minutes.

LeonardoDiDraperBond27 points 15 November, 2018 09:31 AM* [recovered]

What about the accuser? Could you drag her into court for defamation?

H0tTamal3 • 51 points • 15 November, 2018 10:28 AM

The only way for a rape accuser to suffer consequences for a false allegation is if they openly admit that they made it up.

I was also a broke 20 year old who was now in $6k+ debt because of all the costs for my lawyer/PI. Spending more money on a lawyer for vindication just wasn't an option. The accuser is the daughter of one of the local police sergeants who has been on the force in my small town for 25+ years. The local cops were not fair in their investigation, to say the least.

shaggyctes88 • 16 points • 15 November, 2018 03:17 PM

Jesus Christ man! That's infuriating!

Toussant • 6 points • 15 November, 2018 05:47 PM

Glad you were found innocent. Why'd she make the accusation?

H0tTamal3 • 14 points • 16 November, 2018 12:44 AM

Because I humiliated her in front of a group of her/my friends.

I was at a party. Got a BJ from a mutual friend of the accuser. After the BJ I passed out in the guest bed where it took place. I woke up to a 250 lb walrus on top of me fucking me. I stormed out the bedroom to where people were and began very loudly saying things like "what the fuck guys why did you all let that nasty pig go in there with me?" And "I just got fucked by a hippo" etc.

She heard it all as well as all of my buddies laughing and joking. A couple weeks later the cops show up at my work to talk to me. I gladly went in to the police station to talk to them. I wanted to do anything I could to help solve this rape that I read about in the news paper. Little did I know I was the suspect.

Jesus that was the worst year of my life.

eyewant • 3 points • 16 November, 2018 01:17 PM

Heav'n has no Rage, like Love to Hatred turn'd, Nor Hell a Fury, like a Woman scorn'd.

It's ironic that she the rapist never got in any trouble.

scissor_me_timbers00 • -7 points • 16 November, 2018 05:30 PM

That's a really rude way to talk about an overweight girl in front of people man.

But holy fuck, what an insane retaliation. Public defamation and thousands in debt. I would've countersued hard and made her pay my legal fees for both the original case and the countersuit. That's pretty common you know.

Chaddeus_Rex • 2 points • 17 November, 2018 02:59 AM

That's a really rude way to talk about an overweight girl in front of people man.

Who cares if it's rude?

If people didn't think like you, then he wouldn't have this problem aye?

scissor_me_timbers00 • -3 points • 17 November, 2018 06:57 AM

It's a matter of common decency dude. It's very rude to make fun of a fat girl in front of people. And I'm not even saying that to justify her actions. I made it clear that her response was incredibly disproportionate and I would've countersued ruthlessly.

Chaddeus_Rex • 3 points • 17 November, 2018 07:12 AM

It's a matter of common decency dude. It's very rude to make fun of a fat girl in front of people.

Who cares if its decent? If less dudes where decent, we wouldn't have the problem of out of control women, would we.

scissor_me_timbers00 • -1 points • 17 November, 2018 08:30 AM

Wrong. There's a difference between keeping women in check and being outright gross by ridiculing a young woman's weight in front of a bunch of people. That's not the same as asshole game. Girls like being teased and need to be called out on their bullshit. But that's different from what's OP did.

[deleted] • 2 points • 17 November, 2018 08:43 PM

So that normal the girl can rape him... He could decently have been going to the police for rape accusation and likely should have as it would have protected him...

It is quite understandable he would be upset and aggressive no ?

dulkemaru51 • 2 points • 18 November, 2018 08:08 AM

He literally got raped... I might be wrong, but I'd guess that he doesn't walk around mocking fat, ugly and deformed people on the street randomly. THAT would be rude.

[deleted] 16 November, 2018 06:16 PM

[permanently deleted]

Geronus • 3 points • 16 November, 2018 06:30 PM

Why? You literally woke up to being raped. You have nothing to feel bad about. Just imagine what would have happened to her if you'd been a girl and she'd been a man.

greenlittleman • 1 point • 21 November, 2018 05:39 AM

WTF man, she basically RAPED him. Imagine fat guy starting to fuck sleeping girl and then when she yell about it he go to cops and claim it was her who raped him.. Does it make sense to you?

scissor_me_timbers00 • 1 point • 21 November, 2018 05:05 PM

Lol yes I get it dude. I would've filed charges initially and countersued against her allegation. Jesus how clear do I need to make it? I'm just saying it's crude to react the way he did.

greenlittleman • 1 point • 23 November, 2018 05:27 AM

You have right to be rude to people you dislike.

scissor_me_timbers00 • 1 point • 23 November, 2018 08:13 AM

No shit Sherlock. I wasn't saying he didn't have the right. I was saying it's crude to react that way. And it's a just a minor criticism, I'm not "taking her side”.

askmrca • 16 points • 15 November, 2018 01:35 PM

Similar thing happened to my cousin. They found out she was lying about the entire incident.

I asked my cousin if he and his mother would sue the girl for lying.

They both said that after all the shit they went through that he just wanted to be done with it.

He spent some time in jail and had a few court appearances. Not to mention the money they spent throughout the process.

So maybe the guy you was asking this question too felt the same.

PS: He got kicked out of school for it, lost his football scholarship and on his record it still shows that he was arrested at one point. So he still has a very hard time finding a job.

geo_gan • 2 points • 15 November, 2018 08:04 PM

This is what's wrong with society. Some rich media mogul making money selling slanderous stories is more important than whether you did it or not. You were hung out to try for somebody else's profit.

7thAnvil • 47 points • 15 November, 2018 02:58 PM

Lessons learned:

Casual sex with a strange girl is a risky behavior.

Casual sex with a drunk girl is very risky behavior.

Casual sex with a drunk girl who attends a university which brainwashes girls with hate for men, redefines consent, and has an entire bureaucracy that will support her and persecute you is bat shit crazy off the wall risky behavior!

omega_dawg93 • 39 points • 15 November, 2018 03:36 PM

in similar cases like this, where the guy was found innocent, 3 things almost always happen:

women are silent. they don't say anything. nothing. crickets.

some women, even AFTER THE GUY IS FOUND INNOCENT, still claim that 'something happened to her' and refuse to accept that the woman lied.

women never apologize or have any feelings about the guy at all.

7thAnvil • 1 point • 15 November, 2018 10:45 PM

This is a very incisive observation.

[deleted] • 37 points • 15 November, 2018 10:56 AM

Remember every time you fuck a drunk girl this could be you.

omega_dawg93 • 41 points • 15 November, 2018 03:21 PM

this is why i do NOT have sex with any woman that's drunk or high.

while dating, i let all of them know: if you do NOT want sex, have a few drinks. i'll make sure i do NOT touch you and that you get home safely. i do this until some level of trust is established or some type of relationship (where her friends & mine recognize us as a couple) is established.

if she doesn't drink, well... that signals that she's considering it.

i have several friends who heard, "well, i was kinda drunk last night... did anything happen... because if something did, i don't know if i was ready for all of that."

if the wrong person hears that statement, or if her friends vilify you and convince her to hurt you, you are fucked.

TheScarletScholar • 6 points • 15 November, 2018 06:22 PM

Ehhh idk man. So you never pick up chicks from bars? While I agree it is good and necessary to take precautions to protect yourself such as a sort of recording device (at least audio) in your room that should pretty much have you covered. Cases like this are extremely rare and hopefully you should be able to identify and avoid most crazy girls anyway.

To each his own though.

omega_dawg93 • 8 points • 15 November, 2018 06:55 PM

no. i don't drink and i have really bad asthma... so no clubs or bars for me.

i don't, never have, and never will go club-hopping to pick up broads. it's just not my style. i prefer sex with someone that's sober and in their right mind.

things are just different now. there's a new form of 'rape' that is invented every day and putting yourself into a potentially bad situation with a woman (who is drunk) is simply asking for a case, imo.

sober sex or no sex. i've got options and don't need alcohol to help my chances.

TheScarletScholar • 3 points • 15 November, 2018 07:15 PM

Ahh I see. Yeah I feel ya man. And I don't deny that it can certainly be putting yourself at risk. My group of friends often goes out and gets smashed on weekends. Drunk sex can be pretty fun tbh, I should probably try for more sober hook ups though.

omega_dawg93 • 5 points • 15 November, 2018 11:10 PM

it's all fun until one girl claims something happened against her (drunken) will.

never forget: alcohol = the liquid ingredient in the plausible deniability recipe.

TheScarletScholar • 1 point • 16 November, 2018 03:21 AM

True, but the odds are about as similar as avoiding an amusement park for fear of dying on a rollercoaster.

omega_dawg93 • 2 points • 16 November, 2018 04:45 AM today, i don't like the odds at all. women are on the #metoo mission... going back 30+ yrs to bring down guys.

no thanks.

now if those guys are accused, they need their day in court but let's be honest, once the accusations come out, those guys are done... court won't matter much until the civil case.

[deleted] • 2 points • 17 November, 2018 08:59 PM

If you check the claim (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rape\_in\_the\_United\_States) around 15-20% think they have been raped at least once their life. Meaning likely that they would consider 15-20% of the males to be actual rapist.

In theory they don't want to port the case and fortunately when the story is too weak it is not retained. But imagine that... You have around 1 chance out of 5 to be considered as a rapist by one girl at least during your life and likely several percent change that she will sue you.

Of course that not right, if you take care the rate likely shrink and if you have risky behavior they can skyrocket...

TheScarletScholar • 1 point • 19 November, 2018 12:18 AM*

I don't really agree with your interpretation of the statistics. I haven't done extensive research but I presume that there are certain age groups, races, geographical areas that have higher rates of incidence. This in combination with certain behaviors and social awareness.

For example let's say that 1 in every 100 people in new York city is mugged annually. Your logic assumes you have a 1% chance of being mugged then. It's not quite as simple as that most of the time. If ALL the muggings happened in the ghetto and you were a wealthy citizen living in upper class areas who never visited the ghetto your chances are much lower than people who live in the ghetto.

I do agree that I engage in behavior increasing my risk.

[deleted] • 1 point • 19 November, 2018 09:38 PM

We totally agree that different areas and behavior as well as many other factors are changing the statistics. That's the point. And once it happened to you, you are fucked up. The point is to know it and do things knowingly !

BewareTheOldMan • 2 points • 15 November, 2018 10:39 PM

This is excellent advice.

Any woman in a mind-altered state due to drugs, alcohol, or any other substance is strictly off limits for sex.

The flip side of this is that false rape accusations hurt actual victims, but I guess to women like the two in the article every other women just doesn't matter.

On another note - one of Judge Kavanaugh's accusers admitted to lying just to keep him off the Supreme Court.

Women are losing credibility by the second...

ahg1008 • 43 points • 15 November, 2018 06:29 AM

Moral of the story Always be around cctv cams. Get your home rigged too.

[deleted] • 13 points • 15 November, 2018 08:18 AM

This story really freaked me out, is this what happens in the US? Wow.

steini1904 • 17 points • 15 November, 2018 11:36 AM

And Germany, the UK, Australia, France...

Draviz • 22 points • 15 November, 2018 06:46 AM read somewhere that he still has to appear in front of some ethics committee of his school

[deleted] • 23 points • 15 November, 2018 08:39 AM the "ethics committee" at USC, because that's something that should exist...

[deleted] • 14 points • 15 November, 2018 08:12 AM*

Damn, women are serious assholes, WTF? So how does this work, was it her or her friend (after she was told that the sex was "aggressive/forced") who filed the rape charge?

omega_dawg93 • 29 points • 15 November, 2018 03:29 PM

this is why i tell 'nice' guys to stop it. just STOP IT.

they're dealing with women who will do ANYTHING to get what they want, and these dumb fucks are worried about keeping their word, honor, valor, trust, honesty, etc.

FUCK. ALL. DAT.

women are ruthless, and you need to treat them EXACTLY how they treat you. i'm not saying be evil on-purpose. i'm saying, GET YOURS... just like they do WITHOUT worrying about being honest, etc. they don't care about all that shit... just getting what they want when they want it. they are NATURAL MACHIAVELLIANS.

they get flaky... you get flaky too.

they have girl's night out... you go on boy's night out.

they have a "he's just a friend... nothing to worry about," you SPIN PLATES LIKE A MAD MAN.

i love women more than anyone, but to deal with them, you HAVE TO UNDERSTAND that they are full of shit, lies, deception, and manipulation tactics. there's nothing to be mad about... it's just how they are, and you need to know how they operate, or you will be left hurt, broke, and 'broken.'

Bruchibre • 8 points • 15 November, 2018 06:44 AM

Shit this is scary. Did she try to scam him? Did she have buyer's remorse? How is she OK with ruining the live of this poor guy?

[deleted] • 7 points • 15 November, 2018 12:36 PM

Can anyone recommend a good body cam brand? Looking for something stylish to impress the ladies.

surfsusa • 2 points • 15 November, 2018 01:39 PM have you seen the ads for cop cam? Just $19.99 but wait there's more if you order now we will double your order and send you two Cop Cams *just pay additional handling charge

AutoModerator[M] • 5 points • 15 November, 2018 04:35 AM

Just a friendly reminder that as TRP has been quarantined, we have developed backup sites:

<https://www.trp.red> and our full post archive (and future forums) <https://www.forums.red/i/TheRedPill>.

Don't forget to register on TRP.RED and reserve your reddit name today. Forums.Red is currently locked but will be opened soon.

I am a bot, and this action was performed automatically. Please contact the moderators of this subreddit if you have any questions or concerns.

HumptyDumptyFellHard • 6 points • 15 November, 2018 06:41 AM*

This is why it is urgent to get evidence when you see or sense red flags. The girl's immature behavior with her stupid little gestures should of been enough to that this bitch was something else. If she is immature, chances are her friends aren't to different. Get evidence through text or what ever before sex if you see yourself in a vulnerable position. In this case, going home intoxicated with a girl(possibly a freshman).

SKRedPill[S] • 2 points • 15 November, 2018 08:39 AM

Dude that body language of those 2 girls has 'intimidation' written all over it.

giantsrocker • 1 point • 17 November, 2018 01:18 AM

Or the fact that she was so intoxicated that couldnt give consent. Heck she jumped on him enough for him to claim rape. Fuck this hoebag

AdviceMaster1412 • 7 points • 15 November, 2018 06:13 PM*

For women, any suffering they can inflict on a man, the man deserves for reason of being weak. Combine that with the lightswitch effect and you have someone who believes their own lies and has no remorse for the victim. I'm sure if he would have gone to prison she would have cried and talked about how she was the victim of sexual assault all her life. That would secure a better position in the victim hierarchy. and BOOM. Hi hypergamy, nice to see you again!

Sake99 • 12 points • 15 November, 2018 09:06 AM

I don't think I can ever fall in love with a woman, Love is a myth like unicorn , our hormones tricks into attraction which is infact just a drive to make babies.

JohnIan101 • 1 point • 16 November, 2018 02:27 AM

Or at least here, never date a college girl.

Tainted.

cafeitalia • 4 points • 15 November, 2018 02:20 PM

It is good that he was cleared. Meanwhile rule of thumb don't have sex with wasted drunk girls. It is not fun at all nor an enjoyment.

omega_dawg93 • 8 points • 15 November, 2018 03:32 PM not having sex with drunk and/or high females should be rule #1 on every redpill board.

SKRedPill[S] • 5 points • 15 November, 2018 05:17 PM

The culture of false accusations and no trust is going to send the pendulum back to the conservative side down the road. That or it's civilization's terminal decline.

Perhaps this is really why society and religion had all these rules restricting our animal side from getting too loose. I am now absolutely certain they learnt their lessons the hard way.

scissor_me_timbers00 • 1 point • 16 November, 2018 05:38 PM

Lol it's terminal decline brah. There's no pendulum swing back to sanity to save us.

n8dawwg • 3 points • 15 November, 2018 06:17 PM

My son is almost 13. It pains me the lessons i will have to teach him on order to protect himself from girls that are capable of this bullshit.

UnluckyPenguin • 3 points • 15 November, 2018 06:52 PM

I've got younger ones. I feel like even after they turn 18, the lessons they need to learn will melt their brain.

bsutansalt[M] • 5 points • 20 November, 2018 08:49 AM*

Think of this in terms of frame control:

He's being meek and thankful in the video when he should be livid and on the offensive DEMANDING justice by way of the girl being expelled by the college, arrested by the police for the false accusation, and the entire state's academic apparatus institute mandatory training at schools that teach young women that regret isn't rape and how their lies destroy lives.

Go big and then watch them fumble around on the defensive. At a minimum it'd ensure the kangaroo court going after him backs down. But what do I know, I'm just some dude on the internet. By all means, go easy on them. It's not like they'll expel you to make an example, oh, wait, that's exactly what happened.

LaserEyes2029 • 4 points • 15 November, 2018 03:28 PM

At this point, men should start suing false accusers and the institutions that are on the side of 'listen and believe'

[deleted] • 3 points • 15 November, 2018 12:01 PM

And he still has to have an ethics review at USC so he may still get kicked out of college.

i_like_herr • 3 points • 15 November, 2018 01:05 PM

I don't get it, if the girl didn't pursue the case then who did? How did the police come to know about it?

antariusz • 9 points • 15 November, 2018 04:10 PM*

Probably told her boyfriend she was raped when she didn't text him later that night.

Edit:

https://www.indiawest.com/news/global\_indian/i-did-not-rape-arshia-states-usc-student-accused-of/article\_072cec36-7e24-11e7-8cff-6fda3ba038cf.html

They didn't even fuck, first the frat kicked them out because the girl was drunk. Then he fingered her at her dorm, and her roommate reported it to the police and the police got involved when she went to the hospital for alcohol intoxication. We are truly living in puritanical Times again. The sexual revolution is officially dead. He has to wear a scarlet A for being a heterosexual male in California.

redvelvet_oreo • 3 points • 17 November, 2018 03:55 PM

There really needs to be a consequence for making false claims that can be life altering.

[deleted] • 3 points • 17 November, 2018 06:51 PM*

It's so pathetic that we allow ourselves to be ruled by women. Never in human history has anything like this ever happened before. Sometimes I wonder what our ancestors would think about us, and I realize that they would be ashamed.

Also, why don't individual patriots just start releasing these women's information when this shit happens. It goes against everything that we are supposed to believe in that she can remain anonymous and the accused cannot.

wadokai • 2 points • 15 November, 2018 06:05 PM

How can you proactively protect yourself from these things?

Like let's say you met someone and you're trying to create sexual tension, and escalate.. But these things can be used against you if she is in a bad mood.

What can be really done to protect yourself?

tempolaca • 2 points • 15 November, 2018 09:34 PM

I'm going through a lawsuit for harassment. The girl made out everything, it's so ridiculous, she say I talked to her ear, that I harassed her in conferences (that I assisted with my girlfriend, no less).

She is losing, but I also lost my job and my LTR left me because all of the trouble. My LTR is with another guy now.

No lawsuit can pay what I lost because of this lying bitch.

[deleted] • 2 points • 16 November, 2018 03:22 PM

wasn he expelled anyway? and the female got away scot free?

i think USC needs to pay him 50m for such a poor decision.

also, why was he guilty until proven innocent?

not only should the female be named and shamed like he was and jailed for false accusations, she also raped him because he was just as intoxicated as him and if anything was clearly the initiator instead of him if you swapped the genders it would be an easy case of rape, so why not in this instance?

*i have never posted in a quarantined sub, can someone explain whats wrong with you all?

We've also learned that quarantining a community may have a positive effect on the behavior of its subscribers by publicly signaling that there is a problem.

*nevermind, now i know why you are quarantined. my post was immediately removed by a mod when i asked why and linked my understanding of what quarantine means. so sketchy. i also googled and saw most quarantined subs eventually are deleted. good riddance, one of the things i dislike most is abusive mods deleting completely harmless and reasonable posts lmao. good luck with escaping the ban hammer!

iliketo69allthetime • 1 point • 15 November, 2018 08:57 PM long time lurker.

never fully swallowed the red pill.

i guess there is a day for everything.

RedPill2018 • 1 point • 16 November, 2018 12:25 AM

Shit like this makes me want to not even mess with these women.

I understand that with a high SMV, this is less likely to happen, but other than that, what're some good tips to avoid such accusations? Other than recording the conversation (I live in a one party consent state), improving your SMV, and screening the girl, what's your advice on avoiding such cases?

SKRedPill[S] • 3 points • 16 November, 2018 02:17 AM

Get Allan Pease's and Joe Navarro's book on Body language. Cultivate situational awareness (borrowing that term from the military). Learn to read a situation and spot potential BS before it happens. It usually hits you when you're least expecting it. Learn to read crazy and don't approach crazy or stick your dick in crazy.

Take adequate care at the workplace. I remember reading a guy who interviewed a woman who, after the interview, meets him alone and was willing to do anything (by which I mean sexual favors) to get the job. He refused, and immediately wrote about the incident to HR (he got it on paper) and met his HR guys in person to tell them exactly what happened. As it turns out, the woman later approached HR to accuse the guy of harassment. But she couldn't fool anyone by that point.

The guy ended his post wondering what would have happened if he had not informed HR right away.

And your phone and CCTV is your best bet.

the_calibre_cat • 1 point • 16 November, 2018 05:04 AM

Remember, this content is quarantined.

Can't have the men figuring out who the true rulers are.

CalmAd6 • 1 point • 20 November, 2018 05:13 AM

He is brown. Brown people overwhelmingly vote democrat and support liberal politicians.

This is what he wanted and he got it.

AutoModerator[M] [score hidden] 22 November, 2018 05:11 PM stickied comment

Just a friendly reminder that as TRP has been quarantined, we have developed backup sites:

<https://www.trp.red> and our full post archive (and future forums) <https://www.forums.red/i/TheRedPill>.

Don't forget to register on TRP.RED and reserve your reddit name today. Forums.Red is currently locked but will be opened soon.

I am a bot, and this action was performed automatically. Please contact the moderators of this subreddit if you have any questions or concerns.